

Chapter: 3207

Time passed quickly, and soon it was time for Yang Ning's character to appear in the drama "Peerless Beauty". By this day, the audience rating of "Peerless Beauty" was less than half of what it was when it was broadcast.

It's useless to complain about the heroine on Weibo, more and more people rely on the halo, and even the director himself has been questioned.

However, only Yang Ning knows that the heroine will change after that. More exciting content will not be placed in the front, but will only become a foreshadowing.

So, on the day her role appeared, she deliberately posted a Weibo on Weibo, trying to regain some popularity for her appearance.

[Watching the drama, the princess finally appeared, a very charming character"]

Knowing that there was nothing lovable in the early stage of her role, Yang Ning also chose to promote it at this time. After all, if one more curious person can continue to watch, she will be more attention afterward.

Sure enough, many people chased another episode because of her Weibo, and they came back to Yang Ning's Weibo and started scolding before they finished it.

[The role you play is really as shameless as you are!]

[What kind of charm, it is completely arrogant and domineering, if this is charm, those really attractive beauties will be pissed off!]

Yang Ning looked at the comments on his Weibo, raised his brows, and refused to comment, while Xiaodong on the side was different, sighing and sighing all day long, feeling that he was going to drink the northwest wind.

"It's not so exaggerated, this character will definitely be popular, Xiaodong, cheer up."

Yang Ning's relief was of no use to Xiaodong. She kept her face down and her brows furrowed.

The two spent the whole night thoughtfully.

The next day, today is the time to really see if Yang Ning made a mistake, but Yang Ning, who has been chasing dramas, hasn't turned on the TV for a long time.

Xiaodong knew why in his heart and didn't pierce her, but even if "Peerless Beauty" really died violently, Xiaodong had to watch it die clearly, so he turned on the TV for Yang Ning without hesitation.

The familiar opening song sounded, Yang Ning's heart trembled, and the hand that was holding the mobile phone to swipe Weibo trembled. She raised her face, looked at Xiaodong inexplicably and asked, "Why did you suddenly turn on the TV?"

"Success or failure is today, and you have to watch it if you don't want to." Xiaodong, who has never spoken harshly, looked very serious at this moment. She put the computer on the coffee table, and there was a Weibo interface on it.

It seems that she is planning to watch TV while swiping Weibo to read online reviews.

This judgment-filled move made Yang Ning tighten her shoulders. She had always been confident, but at this moment she doubted herself.

It wasn't her who relied on this role in the last life to make a fire. Maybe, with another person, everything has changed again?

Yang Ning hesitated and retreated a little, not daring to watch his performance or face the abyss that came after the character's failure.

Just when she became more and more self-doubt, a text message happened to come from Yang Ning's phone.

She opened it subconsciously and found that it was from Yang Qingfeng.

"Well done, keep going."

Is it good...?

Yang Ning suddenly clenched her phone, raised her head and saw her character, kneeling on the main hall alone, her red robe was like fire, but she was like a phoenix.

"Ah, the princess is so pitiful..."

Xiaodong, who was reluctantly chasing dramas in order to test the success or failure, is now completely fascinated, her eyes are warm, and her heart has gone through ups and downs with the princess.

Yang Ning's eyes widened, some couldn't believe it was his own interpretation, and his heart was filled with emotion.

Although she does have confidence in her acting skills, it is the first time in her life that she can see her excellent performance in a serious TV series so seriously.

Yang Ning covered her mouth and thanked this character very much in her heart for allowing her to be reborn from the mud pit. Even if she was still young at the moment, she believed that she could become a phoenix one day!