

Cheat. A 121

Chapter 121: The Royal Castle...

"So how much confidence do you have that you can win that game?"

After it was decided that Myne would accept the request by the royal family to participate in the game prepared by some idiot nobles, the day for the wedding ceremony was immediately decided. Taking the time taken for travelling into account, the game is scheduled to be on the day after tomorrow and the wedding will be held two days after that.

Myne who didn't want to risk getting beaten up by his Big Sis Maya till his wives couldn't recognize him by not informing her about such an important matter as his wedding. So after Lewis returned back to the capital city, Myne immediately told Sylphy and Aisha that he is going to inform Big Sis Maya about their wedding.

He had already told them everything about her that they needs to know, so after hearing that they didn't show much reaction and just told him that say hello to Big Sis Maya on their behalf.

Nodding his head, Myne walkout from the house, and with the help of his skill Unique Magic • Space-Time he directly teleported into Maya's bathroom in the bedroom. Then he used Presence Detect (Medium) to see who was inside the house, and after confirming that there is one person in the house, that too just 5 meters away from him, he slowly opened the bathroom door and peeked outside.

Outside Myne saw his Big Sis Maya who was laying on the bed on her stomach, wearing only Myne's favourite purple colour bra and panties, while swaying her legs casually and reading a book.

Myne seeing such a beautiful sense didn't think too much, directly removing his clothes, and throwing them into his Inventory, he then walk out of the bathroom and jump on Maya like a hungry wolf.

Then there was a fierce battle happened on the bed for two hours before Myne start explaining the entire situation to Maya while laying on top of her burying his head into her giant boobies, while his little brother still resting inside her pussy enjoying the massage getting from her pussy wall, and waiting for them to finish their talk before resuming its work.

"Well, tell the truth not much just around 100%," Myne said with a severe face, and rub his face on Maya's soft boobs while biting her nipples lightly.

"Ahhmmm. Hey, I am talking seriously, and you too don't take everything so lightly if you don't want to lose your little princess," Maya said with a frown while hitting on Myne's head.

"Ouch, it hurt. By the way Sis, so are going to attend my wedding?" Myne while making a fake painful face asked.

"Of course, I am coming, how can I miss my sweetheart who is also my cute little brother's wedding? And without getting my blessings how can you even think that your marriage will be complete?" Maya said playfully while hugging Myne tightly and showing the tip of her monstrous strength.

"Sis, okay, okay, I understand, please release me now, I can't breathe," Myne hurriedly spoke while patting on Maya's white slender hands, which hid unimaginable strength.

"Hehehe, here, you can't even get yourself free from my sweet hug but still have a face to say that you can win a game easily in which all of your opponents are cheating? Listen, my dear little brother, although confidence is a good thing but overconfidence isn't, so before the game make yourself ready, prepare some emergency plans for the worst situation.

Don't blindly believe that everything will go according to your plan," Maya said with a gentle smile and kiss lightly on Myne's forehead before turning him around and sitting on top of his little brother pushing it deep inside her, directly kissing her g-spot.

"So now shall we complete our unfinished business? Maya said with a playful smile, and start moving up and down the top of Myne.

...

"Honestly speaking, going along with this farce where the results have already been decided is really absurd," Sylphy said angrily with a frown.

Right now, Myne, Sylphy, Aisha, along with Ted were inside a carriage the royal family prepared for them and heading toward the capital city.

The wedding ceremony will be held two days after the game ends, and the schedule is very tight. Once Sylphy and Aisha arrive at the capital city, they would be able to take it relatively slowly and can prepare themselves for the wedding but Myne, the poor guy, as soon he arrives, he will be sent to the "Divine Spirit Forest" along with the knights.

I also wanted to prepare myself for the large-scale wedding ceremony though but alas, poor me, can't even enjoy my own wedding. Sigh, and once the marriage ceremony finishes, some bastard noble who has nothing better to do would probably come to give me more trouble, Myne thought with a sigh, while shaking his head helplessly.

"But as expected of the royal family's carriage. There's almost no shaking. The private carriage we boarded when we left Adol Town wasn't as good as it is," Aisha started a conversation with Sylphy as she was getting bored to death, and need something to time pass.

"Of course, it is better than a private carriage, unlike those private carriages which have normal shock-absorbing equipment installed on top of their wheels to reduce shaking, the carriage of royal family carriage has a magic tool under the carriage which absorb all the shock before it could reach inside the carriage," Sylphy said proudly.

"To be able to make such a magic tool, that person must be an amazing alchemist," Myne said boldly while wondering how that guy made this kind of thing.

As Sylphy heard Myne's words, she show a wide grin on her cute face before spoking, "The person who made it isn't an alchemist but a transmutator. By the way, she is also the one who made the time-stopping storage bag."

Huh? Now what the hell is transmutator? Here I am, after working under a potion master for many years, I still haven't been able to make a simple potion and now this new profession pops out from nowhere about which I've never heard of.

But now I think about it since it looks like Sylphy knows this transmutator, then once I've gathered the materials, it might be a good idea to try requesting her to transmute the Dagger, Bow, and One-handed Sword of Origin, Myne thought while rubbing his chin and looking at Sylphy who was happily talking with Aisha as if he is seeing an angel.

"She is really an angel to me, my luck is shining very brightly even since she came to me," Myne mumbled happily.

...

A public carriage would take about 6 to 7 hours to the capital city, but thanks to the royal carriage which have many enhancements and magic tool installed in it, they arrived in about four hours.

Myne and others who had just arrived at the capital city, did not enter from the main gate but a side gate exclusive to the royal family, and entered the city.

Since the news of Sylphy's wedding has already been announced throughout the city, and because Sylphy is very popular among the citizens in the capital city, if the citizens find out that Sylphy return in the carriage which just crosses the city gate, then the whole city may be in an uproar, and people start blocking their way to meet her, so side gate is very helpful to avoid this kind of hassle.

After crossing the market, the carriage comes to a very magnificent castle, which Myne can't describe in words, as he has never seen such a wonderful thing before.

The royal family castle appears as a delightful blend of regality and charm from the outside. The entire castle emanates a sense of tranquillity and intimate grandeur.

The castle's architecture showcases a tasteful combination of modesty and elegance. Its structure, while not as imposing as larger castles about which Myne heard from adventure who have visited other kingdoms, possesses a unique character that reflects the history and culture of the Augusta kingdom.

Delicate towers and graceful turrets rise above the castle, offering glimpses of the surrounding landscape and hinting at the noble lineage housed within.

Approaching the castle, one is greeted by an inviting entrance, adorned with decorative accents that provide a glimpse into the kingdom's heraldic heritage. The gatehouse carries an air of importance, offering a warm welcome to visitors. Stood in front of it are 4 well-equipped knights, ready to beat anyone who dares to mess in front of it.

The castle's exterior exudes a sense of serenity, with its well-maintained walls and meticulous details. Ornate carvings and subtle embellishments adorn the stone façade, showcasing the craftsmanship and artistic sensibility of the kingdom's artisans.

How much money and effort must they have spent on building such a wonderful building? Myne thought while looking at the royal castle outside from the carriage window with awe, as the carriage enter the castle gate.

"Her Highness Sylphid, Mr. Myne, and Miss Aisha have arrived!" The attending knight who saw Myne and others hurriedly run into the castle and notified their arrival to Sylphy's family.

Myne while alighted from the carriage after Aisha couldn't help but roll his eyes, Powerful people! Even the royal guards have been used as servants to notify our arrival, and why did that man look so happy after seeing us, don't tell me he is getting a tip after informing about us Sylphy's family.

Damn it!

My feet go numb after sitting in one place for hours, if only Sylphy wasn't so shy then we three can do many interesting things during the journey rather than sitting at a place and dozing off like old people but sigh, not everyone is like Aisha who can easily get excited and horny just thinking about doing some shameful things in different places, Myne thought with a sigh, while stretching his body and relaxing a bit, but suddenly a voice called out them from behind.