

Chapter: 3242

After that, a week later, the time came when the two made an appointment to go to Longquan Village.

Yang Ning originally thought that the “storm” that would come early had never appeared in the past few days. Since An Tianxiang didn’t show up, she was happy to be at ease, but the occasional unease in her heart would still remind her that An Tianxiang’s bomb would be ready at any time. explode.

Sure enough, this morning, before Yang Ning woke up, he was woken up by the loud horn downstairs.

At first, she thought it was the disgusting thing that the unscrupulous driver did, but she didn’t realize that she was the source until she glanced at the more than 20 missed calls on her mobile phone.

“Don’t press, I’m here!”

Yang Ning hurriedly dressed, opened the curtains, and shouted to the Mercedes-Benz car downstairs. After ten minutes of applying makeup, she quickly made a simple makeup look, and picked up the plane ticket that An Tianxiang gave her earlier.

“Yang Ning, are you skipping breakfast?”

Xiaodong had just put her breakfast on the dining table when she looked up and saw Yang Ning carrying her bag and running away. She couldn’t help turning around and staring at her hurried back, and shouted quickly.

Hearing this, Yang Ning waved his hand, grabbed a glass of pure milk and stuffed it in his bag, hurriedly opened the door, and hurriedly said, “No, you didn’t hear the horn just now, An Tianxiang is urging me, You don’t have to wait for me to eat today, see you the day after tomorrow!”

After all, Yang Ning didn’t give Xiaodong a chance to ask any more questions, and immediately took the door and hurried downstairs.

A few minutes later, Yang Ning arrived on the first floor, and the first thing she saw was a black car. She was still a little reluctant to meet An Tianxiang, but she also knew that if she didn’t meet, she would say no in the next second. All right.

I had no choice but to bite the bullet.

Yang Ning took a deep breath, opened the door and sat in.

“I’m here.” Without waiting for An Tianxiang to speak, Yang Ning greeted him directly. She put the bag on her chest and hugged her tightly, her eyebrows lowered, not daring to look at the people around her.

An Tianxiang kept looking down at the files on the computer, without even looking at Yang Ning. In the quiet carriage, there was only the sound of him typing on the keyboard.

Seeing that he didn’t speak for a long time, the heart that Yang Ning had been mentioning gradually relaxed, she took a long sigh, her posture was not so rigid, and her eyes were scattered in the receding scenery outside the window.

After an unknown time, the driver stopped the car. Yang Ning glanced at the airport outside the window and was about to get off the car, when he saw that his gloves were left on the seat.

She was about to reach for it when she happened to bump into another pair of hands that were sorting out the documents scattered in the carriage.

For a moment, Yang Ning seemed to have been electrocuted, and quickly stretched out his hand, dodging and uneasy like a frightened rabbit, and all of this fell into An Tianxiang’s eyes.

He raised his brows slightly, and pulled the corners of his lips mechanically: “Are you so afraid of touching me?”

Yang Ning was stunned by An Tianxiang’s sudden questioning. She picked up the gloves in silence, bit her lip and didn’t speak. Anyway, whatever she said was wrong, so she didn’t speak so as not to be provoked again. happy.

Seeing her bowing her head and being silent, An Tianxiang sneered in his heart, but Yang Ning has learned to be smart and finally won’t talk back.

However, his unhappiness for the past few days seems to have become more serious. It seems that no matter how he looks at the person in front of him, An Tianxiang feels very unpleasant, but if he is asked to punish her for something, his heart is very resistant.

What exactly is he sick with?

An Tianxiang couldn’t figure out this question, and others wouldn’t even know what was going on.

Yang Ning, who didn’t want to respond, raised her head and glanced at his face. She felt something was wrong in her heart, and quickly changed the subject. She looked into his eyes and said calmly, “It’s almost time for boarding, let’s go.”

Hearing this, An Tianxiang gave her a deep look, and the anger that she had been holding back for days seemed to be ignited by her indifference.