Chapter 21 The Auction Begins

At the end of the fire, the entire hospital was turned into ashes.

She always felt that someone had set the fire on purpose.

Jason said. "If I find out that the fire was deliberately set off by someone and caused you to have such a difficult life in the Brown family, I will not let him go!"

After chatting for a while, Isabella saw that the time was almost up. and Kara should be at the appointed place soon, so she went downstairs, "Mom, I'm going out for a while."

"Okay..." Eloise originally wanted to ask her daughter where she was going, who she was going to meet, and what she was going to do. but she was afraid that her daughter would be annoyed. So she could only ask with a smile, "Shall I ask Barret to drive you?"

"Mom." Cecilia on the side couldn't help but say, "I just asked Barret to take me to a place later. I have an appointment with a friend..."

Eloise frowned slightly, "Can't you ask Wilson to drive you?"

"Wilson has a habit of taking a nap. If he wakes up now, I'm afraid he'll be not in good spirits and driving unsafely..." Cecilia looked at Isabella understandingly. "Isa, if you are in a hurry, I can just call my friend and cancel the appointment. Then Barret can drive you."

"No need. I can drive."

But that Rolls-Royce had been damaged by a truck, and it hadn't returned after being sent for repairs. Isabella thought about it and asked, "Are there any other cars at home?"

Eloise was surprised. "Of course, there are any cars at home. I'll ask the driver to take you to the garage. You can pick whatever car you like!"

Pick whatever car she liked.

Now it was Isabella's turn to be surprised.

Eloise tapped the intercom system on the wall and directly contacted the driver, "Barret, come here and take Isa to the garage."

The entire garage had three floors!

There were all kinds of top supercars, limited edition cars, or high- end cars and the colors were varied.

"What do my parents do?" Isabella finally asked after being shocked by the luxury cars in front of her.

“Ms. Young, don’t you know?” The driver was also taken aback. He had thought that everyone would know who Williams was when they saw his face. After all, who didn’t know the richest man in the country?!

“Mr. Logan has always been the richest man in Yushon...”

He had ranked No. 1 on the Yushon Rich List for twelve consecutive years!

“Since Mr. Logan announced his retirement last year and your eldest brother took over the group, your eldest brother has become the richest man in the country.”

No matter who the richest man’s name was, they were all from the Logan family anyway.

Isabella realized something. Michael and Gail had said that her parents were unemployed...

It turned out to be such an unemployed state.

After a short while, a cool sports car left the Logan family and drove towards the main road.

To deceive others, Isabella drove the Bugatti Veyron to a nearby underground garage, and Kara had been waiting there for quite a while.

When she opened the car door and got down, Kara froze and stared at her luxury car for a full three seconds before she asked in astonishment, “Is this your family’s car?”

It was one of the most luxurious cars in the world...

Kara knew that Isabella lived in the Riverside Villa in Bomsville after returning to her real parents, but such an expensive car was not something owned by ordinary wealthy families...

Kara covered her heart as if she was greatly stimulated, “What’s your father’s last name?”

“Mason.”

“Williams Mason??” Kara’s eyes widened in shock.

“Do you know him?”

“Who doesn’t know the richest man in the country? You...you’re so lucky!” Kara sighed. “It’s too late for the Brown family to regret it now.”

In a luxurious private manor on the outskirts, the lights were brightly lit.

There were a total of thirty-two entrances to this manor. If one looked down from the sky, he would find it look like a sun drawn by a child.

Each car would enter a different entrance and lead to a different garage. After parking the car, one would take the exclusive elevator and enter the box that had been prepared long ago.

He would not meet other bidders along the way. Even after the auction, he would not meet other bidders on the road.

Due to the strong privacy and the safety of the place, admission tickets were hard to come by every time, and people had to scramble for them.

Kara was the most favored daughter of the Long family, so she naturally had a way to get the tickets. She and Isabella were already regulars here.

After parking the car, they took the elevator and entered Box 3. The box was full of drinks and snacks.

It was the first time for Cecilia to come to such a place. If she hadn't had a best friend to lead the way, she would not have known that there was such a place. The gorgeous private manor was an underground auction house.

"Zocy, how do you know such a place?" Cecilia had mentioned to her best friend Zocy at noon that she didn't know what to give to the sick Old Mr. Mason, and Zocy suggested coming here to have a look.

"I've been here with my brother a few times before, and there are all kinds of treasures here! Later you can take a look and bring what Old Mr. Mason might like back. He will certainly be very happy."

Zocy was also a wealthy second generation. She guessed that Old Mr. Mason probably had seen many ordinary treasures, but the ones that appeared at the auction were not available in the market.

"Why are there no other guests here?" Cecilia was a little puzzled.

"They are all in other boxes. There are a total of thirty-two boxes in this hall. They form a circle, and the one in the middle is the stage.

"But there is no host on the stage, and it's an intelligent auction.

"Do you know why each box has a huge glass wall? It's convenient to see the treasures.

"You can see the outside clearly from here, but they can't see the inside from the outside." Cecilia couldn't help but feel a little envious when she heard her best friend's introduction. If only her five older brothers were willing to bring her here to see the world...

In Box 1, Green stood next to Benjamin, and said respectfully, "Mr. Mason, the Heart Tonic Weed, as the finale of the auction, will appear at the last moment."

"OK." Sitting on the sofa. Benjamin said in a low voice, exuding an elegant and noble temperament.

He had heard that Heart Tonic Weed had a miraculous effect in treating the heart. He wanted to get it and bring it back for research by the experts and famous doctors around him.

“The auction begins.”

The stage floor in the middle was slowly opened, and a treasure slowly rose.

The system voice automatically introduced the source and value of the treasure...

The huge electronic glass wall magnified the treasure’s shape and every detail could be seen clearly.

“This is a small bottle of Heart Pill. It is said that heart disease patients will feel cool and comfortable after taking it. It can be used in soup for the patient. It can also be taken orally with water to provide quick pain relief during illness

“There is no side effect when paired with any medicine.”

During the system introduction, the Heart Pill followed the track on the ground and moved to the glass wall of each box for people to see it.

“Isa, isn’t this the leftover material from your Heart Tonic Pill?”

“Yeah.” Isabella didn’t hide anything, and said frankly, “It’s called making the best use of everything.”

Although its efficacy was not as good as the Heart Tonic Pill, it had some medicinal value and shouldn’t be wasted.
