

Chasing My Rejected Wife Chapter 31 -

10 minutes read

Rachel didn't expect that Amber would show up in such a high-class restaurant. She took a few more glances at Amber. When Amber was forced to leave back then, she also requested to take back the wedding ring that she had given to Rodney. Not long after, the ring appeared in a pawn shop. She had actually traded in a ring that only worth a few thousand dollars. One can imagine how distressed her life was.

During the car accident issue with Amber last time, Amber was dressed like a poor person, old fashioned and lacking of vitality. She definitely looked like she wasn't living a good life. Rachel scorned in her heart, "Weren't you so arrogant at that time? Now you know how tough life is when you leave the Barron family, don't you?"

...

In Rachel's heart, Amber was now the embodiment of a poor hopeless person. But looking at her current appearance, she was a little surprised.

Compared to the last time, Amber became a completely different person. Although she was not wearing luxury clothes, those were not cheap items as well. Most importantly, this high-class restaurant was not open to any ordinary people.

Could she be married to a rich man? Amber Stone was beautiful indeed and had the capital to be married to a rich man. But wasn't she infertile? It's difficult for an infertile woman to remain in a rich family. Rachel thought of a word, "Lover."

Only this kind of explanation was valid enough. Thinking that Amber might be a lover of a big-bellied man, she suddenly felt happy in her heart.

"This is the consequence of going against me. Amber Stone, you deserve it!" thought Rachel.

While she was all jolly, she suddenly saw a young and tall figure walking in the direction of Amber. Then Rachel's joy vanished immediately because she saw the man sitting down opposite Amber.

After the man sat down, Rachel saw his face clearly. It turned out to be Elliot Thomson, who competed with Rodney for the urban construction project. Elliot was as good-looking as Rodney and had a good family background. The only bad thing was that he was a playboy.

It seemed that Amber must be one of his many lovers. Thinking of it this way, she felt at ease again.

When her mood became better, Rodney also arrived. He went straight to Rachel and said, "Mum, I'm a little late because I had something to settle."

"I just arrived as well," Rachel replied as she subconsciously glanced at the seat where Amber was sitting, "Did you see Amber eating here too? She's really something now. She actually became a lover of Elliot."

Rodney's gaze swept in the direction of Amber and Elliot. When he saw the charming smile on Amber's face, his chest tightened.

As his mother was there, he retrieved his gaze as if he hadn't seen Amber at all. "Mum, what would you like to eat?"

In the past, Rodney always looked at Amber like the apple in his eye. But now, he behaved in such an attitude. Rachel was so excited, her son had finally let go of Amber! She could be relief now. Because she was so excited, her voice became a little different while replying, "Anything, it's up to you."

Knowing that Amber had actually been divorced, Elliot didn't sleep well all night after he went back yesterday. He was even more depressed when he thought of the fact that the man had cheated on her. He wasn't a gossipy person, but he was very curious about the identity of the man who cheated on her.

He held back for the whole morning because he didn't have the nerve to ask. Now it was meal time, the Thomson family's rules forbid talking while eating. So, he also had developed the habit of eating and not talking. But today, he finally couldn't help asking, "Amber, I'm very curious about your ex-husband's identity. Is he also from South City?"

Amber had long noticed Elliot's hesitation, but she didn't expect him to be hesitating on this. She replied flatly, "No."

"Did both of you get married because of love?"

“You can say so, I guess?”

Elliot was a little jealous. “Why did he cheat on you?”

“Does a man need a reason to cheat?” Amber sneered.

“Why aren’t you willing to mention him? Does he still pains your heart?”

“There’s only pain when there’s love. I didn’t love him anymore since a long time ago. How is there pain?” Amber asked.

Rodney didn’t expect that Elliot would discuss this topic with Amber. He heard it clearly and his expression changed in an instant. This woman actually said that she didn’t love him. She was indeed cruel!

“I’m very curious about his name. Can you tell me?”

“No.” Amber put down her cutlery. “He’s just an insignificant person. Why do you want to know?”

“I want to beat him up!” Elliot said frankly. “I’ll beat this heartless man each time I see him!”

“Speaking like you’re so faithful.” Amber chuckled.

“I am indeed a playboy, but that is before marriage. I will treat my wife well if I get married.”

Amber shook her head. “Men always say that before marriage.”

“I’m not that kind of person, really!” Elliot was a little anxious when he saw that she did not believe him. “I can prove it to you.”

These words sounded like a proposal in Rodney’s ears. He stood up suddenly and walked towards Elliot. “Mr. Thomson!”

Elliot looked up. “Mr. Barron is also here for a meal?” Then, he saw Rachel. When he was a child, he had seen Rachel before. Out of courtesy, he got up and walked over. “Hello, Ms. Grant!”

Rachel nodded with a smile, but her eyes were fixed on Amber. Amber acted as if she didn’t see them at all. She leisurely picked up a piece of tissue and wiped her mouth. Her indifferent behaviour made Rachel feel extremely upset. "Elliot, who is this?" asked Rachel.

Elliot looked at Amber and said, "Amber, come over and let me introduce you."

Amber stood up and took her bag casually. Instead of walking towards Rachel, she walked toward the door and said as she walked, "Elliot, take your time to catch up with your old friends. I'll wait for you at the entrance!"

This was simply an extremely rude behaviour. Rachel and Rodney's expression turned unpleasant. Elliot also knew that this behaviour was inappropriate. Amber had always been a very tolerant person. Why did she treat Rachel like this? He couldn't figure out the reason. He smiled at Rachel and said, "She's afraid of meeting new people, Ms. Grant. Please don't blame her!"

Rachel was stunned. If Amber was just an ordinary lover, she wouldn't have dared to be so arrogant, and Elliot would not have been so humble. Rachel immediately felt very unhappy. "It was you who asked for it, Amber Stone. Don't blame me," thought Rachel and then she said to Elliot, "Although our families have not been in contact for a long time, as an elder, I have to advise you. Someone like you shouldn't be dating a woman who has been divorced."

"Thank you for your reminder, Ms. Grant. But Amber is different from the others. She is gentle and kind, it's just that she had met lousy people."

Rodney's face darkened with anger when he heard that. Rachel did not expect Elliot to reply like this. Hence, she swallowed back the slandering words that she wanted to say about Amber.

Elliot continued to speak for a while before he went after Amber. Seeing that he had disappeared, Rachel snorted and said, "See? This is the wife you had before, such poor upbringing. Elliot is really blind."

After saying that, she realised that she had scolded her son indirectly. So she changed her words and said, "Fortunately, you realised your mistakes and took a U-turn. Or else I don't know how long we'll be td by her."

Rodney didn't say a word. He had always thought that Elliot was just playing around, he didn't expect him to have such a high opinion of Amber.

“Elliot was handsome, dashing, and knew how to coax women...” thought Rodney and his heart suddenly felt very uncomfortable.

Rachel didn't know what her son was thinking. “Rodney, when you're free, do visit the Black family more often.”

“For what?” Rodney asked in return.

“To enhance your relationship with Celia and to be on good terms with Channing?” Rachel said earnestly, “Rodney, I think the issue regarding the urban construction project should be because Channing was unhappy. You and Celia have been dragging on for three years. It has been so long, it's inevitable that he has no thoughts about it.”

“Isn't the engagement date already set? What else is there to be dissatisfied with?” Rodney was a little impatient.

Seeing that her son was impatient, Rachel had no choice but to keep quiet grumpily.

Elliot caught up with Amber at the lift. “What's going on?”

“What?” Amber asked as if she didn't know what he was referring to.

“You didn't save me any face just now,” Elliot murmured, “Amber, why did you do that? Let's put aside the fact that Rodney had saved you that night. His mother is an elder. You shouldn't have left just like that. It's very impolite.”

“What kind of elder is she?” Amber thought of how Rachel had td her in the past, and a trace of hatred appeared in her eyes. “That woman's face irritates me. As for Rodney Barron, do you think he genuinely wanted to save me?”

Looking at Amber sneering, Elliot suddenly remembered the relationship between Rodney and Celia. “Did he save you because he knew you were the daughter of Mr. Black?”

“I don't know! You're the only one who knows about my relationship with Channing Black.”

“Is that so?” Elliot frowned. The scene of the fight at Club Cobalt flashed before him. At that time, it seemed that Rodney was holding Amber in his arms. “Amber, do you really not know Rodney?”

“I know him, but he doesn’t know me.” Amber replied quickly. Elliot frowned slightly as if he had missed something.

The first episode of the blind date reality show was aired, and the audience ratings were very good. On the first day, the viewing figures reached 8 million.

On the next day, discussions about the blind date reality show were all over the social media. The TV station’s publicity team was very good at pushing the discussion on Twitter and Instagram. With several big shots reposting it, it was hard not to be popular.

Shannon had nothing to do at home and was watching TV. Switching from channel to channel, she was suddenly interested in the replay of the blind date reality show. She was enjoying it very much when Celia came downstairs and sat down beside her. “Mum, the boredom is killing me.”

“Go shopping with someone.” Shannon’s gaze was focused on the TV.

“That’s meaningless. There are only these many places in South City, and I’ve already gone to those places before.”

“Then do some hydrotherapy?”

“Mum!” Celia was a little unhappy to see that her mother’s attention was not on her. “Can’t you have a chat with me? What’s so good about a lame TV show?”

“This TV show is interesting,” Shannon replied.

Celia took a glance at the TV, and the screen just happened to be displaying all the female guests in a sweeping motion. She suddenly widened her eyes. “Mum, that person seems to be Amber Stone?”

“What nonsense are you talking about?” Shannon was stunned.

“Rewind it! Hurry up and rewind it!” Celia snatched the remote control from Shannon’s hand and rewound it back, pausing it at the part Amber was captured. She exclaimed, “Mum, her name is Amber Stone!”

Shannon didn't pay much attention to her before this, but when she heard what Celia said, she also started to focus on female guest No. 5. Since no one inquired about female guest No. 5, so she didn't pay much attention to her. She only realised that the female guest's name was indeed Amber Stone after her daughter pointed it out.

Amber went on a blind date? The mother and daughter duo exchanged glances. Shannon reacted first, "Would they just have the same name?"

"We can't see her face clearly with the mask on, but her figure and facial shape are very similar to Amber's."

"It's not Amber. Look at her, she's wearing braces. Amber is so beautiful, how would she wear something so disgusting?" Shannon denied.

"Let's look at her personal information first," Celia continued to rewind it to the part of female guests' self-introduction.

The written information shows that her name was Amber Stone, 28 years old, and was an ordinary employee who once had an unfortunate marriage. She was a mother of a three-year-old child. Due to her sufferings from the previous marriage, her standard for a partner was, "A man who is loyal and will not lie. Best if there isn't a mother-in-law."

Most of Amber's information was true. She really wanted to find a father for Mel. However, she was worried that men would choose her based on her looks, so she purposely put on braces to make herself look uglier.

If someone was willing to choose her in this state, then the man was definitely not one who chose her based on her looks. In addition, Mel's age was false. As for her standard in choosing a partner, that was her real thought. As long as the man is loyal and she won't have a mother-in-law, it would be good enough. She had enough of Rachel's temper when she lived with Rodney. She already had a sense of phobia towards mother-in-laws.

"It shouldn't be Amber. How could Amber have a three-year-old child?" Shannon finished reading the information first. Amber and Rodney had only been divorced for three years. How could the child be three years old?

"But why does she look so identical?" Celia muttered, "Although she wore braces, I still think she looks like her. Could it be that the child was adopted?"

“Alright, let’s stop thinking about this. Whether she is Amber or not has nothing to do with us. If you are bored, shall I accompany you to somewhere outside?”

“Mum, I don’t want to go out. I was just thinking if you could ask Dad to call Rodney over for dinner tonight.”

Shannon was very clear about her daughter’s ideas. She sighed and said, “Okay! I’ll call your father and tell him.”

Chasing My Rejected Wife Chapter 32 -

9 minutes read

The recent obtaining of the urban construction project should be a happy thing for Elliot. It was natural for him to go to the nightclub for a party every day when he’s happy.

However, ever since he discovered Amber’s identity, he no longer had the mood to party. Every day, he would only stay in his own apartment. Walter found it very strange regarding his change in behaviour.

Mr. Thomson had changed a lot recently. He didn’t see him going to the nightclub to have fun. At first, he thought that the young master just wanted to recharge.

However, after a few days like this, he knew that something he didn’t know must have happened. As the special assistant appointed by the old master for Elliot, he naturally had to pay attention to Elliot’s every move. So he tried all indirect means just to figure out the reason why Elliot had changed.

However, no matter what he tried, he just couldn’t figure it out. Elliot was very energetic whenever he went to work, but after work, he would become spiritless.

Elliot himself also couldn’t figure out the reason. He also felt like he had a strange illness. When he thought of going to work, his face would be full of joy. When it’s time to get off work, he would feel lifeless.

Could he be infected by a working disease? But he had never heard of such a disease. It was not until Amber asked for a three days leave that Walter finally understood the reason.

Mr. Thomson had been unenthusiastic for the whole day and kept calling Amber's name. Walter had reminded him several times that Miss. Stone was on leave, but he just couldn't remember it.

Before it was even time to get off work, Elliot hurriedly left the company and drove to the neighbourhood where Amber lived.

However, he didn't see Amber even when it was already dark outside. Elliot called her up, but her phone was turned off. He couldn't bear it and knocked on Amber's apartment door. It was Ashton who opened the door. When he saw Elliot, he was surprised. "Mr. Thomson, why are you here?"

"Where's Amber?" Elliot's eyes had already scanned the whole room. His face turned gloomy when he didn't see Amber anywhere. "Why can't my call get through to her?"

"Mr. Thomson, why are you looking for her?" Ashton saw that Elliot's expression was not pleasant and thought that there was something urgent.

"Of course it's for something important. I can't tell you," Elliot explained, which was rare for him to do so. "Where did she go?"

"She...", Ashton hesitated. Not many people knew that Amber went to participate in the blind date show. She was unwilling to tell others as well. Elliot must have come because he didn't know about it. Should he say it or not?

"Stop stammering. Quick, tell me where she went!" Elliot immediately urged Ashton for an answer after seeing him hesitate. "Let me tell you, I really have something very important to discuss with her this time."

"Amber went to the TV station to record a show." Ashton was really afraid that Elliot's matter was something important, so he just told the truth.

"To record a show? What show?"

"A blind date reality show."

"This woman!" Elliot's face darkened with anger. He was being extremely upset here, but this woman went to join a blind date show instead. She was deliberately going against him. It was really pissing him off!

With an angry face, he turned around without saying a word. He stepped so hard while going down the old apartment stairs that clicking and cracking sounds were heard. When he reached downstairs, he turned around, went upstairs, knocked on the door again and asked, "Which blind date reality show did she participate in?"

Ashton told him the name of the blind date reality show. Elliot then went downstairs again with a face darkened with anger.

On the way back, he scolded angrily, "You heartless woman, how bold of you to actually do these things behind my back! Come back and see how I will deal with you!"

Thinking about it, he still felt angry. Then, he called Walter, "Do you know the blind date reality show held by the South City TV station?"

"Why are you asking about this?" Walter was as busy as a bee every day, how would he have the time to pay attention to variety shows.

"What the hell are you doing? You don't even know a blind date show!" Elliot hung up the phone while cursing.

Walter felt that he had been wronged. Mr. Thomson was acting like a typically unreasonable person, but he had no choice. He had to honour him as the superior. Who knew what was so special about this blind date show? He had to see for himself.

Of course, Walter had heard a little about the reality show since it was so popular. He just felt strange and wondered why Mr. Thomson cared about this show.

When Walter got home, he immediately turned on his computer and searched for the video. When he saw Amber appearing on the screen with braces, Walter thought there was something wrong with his eyes.

"That's right. Her name is Amber Stone, and her figure is also very familiar. She just seemed very strange after putting on braces. Why did Miss. Stone make herself look like that to join the blind date show?"

Walter found it a little incredible. Thinking about Amber, he found it quite strange. She was such a beautiful woman, but she became an old-fashioned and dull lady when she came to work for Mr. Thomson. Everyone participating in the show dressed up beautifully, but she put on braces instead. She was even a single mother.

“Wait, Miss. Stone is a single mother?” Walter was dumbfounded. “Is it true or not? She looks so young. How could she be a mother?”

Could it be some selling point that the blind date show purposely wanted? Of course, Walter couldn't figure it out, so he took his phone and called Elliot up, “Mr. Thomson, I saw Miss. Stone in the blind date show.”

“I'm not blind!” Elliot yelled fiercely in response. When he got home, he also immediately turned on his computer and searched for the video of the blind date reality show. Seeing that Amber had dressed herself like that, he didn't know why his heart felt more at ease.

However, when he saw that no men chose Amber throughout the show, Elliot became very furious.

“What the hell are they doing? Is there something wrong with these men's eyes? There's obviously such a great beauty standing there, but they had to choose those ugly ones. They're really blind,” ranted Elliot.

When he was scolding those men, he naturally did not think that he was also the same as those men at the beginning.

When Elliot was complaining for Amber, Walter called up. He answered the phone and scolded angrily, “Those men are jerks. Are they blind? Amber is also embarrassing, such a disgrace! No one chose her while she stood there, she didn't save my face at all! This is pissing me off!”

“It's Amber's own embarrassment to have no one choosing her. What does it have to do with you?” Of course, Walter didn't dare to say that out loud. He just went along with Elliot and said, “Yeah, those men are blind. She is obviously a great beauty, but they can't even tell!”

Elliot suddenly realised that there seemed to be something wrong with these words. He didn't feel it when he said it himself, but why did he feel that it had another meaning when someone else said it? “Hey, are you scolding me?”

“Mr. Thomson, what do you mean?” Walter felt very wronged.

“Previously, I didn’t find out that Amber was a great beauty when she was beside me all along. Are you referring to this?” Elliot was being unreasonable.

“Mr. Thomson, I wouldn’t have dared to say anything about you no matter how much bravery you gave me!”

“Of course you won’t dare to say that. If you dare to say it, I’ll break your bones, but you must be saying it in your heart!”

“No! I swear I didn’t!” Walter secretly complained. He was not stupid. He finally understood why Elliot had been so strange. It seemed that it had something to do with Miss. Stone.

Elliot was so angry that he couldn’t watch it anymore. D*mn these jerks, they actually dared to ignore Amber like this. Not one of them actually chose her throughout the show.

He had to think of a way to help Amber. He had to make these jerks regret for their blindness. But how could he help?

Elliot didn’t hang up the phone, so naturally, Walter didn’t dare to hang up. Listening to Elliot scolding, “B*stards, can’t even tell what’s good. I have to let all of you know that you are blind and you all will regret it!”

Walter couldn’t help but interrupted, “Mr. Thomson, they saw that Miss. Stone is a single mother and thought that she’s ugly because she was wearing braces. So, they didn’t choose her.”

“Do I need you to tell me that?” Elliot snorted. “I have to find a way to make Amber take off her mask and let everyone regret deeply about it!”

“That’s easy. We can just find someone to choose Miss. Stone on the show, right?”

His words lit Elliot’s eyes up. “I have an idea!”

The second episode took three days in total to record. On the first day, Amber was still ignored and no one chose her at all. She still had a good mentality, but Noemi couldn’t bear it anymore, complaining about it during lunch. All her complains were about how those jerks had no taste, as if she was the one who had been mistreated.

At noon, Noemi was still complaining, but she suddenly became all jolly in the evening. “Did something good happen?” Amber was puzzled.

“A good thing, a very great thing!” Noemi replied and looked at Amber from top to toe for a moment. “Amber, have you ever thought that you will become a celebrity?”

“A celebrity? Me?” Amber pointed at her own nose and reached out to touch Noemi’s forehead. “Noemi, do you have a fever?”

“No!” Noemi tapped her hand away. “Amber, you have to be mentally prepared. I think you will soon occupy the home page of various major media.”

“Why?”

“It’s a secret, but you’ll know it very soon. Go get yourself ready first, just don’t be too surprised at that time.” Noemi refused to tell her.

Amber thought that she was talking nonsense and just ignored her. The next morning, Amber entered the broadcast hall of the TV station as usual. When she arrived at her spot, she noticed that there was actually an empty seat in the male guests’ seating area.

Amber felt a little strange. She heard from Noemi that the show was very popular. There were loads of male and female guests who wanted to participate in the show, but why was there an empty spot?

The show officially began while she was still wondering. As the intro music sounded, the host entered the venue. The opening speech was more or less the same as usual.

However, after the opening speech, the host changed the subject. “Today is the recording of our third episode of the blind date reality show. After airing the first episode, our blind date show has been extremely popular. To what extend? Our staffs have been working overtime for several days for the registration and selection because there are too many people who wanted to participate.”

The host paused for a moment and then pointed to the male guest seating area. “I bet everyone found it strange to see that there is one empty spot in the male guest seating area, right? It’s not because our show is not popular and that no one came to participate, but because the seat is saved to welcome a heavyweight male guest!”

The male guests who participated in this episode were all elites. The directing team had always treated all the male guest equally. Now that a heavyweight guest was going to be introduced individually, everyone’s curiosity was aroused. How heavyweight was this person?

The host did not keep them guessing. Instead, he began to introduce the background of the male guest as if he was reciting a line. “At 22 years old, he graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the United States. At 25 years old, he obtained an MBA degree at Harvard University. At 28 years old, he obtained a DBA degree at Harvard University. During the period of pursuing his DBA degree, he served as an executive director of three companies, a permanent director of another company, and was responsible for the expansion of yet another company. Have you ever seen such a superhuman?”

The audience shook their heads. Naturally, they had never seen such a person before.

“Today, we shall let everyone see the superhuman I was talking about. Please welcome Mr. Elliot Thomson!”

Chasing My Rejected Wife Chapter 33 -

10 minutes read

At first, Amber was also quite eager to see this superhuman, but she was dumbfounded when she heard the host say, “Elliot Thompson!”

Why had this playboy come to join the show? The point was, she had always thought that he was an out-and-out playboy. She had never heard of the aspects that the host had mentioned.

While she was lost in thought, Elliot appeared on the stage in a casual outfit. Born with a handsome and charming face, his appearance attracted everyone’s attention.

Amber heard the female guests on both sides exclaiming. One of them said, “He’s tall, handsome, and rich like Mr. Darcy! The real-life version of Mr. Darcy!”

“Mr. Darcy? More like a playboy version, perhaps,” thought Amber as she didn’t agree with them, “If they were to find out his romantic affairs, I wonder if they’ll still be amazed?”

As Amber was thinking, she saw Elliot, who usually smiles cheekily and behaves sloppily around her, sat down on the reserved seat. She was used to seeing Elliot smiling cheekily at her in the office, and his naughty behaviour at the club. When she saw Elliot sitting opposite her in such a serious manner, Amber suddenly felt very unused to him.

Because of Elliot’s presence, the male guests around him seemed to be far inferior. Everyone’s gaze was focused on Elliot. The female guests on the stage, especially those who are quite beautiful, were fidgeting because they could not directly show their face for Elliot to choose. However, it should be fine to flaunt their bodies, expose their fair skin and seduce him with a gentle voice, right?

All of a sudden, all the female guests on the stage, except Amber, began to show their charm in a deliberate manner. Elliot’s lips curled up slightly, and he swept his gaze slowly starting from female guest No. 1.

Following his gaze, the hearts of the audience, the host, and the female guests began to beat violently. Female guest No. 1 was a model who had a little fame in the modelling industry and her figure was extremely hot.

She was specially invited by the TV station to build momentum for the show. In the first episode, twenty out of twenty-five male guests went on stage to offer flowers to her. Then, she suddenly became famous and became a hot topic of recent online discussions.

How could those who work in the modelling industry not know this young master? The moment she saw Elliot appear, she actually had a random thought. Could it be that he came especially for her?

It must be so. She heard that Mr. Thomson liked tall, hot, and beautiful women. She possessed all those characteristics. When Elliot’s gaze fell on her first, she was on cloud nine.

But very soon, the joy of female guest No. 1 faded away because Mr. Thomson had shifted his gaze from her to female guest No. 2. Although female guest No. 2’s figure was not as hot as female guest No. 1, she was good-looking and her voice was very gentle. When she saw Elliot's gaze had fallen on her, she became excited in her heart as well.

However, the excitement only lasted for a moment. Elliot's gaze swept past her immediately and stopped at female guest No. 4. Female guest No. 3 had wanted to show off, but he didn't even look at her. She instantly became lifeless like a deflated balloon.

Elliot's gaze fell on female guest No. 4 and he actually lifted the corners of his lips. Then, his beautiful almond eyes sent her a wink, which took her breath away. Amber saw all of this and felt extremely unhappy. It was originally a blind date show, but Elliot made it seem like he was a king, picking a consort. What was this guy doing here? What was he actually trying to do?

While thinking about it, Elliot suddenly picked up the rose that was in front of him and got up. His action made the whole audience gasp. Did the young master take a fancy to female guest No. 4?

Although female guest No. 4 did not possess a body like female guest No. 1 and was not as charming as female guest No. 2, she looked pure and attractive. She was well educated and worked as a public relations manager of a large foreign company. Naturally, she had heard of Elliot before. When she saw Elliot approaching the stage with roses after winking at her, her heart was beating fast.

Amber had seen female guest No. 4 in private. Not to mention, her appearance was really the type that Elliot liked, but Amber did not like her.

Female guest No. 4 always seemed to be looking down on others just because of her good looks and high education. Among so many female guests, she was the most difficult to get along with. Amber had heard her talking about her with others. "As a divorced woman who has a child, she also came to join the show. I really don't know what she is thinking. Does she think of the show as a market? No one chose her after a whole episode, I really don't know how she could be so strong-hearted."

Female guest No. 4 had said too many such things, but Amber didn't bother about it. Amber had encountered things that were dozens of times more embarrassing than female guest No. 4, she didn't have the energy to spare on being fussy over some unpleasant words.

Seeing Elliot staring at female guest No. 4 over and over again, Amber guessed that Elliot must have met her through work. He could be very unconventional in order to pursue a woman he liked. He must have known that female guest No. 4 was participating in the show, so he came to cheer for her to increase her popularity.

While she was lost in thought, Elliot stopped in front of female guest No. 4 with the roses in his hands, and everyone's eyes were focused on female guest No. 4. Amber thought that he would give the roses to female guest No. 4, but he didn't give them to her. Instead, he asked, "Miss, do you like me?"

Female guest No. 4 nodded her head in excitement. Elliot smiled faintly and asked again, "Do you think I'll give you the roses?"

This guy didn't follow the lines of the show at all. Female guest No. 4 smiled shyly and replied, "Of course I wish that you will them to me."

Seeing that Elliot was standing still in front of female guest No. 4, the host thought that he didn't know the process of the show, so he reminded him from below, "If Mr. Thomson likes female guest No. 4, you can give female guest No. 4 the roses, and then female guest No. 4 will ask you three questions. If she's satisfied with your answers, she can take off her mask for you."

Elliot turned around and responded, "Who said that I like female guest No. 4? I just thought that she looks like a bar girl I knew, so I wanted to make sure."

The crowd burst into an uproar upon hearing what Elliot said. He didn't care what others thought and looked at Amber with a smile.

At first, Amber thought that there would be a lovey-dovey show, but never in her wildest dream did she think that this guy would actually set his gaze on her.

"The person whom I like is female guest No. 5, Miss Amber Stone!" Elliot raised his voice, and everyone present heard it clearly. After that, he put the roses in front of Amber.

Amber looked at him in a daze. It wasn't until Elliot said it again that she came back to her senses. She didn't accept Elliot's flowers. Instead, she began to ask him three questions, "Mr. Elliot Thomson, what do you like about me?"

"Does liking someone still needs a reason?" Elliot was self-righteous.

The host tried to smooth things over and said, "Indeed, there's no reason when you like someone. Mr. Elliot Thomson likes Miss Amber Stone unconditionally."

"Yes! I like Miss. Stone unconditionally!" Elliot echoed.

Amber glared at Elliot behind the mask. It was obvious that this guy was here to make trouble, but she had to complete the procedure of the show. "What is Mr. Thomson's definition of love?"

"To love and to cherish your partner." Elliot stopped smiling cheekily.

"What is Mr. Thomson's oath of love?"

"I won't ask for a love of a lifetime, I only ask that we loved once!"

"Thank you, Mr. Thomson. Your answer is very good, but it's not the answer I want, so I'm sorry!"

The audience sighed. Such a good man was indeed not someone who can be possessed by an ordinary woman. Due to Amber's refusal, other women felt hopeful.

However, Elliot was not interested in everyone else. He held the microphone and faced all the cameras. "I'm only here because of Miss Amber Stone. Although she doesn't accept my feelings, I won't give up. As long as she's on stage for a day, I'll be back again!"

After the show recording ended, Amber walked out of the hall. Elliot was leaning against the door with a smile, waiting for her. When she saw him, her temper got the better of her. "Elliot Thomson, why the hell are you interfering with this?"

"Come on, be more ladylike. Only then will a good man like you!" In the face of Amber's condemn, Elliot was not angry at all. "I've come to help you this time."

"Help? You are making me the target of public criticism!"

"Don't worry, you'll see the benefits soon." Elliot reached out to pull her. "I'm hungry, accompany me for supper!"

Due to Elliot's appearance, the show had become a hot topic before it was broadcast.

Many people found it odd that a billionaire would be interested in a divorced single mother. Then, someone had spread Amber's passport photo on the Internet.

In the photo, Amber was without any makeup and looked very pure. The photo was praised as the most beautiful passport photo and was crazily forwarded around. Everyone knew that Amber was totally a great beauty and deserved to be pursued by a man like Elliot.

Some people even began to gossip that Amber and Elliot were actually a couple. Because the Thomson family was too prominent, they were forced to be apart. Amber went to join the blind date show this time to create momentum using public opinion. It was to make the Thomson family give in.

Suddenly, there were all kinds of news and Amber became famous in an instant. Many media wanted to interview her close-up. The TV station immediately sealed all the news about Amber, saying that they would let Amber receive some of the media's exclusive interviews at a right time.

In the face of such a situation, Amber was a little dumbfounded. She hated Elliot to the core. She didn't know what kind of lunatic he was, but he actually did such a thing. Now she had to wear sunglasses while going out in fear of being recognised by others.

However, Noemi was very excited. "Amber, didn't you lack money? Now that money is being sent to our doorsteps, it's a waste if we don't want it."

"I don't want to be watched every day. There's no privacy at all. How can I live like that?" Amber didn't think so.

"Don't worry. We've already kept your information a secret. There are more than ten people with the same name as you in this city. It won't involve you."

Amber felt a little relieved. "But what about the passport photo?"

"I don't know what happened with the photo too," Noemi replied, "Could it be Elliot who did it?"

Amber shook her head. "He probably doesn't have my photo."

"Forget it, let's not pursue this matter now. We should think about how to deal with the interview. I know you don't like to be interviewed, so this is an interview by the TV station's reporters. After this episode is broadcasted, it will bring you a considerable amount of income."

"Can I refuse to be interviewed?"

"No way, I've already accepted it. You have to save me some face."

"But I really don't want to...."

"Don't worry, I'll be there that time. I will make it easy for you."

The interview was indeed conducted by the reporters of the TV station like what Noemi had mentioned. Noemi accompanied Amber all the way through the interview. The questions asked by the host were quite random, mainly regarding her partner selection standard, recent situation, etc.

Amber's criteria for a partner was honesty, reliability, and no mother-in-law. In regards to this issue, the host asked, "Your criteria for a partner is very interesting. Nowadays, most females would choose tall, good-looking and rich, as their precondition, but you only need the other party to be honest and reliable. Why did you have such an idea?"

"People will grow old and their physical appearance will change one day. As for wealth, if all the money belonged to the other party, they can kick you out without giving you a penny whenever they are unhappy," Amber replied, "So it's better to find an honest and reliable person, and spend the rest of my life peacefully."

"That makes sense. Then why don't you want a mother-in-law? I think this condition of yours is commonly thought to be very rebellious. After all, filial piety is regarded as a noble virtue."

"Perhaps in the eyes of ordinary people, my condition is indeed very rebellious. But I don't care what others think. I'll only insist on my condition. If there is no one suitable, I would rather not marry for the rest of my life!"

"Would you like to talk about your difficulties? Is it because Miss. Stone had been abused in the previous marriage?" The host asked again.

"I do not wish to discuss about this," Amber refused.

Noemi, who was next to her, interrupted, "It wasn't just abuse, it was simply horrible!"

The host showed a look of surprise. "Are there still evil mother-in-laws in this era? This is incredible."

"That's because you're ignorant..."

"Let's move on to another topic!" Amber stopped her, so Noemi had to shut up unwillingly.

When the interview was about to end, the host brought up the topic of divorce. "Miss. Stone, why did you get a divorce?"

"I'll answer this," Noemi interrupted, "The man cheated on her and had a mistress."

"Noemi!" Amber glared at her. The host chuckled and tried to smooth things over. "That's all for today's interview. Thank you for your hard work!"

Chasing My Rejected Wife Chapter 34 -

8 minutes read

The news about Elliot joining a blind date show to pursue a divorced woman quickly reached Remington Thomson, Elliot's grandfather. He made an international call to Elliot and said, "Kiddo, you've been fooling around too much recently, haven't you?"

"Old man, have you been so free that you even pay attention to this kind of things?" Elliot asked in return.

"Ha ha, you should clearly remember that office re is prohibited!" Remington snorted.

"There's an exception to every rule," Elliot retorted.

"So you're serious?" The old man could tell that something was off through his words. "I'm warning you, my bottom line is to accept women who love you, but doesn't match our family. However, those who are divorced and have children are off the table!"

"What if the child is mine?" Elliot asked casually.

“The child is yours?” The old man was stunned for a moment. This grandson of his was known as a playboy out there. It really seemed to be possible. “If he’s really yours, then I will allow it!”

Elliot laughed heartily. “Then I’ll thank Grandpa in advance!”

After hanging up the phone, Elliot leaned on the office chair. If the child was really his, he wouldn’t need to be so troubled. The old man was smart. Although he had said that, it didn’t mean that he would accept it. It wouldn’t be easy for him to prove whether the child was his or not.

He rubbed his forehead. This woman seemed to have begun to take root in his heart. What should he do about it?

In front of Rodney was the newspaper about Elliot attending the blind date show. He had a gloomy face and didn’t say a word for the whole morning. He had never cared about entertainment news, but when he saw Elliot’s name, he subconsciously glanced at it.

Just one glance and he felt anger welling up in his chest! This playboy was really good at pleasing women. He even went to that kind of place disregarding his identity.

Although Elliot’s blind date was a failure, but Rodney still felt as if a big stone was weighing down on his heart.

He didn’t believe that Amber would really go for a blind date, nor did he believe in Amber’s so-called single mother identity. This blind date show was directed by Noemi. It was very clear that she wanted Amber to make up the numbers.

There was only one reason why Amber agreed to the publicity, she was short of money!

It was hard to believe that a woman who left without even frowning in the face of billions of assets would be short of money. But it was true, Amber was such a person.

She would rather rely on her own ability to earn the money she deserved, than bow down and compromise for help. She must have had a hard time in the past three years, right?

He had asked her to leave without giving her a penny and made it impossible for her to find a job. He had always thought that by cutting off her means to support herself could force her to come back. But he had never thought that no matter how hard he tried, she would just march forward into despair, never turning back.

No! It wasn't that she didn't turn back. She had chosen to turn back. For example, to Pierce Hammond.

She could plead to Breanna Hammond, Pierce's grandmother, for the sake of Pierce, so that she would allow her to be together with Pierce. But she would never plead to his mother for his sake.

She could turn back for Pierce, but she would never turn back for him.

This was the difference. Every time he thought of the difference between him and Pierce, he would be in much pain. It was said that everyone has a soft spot, but this didn't seem to apply to Amber.

They had been husband and wife for three years. It was said that true love never dies. However, their five-year relationship was no match for the few months relationship between her and Pierce!

Rodney laughed bitterly. Was he too stubborn or too stupid? Or perhaps was Amber too heartless? Rodney grabbed the newspaper on the table and slowly crumpled it into a ball. "Amber Stone, I don't believe that your heart is made of stone. Even if it is made of stone, I must soften you up!" thought Rodney.

This time, I won't let you disappear from my sight! I swear!

It was after two days that the interview was released. Amber was having dinner at home. Noemi called her and said, "Amber, your interview is up tonight. Don't forget to watch it."

Amber was as busy as a bee, how would she be free to watch TV? So she didn't take the interview seriously. Although she didn't care about it, but it didn't mean that others didn't take it seriously.

Due to Elliot's participation, it could be said that the blind date show was unprecedentedly popular in South City. Everyone talked about this matter in their leisure.

The news media had been paying attention to it as well. The Internet, which has a strong public opinion, would naturally not be outdone. They reported this matter on the headlines all the time.

Thus, Celia and Shannon had to pay attention to it even if they didn't want to. Seeing the media's effort in publicising this matter, Celia and Shannon were unhappy.

Never in their wildest dream had they imagined that Amber Stone would become so popular because of a blind date show. Amber's popularity was not a good thing for the both of them.

In the hearts of the mother and daughter duo, they had always hoped that Amber would live a dreadful life. It would be best if she did not accomplish anything for the rest of her life.

But now, things obviously did not happen as they wished it would. After Elliot Thomson, one of the most talented men with a great family background, caused such a mess at the TV station, they realised that the possibility of Amber being married into a rich and powerful family was very high.

If Amber really married into a wealthy family, there would be a lot of pressure on them. Of course, what they feared most was not about Amber marrying into a wealthy family, but the public opinion.

Now, the Internet was very developed. The netizens had always been curious about Amber's identity. There were always people who wanted to human flesh search her identity. It wouldn't be something good if people were to discover Amber's real identity.

The exposure of Amber's identity would inevitably result in the exposure of Shannon's identity as a mistress. If people found out everything about Amber and Rodney, and that Celia's surrogacy had caused Amber's divorce, how should they continue to survive?

The most crucial thing was that Shannon was a mistress at that time, and Channing cheated during marriage. This was a fatal threat to an official in a high position.

If Channing were to lose his position, Shannon and Celia's good life would come to an end. The relationship between Rodney and Celia would certainly follow suit.

Rachel Grant was not averagely picky. Without Channing in his position, she would never have taken a fancy to Celia. She would have let her son stay away from Celia as mercilessly as she had done to Amber.

Shannon and her daughter were worried sick, but they couldn't talk about their worries elsewhere. So they could only stay at home and watch what happened to Amber. When they heard that there would be a guest interview for the blind date show tonight, both of them were anxious. Amber wouldn't spew nonsense in the show, would she?

Shannon and Celia did not have the mood to eat, so they just waited for the interview in front of the TV. The TV station's interview was not only for Amber, but also for the guests who were very popular recently. It was edited before it was broadcast. What the audience saw were the contents after editing. Amber did not mention her identity during the interview, nor did she mention much about the past.

However, although she didn't mention the past, the show's crew exaggeratedly described Amber's condition in choosing a partner in order to increase the publicity effect.

The selling point of Amber's propaganda was, "Not wanting a man who has a mother!" After seeing it, Shannon and Celia both felt relieved at the same time.

Both of their mood became better after they got to relax. Celia picked up the remote control and turned off the TV. After the both of them were relaxed, they recalled about their fear and anxiety during this period of time. Their hatred for Amber was unusually high.

They had to think of a way to deal with Amber, or else they wouldn't be able to vent this anger.

Shannon and Celia were both full of wickedness. Celia immediately thought of Amber's condition of choosing a partner. Her eyes lit up and said, "Mum, don't you think this Amber Stone is looking for trouble? She said that she wants a husband but doesn't want a mother-in-law. Isn't this an outrageous behaviour? Although few people are willing to live with their mother-in-law now, but they can't say it even if they don't want to."

"Indeed, Amber Stone didn't use too much of her brain. It must be because of her trauma after being hurt by Rachel back then," Shannon replied.

“No matter how serious her trauma was, she can’t say that. Isn’t this allowing people to create offensive topics?” Speaking of offensive topics, Celia sneered. “Mum, I suddenly thought of an idea. Isn’t Amber popular now? Why don’t I ask someone to do something and give her a bad name? Let her be a cautionary tale.”

“Can we?” Shannon was suspicious. She didn’t know much about the Internet as Celia did.

“Of course. It’s the internet era now, as long as I find someone to attack her on the Internet, it’ll be hard for her not to become a cautionary tale!” Celia was happy just thinking about it. If this matter was successful, Amber would immediately turn from an internet celebrity into a notorious cautionary tale.

Although Shannon didn’t know much about the Internet, she was convinced by her daughter’s words, so she expressed her support for Celia’s plan.

Celia did as she said. She immediately spent a sum of money to hire several people to start name-calling Amber on the internet. They magnified Amber’s condition in choosing a partner and said that her condition was encouraging men to treat their wives better than their mothers.

A person like her must be vicious and heartless. Words coming out from this kind of people were not credible at all. The netizens should not be deceived by her pure and beautiful appearance. The more innocent a woman was, the more dirty her heart could be....

The netizens who were righteous were also the easiest to be deceived. When they saw such posts appearing on the major forums, they began to doubt Amber. Following the great attack of the hired anonymous, the comments immediately turned one-sided.

The netizens who used to sympathize with Amber began to hate her because of these negative comments and started to attack her as well. The power of public opinion was great. It could bring you up sky-high in one minute, it could also beat you down to hell in one minute.

Seeing that Amber was so unbearably criticised, Celia laughed loudly with her laptop in her arms. Shannon also gave her daughter a thumbs-up. “That’s my girl, to actually come up with such a good idea.”

The mother and daughter duo were extremely happy. They didn't expect that they could achieve such an effect without much effort. Amber was doomed now.

Poor Amber was still in the dark. She didn't know that she had been badly criticised.

Chasing My Rejected Wife Chapter 35 -

8 minutes read

Elliot soon received the news that Amber had been attacked. He immediately ordered the public relations team to settle it, deleting the offensive posts, and also blocking the accounts that had been paid to post offensively. However, the impact of this matter had been expanded.

Everyone demanded Amber to give a direct response. Walter suggested for Amber to clarify herself, but Elliot shook his head. Seeing such a vicious attack, a man like him could not stand it, let alone a woman.

It was better not to tell Amber about this matter and to settle it privately.

Elliot called Noemi, who naturally knew about these negative comments as well. She was having a meeting with the public relations team of the TV station, discussing how to deal with the aftermath.

Picking up Elliot's call, she angrily told him all about how Amber was bullied by her mother-in-law, how her husband cheated on her, impregnated the mistress, and how she was kicked out without a penny.

Elliot was very surprised and shocked. He never dreamed that Amber had actually been bullied like this. He was so mad. So he asked Noemi about the names of the evil mother-in-law and the jerk.

Of course, Noemi refused to say it. So Elliot had to give up. However, he already had an idea to help Amber clear her name. On that day, a post appeared on the Internet that helped Amber to clear things up.

The post was written in a very touching manner. It reported all about how Amber was bullied by an evil mother-in-law, cheated on by a jerk, and kicked out penniless.

Not only did Elliot help Amber to clarify, but he also got someone to find out those who attacked Amber online and sued them.

The websites that reposted offensive posts towards Amber had received summons from the court. The major websites and forums naturally did not dare to go against Elliot. They all deleted the previous offensive posts and replaced it with an apology statement, stating that the previous posts were all unsupported and that there were no factual basis.

The situation was suddenly reversed. The online attackers who posted the posts were wanted by the police. All of them were frightened and went far away to hide themselves. Celia's offensive plan was declared as a failure.

The situation had reversed. The netizens were furious concerning Amber's past. Especially the female netizens, who were all condemning the evil mother-in-law, the jerk, and the shameless mistress on the Internet.

The scoldings were far more intense than the previous attack on Amber. Celia had a decent ability in resisting and adjusting to stress, but she was so angry after reading the comments that she couldn't bring herself to eat anything.

Shannon comforted her and said, "We should learn to let go. Let's think of another way."

Celia was also one who does not give up easily. After being depressed for a day, she came up with another idea.

Although she was not happy to see the changes in the current situation, but it was not necessarily bad for her. Because Amber had brought up the past, many netizens were cursing the evil mother-in-law, the jerk, and the mistress all day long. As the mistress, she had survived it.

But it may not be necessarily the same for the jerk and the evil mother-in-law. Back then, the evil mother-in-law and the mistress were not innocent, but the jerk was innocent.

If Rodney saw that he was indirectly mentioned and scolded terribly, he would definitely be crazy angry. So would Rachel. She had to tell Rachel about this matter. With Rachel's personality, she would definitely hate Amber so much if she knew that she herself had suffered such a great insult.

With Rachel in the way, it would be nothing more than a daydream if Amber wanted to return to Rodney.

Celia immediately told Rachel about it as if she was wronged. Rachel was so angry that she almost fainted.

Rachel had always regarded herself as a noble woman, and the people she was in contact with never said swear words. However, the netizens were not noble women or virtuous ladies. They would swear and curse when they encountered unhappy things.

Seeing the netizens curse the evil mother-in-law and the jerk, "That old woman should go to hell! The son of the jerk and the mistress will be defected!" Rachel was so angry that she was gasping for breath.

She immediately called Rodney. "Rodney, look at how we've been defamed out there. Quick, make Amber shut up!"

In the past few days, Rodney had been busy with an outstation project. He had just returned to South City today, so he naturally had no energy to pay attention to entertainment gossips.

Seeing that his mother had angrily called to tell him about this, he turned on his computer and went on the Internet to have a look. As soon as he saw it, he was furious.

How could this woman be so wicked? How could she treat him like this? Rodney was fuming, he grabbed his coat and rushed out of the office.

After Amber got off work, Elliot brought her along to meet a client. They only got to go home around 11 o'clock. Although Elliot was quite drunk, he insisted on sending her home.

He called for a designated driver at the hotel and sent Amber to the apartment entrance before telling the driver to turn around. Amber also drank some wine and was a little dizzy. After watching Elliot's car leave, she turned around and was ready to go upstairs. The staircase was dark and the lights had long malfunctioned. As soon as she stepped on the old stairs, a hand suddenly reached out from the darkness and grabbed her.

Amber was greatly shocked. She widened her mouth and wanted to shout for help, but a hand covered her lips in time.

Even though she was a little drunk, the familiar scent allowed Amber to instantly guess who had caught her. "Rodney Barron, let me go!"

Rodney had been waiting for her for a few hours here and had long been filled with anger. When he saw Elliot send Amber back, he was even angrier.

During the few hours of waiting in the car, he had turned on the computer and was clear about everything that was on the Internet. It was all because of Amber's blind date. If she hadn't participated in that d*mn blind date show, such a thing wouldn't have happened.

It was ridiculous that he had become a jerk. During their marriage, his mother was indeed tough on her. He knew that and he felt really bad for Amber. If it weren't for him, she wouldn't have been so mistreated.

His mother was the kind of traditional-minded person. Although her words were harsh, she was not the kind of person who was extremely bad.

His father passed away at a young age, and it wasn't easy for his mother to take care of the company and raise him at the same time during all those years. To their family, it was important to have descendants. The Barron family only had one son in each generation for several years. After knowing that Amber couldn't give birth, his mother was very disappointed. He knew that his mother did not treat Amber well. He felt sorry for Amber, but he couldn't cut off his mother.

That was his mother who had given birth to him and raised him up. He really could not choose between love and kinship. He could only be caught in a dilemma.

But there's no way for him to abandon his mother. It was one thing to say and another thing to do. If he could abandon even his own mother, was he still a human?

It was understandable that Amber hated his mother, but on what basis that she called him a jerk? He had never betrayed her! Never! How could she be so self-righteous?

Amber was struggling, Rodney dragged Amber outside without saying a word. It was dark around the apartment. Rodney had been here too many times, so he was already familiar with the way.

Although Amber was drunk, she knew very well that she didn't want to have anything to do with this man. So she struggled desperately, scratching him with her hands, and kicking him.

Her lack of cooperation had caused Rodney to bump into the walls on both sides for several times. Seeing that she was not obedient, he carried her in his arms and moved forward. Soon, Amber was carried out of the apartment corridor by Rodney.

Pulling open the car door, Rodney pushed Amber into the car. He squeezed his way in as well.

"Mr. Barron, what the hell is wrong with you?" Amber glared at him fiercely.

"Why did you let someone defame me?"

"Defame you?" Amber was baffled. When did she ever defamed him? "Are you out of your mind?"

"Don't deny it! Do you dare to say that it wasn't you who released those contents online?" Rodney stared at her.

Amber was so busy today that she didn't even look at any discussions on the Internet. However, Noemi did call up to tell her that someone was attacking her online and the matter had been settled. It seemed that the comments on the Internet that Rodney was talking about was done by Noemi.

There was no difference between whether she or Noemi did it. Amber sneered and said, "Mr. Barron, can't you tell me clearly? What did I defame about you?"

"Are you still playing dumb?" Rodney grabbed her hard by the shoulder. "Amber Stone, if you dared to do it, then have the guts to admit it. Do you need others to remind you of what you've done?"

"Rodney Barron, I don't need you to remind me of what I've done. I, Amber Stone, did nothing unrighteous. If you think I was wrong, you can just sue me for slander!"

Amber rarely saw Rodney lose his temper. Seeing him out-of-control, she knew that Noemi must have done something earth-shattering.

She could not let Rodney know that it was Noemi who did it. Rodney was not a person who could be easily messed with. If he found out that it was Noemi who did it, he would definitely not spare Noemi. She must bear all the consequences by herself.

“How dare you be so self-righteous?” Rodney gritted his teeth and his hands continued to exert force. “You’re hurting me!” Amber cried out in pain. “Mr. Barron, say what you want to say properly. Take your dirty hands off me!”

Seeing that Amber was frowning, he let go of her. She reached out to touch her sore shoulder. He stared at her with a deep gaze. “Amber Stone, was the reason you joined the blind date show just to attack me?”

“Attack you?” Amber found it a little funny. “Mr. Barron, you think too highly of yourself, do you? Do you think that I’m the kind of person who can’t let things go? I’m telling you, I have my own bottom line in doing things. Even if I have to die, I won’t have any interest in an unfaithful jerk who once hurt me. You don’t have to worry about this!”

This was the first time she had uttered in his face about him cheating on her. When Celia had a miscarriage in the hospital, Rodney had asked his lawyer to bring her a divorce agreement. She did not refute or questioned any of the harsh conditions, and had signed them without hesitation. He thought that she had never cared.

After three years, when he heard the words, “unfaithful jerk” from her mouth, he had mixed feelings in his heart. He controlled himself and said, “Amber Stone, I’ve never cheated on you. I’m telling you, I didn’t have an affair! I didn’t do anything inappropriate with Celia!”

“What’s the point of saying all these things now?” Amber sneered. Celia even got pregnant, but he said that they actually never slept together. Did he think she was a fool?