Thinking of this, Yang Ning felt that he was taking things too seriously at the time. Living in An Tianxiang's house was no different from living in Xiaodong's side. Instead, he had an additional temporary accommodation.

Glancing at the time, the pointer had already pointed to eight o'clock, Yang Ning quickly got up from the bed, quickly put away his thoughts and put on his clothes.

After hurriedly washing and rinsing, she found that Xiaodong had already prepared a take-out sandwich, and also thoughtfully prepared a cup of yogurt for her.

"Let's go now, or it will be too late."

Xiaodong pulled Yang Ning out together, and the two quickly went downstairs, got into the car together, horns and detours along the way, and soon arrived at the agreed interview location.

After a while, Yang Ning and Xiaodong finally arrived outside the heroine's interview hall in the building.

It wasn't long before she saw several actresses come in and out, everyone's expressions were extremely heavy, and no one seemed to be very sure.

"Are you nervous?" Xiaodong asked Yang Ning, who looked very serious, in a low voice while helping her hold the bag.

Leaning on the corridor, Yang Ning ignored Xiaodong's inquiry. She looked straight at the door of the interview hall, observing the expressions of each actor walking out. Her tumultuous heartbeat seemed to be echoing in her ears.

This is an important interview for her, and it is even more important than any previous interview. She does not expect to win the heroine. As long as she can win a small role, she will be very satisfied.

"Come in on the twenty-ninth."

Hearing the sound of calling numbers, Yang Ning shook her shoulders slightly. She looked down at the white paper in her hand, and her number plate was the twenty-ninth.

"It's your turn, Yang Ning, come on!"

Xiaodong showed Yang Ning a cheering gesture, and the expectation on his face was clear. Yang Ning only looked back at her, daring not to respond or to look at the trust in her eyes.

After all, all this is unknown to her, and extra expectations will only create a burden.

Entering the interview hall, Yang Ning's eyes were lowered, her shoulders were tense, and she could still see that she was very nervous. However, when Yang Ning walked from the shadow of the door to the stage, her white body was illuminated by the lights, she But suddenly she felt as if her body and mind were bathed by holy light, which made her return to a peaceful state.

She looked down at the judges under the stage, relaxed, and her impetuous mood had calmed down a lot. Suddenly, one of the judges in the audience stood up with a microphone, holding three pieces of paper in her hand for the staff on the side to hand over. gave her.

"Introduce yourself, and then find one you want to perform from the three clips in your hand, give you half a minute to read the manuscript, and use three minutes to do a non-physical performance."

When the words fell, the judges also handed the pieces of paper to Yang Ning. She took the pieces of paper, but she felt heavier than a thousand pieces of gold. Just these pieces of white paper determined the direction of her life. where.

"I know, my name is Yang Ning, and my masterpiece is "Peerless Beauty"."

Yang Ning answered decisively and quickly browsed the contents of the three pieces of paper on one side. After half a minute, he deeply felt that the heroine was not easy to grasp.

"It's time for you to start your performance." The judges under the stage looked at Yang Ning with scrutiny and reminded aloud.

Nodding her head, Yang Ning knew that it was time to film by herself. She memorized a few simple lines on three pieces of paper and quickly immersed herself in her emotions.

On the lighting stage, there was only a beam of cold light hitting Yang Ning's pale face. She was saying something to the people in the air, and her tone was almost childish.

"Brother Ju Sang, next year, the year after, forever and ever, shall we all come to see this tree together?"

Yang Ning raised his face and smiled softly, trying his best to express the innocence and innocence in his tone.

She recalled the days in the countryside before, and also thought of Cheng Hao who betrayed her. When her emotions crossed, a strange chemical effect burst out in her eyes, making it difficult to take your eyes off.
