In other words, to stop An Yue from becoming popular, you only need to cut off the endorsement.

But An Ning's current situation is not optimistic. As Tang Qian's assistant, she is still the kind of assistant who replaces players. An Ning has no reputation, no background, and no good looks. Investors may be blind to give her advertisements. Represent it.

It's still six months before An Yue gets that endorsement, and now it's February... An Ning has a flash of inspiration, and suddenly remembered that the TV series "Peerless Beauty", which was launched in October in his previous life, was a big hit!

The TV series "Peerless Beauty" has its status in the TV drama industry after that, just like Friends in the United States. It is a masterpiece of director Wu. If there is a chance to participate in the show, An Ning will naturally not win the heroine or the heroine. What kind of lovable character, if you want the audience to remember her, probably only play a vicious female supporting role.

Especially the second villain in it, really made the audience hate it. In terms of status, she is probably the same as Rong Momo.

And the reason why "Peerless Beauty" became popular, the superb acting skills of the second villain can be said to have contributed, it is precisely because of her maddening acting skills that the female protagonist's brutal killing in the later period is even more pleasing.

The character of Princess Minmin, An Ning has also studied in her previous life. At that time, the actress who played Princess Minmin was a powerful actress. Before this play, she was not famous at all, but with her solid acting skills, she just With this drama, it's a big hit!

In the original work, the description of Princess Minmin is very large. Although she is only a villain, the author has given her a very delicate psychological description. This character can be said to be very distinctive. He dares to love and hate. Blackening because of being bullied.

If you can get this role, then the endorsement is definitely not a problem, but An Ning is also very clear that even if she is reborn, but with her current status, let alone the role of the villain girl, I am afraid she is a servant girl. Can't turn myself.

"What kind of director is this, it's a big deal not to act." Tang Qian was losing her temper again, because the crew who asked Yang Qingfeng to act was really unable to meet the requirements, and Yang Qingfeng's schedule was already scheduled for next year.

But because of Tang Qian's words, An Ning suddenly thought of a person – Director Wu. If there is a recommendation from Director Wu, this matter may be mentioned.

An Ning had Director Wu's phone number and immediately decided to call Director Wu.

After taking out all his savings for a few days, An Ning has bought a mobile phone. Although it is still far from being as smart as the mobile phone in the previous life, the basic Internet functions are already there, and the software also has QQ and Weibo, which is enough for her at present.

Director Wu Fang?

Hearing this name, An Ning was overjoyed, yes, how could she forget Director Wu Fang.

An Ning has been worrying about casting for the past few days. She has no power or power, and she doesn't know anyone. How could she get the role of Princess Minmin, but Tang Qian's tantrum reminded her of Wu Fang. The director has always treated her differently, so why didn't she ask Director Wu.

As a person in the entertainment industry, it is too easy to get a director's phone number. An Ning looked at the string of phone numbers that were about to decide his future life and death, and made a great determination before dialing out. The phone rang for a long time. Strings of ringtones, but in the end no one answered.

Hanging up the phone, An Ning did not give up, but edited a text message and sent it over: Hello Director Wu, I am An Ning, do you know that the drama "Peerless Beauty" is being cast?

Without too much fuss, An Ning goes straight to the point.

At this moment, Director Wu Fang was at a luxurious party. He patted the shoulder of the director of "Peerless Beauty" and said with a smile, "I'll recommend someone to you another day, who is definitely your ideal Princess Minmin!" After picking up the phone, Tang Qian went on strike because the request could not be met.
