

Chased 44

Chapter 44 The overall atmosphere is very loose

“No need. I’ll walk around casually.” Isabella looked at the floor map in the elevator, and randomly clicked on the second floor, the design department.

Early in the morning, not many people from the design department came. Those who played with their mobile phones and those who caught up on sleep, the atmosphere was extremely lazy.

When the front desk lady led Isabella to appear, she deliberately knocked on the door.

But when the people in the design department saw that she brought a girl who looked like a high school student, they thought it was a family member and didn’t take it seriously.

“Zoey, did you bring your family to work today?” A fat woman said with a smile, “Come here and play two rounds!”

Zoey hastily hinted with her eyes not to talk nonsense.

“What’s wrong with your eyes?”

The chubby woman didn’t notice anything, but Isabella walked over and found the woman playing cards on the computer, lazily reminded: “I’m about to lose.”

The fat woman was stunned for a moment. she still understands this?

“Nine of Spades first.”

Hearing what she said, the fat woman subconsciously clicked 9 with the mouse.

Under Isabella’s instruction, it didn’t take long for the fat woman to turn defeat into victory.

“Wow, you are too good! How old are you?” The chubby woman patted Isabella on the shoulder, “Help me win two more rounds? I’ll buy you candy!”

“This is the person in charge of the company sent by the headquarters!” The lady at the front desk cleared her throat, “Now go to work, design the design, don’t do something that is not there.”

The chubby woman looked at the girl who looked like a high school student in front of her, and her mouth could hold two eggs!

she? The new head of the company?

At her age. has she graduated from high school?

Others are obviously also puzzled by Isabella’s age. With her like this, can she manage a company well?

“Based on your style of play, it’s impossible to win within three to five months.” Isabella patted the chubby woman on the shoulder, “Go to work and earn more money.”

When Isabella was about to leave the design department, she inadvertently noticed a girl in the corner wearing headphones, with

Dividing into pages now

This overall atmosphere is very loo her back to them, drawing something on white paper.

She walked over to take a look, and saw the girl outline a small dress with a pen. The dress looked ordinary, but the thick stack of drawings next to it was enough to prove her daily work.

“This is the most progressive designer in the company. Kennedy.” The front desk Zocy said this, reaching out and gently touching Kennedy’s shoulder.

Kennedy took off his headphones, looked at the two uninvited guests in front of him, a little puzzled, but still asked politely, “Is there something wrong?”

The office was too noisy just now, she was drawing with headphones, not knowing what was going on.

“This is the person in charge of our company.” Zocy whispered.

Kennedy looked at Isabella, stood up immediately, and said timidly and respectfully, “Good morning.”

“You designed these?” Isabella’s eyes fell on a stack of drawings.

“Yes...” Kennedy hastily showed the drawing to Isabella.

“Kennedy finished college at the age of 18. He is a top student in the school! He loves fashion design and has designed a lot of works for the company since he came here last month.”

“Very good.” Isabella returned the drawing to her, “Keep working hard.”

“Thank you...” Kennedy looked at the back of the girl leaving. He didn’t expect to be the person in charge of the company at the same age as himself! The strength must be very strong!

The overall atmosphere is very loose

After walking around the company, Isabella found that the overall atmosphere was too loose. Before coming to this company, the companies in Isabella’s hands were added together, and it was not one percent as loose as here!

This place is really decadent to the extreme, with no vitality at all.

Isabella returned to the office, just sat down on the office chair when the belated assistant Frank barged in.

“Sorry, I’m late, huh? Where’s the person in charge of the company? Isn’t he here today? Little sister, have you seen the person in charge of the company? Get up quickly, that person should be here soon! You can’t sit in this seat!”

After talking a lot, Frank realized that the girl in front of him raised her eyebrows, her casual and domineering aura.

“You wouldn’t be...”

“Isabella Young.”

Frank hurried forward and was startled.

Under his stammering explanation, Isabella roughly understood.

A year ago, the Logan family entered the clothing industry and hired many talents, some of whom are good at management and some are good at design. The headquarters also sent a person in charge. George Barnes, to sit in charge.

However, as time went on, the company has been little improvement.

Perhaps because of disappointment with the company, many talented people left one after another.

The overall atmosphere very loose

From the beginning of anticipation to the end of letting go, the overall atmosphere of the company is very loose.

Frank has worked here for a year. Although he is anxious, he does not have enough ability to change the status quo.

“Hold a meeting, and half an hour later. I want to see the ministers. of each department and the company’s management arrive.”

“Yes...” Frank hurriedly went to send a group notification.

half an hour later.

In the conference room, there were only nine people present at the thirty-eight chairs that were supposed to be full.

“The Minister of Finance said that the child was sick today, and she asked for leave to send the child to the hospital.”

“The Minister of Purchasing said he was unwell and was resting at home.”

“Minister of Manpower said...”

Before Frank could finish his sentence, Isabella interrupted him lightly. “Tell them, if you don’t come tomorrow, you won’t use it in the future.”

The people who came to the meeting thought that she came to stand up on purpose when they heard her loud tone.

“Since I am here, it means that you have to say goodbye to the laziness of the past. or. you say goodbye to the company.”

Everyone raised their heads together, but they didn't know that Isabella's management of her own company was much stricter than

The overall atmosphere is very loo

this. If someone was lazy, she would have fired him long ago.

"Who will tell me the current basic situation of the company. the phased results achieved, and the future development direction?" Isabella glanced at everyone.

No one came out to speak.

"I'll ask again." Isabella repeated what she said just now, but the response was still the same, and no one answered.

You don't need to think about it to know that the company is currently like this, has not achieved any initial results, and has no future development plans...

Just then, a voice appeared.

"Ms. Young."

the head of the design department, stood up, "We also hope that the company will grow stronger and stronger, but we don't know where the problem lies. Obviously, all departments are cooperating well, but the company just stops moving forward!"

"Um?"

"Also, I think the things designed by our department are very good, but for some reason, they just can't be sold..."

"For example, last month, our department Kennedy drew ten summer dresses, and we held a special meeting to discuss them. The styles are good, and the effect is also very good, but no one cares about them! Our aesthetics are not a problem, believe it or not. I'll show it to you."