

Chased Her 621

Chapter 622: Keep Hitting Them

“Nineteen. The rest will be in custody by noon tomorrow.””

“I’ll go over.”

Nathan hangs up and calls the family members who have recently taken care of Nora.

“Keep an eye on her for me. If anything happens, contact me as soon as possible.”

“Yes, Nathan.”

Nathan ran to the scum as fast as he could, clenched his fists, and punched them one by one.

Maybe fists aren’t enough...

Nathan used whatever he could, hit the scum hard.

“Mercy, mercy...” One of them knelt and begged, “We’re just doing what we’re told...”

“Did the people above you order you to touch her?”

“No, no...”

“She’s just a weak woman, why don’t you leave her alone?”

Nathan picked up a chair and hit him so hard that it broke...

The man, covered in blood, gasped hard and looked at Nathan. He tried to move back in fear, but he couldn't make the effort.

Nathan picked him up again and hit him again and again.

"Aren't you trying to trouble me? I'm right here, come at me."

Nathan beat the crap out of them.

"What a man does to a girl?"

Nathan banged one of them on the head against the wall.

"You're still not people."

The guy was dying, and Nathan grabbed him and punched him.

"To call you animals is to insult animals."

I don't know how long it took Nathan to look at the room full of dying people and his eyes turned red with anger.

Two dozen assholes picking on an innocent girl...

Think of the girl's bright smile and cheerful appearance.....

Nathan wanted to bury them alive himself!

"Nathan, your hand is hurt..." Someone saw Nathan walk out of the house and rushed up to him. "Shall I get you a Band-aid?"

“No need.” “Keep waiting,” Nathan said before getting into the car and leaving.

“Yes.”

The other side.

Tel and Cara spent a sleepless night with their daughter’s body, tears running down their faces.

The most important, precious part of their lives, as if taken away...

I feel like I’ve been evacuated.

“Cara, you don’t want to eat, at least drink some water...” Eloise sobbed and urged, “How can Freda go safely with you like this...”

“I just want her to leave with no peace of mind...” Cara’s dry eyes have tears again, “I want her to feel guilty, I want her to wake up...”

When Eloise heard this, she felt even sadder.

She knew that Freda would not wake up this time anyway, the girl's body had become extremely cold...

"Tel, we're really sorry this has happened." Williams did not know how to comfort him, "Eat something first, you are the head of the family, the family needs you..."

"Where's Nathan?" Tel suddenly raised the vicissitudes of eyes asked.

"Nathan..... He's right outside..." Williams reacts. "I'm going to call him in."

Nathan was no longer in the hallway.

Before Williams finds Nora's hospital room, he finds several servants at the bedside taking care of Nora.

Tel and Cara just lost their daughter, and there are so many people here taking care of Nora...

Williams suddenly felt that his son wasn't standing in the Evert Family's shoes.

After all, Freda died because the forces behind Nora were bullied...

Nathan knocks on the door again and asks the servant, "Where is Nathan?"

"We don't know."

Williams called his son again.

Nathan's fist was split open and he was bleeding, his white shirt was stained with blood, two buttons were open, and he looked cold and heartless.

Nathan heard his cell phone ring and picked it up. The wound on his fist widened even more, but he didn't notice.

"Where have you been, you little boy? Uncle Evert wants to see you! You want someone to take care of your girlfriend, I can understand that, but Freda just left, you're like this, have you ever thought about your Uncle Evert, Aunt Evert?"

"I'll be there soon."

Before Williams finishes her sentence, she hears a beep from her cell phone and scolds, "This kid..."

What a fool!!

Nathan rushed to the hospital as fast as he could, putting on his overcoat to hide the conspicuous red color of his shirt.

Williams waited in front of the elevator and saw his son appear. "Where the hell have you been?" she asked. If your Uncle Evert or Aunt Evert hits you in a minute, you'll stand by me, you hear me?"

After all, the Evert Family only has one daughter...

Because of the power behind his girlfriend, he died so tragically...

"Good," said Hermione. Nathan agrees to come down and open Freda's room door.

The girl lay quietly in the hospital bed, but Nathan noticed that she was not the same as she had been hours before.

He was paler, the white of the dead.

When Tel saw him, he resisted the urge to beat him up, and in front of his daughter, he asked in a hoarse voice, "Where are the people? I want revenge for my daughter."

"All the people who hurt Freda have been sent to the police, and a few others will be arrested by noon tomorrow.""

When Tel saw that the back of his hand was cracked and bleeding, he realized something. "Did you just see them?"

"HMM." Nathan admits, "Yes."

"What's the use of killing them all, my little girl, never to come back..." Cara was crying.

"We can't let Freda wake up, but we can't let them off so easily... They must be made to pay."

Nathan clenched his fist, then bent down and bowed deeply, "Sorry aunt, sorry uncle, this incident is caused by me, it is my fault, I dare not expect to get your forgiveness, only hope that

"My daughter is gone, what is the use of living a hundred years if I am healthy again!" Cara cried, "Nathan, you don't understand, raising your daughter with so much joy, and then seeing her go away in such a tragic way... We parents, how heartbreak!"

Yes, it was their daughter who "meddlesome" and got caught by the bad guys trying to save Kay and Eliza...

But if Nora is not targeted by those forces, if Nora is not Nathan's girlfriend, then her baby daughter, on that day, will talk with customers to cooperate, sign a contract, go home and eat with their parents...

Her baby daughter has tried to take over the group, and in the future, the entire Evert Family property will be handed over to her.

But now...

How do you deal with the sudden loss of a person and having them as parents?

Chapter 623 Escaped

Nathan could only bow deeply with guilt, and said, "I'm sorry."

Although he knew that no matter how many times that he said sorry, it could never make up for the heartbreaking loss of their beloved daughter. He genuinely felt sorry for them and for Freda.

"I will take care of you till the end," Nathan seemed to make up his mind and said earnestly, "In this lifetime, take me as your son and ask me to do everything you want. I will be by your side. I will be filial to you and provide for your old age."

Although doing so couldn't erase the pain endured by Tel and Cara, at least it would prevent them from being left alone and helpless.

"Send me all the information related to those people," Tel said dejectedly, "And from now on, don't appear in front of the three of us."

"Sir..."

"Go." Tel didn't even want to look at him, "Give me a space to accompany my daughter."

He originally thought there would be a long life ahead to witness his daughter put on a wedding dress, happily marry, and have babies...

But he had not expected...

The bonds of this lifetime were so short-lived...

He planned to wait until their emotions had calmed down before coming back to do something for them. This included arranging Freda's funeral. He wanted to help with the preparations.

Time had passed, and the day had dawned.

When Nora opened her eyes, she found someone sleeping by her side. It was Nathan.

He was lying beside the bed. His head was resting on one hand, and he looked exhausted.

Nora noticed that his fists were all bloody and the blood had congealed on his skin.

Growing up in such a cruel environment, Nora could tell immediately that he was injured in a fight...

Who did he fight with?

Was it those people??

Thinking about how her adoptive parents were killed by that group of people and how they involved innocent Freda...

Tears suddenly welled up in Nora's eyes.

When Nathan was asleep, he still tightly held Nora's hand. Perhaps sensing her hand moving, Nathan suddenly opened his eyes and exclaimed with joy, "Nora, you're awake?"

There was nothing happier than seeing her awake.

Nora turned her face away. She did not want him to see the

Nora kept looking at the snowflakes outside the window and said softly, "Nathan, I have something to tell you."

She didn't call him Nathan, nor did she look directly at him...

Her tone of voice was even somewhat icy...

Nathan's heart sank even further. A sense of unease welled up within him.

"Nora, do you know how you wake up? It was Isa and her talented grandpa Brown who finally developed the antidote and administered it to you in time... By the way, I haven't told Isa that you have woken up yet. She'll be thrilled when she finds out. I'll tell her right away."

Nathan hurriedly took out his phone. But he acted too fast, and the phone fell to the ground.

He bent down to pick it up. His tear ducts were burning, "Do you know how dangerous your condition was at that time? Your breathing stopped for half a minute during the treatment, and it scared me.”

Nora finally withdrew her gaze and looked at him.

Nathan quickly forced a smile, “Isa said that as long as you wake up, the follow-up treatment shouldn’t be a problem. You can finally escape from your previous life.”

Can she really escape?

With her identity, she is destined to never escape in this lifetime...

Nora was about to speak when Nathan quickly said, “Let me text Isa... This is undoubtedly tremendous news. This is a Nathan was usually a fast typist. But today, he struggled to type. He either made mistakes or had awkward sentences...

He chuckled at himself, “Seeing you wake up has got me so excited that I can’t even type properly...”

Nora could sense a hint of bitterness and avoidance in his smile. She knew this man in front of her so well, and not a single subtle expression of his could escape her eyes.

“Yesterday, at the entrance...”

“Nora, you haven’t said how you’re feeling now. Do you have any discomfort?” Nathan interrupted her again after sending the message. He held her hand and said, “Like body aches, dizziness, or nausea? If you have any discomfort, do let me know. I’ll call the doctor.”

Nora shook her head again.

“That means the antidote developed by Isa and Grandpa Brown is effective. Congratulations, you won’t have to suffer anymore.” Nathan held her hands in both of his and kissed them gently. “By the way, are you hungry? I’ll ask the doctor if I can get you something to eat... Just wait here for me.”

Nora wanted to call out to him. But his figure already seemed like he was fleeing.

Nathan finally made it out of the ward, and he was on the verge of tears. He knew what Nora was going to say next, and he couldn’t accept it. After finally getting Nora back again, he wouldn’t let go of her no matter what.

He wouldn’t give up, even in death.

Nathan asked the doctor if it was possible to give the patient some light congee to drink. At that moment, Isabella replied to his message that she would come to the hospital soon. Nathan quickly asked, “Can Nora have some congee?”

Isabella replied with four words, “Yes, in small amounts.”

With the reassurance of Isabella’s reply, Nathan went to buy some food at the hospital entrance. But when he rushed back to the ward, he realized that Nora was nowhere to be found.

The breakfast he was holding fell to the ground. The hot congee splashed onto his ankle and stained his pants. However, he didn’t notice it at all. Instead, he felt as if he was worn out. He stood there in a daze for a while before going to the restroom in the ward to search for her.

“Nora?”

She wasn’t in the restroom, or the ward. He even looked under the bed and flipped through the curtains.

No one was there.

Only a pillow was left on the bed along with an unfolded blanket...

Chapter 624 Finally Found Her

The infusion needle had been removed by her.

Where did she go?

“Nora.” Nathan rushed out of the door. He ran to ask the nurse on this floor, “Where does the patient in Bed 308 go?”

“I don’t know.”

Nora had already been out of danger last night. She had been transferred from the ICU to a regular ward. It was early morning during the shift change. Hence, none of the nurses noticed where she had gone.

Nathan was very worried. He suddenly remembered what Nora had mentioned earlier. She said, “Yesterday at the ICU entrance...”

Although she didn’t say it, Nathan had a bad feeling. She must have overheard his conversation with his parents. That was why she wanted to leave...

He desperately pressed the down button of the elevator. He saw that it was still on the 21st floor and not coming down. Therefore, he ran down the stairs and hurriedly reached the ground floor. Then, he searched everywhere.

“Nora-”

There were people everywhere. The feather-like snowflakes fell densely and blocked his sight.

“Nora-”

Nathan’s eyes turned completely red. There was not a single person around who Nora wanted to find.

He ignored the bone-chilling cold wind that tore at his wounds. He took out his phone and dialed Nora’s number repeatedly.

However, the system kept reminding him, “Sorry, the number you dialed is unavailable.”

Unavailable.

She turned her phone off.

She was out of contact again!

Tears suddenly welled up in Nathan’s eyes. It was reminiscent of when she disappeared before this...

He was in a state of panic, as he didn’t know where to find her.

If Nora were to leave, would she go back to Moon Bay to pack her belongings?

Thinking this way, Nathan rushed out of the hospital. He almost got hit by an approaching taxi. He opened the passenger door and said to the driver, "Moon Bay, quickly."

The taxi driver looked bewildered. He replied, "I'm sorry, Sir. There are still passengers in the backseat who haven't gotten off yet..."

Nathan turned around and noticed a woman was holding her sick child in the back seat. They came to the hospital for treatment.

The woman was clearly startled when she saw Nathan's worried and teary-eyed expression. She hesitated for a few seconds. Then, she quickly carried her child out of the car...

Nathan said, "Driver, please hurry." He suddenly remembered something and took out his phone. Then, he called one of the servants at Moon Bay. He asked, "Has Nora returned?"

"Huh? Has Miss Nora come back? I haven't seen her," the servant replied. He detected something off in Nathan's tone and hastily replied, "It may be that I'm busy and don't notice. I'll bring a few people to search around."

The villa was huge. If Nora wanted to avoid the servants, it wouldn't be impossible with her skills.

"Make sure to stop her if you see her."

"Noted."

After hanging up the phone, Nathan asked the driver to go faster. The driver sighed and said, "We're already going as fast as we can..."

Nathan finally arrived at Moon Bay. He rushed in and caught hold of a servant. He asked nervously, "Has Nora come back?"

“No, I’ve checked the CCTV. She hasn’t returned...”

“Are her clothes and daily necessities still here?”

“They are.”

Nathan went to the bedroom again and checked everything. Everything seemed normal...

Remembering the mention of “CCTV” by the servant, he suddenly realized he had been too overwhelmed. He totally forgot about the existence of CCTV!

He immediately hacked into the CCTV of the floor in the hospital. He found that Nora had left by herself through the fire exit door while he was out buying breakfast.

No one noticed her in the corridor at that time...

There was no CCTV at the fire exit as well...

However, he didn’t see Nora when he was going downstairs just now...

So, where did Nora go?

Nathan could only hack into the CCTV of the first floor. He found that Nora didn’t appear on the first floor at that time...

Not on the rooftop either...

The more Nathan investigated, the more anxious he felt. This was because there were blind spots in the hospital that CCTV couldn't reach. If she had the intention to leave and avoid all CCTV, it wouldn't be impossible with her ability...

Nathan called his subordinates again. He instructed, "Keep an eye on the train station, high-speed rail station, and airport to see if Nora shows up. If you see her, make sure to stop her... Oh yeah, she might be in disguise. She can use a new ID to buy tickets... Anyway, you must remember her face. Don't let her leave Bomsville!"

"Noted."

"Noted."

After Nathan hung up the phone, he suddenly remembered Kay and Eliza from the morgue...

Would Nora go see them?

With that thought in mind, he got into his car from the garage and rushed back to the hospital. However, he found that there was no one inside when he opened the door to the morgue.

His tears immediately welled up.

Where had Nora gone?

Despair, pain, and fear surged through Nathan at that moment. He didn't know how he managed to pick up his phone and dial Isabella's number.

"Isa, has Nora contacted you?" Nathan's eyes welled up with tears as he said, "She..."

"Anything? She is right in front of me. What happens between you two?" Isabella asked. She noticed that Nathan's voice was choked up.

Hearing this, Nathan asked in disbelief, "Where are you?"

"We're in the pavilion of the garden. It's on the first floor of the hospital," Isabella said. She came to the hospital and saw Nora standing alone in the pavilion. She wanted to approach her to find out what was going on. However, Nathan's call came in just as she greeted her...

"Wait for me there, I'll be right over." Before hanging up the phone, Nathan reminded, "Take care of her and don't let her leave..."

Isabella was a bit puzzled but guessed somewhat. After ending the call, she draped her coat over Nora.

She said, "Your body hasn't recovered yet. Don't catch a cold, or Nathan will worry." Nora wanted to take it off and give it back. However, Isabella forcefully put it on her and pretended to be serious. She said, "I have no time to save you again."

Nora put on a faint and pale smile as she said, "Thank you."

"If you want to thank someone, thank Grandpa Brown. He helps a lot..."

Thinking of that night, Grandpa Brown hurriedly delivered the antidote to the ICU entrance. This saved Nora's life in time...

If it wasn't for that antidote, the consequences would have been unimaginable...

"What happens between you and Nathan?" Isabella looked at her downcast expression and asked, "Do you fight?"

Nora smiled faintly and shook her head.

She wanted to clarify things, but Nathan didn't give her the opportunity...

“Nora.”

From afar, Nathan saw Nora wearing Isa’s coat and stood in the pavilion.

Snowflakes were swirling outside. Nathan draped his coat over Isabella. Then, he asked Nora with red-rimmed eyes, “You fool, where do you run off to? Do you know how worried I am?”

Before Nora could speak, Nathan scooped her up in his arms.

“It’s so cold here. What if you catch a cold?” Nathan said. He carried her in the direction of the hospital room. His eyes were red.. Upon closer inspection, tears were glistening. His voice even choked up as he said, “If it isn’t for Isa finding you, where should I have looked for you?”

Nora looked into his eyes. She asked, “Are you crying?”

Chapter 625 Unexpected

“Can you please tell me where you’re going next time?” Nathan’s eyes grew redder, and his voice became hoarse.

Nora reached out and wiped away the tears falling from his eyes. She said, “You’re a grown man, why are you crying?”

It would have been better if she hadn’t wiped away his tears because as soon as she did, Nathan’s tears started flowing again. His voice carried a sense of grievance and replied, “Why don’t you answer the phone?”

He looked at her with red eyes.

With every beep of the busy signal, his heart sank a little.

“I don’t know where my phone is.””

Since waking up, she hadn’t touched her phone. She didn’t even know where it was.

“Then where do you go?” Nathan held her and entered the elevator. They attracted the attention of many people.

As the onlookers saw his teary eyes and Nora in his arms, they suddenly felt that he resembled a cute little puppy, so lovable...

There were several pairs of eyes looking at them in the elevator, but Nora didn’t respond to his words.

“Look at how lightly dressed you are, it’s snowing outside. Your body isn’t fully recovered yet, what if you catch a cold from getting wet?”

“I can accompany you wherever you want to go, whatever you want to do. I can accompany you... but you disappeared without a word...”

His heart really couldn’t bear it.

“Do you know that when I come back with breakfast, the entire hospital room is empty. You are gone? I am so worried! I asked the nurses, and they all said they haven’t seen you... I called you, and it said your phone is turned off. I really don’t know where to find you...”

The nearby middle-aged woman was moved and said, “Nora, this is your fault... Nathan is so handsome and cares about you so much. Don’t hurt his heart. It’s not easy to find such a good man.”

“Yes... He treats you so wholeheartedly and is willing to hold you like this in public. Every word he says shows how much he cares about you. It’s hard to find someone like him.” Another- woman also said, “You should cherish him. Many people outside would cherish him.”

Nora felt a bit embarrassed and didn’t know what to say.

Nathan hurriedly said, “Thank you both for your approval. I still have many areas to improve...”

The elevator door chimed and opened. Nathan thanked the two kind-hearted people again and said to the person in his arms, “You haven’t told me where you went just now.”

“The morgue.”

Nathan was somewhat surprised and replied, “I’ve been there too... Do you go there while I am buying breakfast?”

So, they didn’t meet?

“Yes.”

Nora thought he wouldn’t come back so soon, so she wanted to go and see her foster parents.

Seeing their tragic state and feeling oppressed, she wanted to go out to feel the freezing wind and see the snow...

She didn’t expect him to be so anxious...

Seeing him with red eyes, Nora felt sorry for him and said, “I am only gone for a short while, and you...”

What if she couldn't save them?

What if the antidote wasn't developed or taken in time...

What would he do?

Nathan thought she was referring to what if she left him...

He placed Nora on the hospital bed and propped himself up on the edge of the bed. His eyes were red as he closely observed her.

"Do you hear what my parents said to me?"

"Yes." Nora didn't deny it and silently watched him.

"So, you plan to leave? Abandon me like last time? Never let me find you again?"

Nathan looked into her eyes and felt hurt even a bit wronged. He said, "You know that I can't be without you. What will I do if you leave? Have you ever thought about my feelings? When you abandoned me like trash last time, do you think about how I would also be sad? How would I also feel hurt and how I would also miss you?"

Nora saw his tears falling again and wanted to wipe them away, but Nathan turned his face away. Somewhat stubbornly saying, "If you truly cared about me, you wouldn't have thoughts of leaving."

Nora's hand froze in mid-air.

"You still won't wipe them?" Nathan looked at her again.

Nora was somewhat speechless and reached out to wipe the tears from his face. She was only to have him grab her hand.

“You removed the IV line without permission... Isa worked so hard to save you, but you don’t take care of your body and instead go outside to feel the cold wind...”

“Are you done talking?”

“Not yet.” Nathan looked into her eyes, somewhat angry and replied, “Do you think that by leaving without a word, I won’t be able to find you? I will search for you for ten years, twenty years, thirty years... as long as I’m still alive, I will find you. No matter where you hide.”

He looked into Nora’s eyes and emphasized each word, “Listen to me carefully, no matter what happens. I will never let go of your hand. We are in the same boat now.”

“I will talk to my parents. Once all the potential dangers are eliminated, they won’t oppose us. Give me some time, trust me.”

Nora looked at his sincere expression and remained silent.

“I am also saddened by what your parents have experienced. I know you feel guilty about Freda’s death too. What we can do now is seek revenge for them, comfort the Evert Family, and bring these wrongdoers to justice. We cannot let more people be implicated and harmed...”

Do you remember when Kay once told Nora at the Sea La Vie that parents would do everything, they could protect their children? They only hope that their children can live well. Otherwise, how can they justify their sacrifice?

Nora looked into Nathan’s eyes and said gently, “I don’t plan to leave.”

Nathan was somewhat surprised.

“I just want to go to the mortuary to see them.” Nora said with her eyes slightly downcast and continued, “I don’t want to cry in front of you, nor do I want to make you worry.””

That’s why she went to the mortuary alone and cried her heart out.

When she was a child, the Achaemenid Empire taught her not to be weak and not to cry in any situation. During training, even if she bled a lot or suffered heavy injuries, she clenched her teeth and resolutely refused to let tears fall.

But today, seeing the bodies of her adoptive parents, she couldn’t hold back. She missed them so much and wished they could come back to life.

“It’s normal for your parents not to accept me. They are parents, naturally hoping their child can live a peaceful life. I understand. If it is my child, I wouldn’t allow them to be with someone with a complicated background either. I don’t blame them.”

Nora’s words surprised Nathan even more.

“I will do everything I can to earn their approval.” Nora said and looked into his eyes seriously. She continued, “My parents haven’t been buried yet, and I haven’t personally avenged them or Freda. So, I can’t leave. I can’t let those people get close to the Evert Family, to you...”

Isabella, who was standing at the door heard this curved her lips. She walked towards the office of Lebron.

Lebron, who was seeing her as if encountering a prominent figure in the medical field. He immediately stood up to welcome her. Lebron said, "Dr. Isabella, you're here? Come in, please!"

"Can you please tell me where you're going next time?" Nathan's eyes grew redder, and his voice became hoarse.

Nora reached out and wiped away the tears falling from his eyes. She said, "You're a grown man, why are you crying?"

It would have been better if she hadn't wiped away his tears because as soon as she did, Nathan's tears started flowing again. His voice carried a sense of grievance and replied, "Why don't you answer the phone?"

He looked at her with red eyes.

With every beep of the busy signal, his heart sank a little.

"I don't know where my phone is."

Since waking up, she hadn't touched her phone. She didn't even know where it was.

"Then where do you go?" Nathan held her and entered the elevator. They attracted the attention of many people.

As the onlookers saw his teary eyes and Nora in his arms, they suddenly felt that he resembled a cute little puppy, so lovable...

There were several pairs of eyes looking at them in the elevator, but Nora didn't respond to his words.

"Look at how lightly dressed you are, it's snowing outside. Your body isn't fully recovered yet, what if you catch a cold from getting wet?”

“I can accompany you wherever you want to go, whatever you want to do. I can accompany you... but you disappeared without a word...”

His heart really couldn't bear it.

“Do you know that when I come back with breakfast, the entire hospital room is empty. You are gone? I am so worried! I asked the nurses, and they all said they haven't seen you... I called you, and it said your phone is turned off. I really don't know where to find you...”

The nearby middle-aged woman was moved and said, “Nora, this is your fault... Nathan is so handsome and cares about you so much. Don't hurt his heart. It's not easy to find such a good man.”

“Yes... He treats you so wholeheartedly and is willing to hold you like this in public. Every word he says shows how much he cares about you. It's hard to find someone like him.” Another- woman also said,

“You should cherish him. Many people outside would cherish him.”

Nora felt a bit embarrassed and didn't know what to say.

Nathan hurriedly said, “Thank you both for your approval. I still have many areas to improve...”

The elevator door chimed and opened. Nathan thanked the two kind-hearted people again and said to the person in his arms, “You haven't told me where you went just now.”

“The morgue.”

Nathan was somewhat surprised and replied, "I've been there too... Do you go there while I am buying breakfast?"

So, they didn't meet?

"Yes."

Nora thought he wouldn't come back so soon, so she wanted to go and see her foster parents.

Seeing their tragic state and feeling oppressed, she wanted to go out to feel the freezing wind and see the snow...

She didn't expect him to be so anxious...

Seeing him with red eyes, Nora felt sorry for him and said, "I am only gone for a short while, and you..."

What if she couldn't save them?

What if the antidote wasn't developed or taken in time...

What would he do?

Nathan thought she was referring to what if she left him...

He placed Nora on the hospital bed and propped himself up on the edge of the bed. His eyes were red as he closely observed her.

"Do you hear what my parents said to me?"

"Yes." Nora didn't deny it and silently watched him.

“So, you plan to leave? Abandon me like last time? Never let me find you again?”

Nathan looked into her eyes and felt hurt even a bit wronged. He said, “You know that I can’t be without you. What will I do if you leave? Have you ever thought about my feelings? When you abandoned me like trash last time, do you think about how I would also be sad? How would I also feel hurt and how I would also miss you?”

Nora saw his tears falling again and wanted to wipe them away, but Nathan turned his face away. Somewhat stubbornly saying, “If you truly cared about me, you wouldn’t have thoughts of leaving.”

Nora’s hand froze in mid-air.

“You still won’t wipe them?” Nathan looked at her again.

Nora was somewhat speechless and reached out to wipe the tears from his face. She was only to have him grab her hand.

“You removed the IV line without permission... Isa worked so hard to save you, but you don’t take care of your body and instead go outside to feel the cold wind...”

“Are you done talking?”

“Not yet.” Nathan looked into her eyes, somewhat angry and replied, “Do you think that by leaving without a word, I won’t be able to find you? I will search for you for ten years, twenty years, thirty years... as long as I’m still alive, I will find you. No matter where you hide.”

He looked into Nora’s eyes and emphasized each word, “Listen to me carefully, no matter what happens. I will never let go of your hand. We are in the same boat now.”

“I will talk to my parents. Once all the potential dangers are eliminated, they won’t oppose us. Give me some time, trust me.”

Nora looked at his sincere expression and remained silent.

“I am also saddened by what your parents have experienced. I know you feel guilty about Freda’s death too. What we can do now is seek revenge for them, comfort the Evert Family, and bring these wrongdoers to justice. We cannot let more people be implicated and harmed...”

Do you remember when Kay once told Nora at the Sea La Vie that parents would do everything, they could protect their children? They only hope that their children can live well. Otherwise, how can they justify their sacrifice?

Nora looked into Nathan’s eyes and said gently, “I don’t plan to leave.”

Nathan was somewhat surprised.

“I just want to go to the mortuary to see them.” Nora said with her eyes slightly downcast and continued, “I don’t want to cry in front of you, nor do I want to make you worry.””

That’s why she went to the mortuary alone and cried her heart out.

When she was a child, the Achaemenid Empire taught her not to be weak and not to cry in any situation. During training, even if she bled a lot or suffered heavy injuries, she clenched her teeth and resolutely refused to let tears fall.

But today, seeing the bodies of her adoptive parents, she couldn’t hold back. She missed them so much and wished they could come back to life.

“It’s normal for your parents not to accept me. They are parents, naturally hoping their child can live a peaceful life. I understand. If it is my child, I wouldn’t allow them to be with someone with a complicated background either. I don’t blame them.”

Nora’s words surprised Nathan even more.

“I will do everything I can to earn their approval.” Nora said and looked into his eyes seriously. She continued, “My parents haven’t been buried yet, and I haven’t personally avenged them or Freda. So, I can’t leave. I can’t let those people get close to the Evert Family, to you...”

Isabella, who was standing at the door heard this curved her lips. She walked towards the office of Lebron.

Lebron, who was seeing her as if encountering a prominent figure in the medical field. He immediately stood up to welcome her. Lebron said, “Dr. Isabella, you’re here? Come in, please!”

Chapter 626 Unexpected Encounter

“No need to be polite, just call me Isabella.”

“No, no, that won’t do. Your medical skills surpass mine. Calling you Doctor is already putting you in an uncomfortable position. Please, have some tea. This is the best tea I have here...”

Lebron brewed the tea and brought it to Isabella carefully and respectfully saying, “It’s a bit hot, please drink slowly.”

Isabella took the teacup and stated her purpose, “I wanted to see the real-time data of all the medical equipment monitoring since the patient was transferred to Room 308 last night, as well as any issues noticed by the doctors and nurses.”

“Please wait a moment, I’ll find it for you.” The doctor hurriedly accessed the system and turned the computer screen towards Isabella. The doctor is speaking with special respect, “It’s all here, a total of four pages. Take your time.”

After finishing one page, Isabella clicked the mouse for the next.

“No adverse reactions occurred, and the patient doesn’t ring the bell to complain about any discomfort. The family members also don’t come to us. Our staff went for rounds every hour continuously from last night until dawn, but they don’t find any problems...”

As Lebron spoke, he pondered and asked meekly, “Dr.

Isabella, may I ask where you obtained that medicine? Can it be used in medical practice to save more patients...”

“Not for now.”

It was too expensive, and the patients couldn’t afford it.

Moreover, it hadn’t undergone final testing. So, there might be side effects.

“Oh...” Lebron nodded cautiously and not daring to ask further, “The patient’s recovery is quite good.”

After going through all four pages of data, Isabella admitted and said, “Indeed, it’s good.”

It was better than she had expected.

“If there are no further complications, the patient can be discharged in three days. If there are any difficult situations, feel free to contact me.”

Isabella handed over her personal QR code.

Lebron was momentarily stunned but immediately ecstatically rummaged through drawers and cabinets to find his phone excitedly adding the WhatsApp of the esteemed senior.

“I won’t be able to come often in the next few days. I’ll trouble you.”

“No, no, it’s not trouble at all. I will take good care of the patient.” Lebron was still delighted about being able to add the WhatsApp of Isabella.

“I’m leaving now.”

Lebron saw her getting up and hastily picked up the teacup, “Dr. Isabella, your tea...”

“No need, thank you.”

Lebron watched her departing figure and suddenly felt that she was very polite, young, beautiful, and exceptionally skilled...

He wondered who would be fortunate enough to benefit from such an outstanding girl in the future.

After leaving the hospital, Isabella remembered that she had neglected Benjamin recently. So, she bought something nearby and drove to the Mason Group.

In the office...

Green reported, “Boss, our clothing brand can release hundreds of new designs every month. The new designers we hired are incredibly talented. Currently, our brand’s popularity is on par with QY.”

“Reduce the number of new designs to eighty per month.” Benjamin said as he flipped through the documents. He gave his instructions in a calm voice, “Our focus is not on the fashion industry.”

Green knew in his heart that the boss wanted QY to dominate the market. Unable to hold back, he said, “Boss, you can also make money together with Ms. Isabella...”

There’s no need to accommodate her...

“The money I make won’t be hers in the future?” Benjamin raised his gaze from the documents and asked.

“Green remained silent.” He couldn’t refute that statement and replied, “Oh, by the way, there’s a competitor this quarter. They’re closely competing with QY. They imitate QY’s style and produce only one piece for each design. Their prices are lower than QY’s, and they’re stealing customers from QY...”

Because their designs were similar to QY’s, and their prices were cheaper. So, their sales were quite good.

“Start by targeting their fabrics, prices, styles, and designs. Find a way to shut them down.” Benjamin said as he spoke, he heard a knock on the door. With an expressionless face, he uttered a single word, “Enter.”

“Mr. Mason.”

A woman entered the room and held documents in one hand and a cup of coffee in the other. Her eyes revealed an unmistakable admiration and eagerness to prove herself.

Benjamin looked at her and said, "I called for the head of the Human Resources Department."

Green interjected, "Boss, she's Emily, the newly appointed head of the Human Resources Department as of yesterday."

Emily draped her wavy curls over her right shoulder and smiled as she handed the coffee to Benjamin. She said, "Mr. Mason, I'm Emily. It's a pleasure to meet you. This coffee is brought by the secretary outside, and I brought it in for you. Here are the documents you requested. They contain information about personnel changes this quarter. Some of the reasons are related to the decisions made by one of our group's decision-makers. I'd like to talk to you about it privately."

Benjamin looked at her carefully done makeup and glanced at Green. Green quickly bowed and exited the room.

As soon as he stepped out of the office, he heard the sound of the elevator door opening. Ms. Isabella emerged and held a bag.

"Ms. Isabella??" Green was extremely surprised. He rubbed his eyes vigorously and doubted whether he was seeing things correctly. He said, "You...you... Why are you here today?"

Isabella raised an eyebrow and asked, "Can't I come?"

"No, no, it's not that. I'm just very surprised. If Boss sees you, he'll definitely be delighted!" Green hurriedly approached her and asked, "Shall I help you carry that? Is it for Mr. Mason?"

"Hmm." Isabella handed him the things and asked, "Is he still busy?"

"There have been significant personnel changes recently, with many people submitting their resignations. It seems there are reasons behind it. Mr. Mason is investigating."

"Then I'll wait here for a while."

“Ms. Isabella, why don’t you come in and sit here with me?”

Benjamin’s office was next door, and this was Green’s workspace. When Isabella entered and looked around, she found the environment quite nice.

Suddenly, she felt that she hadn’t treated the diligent people who helped her manage the company well enough...

Their offices were not even half the size of this one.

“It’s a bit messy, Ms. Isabella. Please have a seat. I’ll go pour you a cup of coffee.” Green said and added, “Finally, we can make use of the coffee beans Boss bought. If you don’t come, those beans would have expired. Also, there’s a snack cabinet that belongs to you alone. The things inside have been there for a long time...”

Isabella’s heart warmed, and she was about to speak when suddenly she heard the sound of a cup shattering next door.

Immediately afterward, she heard an irritated male voice.

She couldn’t make out the specific words from here, but she could sense that Benjamin was very angry.

“Ms. Isabella, please have a seat. Let me go check...” Green hurriedly opened the door.

“Is he always like this?”

“No, no, Boss is very considerate of his employees and easy to talk to. Maybe something today has touched a nerve.” Green knocked on the door, and as soon as he pushed it open. He heard Benjamin shouting, “Get out.”

Green quickly closed the door in fright.

Seeing his frightened expression and how he shrank his neck, Isabella was curious and went to knock on Benjamin's door.

"Don't you hear? I tell you-"

Before he could finish his sentence, he saw Isabella pushing the door and entering.

Chapter 627 Avoid Any Bad Relationship

Benjamin's anger dissipated by more than half as he stood up and walked towards Isabella, his eyes filled with surprise and joy.

"What did you just..." Isabella smirked at him and asked, "Tell me what to do?"

"Let you in." Benjamin immediately pulled her into his embrace and greedily breathed in her scent. He said, "You finally come to see me?"

"Ms. Isabella also bought you a lot of things." Green stood at the door and held a large bag.

Benjamin asked Isabella in his arms excitedly, "What is it?"

"Food, essentials, everything."

"Bring it in quickly." Benjamin gave a signal with his eyes, and Green immediately brought the bag inside.

"I'll open this surprise myself later."

After Benjamin finished speaking, he happily admired Isabella in his arms and asked, "Why don't you tell me earlier? I could have come to pick you up."

"I wanted to give you a surprise."

"It's indeed surprising and delightful."

The previous displeasure vanished and was replaced by a

Avoid Any Bad Relationship

feeling of warmth filling their hearts.

"It's been a long time since you last visited me." Benjamin cherished Isabella in front of him and said, "Will there be more surprises like this in the future?"

"Of course."

She remained silent.

Emily, on the side looked on in disbelief at their interaction and was unable to trust her eyes.

Benjamin who had just raged at her a moment ago was suddenly so gentle towards Isabella...

And Benjamin could be so happy about the sudden visit of Isabella...

Who exactly is Isabella?

Could she be Mr. Mason's secret girlfriend?

But she looks so young... probably not even in college yet.

How could Mr. Mason like such a girl??

"What happened earlier?" Isabella raised her gaze with concern.

"There is something wrong with the coffee she gave me."

Following Benjamin's gaze, Isabella finally noticed the disheveled woman standing nearby. Her white shirt had some coffee stains, and three buttons on her chest were undone seemingly intentional.

There were broken pieces of a cup on the ground and black coffee.

Isabella crouched down and dipped her finger into the spilled coffee. She sniffed it and asked, "Powerful liquid?"

It was said to make people feel ecstatic like immortals which was a newly launched product.

Emily's expression was somewhat stunned. She couldn't believe Isabella had such a keen sense of smell and was able to tell what it was just by a sniff...

But she would never admit it. She shook her head and said, "I don't know what you're talking about..."

"Aren't we discussing personnel changes?" Isabella stood up and walked calmly in front of Emily. Her eyes radiated confidence and asked, "Do we need to undo a button to discuss it?"

"I... I don't know why the button isn't fastened..."

Emily faced Isabella's strong presence and felt somewhat insecure.

"All disheveled individuals are not allowed in this office."

Isabella remained firm in her belief and said, "The button came undone after you entered."

Emily quickly fastened the button and avoided eye contact with Isabella.

"Do you like him?" Isabella took the initiative to ask again.

Emily sneaked a glance at Benjamin. He was really handsome, even when he was angry.

"If he remains this attractive but is poor, requiring your care in daily life and financial support through joint efforts, would you still like him?"

Emily raised her gaze and seemed hesitant.

"If he is unattractive but very wealthy, with numerous servants to take care of your daily needs, and money that can't be spent, would you like him?"

Emily instinctively wanted to say yes. Despite his unattractiveness, money was hard to resist.

"If he is not unattractive and not old but significantly older, an old man with an abundance of wealth, would you like him?"

A glimmer of excitement appeared in Emily's eyes as if saying that she might be considered the old man was halfway to the grave, and his fortune would be hers eventually...

"If he is not unattractive, not old, not poor, but confined to a wheelchair for life and with plenty of money, would you choose him?"

Emily pondered for a moment. Most likely, she would choose him...

"So, it's not him that you like, but the person occupying this position."

Isabella could easily see through her thoughts and said, "Whether it's an old man, an unattractive person, or a disabled individual. As long as they occupy this position and possess wealth and power, you will like them."

Emily suddenly felt exposed and found it hard to believe

"And someone like him, young, handsome, and wealthy, you like even more."

Green, who was on the side, secretly glanced at his boss. Indeed, the corners of his mouth were upturned.

"Find someone else to like. He already has a girlfriend, and their relationship seems stable."

Emily's face turned red in an instant.

"Now that you're in this position, there are many things you can strive for. Rely on yourself and live with more pride and confidence."

Emily looked at Isabella in front of her and found it somewhat unbelievable. How could someone so young live so wisely?

“Don’t be deceived by Ms. Isabella’s young age. She knows a lot.” Green reminded her from the side.

Emily suddenly understood. Mr. Mason’s preference wasn’t just for young age. But Isabella must have exceptional qualities in some aspects.

In contrast, she had very few notable qualities herself. Even her appearance seemed inferior after seeing Isabella.

So, why would Mr. Mason like her?

Choosing her, who was older. Over a younger, more beautiful, wiser, and more talented girlfriend?

Emily suddenly realized where she went wrong...

From the moment she decided to take risks and go all out, she was mistaken!

“Have you finished discussing the personnel changes?” Isabella raised her gaze again and asked.

Emily nodded and felt somewhat embarrassed. She replied, “Yes, we have.”

“Go outside then.”

After Emily left, Isabella was about to talk to Benjamin when Green applauded. It was amazing!

They thought Isabella would mercilessly eliminate Emily, but Ms. Isabella not only awakened this daydreamer in a gentler way but also taught her how to be a better person...

“Go out.” Benjamin felt that the special assistant was a bit of a hindrance. He personally made coffee for Isabella and brought out snacks from the pantry. He placed them on the coffee table and said, "Take a look and see which one you like. I'll open it for you."

Isabella didn't expect him to have prepared so much food in the office. Just as she picked up a bag of potato chips, Benjamin immediately opened it for her and even fed her a piece. He said, "It's been a while since you last came, they're no longer crispy."

Isabella sensed the underlying meaning behind his words and asked, "So, can I come here often from now on?"

"Deal." Benjamin replied and instantly became happy.

At that moment, someone knocked on the door. Benjamin spoke in a gentle voice, "Take your time eating. There's more inside. If it's not enough, I'll get it for you."

After saying that, he finally raised his gaze and said, "Come in."

Chapter 628 Emails

The man who entered was Boris, the deputy general manager of the group. He received a message stating that Emily, the Head of the Department of Human Resources, had gone to Mr. Mason to accuse him. He claimed that the recent personnel changes in the group were related to him.

He was about to come in and defend himself when he unintentionally saw Isabella sitting on the sofa, one hand holding her phone and the other holding a bag of potato chips enjoying herself.

He was instantly stunned. Who was Isabella? She was actually able to sit on Mr. Mason's highly valuable sofa and eat potato chips. It's worth noting that Mr. Mason not only avoids relationships with women but also has a cleanliness obsession!

If even a tiny bit of potato chip residue fell on Mr. Mason's invaluable carpet, Isabella wouldn't be safe...

Yet, Isabella seemed to be eating the chips without any concerns.

“Haven’t seen enough yet?”

At that moment, Benjamin emerged from the snack cabinet and carried a bunch of beverages. His narrowed eyes had a hint of danger.

Boris widened his eyes again and suspected that he had weak eyesight.

It turned out that Mr. Mason had done something several months ago. Mr. Mason placed a seventy-nine inches cabinet in the office, which was filled with snacks and beverages...

He had even guessed a few times in private and thought that it contained some important secrets...

If he hadn’t seen it with his eyes, he wouldn’t have believed it.

“Mr... Mr. Mason, I need to talk to you about something...”

Boris looked at Benjamin in shock as he placed the beverages on the coffee table and spoke warmly to Isabella on the sofa, “The coffee is still hot. Take a look and see if there’s anything you like among these.”

There were juices, sodas, beverages, mineral water, and more...

“You focus on your work for now.” Isabella’s gaze moved away from the phone screen and glanced at the table. Among the beverages, there was a bottle of lemon water. She was about to pick it up.

Benjamin noticed her gaze and immediately acted before her. He unscrewed the cap and brought it to her lips.

Isabella took a sip.

“How is it?”

“Not bad.” Isabella glanced at the packaging on the bottle. It seemed new? Mason Group?

“I know you like it, so we set up a dedicated production line.” After Benjamin finished speaking, he noticed that Boris was still staring at Isabella. He raised an eyebrow with some displeasure and asked, “Is she attractive?”

“No, no, no...” Boris quickly shook his head like a drum. But then he quickly changed his mind and said, “Yes, she’s attractive. Isabella is incredibly beautiful, stunningly elegant, and captivating. Words cannot adequately describe her beauty. Dare I ask if she is Mr. Mason’s girlfriend?”

Benjamin fed Isabella another sip of lemon water and remained silent.

“It must be his fiancée!” Boris boldly speculated and said, “No wonder they look so compatible! They are a perfect match, and I congratulate Mr. Mason in advance. Congratulations to Isabella as well. May you both have a hundred years of harmony, be deeply connected, and treat each other with respect and love.”

Isabella glanced at him and was surprised that the person beside Benjamin was quite observant. She replied, “Thank you.”

This thanks you made Boris even more certain of her identity. She was indeed the future Mrs. Mason. No wonder Mr. Mason, who was usually cold and indifferent but personally served her tea and water...

Impressive, impressive.

He wondered who she really was. Among all the people in the world, she was the first one who could make Benjamin obediently follow her every word.

“Let’s get down to business.” Benjamin sat next to Isabella and opened another pack of snacks for her.

“Since Mrs. Mason is on our side, I’ll boldly show my incompetence in front of her!” Boris bowed and then protested, “Mr. Mason, Emily is falsely accusing me. How could the personnel changes in the group have anything to do with me? Even if they do, I am someone who values talent. I do everything I can to recruit talented individuals. How could I possibly push them away?”

Benjamin fed Isabella a snack and observed her expression. Seeing that she didn’t seem to like it, he opened another pack.

“In the past two months, many people have submitted their resignations. From what I know, it’s related to Emily’s management style. She has admired Mr. Mason for a long time. Any young, beautiful graduates from prestigious universities who could potentially threaten her position couldn’t make it past the three-month internship period...”

As Boris said this, he deliberately glanced at Isabella.

Isabella seemed oblivious and looked at her phone with a consistent expression.

Benjamin’s gaze traced the beautiful face of Isabella but seeing that she didn’t show any liking or disliking, he opened another pack of snacks and fed her again.

Seeing that Mr. Mason still ignored him, Boris could only persevere and continue explaining, “Mr. Mason, I have been diligently working for this group for twelve years. You should know what kind of person I am... I would never do anything detrimental to the group’s interests...”

Benjamin fed Isabella a sip of lemon water and then raised his eyes to ask, “What does she gain by falsely accusing you?”

“She’s dissatisfied with my decisions and wants to demote and cut my salary, or even have me fired from the company!”

Boris saw Mr. Mason finally look at him seriously and hurriedly explained, “Previously, our group’s department head position is filled by capable individuals. However, some of them lacked sufficient experience and couldn’t solve problems effectively.”

“I demanded that all vice department heads be promoted to department heads and have at least three years of work experience. My requirement isn’t unreasonable, but Emily has objections. She feels that I am hindering her promotion.”

“Until yesterday when she got promoted, I organized a celebration party. All the newly promoted department heads, attended except for her...”

Benjamin calmly asked, “So why do you think she doesn’t come?”

“She’s definitely dissatisfied with me... I guess she took advantage of her promotion and accused me. She was blaming me for all the personnel changes...”

At that moment, Green knocked on the door and entered with a document.

“Boss, this is Emily’s resignation letter. It should have been submitted to the general manager for processing, but the general manager thought it would be better for you to decide on this person.”

Boris didn’t expect that Emily had submitted her resignation...

He had just mentioned that Emily wanted to take advantage of her promotion to accuse him...

But he never expected...

After struggling for five years and finally becoming a department head, she resigned after just one day?

Isabella found it quite normal. Given what had happened, Emily probably couldn't face staying in the company anymore.

"Green, print out the emails received by the company and show them to Boris."

With Benjamin's instructions, Green immediately went to print the emails. When seven or eight emails were handed to Boris, he trembled as he looked at the words on the paper and was unable to believe what he was reading...

Each email was from a different person, and they all claimed to have been subjected to Boris's inappropriate behavior since they joined the company...

Boris had told them that if they obeyed him, they would be converted to regular employees after the probation period. But if they didn't, he would kick them out of the company...

Boris even mentioned that he had some personal connections through his grandfather and a certain cousin of Benjamin's by adding a touch of influence.

Chapter 629 It's Up to You to Check

Some timid ones were scared away before the probation period. Some persisted until they became regular employees but were constantly bothered by Boris, so they decided to resign...

The remaining interns were either not attractive or had average figures, and no one caught Boris's eye. That's how they managed to survive the probation period and successfully become regular employees.

Emily has always been a beauty since she was young. While not breathtakingly stunning but at least at a glance, she appeared charming and captivating.

Boris had been eyeing her for a long time.

At first, he only dared to send WhatsApp messages to show daily concern.

Later, after taking advantage of those female interns during their probation period. He believed that as long as he used his position as vice general manager, he could do as he pleased...

So, he targeted Emily.

Unexpectedly, Emily had a thuggish brother who beat Boris up after he harassed her three or four times...

Since then, they had bad blood between them.

He could only occasionally cause trouble for Emily at work. He never expected Emily to have such patience, enduring until she became a regular employee.

However, she resigned after just one day as a department head...

What could be the reason behind it? Boris couldn't figure it out. Could it be that her resignation was simply an attempt to drag him down with her?

“Mr. Mason, these are all slanders! I have never done...” Boris interrupted in a hurry to explain, “I’m already forty-two years old, and my daughter is fifteen. How could I do such despicable things? Where do these emails come from? Mr. Mason, give me the IP addresses of the senders. I will send each of them a lawyer’s letter!”

“You want to trouble them?” Benjamin asked and squinted his eyes.

“No, no, no, I wouldn’t dare... I just want to ask them why they would slander me for things I haven’t done. This is absurd, this... these things are done by bastards!”

“So, you admit you’re a bastard?”

Boris was stunned by the remark and was about to explain.

“I have already sent them to the police. If you have anything to say, go talk to the police.”

Benjamin pressed the button, and Green immediately came in and pulled Boris out.

“Mr. Mason, please listen to my explanation. It’s really Emily who is slandering me. I haven’t done anything... Mr. Mason, please don’t believe her, don’t believe those emails...”

Green dragged him out of the office and cast a disdainful glance at him. With a fifteen-year-old daughter, he was capable of such despicable acts. No wonder so many people resigned in the past two months... and all of them were women.

It turns out it’s all about him.

“Emily doesn’t say anything. Mr. Mason received these emails only yesterday.”

It should be a group of girls who were taken advantage of by him, planning to unite and expose his misdeeds by authoring emails.

So, the company’s mailbox received seven or eight anonymous reports all at once yesterday.

Mason Group didn’t hesitate and directly reported it to the police. They handle Boris over for investigation...

“The police car is arriving downstairs. You better think about how to explain this to the police and your family!”

With one sentence, Green made Boris’s heart sink to the bottom.

Inside the office.

Seeing Isabella happily enjoying her snack, Benjamin immediately remembered the brand and decided to buy more for her later.

Thinking about the gifts Isabella bought for him, Benjamin opened the gift bag again. Inside were snacks, clothes, and other items, which made him ecstatic.

“They must be delicious.” Benjamin took out the snacks and picked up a few pieces of clothing. He was unable to put them down.

“The ones you have are all worn out.” Isabella glanced at the shirt he was wearing, the shirt she had given him as a gift last time.

She had only given him a few items, but she didn’t expect him to wear them repeatedly. All the clothes in the wardrobe seemed to have lost favor.

He used the mug she gave him to drink coffee every day and wore the clothes she gave him to work. Recently, Isabella was worried that he might catch a cold, so she bought him a few more coats.

“I don’t have time to design them myself. After I finish my busy schedule, I’ll make a few new styles for you, okay?”

Upon hearing this, Benjamin happily lifted Isabella and showered her with kisses.

“What should I do? I really like you. Can I wear them now?”

Receiving so many gifts at once, he was as happy as a child.

“Wear them after washing.”

Benjamin could only endure and kissed her lips again.

Isabella pushed him away and placed him on the office desk. Before she could react, the sound of knocking on the door rang out.

Immediately after, Green pushed open the office door and said, “Boss...”

Isabella pushed Benjamin away in an instant.

Benjamin turned back slightly displeased and replied, "You always manage to pick the perfect timing."

Seeing Ms. Isabella standing up from under the desk and smirking at him, she said, "Green, well done."

Green felt like he had come at the wrong time... Feeling Mr. Mason's gaze, he felt like he was being torn apart. He quickly reported, "Ms. Isabella praised me wrongly. It's an urgent matter."

Isabella saw Benjamin's expression of wanting to eat but was unable to and found it even funnier.

"Boss, I came to tell you that Boris has been taken away by the police. Many employees saw it, and there's a notice posted on the company bulletin board as a warning. Additionally, the business partner from France has arrived and wants to personally speak with you. He's waiting in the meeting room..."

"Let him wait."

"He only has half an hour. After half an hour, he needed to rush to the airport. He has already bought his plane ticket."

Benjamin remained silent and became even more displeased.

Green looked at Ms. Isabella again and pleaded with his eyes for her to help speak up.

"Go ahead." Isabella finally spoke, "I'll wait here for you."

Benjamin was somewhat unhappy and replied, "My tie is crooked."

Green rubbed his eyes. Boss's tie was clearly neatly tied... Did he just lie without hesitation?

Isabella stepped forward and fixed it for him.

“You’re so skilled at this. Have you tied someone else’s tie before?” Benjamin held her small hand and casually asked.

“Forgot what I do for a living?”

All of QY’s clothes, shoes, and bags were designed by her, including ties.

How could she not know how to tie one?

“From now on, you can only help me with it.”

“Or what? Help Green??”

Green was terrified on the side. Feeling Boss’s gaze, he quickly said, “No, even if my hand is broken, I won’t let Ms. Isabella help... Ms. Isabella is just joking...”

Isabella smiled and looked at Benjamin. She asked, “Aren’t you going?”

Benjamin lowered his head and passionately kissed her for a while. He made up for what they hadn’t done earlier. His mood improved after that and said, “Feel free to browse here. Check the computers, tablets, and phones. The passwords are all your birthday.”

As Benjamin said this, he also placed his phone on the coffee table.

“Take it with you.” Isabella declined his phone and asked, “What if someone needs to reach you?”

“You answer it. If there’s something important, let me know. Otherwise, ignore them.”

“It’s not just calls. You’ll definitely receive a lot of messages.”

“You handle the replies.” Benjamin touched her head and said, “Wait for me to come back.”

Isabella saw him actually leave and glanced at the phone on the table without touching it.

But this feeling of being trusted warmed her heart.

Chapter 630 Caught the Thief

After waiting for a while in Benjamin’s office, Isabella’s phone vibrated.

It was Alan reporting on the latest progress of the clothing company. After finishing his report, he added, “Ms. Isabella, when will you go on a winter vacation? Many employees have been asking. Everyone misses you and hopes for your early return...”

Previously, Isabella had rooted out all the “worms” in the company. She led the company to step up one after another. So, she earned the affection of many employees.

When she went to university, Alan handled all the small matters. She remotely connected with Alan for important matters. She instructed him on how to handle them.

Four months flew by in the blink of an eye. She was too busy to go back and take a look. Many employees missed her. They had constantly asked Alan about her whereabouts.

“I will find time to go back.” Isabella replied.

“That’s great! They will be thrilled when they find out.” Alan sent two voice messages and continued, “By the way, Mr. Logan instructed the renovation team to renovate your office while you were in school. It’s all done now. I took some pictures to show you. It looks amazing.”

Isabella received dozens of photos. All are designed in her preferred style. The entire floor was opened up and created a spacious space.

“The best renovation company personally handles it. It takes four months and only the best materials are used. They used zero formaldehyde, so not to cause any pollution.”

“In addition, this bedroom was specially arranged by Mr. Logan. It’s right next to your office. He said that when you get tired from work, you can take a rest there. The bed and mattress are top-notch.”

“And the walk-in closet is also renovated.”

“This is the living room Mr. Logan prepared for you. The sofa and everything else are custom-made. The projector is set up in this direction. So, you can watch movies when you have free time.”

“Mr. Logan had let the assistant replace all your coffee with the S series. He also ordered a snack cabinet and organized various snacks. The nuts, cookies, candies, and potato chips have been sitting there for six months now. When are you coming back to eat? I want to have some too...”

As Alan spoke, he envied Ms. Isabella for having such a powerful and gentle brother...

“Let me confirm the time. I’ll let you know in advance.”

“Okay.” Alan was ecstatic and said, “By the way, our cooperation with Young Group is about to expire. They have voluntarily proposed to renew the contract for five years. When the time comes, we need you to personally handle it and sign with them.”

After all, this kind of matter couldn't be handled by him. It had to be Isabella herself who signed and stamped the company's official seal.

The predecessor of Young Group was VO, an international first-tier brand. Later, due to a broken capital chain and internal management conflicts, it was acquired by Benjamin.

To have more business dealings with Isabella, Benjamin didn't merge VO into Mason Group. Instead, he let it operate independently with a brand-new name, Young Group.

He handed over all the production orders of Young Group to QY for processing and quality inspection. Then he returned them to the Young Group warehouse.

In a way, it helped QY make some extra money...

Isabella replied with a single word, "Okay." She collected all the unopened drinks and snacks on the coffee table and neatly placed them in the snack cabinet. She didn't want the desk to look messy.

Suddenly, she heard the office door being pushed open. It was followed by a demanding voice of a woman.

"Who are you? Why are you in Mr. Mason's office?"

Isabella turned her head towards the voice. She saw a girl entering the room and wearing a pair of Dior high heels. Her high ponytail matched her arrogant and domineering demeanor.

She looked young and probably in her early twenties. She was beautiful yet aggressive.

“Who gave you the right to open Mr. Mason’s cabinet without permission? You’re audacious!”

That cabinet had appeared a few months ago. At the time, the girl was wondering if there were any important secrets inside.

Now, Isabella stood in front of the cabinet with its door open. Although she couldn’t see what was inside from this angle, Isabella’s action inevitably made people wonder.

“What did you take from Mr. Mason’s cabinet? You thief!”

“Don’t worry, I just put something in there.” Isabella casually closed the cabinet door and said, “Do you have business with Benjamin?”

“How dare you address Mr. Mason by his name! You so dare!” The girl immediately took out her phone and quickly sent a WhatsApp message to the head of the security team. Then she said, “What did you put inside? Are you trying to frame someone? Just wait. Daring to act recklessly on Mason Group’s territory, you’re finished.”

“Just put some snacks.” Isabella’s expression remained calm.

But the girl seemed to hear the biggest joke ever. She said, “You put a snack on Mr. Mason?” Does Mr. Mason snack? Even if you want to bring him snacks, you can just put them on the table. What do you do by opening his cabinet? Also, how come I’ve never seen you before?”

Before Isabella could finish speaking, the girl said, “Are you sent by another group to steal important secrets of our Mason Group? Do you want to put something to blame?” I’ve seen people like you a lot!”

At this time, the security team leader received her WhatsApp and immediately arrived with several security guards.

“Ms. Leah, what happened?” The head of the security team who arrived asked.

“This woman sneakily appeared in Mr. Mason’s office. She also opened Mr. Mason’s cabinet. Either a thief or a secret sent by another group. Quickly take it down for me. After Mr. Mason finishes his business, and then interrogate her properly.””

“Yes, Ms. Leah.”

The head of the security team immediately led people forward.

“You misunderstood.” Isabella didn’t think about them. She said calmly, “I’m Benjamin’s fiancée. I just put away the snacks on the table.”

“You? Mr. Mason’s fiancée? Leah thought it was ridiculous and said, “Can you take a picture of yourself on the glass window. What kind of posture do you have to make Mr. Mason like you?”

Even she did not dare to say that she was Mr. Mason’s woman...

This girl was good. She says “fiancée” as soon as she comes

She really dares to dream.

The security team leader and several security guards also apparently did not believe it. Mr. Mason’s fiancée was obviously Cecilia Logan, the heiress of the Logan family.

Caught the Thief

Didn't this girl even bother to inquire before lying?

At that moment, Isabella's phone on the coffee table vibrated a few times. She picked it up and saw a message from the executive group of Mason Group.

This phone belonged to Benjamin. She didn't open it to read the contents. Instead, she put the phone away and intended to have a proper conversation with them.

"You also steal Mr. Mason's phone? How daring of you!" Leah ordered, "Take her down!"

The security guards immediately rushed towards Isabella. But she evaded their capture easily and said, "You should first ask. Benjamin or Green. The people in the office, if they can catch me."

"Who do you think you're scaring? A mere thief, daring to boast in front of us! Today, we'll catch you for sure. Not only will we apprehend you, but we'll also call the police to take you away!"