Chapter 43 The small company my father gave me was twenty stories high

"This..." Jack really didn't dare to say it.

Michael was a little dissatisfied. "If you have something to say, just Say it! How many years have we worked together, will I fire you because you said something wrong?"

"Of course you won't! What they said is a bit harsh, I'm afraid you won't be happy after hearing it." Jack was really embarra*sed to convey it.

The more he kept silent, the more Michael wanted to ask why.

Jack followed him into the elevator and walked into the office. He couldn't bear the pressure, and told the truth, "They called you stupid, said they had had enough of your stupidity, and never wanted to work with you again! Anyway, they scolded you A lot of weird words."

"Which company said that?"

Michael got angry all of a sudden, he wouldn't cooperate if he didn't cooperate, why did he scold so many inexplicable words!

"There are three in total, and the biggest one scolds you the most..." Jack said without a word.

When Michael heard it, he had a bad feeling. "Is it Oink Capital?"

"yes....."

Oink Capital is Yushon's well-known venture capital company, and the founder of this company is known as the "God of Venture Capital". As long as it is the The small company my father gave me was twenty stor investing, it will definitely become a hit.

Many small businesses can grow bigger and stronger because of their family's investment.

In the past. no matter what Michael wanted to develop, he could casily get funds just by talking to Oink Capital. Even if the project failed in the end and the money went in, Oink Capital never blamed him.

Secing Oink Capital supporting him so much, other companies thought he had some background, and treated him politely.

But what's going on now?

Why did they stop cooperating with him?

"The last time we asked Oink Capital for funding, what project did we invest in?" Michael really couldn't remember.

"Two months ago you took 500 million from Oink Capital and said you would buy IU."

IU is a high-tech dressing mirror company. As long as people stand in front of the mirror, they can easily try on all the clothes in the store by touching the electronic system on the mirror with their fingers without trying on the clothes.

The Brown family made their fortune in the clothing business and have their own clothing production company and physical store. Michael wants to install IU mirrors in all physical stores, so that customers can try more clothes and buy more to take home.

“But I didn’t expect IU to try on clothes in the mirror. It is a different thing from trying on clothes on the upper body. The effect is too different.” The secretary felt very regretful.

What’s more, IU mirrors have high maintenance costs and high environmental requirements. If it is exposed to the sun for a long time, it will burst and spontaneously ignite. If it is installed in a humid place for a long time, it will fail again. Sometimes the characters on the mirror will be distorted...

In short, Michael found someone to install tens of thousands of IU mirrors, and then asked someone to dismantle them...

A total of more than 700 million was tossed, and in addition to the 500 million lost, he also took in 200 million.

Michael wondered, “Could it be because of this?”

So Oink Capital is no longer working with him?

“That’s not enough.” Jack hurriedly said. “Before you asked for one billion from Oink Capital, saying that you wanted to invest in a clothing city, but you lost everything and posted 300 million in it. Didn’t Oink Capital cooperate with us as usual? ...”

Michael thought about it too. If he didn’t want to cooperate, he would have stopped the loss in time. Why wait until now?

“Aside from scolding me, did Oink Capital say anything else?”

“Not really.”

The founder of Oink Capital never showed his face, and all the work was handed over to Austin, the chief executive of Yushon.

“The person who called to sneer is Austin’s a*sistant...” Jack said. this, hesitant to speak.

“Why are you hesitating again? Tell me something else.” Michael was impatient, and pulled his tic, looking irritable.

“It’s just... Oink Capital didn’t cooperate with us. It seemed that they were suddenly relieved and in a good mood. At the end of the call, I heard them laughing!”

Michael wondered what this meant, “No, I have to call Kevin myself and find out what’s going on.”

Jack hurriedly fetched the office phone.

Michael called Kevin first, usually this guy answers the phone faster than anyone else, but now there is only a cold reminder: Sorry, the number you dialed has been turned off!

Michael didn't believe in evil, he hit him several times in a row, and his mood became even more irritable. This is most likely because he was blocked by someone!

He unbuttoned his collar and called Kevin's boss, Austin, the head of the Yushon region invested by Oink Capital. Unexpectedly, Austin also blocked him...

Listening to the cold reminder from the system, Michael became extremely irritable, suppressed his anger, and called the other two companies...

The other two companies didn't answer his calls either...

After working for an hour, no one paid any attention to him.

Jack stood aside trembling, suddenly, received a message.

"President?"

"Didn't you see that I'm in a bad mood? Shut up! Leave me alone!" Michael was extremely irritable.

Jack can't speak, so he can only hold the notebook on the desktop and write a line with a pen: The board of directors is looking for you.

Michael glanced at the small book he handed over and became even angrier. "The board of directors is looking for me, you can't say it with your mouth?"

"You told me to shut up just now..."

"These old guys are usually happier than anyone else in getting dividends. Now if something happens, they will be held accountable as soon as possible!" Michael got up annoyed. picked up his suit jacket.

"Let them dry first, and help me prepare the car! I want Go to Oink Capital."

"Are you...?"

"I'm going to ask Austin for clarification!"

Isabella followed the direction sent by her mother and came to a company.

The facade of this company is a hollow gla*s wall, which seems to be eighteen or nine storeys high and about as wide as five storefronts.

A large stone in front of the door is engraved: Lumina Garment Corporation, Ltd..

Didn't he say it was a very small company?

When Isabella entered the door, she saw the receptionist dozing off, and she said softly. "Hello."

"How are you?" The receptionist saw a girl who looked like a high school student, and rubbed her sleepy eyes. "Did you go to the wrong place? This is Lumina Garment Corporation, Ltd..."

"My name is Isabella Young and I'm here for work."

When the front desk lady heard this, she was so frightened that she lost all sleepiness, and immediately stood up. "This way, please!"

Williams already explained yesterday that someone will take over the company today, because the identity of his daughter has not been disclosed, so he just told the people below that Isabella was sent by the group headquarters.

The front desk lady led Isabella into the elevator, pressed the highest floor – the 20th floor, "I'll take you to the office first."
