

Chapter: 3166

“Weibo? Why are you registering this?” Xiaodong looked at her suspiciously, a little puzzled. In her opinion, this software is purely a spit hole.

“You’ll know just by looking at it.”

An Ning didn’t explain much. After registering the account, she also specially posted a Weibo to introduce her identity. Soon, her fans suddenly grew explosively.

“Wow wow, so many people follow you?”

This scenario is within An Ning’s prediction. After all, many people are black fans. Before, because of Yang Qingfeng’s incident, she had completely offended his fans.

“Show me what they said?”

The first time Xiaodong saw this kind of battle, he was a little curious, and quickly snatched the phone from An Ning’s hands and clicked on the comment below.

[This shameless woman dares to open Weibo!]

[Go away, you are not worthy of our breeze, disgusting girl!]

“This...” Xiaodong couldn’t help frowning while holding the phone, and was speechless for a while. These people came to pay attention purely to scold An Ning. Seeing these people every day, how embarrassing it would be.

“It’s alright, don’t worry about me.” An Ning took back the phone, as if he didn’t see those comments at all, and even a smile appeared on the corner of his mouth.

In 2010, when Weibo first entered the market, most celebrities had not yet started to use it. The first batch of celebrities who started to use Weibo also successfully used Weibo as a platform to shorten the distance with their fans. Some celebrities use this to increase their popularity, and some celebrities use this to whitewash themselves.

And An Ning, since she knows that Weibo will play a pivotal role in the entertainment industry in the future, she naturally wants to make good use of it.

Seeing the crazily growing comments below, An Ning suddenly didn’t want to wipe out the interest of these “black fans”. Black and red are essentially the same situation in the entertainment industry. It just depends on whether you have the means to whitewash them.

In order to ensure the activity of Weibo, An Ning stood up and casually took a picture of the scenery outside the window and her suitcase. She was about to send it out, but the sharp-eyed Xiaodong saw it and quickly grabbed her arm.

“You’re crazy. Those people are scolding you. Whatever you say now, you will be scolded badly!”

Xiaodong obviously didn’t understand An Ning’s purpose. She frowned worriedly, thinking about how to help An Ning get rid of the negative impact of the scandal.

“It’s okay, everything is foreshadowing, one day they will become my true fans.”

An Ning’s tone was firm, and her finger quickly clicked the “send” button. Seeing all this, Xiaodong was puzzled. He was about to ask something, but she changed the subject.

“Xiaodong, do you know someone named Qiwei?”

Putting away the phone, An Ning sat on the sofa with a thoughtful expression. Xiaodong went through the people he knew in his head, and suddenly a slightly ordinary face appeared. He was Qi Wei, a gossip reporter.

“Yes, I remember that he was the little reporter who broke the news today. What did you ask him to do?”

An Ning smiled, turned her head and looked at her mysteriously: “Should you be able to help me contact him?”

Xiaodong nodded, found a number from the mobile phone and handed it to An Ning’s eyes, and said with disgust, “It’s him, when I was Tang Qian’s assistant, he wanted to take it from me. As for the digging, he is just a little reporter who is not in the mainstream.”

Hearing this, An Ning chuckled lightly, unable to deny. It’s 2010, and Qiwei is indeed still a small reporter, but she has been reborn seven years later and knows that he will become the number one paparazzi in the entertainment industry in the future, and he is a hot character.

“Give me a call to him, I want to meet him.”

Hearing this, Xiaodong’s enduring curiosity has overflowed. He is registering Weibo to be scolded by others, and he is contacting paparazzi reporters. What does An Ning want to do?

She took An Ning’s hand and her expression became serious: “An Ning, you have to figure out, the other party is a paparazzi who avoids everyone, you are a person who wants to become a star, and it will not be good for you to be associated with him. !”