Chapter 2471

Even though the Pruitt manor wasn't a huge, extravagant villa, it was built very long ago and was an antique home.

It was in quite a busy area of the city, and if it were to be sold at a low price, it would be a huge loss.

The properties in that area kept increasing in value and were all sold at high prices. There was no reason to sell it.

Brandon looked around the room he had been living in for a few decades. It was filled with memories, and he wouldn't sell it.

few boxes were moved into the car while Brandon stood in the garden, looking back at the old house. He finally got into the car after a long glance.

Freyja frowned, but Shannon rushed over and grabbed onto her collar before she could speak. "They have isolated me because of you. This is what you want, isn't it?"

Freyja moved her hands away and shoved her aside. "What does this have to do with me?"

"You've always been lying to me all along. You planned this with your husband, didn't you? Why did he show up after you said he wouldn't? If it weren't because of you, they wouldn't have left. It's all your fault!"

Shannon spilled all her anger on Freyja because she had shamed her in front of everyone and caused everyone to isolate her.

Freyja ignored her and was going to leave.

Leia turned to look at Freyja. "You can ignore her. She's used to being surrounded by people, so she's feeling terrible now that she's alone. She'll be alright once she gets over it."

Freyja smiled and nodded.

At the same moment, in the Knowles mansion...

A car was parked outside. Colton got out with a present and stepped into the garden. Peter walked out of the house. "Are you Mr. Goldmann?"

Colton nodded.

"This way please." Peter moved sideways and extended his arm.

Colton entered the mansion while Diana and her husband sat in the living room. When they realized that Daisie's brother was visiting, they made preparations.

Peter escorted

Colton to the living room when Diana got up with a smile. "You must be Daisie's brother. Have a seat."

Colton leaned back into the chair. “If Mom hadn’t told me you were pregnant, I wouldn’t have come.”

He then looked toward Nollace. “My mom and dad love her very much. Now that she’s pregnant, if you hurt her, even just a little bit, we’ll have a problem with that.”

Nollace smiled. “Don’t worry. If you show a good example, I’ll follow.”

Colton had nothing to say.

What was this passive–aggressive attitude?

Colton stayed for lunch. Ever since Daisy came over, Diana had gotten the cook to change their food to match Daisy’s taste.

There was steak, soup, fried food, grilled food, and more.

Colton looked at the food on the table and didn’t speak. He could see that the Knowles treated his sister very well.

"Will I still be able to carry her when I get home?"

Colton pinched her cheek. "You think your baby is going to be too heavy?"

Freyja moved his hand away and looked down. "I'm afraid that she might not recognize me anymore. Do you think I'm selfish?"

Colton grabbed her hand. "We'll spend all the time with her when we're back and watch her grow up."

Freyja smiled and nodded.

When they got back, they saw that Brandon and the helper had decorated the home. It became really festive.

Brandon looked at them and smiled. "You're back."

"Dad, what are you doing?"

"Well, I'm just doing nothing, so I thought I should try to help out." Brandon hung the little presents on the Christmas tree. "Your mother hated all these decorations and trinkets, so I never got the chance to put them up."

Nick lifted his eyelids to look at her and turned around. “It has nothing to do with that incident.”

He knew that the ‘witches’ were Cameron’s prank.

Cameron might be cocky, but she was not evil enough to resort to that kind of trick to destroy his reputation. Even Cameron and those ‘witches’ became other people’s tools against him in the end.

Someone

had taken advantage of Cameron’s prank, causing that incident to get exposed afterward, and he was labeled as a “playboy.”

However, it had been many years, and he had already forgotten about it. Those “grudges” he had against her had vanished as well.

When Nick did not hear Cameron’s voice for a long while, he turned his head around to look at her.

Cameron had already fallen asleep on the table. She was sleeping so soundly that even the noises around her could not wake her up.

Nick looked at her and observed her face. He remembered that when he met the rumored young heir of the Southern in the East Islands, he felt that she looked like a girl, but he soon rejected the idea as soon as it took shape in his head.

Right now, he just wanted to laugh at himself. Why did he discard the idea in the first place?

Would everything happen differently if he had realized that she was a girl?

Waylon couldn’t get through to Cameron, so he came to the martial arts center. The martial arts center should have been closed by now if it were normal time, but all of the lights were still on right now.

Cameron was stumped and said, "Who do you think can take me away other than you?"

Waylon placed an egg on her plate and asked, "What if it really isn't me?"

Cameron pressed her lips thin and said, "Alright, alright. I promise you I won't drink that much again."

Since she knew that she had done something wrong, Waylon chuckled and said, "I'll forgive you then. Considering how sincere you are."

While she was peeling the egg, she asked, "While I was drunk last night, I didn't say anything stupid, did I?"

"Well, you did say something," he replied.

She was stunned and jerked her head up. "What did I say?"

Waylon did not answer the question. He looked at her and said, "Try and figure it out yourself."

Cameron fell silent and thought for a while. She knew she had said something last night but couldn't recall it.

'I like you so much, Wayne.'

Cameron was stunned and covered her cheek.

'Oh my gosh. Did I confess to him last night?'

Cameron was rendered speechless.

She did not know how to refute Chadwick at all, and she was worried that he couldn't get a girlfriend in the future with his blunt attitude

She squatted in front of Chadwick and looked him in the eyes. "There's no rule that you have to like it or that you can't refuse it. But regardless of whether you like it or not, you have to say thank you for other people's kindness.

"Even if you don't want it, you can tell her that you don't need it and say thank you for her kind gesture. This is basic courtesy, understand?"

Chadwick looked at her for a while and said, "You're so noisy."

Just when Cameron was about to say something, the girl cried out loud, so she could only leave Chadwick aside to comfort the girl.

Nick heard the commotion and came over. He picked the girl up from the floor and asked, "Why are you crying? Do you not like your present?"

The girl sobbed and shook her head. There were tears dangling at the corner of her eyes as she sobbed. "He doesn't like me..."

Nick threw a glance at Chadwick and caressed her head. "It isn't that he doesn't like you. It's just that he doesn't know how to make friends. Alright, let's stop crying. I'll take you to get a present, okay?"

At the Blackgold Group...

The department staff members discussed their evening activities during their free time. When Leonardo was passing by them with a gift box in his hand, one of them asked, "Mr. Prichard, is that a gift from your girlfriend?"

Leonardo was stunned for a moment. Then, he smiled at them awkwardly and said, "Nope. I don't have a girlfriend. This is for Mr. Goldmann."

All of them gathered around Leonardo. "What is this? Is this jewelry?"

"Is this a gift from Mr. Goldmann to his wife?"

"He's so romantic. How come no one gave me a gift for Christmas?"

Honestly, Leonardo did not know what it was. But it should be jewelry judging from the brand.

Nobody knew when Waylon was standing behind them. He chuckled and said, "It seems to me that none of you want to leave work early, so how about I give you more work?"

"No, no, no, we want to get off work early. We still have dates tonight."

Waylon came out and asked, "You have never been to a hot spring before?"

"We don't have winter in the East Islands, so of course, we don't have hot springs there," Cameron said as she turned her head around. However, when she saw that Waylon had only wrapped a towel around his waist, she quickly jerked her head back to look somewhere else.

Waylon walked up to her and hugged her from the back. "Are you not going into the hot spring?"

She took a deep breath and said, "Yes, I would like to try the hot spring, but you need to let me go first."

He chuckled and said, "Sure. After all, we have plenty of time."

After he finished speaking, he picked Cameron up from the ground.

Cameron quickly wrapped her arms around his neck and closed her eyes. "I warn you! Don't ever throw me into the hot spring!"

Waylon carried her into the hot spring.

Water splashed everywhere. Cameron emerged from the water, her long wet hair sticking to her back.
