Chapter 108: Memories...

"Sister Lola, please give me 4 honey buns, also a glass of Losa juice," Myne said to the shop lady in front of him whom he is quite familiar with as before meeting with Aisha whatever he wanted to eat sometime outside he come here at least once.

Sister Lola is a middle age woman age around 35 years old, with purple long hair, sharp eyes, and a little chubby but fit plump body, big bubbly butt and D-Cup size boobs.

Overall she is a very attractive self-independent unmarried woman who wanted to enjoy her life, because of this she never married anyone or have any plan to give breath to children, she just wanted to live freely while having fun all day around, for this reason, she also started her own business which now going very well.

"Ohh, Myne long time no see, where are you been recently? Don't tell me now you don't like honey buns any more," Sister Lola said with a fake sad smile while packing Myne's order.

"What are you talking about Sister Lola, how can I ever dislike your honey buns? I am eating them since my childhood, it is just that recently I am very busy, and Big Sister Myne also strictly forbid me from eating outside food too much as according to her, a man my age should eat homemade healthy food for better growth," Myne said helplessly while shaking his head.

"What! That big tit cow really said that? So things made by me are not healthy huh? Let me meet her later, she is really going out of hand recently, not only she didn't return my that precious thing, but now she also dares to mess with my business. Myne here is your order, sorry but I can't talk to you anymore, I have to go now, see you later.

Oye Veer, take care of the shop, I am going out," Lola said in a loud voice, and before the guy's name Veer could reply she already walk out from behind her shop counter, runaway quickly.

Huh? Didn't she say that she wanted to trouble Big Sis Maya, then why is she running in the opposite direction of Big Sis's house? Myne thought confusedly but didn't think too much about it, and while handing a honey bun to Ted, he also walk out from Lola's shop and headed toward Roku's warehouse.

Phuah... Losa juice made by Sister Lola is still the best in the world, also what the hell does she use to make such a simple honey bun so delicious? I have tasted honey buns of both the Capital City as well as Adol Town but compared to Sister Lola's buns, the difference between them is very wide.

Maybe she has her own special recipe, Myne thought with a frown while staring at the honey bun in his palm for some seconds before putting it in his mouth.

"Hello, Good afternoon," Myne entered Roku's workshop, and greet the female dwarf with a smile, who was still lazily sitting on the counter with a bored expression on her face.

"Oh, well, if it isn't Mr. Myne-san? Good Afternoon, how are ya? And Ttank ya fer the other day!" The receptionist female dwarf said with a smile, but seeing Myne's confused expression probably because he did not understand why she is thanking him, the receptionist female dwarf told her complete story.

It turns out that because of Myne's generous tips, not only did Roku give all his discipline a nice bounce and some day of vacations, but he also gives his laziest and freest worker in the warehouse, three month worth of salary as a bounce.

No wonder she looks so happy, it seems like that old man Roku cares about his people very much.

Sigh, same cliché old guy, strict from the outside but soft from the inside, Myne thought while shaking his head, and told her that he came here to discuss something important with Roku, she hurriedly ran away to call him, and as usual, the scene of her noisily running with her short legs looks really funny to Myne.

"Ooh, Myne, huh, thanks for comin'! How's the bath and training ground? It can't have any problem right?" Roku's smile stretches across his whole face, as he asked.

"Yes! The bath is amazing, I can ask for nothing better than that, my housemates are also very pleased with it! And the training ground is also very satisfying, thank you for such wonderful products!" Myne said with a smile.

Hearing Myne's praise of a product made by himself, Roku nodded his head with a delightful expression while saying politely "Ah see, ah see."

"And, whatja come 'ere fer?" Roku asked happily.

"Actually, I want to give you and your disciples a huge trouble even though it was me who suggest them to go on vacation," Myne said awkwardly and explained to Roku about his marriage with Aisha and Sylphy, and following the flow, about the establishment of the Clan, so he can understand the entire situation.

Hearing Myne's entire story Roku didn't make a big fuss as if marrying a princess was a big deal for him, but Myne clearly saw little surprise in his eyes.

"So you want us to build a Clan House for ya, that it?" Roku asked while stroking his beard.

"Yes, of course, if Mr. Roku has any work in your hand currently, then you can finish it before taking my order..."

As Myne said that Roku folded his arms and pondered for a while. Behind him receptionist dwarven woman sweating buckets as she knows just how rare this level of the project is, if Roku accepts this order then there is a high chance that their business reputation would increase by leaps and bounds.

While the receptionist dwarven woman waited for Roku's decision, Roku suddenly came to her and said something to her, which made her eyes shine.

Their talk lasted for quite a bit, but seemed to have settled on something and Roku turned his head toward Myne and spoke while nodding his head...

"When should we start?"

"I think the construction will take some time, so I think it's better to start earlier, but I think it would be better if Mr. Roku finished his unfinished business before starting my one," Myne said with a smile.

"Understood, I'll accept it then. I have your order, I have to continue doing, so~, we'll start after that," Roku said after thinking for a while.

"Un, there's absolutely no problem with that! Let's exchange the details with Sylphy and Aisha at my home later. I will also prepare nice wine for you," Myne said with a smile and Roku nodded and accepted his proposal.

After which Myne and Roku talk for a while before Myne bids farewell to them and walk out from the warehouse.

The work assigned by Shlphy is finished, what should I do now? Should I visit Big Sis Maya, it has been some days, and she might be missing me, Myne thought while rubbing his chin, but then his eyes fell on some children playing in front of him, while their mothers overserving them.

"Sigh, how long has it been since I visit Mother and Father? Seem like a lot of time passed since I last talk to them," Myne spoke in a sad voice. "Let's go, Ted, we are going."

Myne call back Ted who was messing with a cat, and after giving a final glance at the children in front of him he walked toward the Town Cemetery.

Along the way, Myne also bought a lot of Sunflowers and Blue Roses, which were the favourite flowers of his parents.

"Those cheap Sunflowers are selective breeding flowers that can produce very easily with magic power, those are Father's choices, he was always very stingy with money, even on his wedding anniversary he always give Mother those flowers.

And those rare Blue Roses are Mother's choice, she likes them very much, no matter what day it is we always have them in our house till she was alive," Myne said to Ted trying to hide his uncontrol emotion through talking.

"Once a time, Father come home very late in a drunk state, but because Mother don't like his drinking habit, so in order to not get beaten by her, he stealthily enter the house, and because there was too much darkness in the house, and he was drunk he had accidentally broke mother favourite vase and destroy flower in it by stepping on them.

That night you won't believe me, the entire town heard his screams, hehe," Myne spoke while laughing, and fall into deep thoughts.

Soon Myna and Ted come to the deserted side of the cemetery where not many graves can seen, and two beautiful gravestone side by side, one is big, while the other is a little short appear in front of them. On the centre of both gravestones written their owner's name.

Yukino and Dyne.
