

Chased 75

Chapter 75 The Secret of the Warehouse

“Our whole family of seven people, old and young, depend on my bowl of rice for food. Now that Mr. Barnes says production is suspended, what will our seven people eat and drink from now on?”

“You can’t listen halfway, what Mr. Barnes means is that production lines 1, 2, and 3 can continue to produce, and lines 4 and 5 should stop first. It doesn’t mean that you won’t be allowed to work, but just let you go home Wait a minute.”

“How long to wait? Seven people in my family want to eat, I can’t wait for a day!”

“You are the team leader of Line 4, how can you take the lead and fight against me? You have to do this if you agree to this matter, and you have to do this if you disagree! There is no room for negotiation!”

“Mr. Barnes promised at the beginning that each of us will have hope in life, at least food and clothing will be worry- free!”

“Did Mr. Barnes treat you badly this year? You still can’t see it? Now there is a Ms. Young in the company, who has to check everything big and small. Lines 4 and 5 must be stopped, and the inventory in the warehouse must be removed for two days. Cang, otherwise let alone you and me, Mr. Barnes will be in trouble!”

Isabella understands it, dare to feel that the things produced by Line 4 and 5 at night are all shady?

The person who spoke should be the manager of the production department and the team leader of Line 4. I remembered that they said that the stock in the warehouse must be removed from the warehouse in the past two days. Needless to say, I also know that there is something wrong with these goods...

Isabella quietly left the corridor and came to the warehouse on the first floor.

At night, the warehouse was unattended, and Isabella couldn’t open the door of the warehouse with her own fingerprints. It stands to reason that her fingerprints have been entered into the company system, and she can go anywhere in the company at will...

She entered the pa*sword, but the warehouse door remained motionless. Normally, this pa*sword would allow her to navigate the entire company unimpeded.

Unless someone deliberately erased her data and deliberately prevented her from entering this door.

Isabella’s eyes flashed with interest. She suddenly wanted to know if George’s tricks behind his back were the same as she had guessed.

The warehouse door is a three-layer combination lock, and Isabella easily cracked it, not only cracking it, but also changing the surveillance recording that followed.

There are all kinds of clothing in the warehouse, including finished products processed for other companies, as well as old and new products of our own company.

16.22%

Isabella went around her warehouse and found that there were two identical new batches, but the workmanship and fabrics were very different.

She logged into the computer normally used by the warehouse manager and found that the poor-quality goods had not been entered into the company data.

She copied everything in the computer, sent it to her mailbox, and then erased all traces.

At this moment, footsteps suddenly came from outside the warehouse.

Isabella jumped onto the beam at the top, overlooking everything below. The people who came in were the manager and several employees.

Several employees are unfamiliar faces.

Isabella suddenly understood that the production workers during the day and night were not the same group!

These people should all be George's own confidants.

Each of them still held a wooden stick in their hands.

The lights in the warehouse were turned on, and several employees searched everywhere, but no one was seen.

"Is it because the new girl recently left you too much psychological shadow?"

"There is no trace of anyone else entering this warehouse!"

The manager's eyes swept across the audience, and he always felt a strange atmosphere lingering, "Go and check the surveillance."

The monitoring has been tampered with by Isabella before, although the time is still being recorded every minute and every second, there is no trace of Isabella coming in.

The staff checked the monitoring and reported immediately, "It is true that no one entered the warehouse."

"Strange...someone saw Ms. Young entering the company just now, could it be that person made a mistake?" The manager was puzzled.

Just now, an employee went downstairs to pick up takeaway, and saw a figure who looked like Ms. Young entering the exclusive elevator. That figure should be Ms. Young, that's right...

He was a little worried, and asked someone to call the surveillance at the company's gate.

If Isabella really came, the camera must have caught it!

One of the employees hurried to adjust the monitoring. Isabella took out her mobile phone, erased all the monitoring images that had just entered the company, and then turned on the audio and video function to take pictures of everything they did.

“What if Ms. Young really came to the company and knew that we were producing those goods?” One of the employees was a little worried, fearing that Isabella would find out about them.

“According to Ms. Young’s investigation, it won’t be long before we can’t hide all our secrets!”

“Will we lose our jobs because of this?”

Listening to what they said, the manager sneered, “If someone accidentally gets into a car accident or other accidents on the way to and from get off work, we can’t blame us. We can only blame her for her bad luck.”

When several employees heard this, they were immediately frightened. What does the manager mean, if Ms. Young really came to the company and saw something he shouldn’t see, he would kill him?

But Ms. Young was sent by the headquarters. Could there be some background they don’t know?

After a while, the person who went to check the monitoring came back, “Manager, Ms. Young didn’t come to the company tonight, that person must have read it wrong.”

“Then what are we waiting for, let’s get back to work!”

“It scared me to death. I thought Ms. Young was really here. I was even worried that she would come to the warehouse!”

Five or six people turned off the lights and prepared to leave the warehouse.

At this moment, Isabella’s cell phone vibrated a few times suddenly, and it was Benjamin calling.

The phone recording was forced to stop.

The leading manager seemed to have heard something, and asked sensitively, “Whose phone is vibrating?”

“No.....”

Several employees took out their mobile phones one after another, but nothing happened.

Isabella directly hung up on Benjamin’s phone, set the phone to silent mode, and sent him a message, “I have something to do, see you later.”

“Okay.” Benjamin thought she was in some trouble, but now it seems that he was worrying too much.

The manager listened carefully, but there was no sound. Could it be that he heard wrong just now?

“You’re too sensitive! I think you’ve been made nervous by that girl! Hahaha...”

“This warehouse is so big. Someone really hid it, and we found it out long ago.

Several people laughed and pulled Manager Chen away.

The warehouse door was shut.

Isabella's eyes flickered darkly, it seemed that they had more secrets than she imagined.

It was pitch black in the warehouse.

11

Isabella didn't go down immediately, but continued to wait on the beam.

The light outside was like daylight, and a few figures stopped at the door of the warehouse, and there were a few bright shadows reflected on the ground at the crack of the door.