

Cruel Heart Lover Novel

Chapter 26

"Cough cough cough..." Selena was overwhelmed by Daniel's brain circuit, and hurriedly explained, "I was just joking... just joking..."

Daniel became addicted to the keys, and casually gave her another one, "It's not easy to take a taxi here, and it's inconvenient for you to work, so you take this car and drive it."

Selena: "..."

why...

Why does she only live here for a while, yet she has a sense of being taken care of?

Uh, no, if it is a foster care, it should be hidden outside. How can I give her all the keys to the main house and even my own son...

Falling, this is clearly the sense of sight of the newlyweds...

Inexplicably, he thought of Daniel's sudden marriage proposal when they first met...

She thinks she knows a lot about men, but the guy in front of her is just like a computer system with a high-level firewall installed, she can't see through it at all.

At this moment, my heart softened and I agreed to stay, I don't know if it's a blessing or a curse...

That night, because Rick's condition was really bad, Selena directly accompanied Rick to sleep on his little bed just in case.

late at night.

The door was gently pushed open without a sound.

The man walked in slowly and sat down on the edge of the bed.

Under the dim light at the head of the bed, the woman maintained a posture of patting Rick, her breathing was shallow, her eyebrows were gentle, her lips as fresh as cherries on summer branches were gently opened, as if a wordless invitation...

After a while, the peaceful light suddenly cast a shadow, and the figure of the man slowly approached the bright red petal...

The distance between breath and smell can be removed with just a little movement, but he stopped suddenly restrained, and the cool kiss fell on the woman's forehead instead.

Selena, we have a long way to go.

...

the next morning.

Selena thought she would recognize the bed, but she didn't expect to sleep quite well. She woke up naturally without even having a dream.

When she woke up, she found that Rick had already woken up.

The little guy was holding the book and sitting next to her, looking at it seriously, without making a sound.

Obviously so obedient, I really can't imagine Rick going crazy...

"Good morning, baby..." Selena sat up hugging the quilt and greeted warmly.

Little Treasure immediately raised his head from the books in surprise. Although he didn't speak and his expression didn't change much, Selena could clearly feel his good mood from his talking eyes.

Selena reached out her hand to flick the messy hair on the little bun's head in a funny way, "Auntie is not working today, so I can stay at home with you all day!"

As soon as the words fell, the little guy was obviously happier, and even raised the corners of his mouth slightly.

Selena was so cute that she bled, she couldn't help but hugged his little face and rubbed it, "Baby, smile more, you are so cute when you smile!"

After washing up, breakfast is ready downstairs.

Selena didn't see Daniel, and the housekeeper and servants didn't ask him to eat together, so Selena judged that he must have gone to the company.

After breakfast, Selena was still a little worried about how to take care of the child, what if she couldn't take care of her...

As a result, all the things she feared did not happen.

In the morning, she was nestled on the sofa to read the script, while Rick was lying on the table next to him and immersed himself in reading or drawing. The two of them did not disturb each other and got along very harmoniously.

The servant in the middle only appeared once, and came to deliver snacks and fruits, and his movements were very light, as if he was afraid of disturbing him.

It seems that Rick is usually very quiet.