

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 95

Hearing this, Liam Lu's eyes sank coldly, and he raised his hand to carry Zoey Gu's back collar and threw it directly onto the bed!

He bullied himself up, and the sound of gnashing his teeth rang.

"Then let me see if you are really qualified to be my wife Lu!"

Zoey Gu hadn't reacted yet, a strong and familiar aura swept across his face, and the clothes on her body shattered in response.

Her white to unreal skin was instantly exposed to the light.

Thinking of the pinholes on her side of her arm, Zoey Gu's face paled, she suddenly got up and hugged Liam Lu's neck, and shouted out aloud.

"light!"

"Liam Lu, please turn off the lights!"

With a "pop", the room suddenly returned to darkness.

The man on him grabbed her arm very rudely, and slammed her into the bed room, without any foreplay, and immediately pressed her over—

This night, light and shadow fluctuated in the darkness.

Zoey Gu is like a dying fish, tossing and struggling under Liam Lu.

As time passed slowly, the man's painful gasp slowly became lower and faded, and finally turned into a joyous hum that was difficult to control.

Even the face that slowly became clear when the sky was shining brightly faded away from the scary marks and became the original handsome appearance.

During the ups and downs, Zoey Gu thought dazedly.

What disease did Liam Lu get?

Is it that every woman's body in the world can help him, or is she the only one?

One night later, Liam Lu woke up slowly.

He raised his hand and touched his face, and the terrible marks had faded.

The only difference is that there are more large and small tooth marks and scratches on his body, and there is a familiar smell between his lips, teeth and nose.

Liam Lu's eyes darkened a bit when she thought of her low voice in her ear last night.

He grabbed the bathrobe on the side and put it on, walking outside, looking around, and shouting in a low voice.

"Zoey?"

"Zoey Gu?"

No one answered.

In the cold air, except for him, there seemed to be no trace of Zoey Gu in the room.

she left.

Realizing this possibility, Liam Lu's steps stopped, and the ink color went dark.

At this moment, there was a sudden movement on the edge of the Liuli platform not far away at the corner.

"Are you awake?" Zoey Gu's voice.

She was standing by the open bar, wearing his large shirt that could cover her body, her hair pulled up at random, and she was grinding coffee.

Liam Lu squinted at her and asked aloud.

"You didn't go?"

Zoey Gu came over with the ground coffee, put it on the coffee table next to him, turned around and held his face before looking at it.

"The traces have disappeared, and there is no trace of what it looked like last night."

Seeing her visibly looking at him, Liam Lu raised his brows unhappily, and pulled her hand from his face.

"Zoey Gu, I'm asking you something!"

Only then did Zoey Gu turn her face to look at him, glaring at him with big black and white eyes, looked at him for a moment, and said very seriously.

“I’m waiting for your reply, of course I can’t leave.”

“What answer?”

“Can I be your wife Lu’s answer.”