Chapter 132: Divine Beast!!!

"You bastards! Return to me my children!!!!!"

As Myne was thinking about any possible way to steal skills and storage pouches of those adventurers without getting in the attack range of the giant wolf, suddenly a miraculous thing happened, the giant wolf who was mindlessly attacking adventurers a moment ago who had stolen its children suddenly spoke in Hume language, making Myne dumbfounded.

F*ck!!! This wolf can talk? How can this be? When did wolfs become so smart?

Although this wolf is very big compared to a normal one, but there is nothing special about it, Myne thought confusedly, he has seen other abnormal monsters as well who got mutant for some reason, and become very big, powerful, and smart but mutation also have a limit, it can't give them the wisdom compare to Hume, Elf, or any other intelligent races, at least a wolf can't do that as far as he knows.

No there is something wrong, this monster can't be a wolf, maybe it just looks like it, but in reality, it is a different type of monster, Myne thought, and while the unknown monster who look like a giant wolf and the adventurer are fighting, he moved slowly and silently, hiding behind the bushes, close enough to them that he could use his appraisal skills on them.

WHAT THE FUCK!!! Divine Beast! This kind of god-like monster actually exist? Although I have said before that I wanted to meet one and steal its skills, but that was a joke. I am still very young, and haven't tasted a beast woman or any other races woman yet, how can I have a death-wise?

I wanted to live a long and healthy life, I am not an idiot like them who can do anything to go to hell very early, Myne thought and hide very carefully in the bush, not taking any chance to get spotted by the angry Divine Beast and misunderstood himself as those guy's comrade.

But no matter what to say, a Divine Beast is indeed the child of god, just look at those skills, let's not talk about anything else, just that Mystic-type skill alone is enough to make her all enemies feel hopeless. As for why she is not using any of her skills?

It is probably because its skills might little too powerful and her own children can get killed easily if any accident happened, which clearly no Mother wanted to see.

Now If I remember correctly, I heard a folklore, a long time ago, when the Hume race was almost destroyed by the demon race, that time Divine Beasts allied with the Hume race and protected them.

But now look at what they got back after saving Hume, not only did Hume forget that they are indebted to Divine Beasts who save their asses when they are about become slaves of demons, and grant them their protection, but now they are trying to steal their protectors children.

Sigh, that's why I don't easily believe in Humes, they are just too greedy, no matter how much you behave nice to them or help them, if they show profit greater than loss, there would always be someone who won't hesitate to backstab you without even blinking.

The dragon situation was outrageous enough, and it is our kingdom's great fortune that the dragon child's parents haven't come here yet, now those guys even trying to make Divine Beast the enemy of this kingdom. I think my Father-in-law would definitely get a heart attack if he finds out what those idiots are trying to do, Myen thought while shaking his head with a bitter smile.

"D, don't you dare move, you beast, d, don't you dare go against us. Try moving even a little, and y, your kids will lose their lives!!!"

While Myne was planning where he should go if Dragon and Divine beast really attack the kingdom on a large scale, suddenly an ugly-looking man among adventurers with his tumbling hand pull out a child of the divine beast from the beg on his shoulder, and forcefully pin it down on the ground, and put a dagger on its neck while threatening the Divine breast to back off.

This guy definitely has balls of steel, taking Divine Beast's child as a hostage in order to escape, his courage alone is enough to send him on the gibbet if people find out about it, Myne thought jokingly.

But from the logical point of view, his strategy is indeed very good, because of his action, the Divine beast really stops attacking them and just stares at them with boiling anger, if eyes can kill people without the help of skills then those guys might have died hundreds of times.

Since that idiot dares to threaten the Divine Beast, then it should be long before things get out of hand, there is no way that they could escape alive from here after putting a dagger on the Divine Beast's child. Now the question is what should I do?

Should turn around and run away so don't be misunderstood by an angry mother, or I wait a little more, and see if I can make any profit from trouble water? Myne thought while rubbing his chin, but just he can't decide what to do, suddenly the beautiful Foxgirl who lost her patience, grab the little child of the divine beast and dagger from the ugly man's hands forcefully.

"If you don't want to see your little children dead, then let us go you damn beast, unlike you we don't have all day to play around," Saying such The Foxgirl made a little cut on the divine beast child's neck and slowly blood start gushing out from it.

"F*ck!"

Seeing the blood coming out from the child's wound, the only thing that comes to everyone's mind other than Foxgirl's is that they are done for, threatening with empty words is a different thing but if someone really dares to injure a child in front of its mother then there's no way a mother would stay calm

"Shit, this damn milf is crazy, I should stay away from this kind of girl, they are real trouble in disguise of beauty," Myne mumbled shuddering while thinking that what would happen if someday this kind of crazy girl get seduced by his charm.

By the way, what kind of skills does she have that she dares to threaten a divine beast?

Huh? She is Claude's slave? F*ck, here I still haven't seen a half Hume properly ( only female ) and this bastard can play with them as he wishes? I am so jealous. But it is quite weird that even though she is a slave but she still risking life her life for Claude, who doesn't seem like a person who cares about anything other than status and power, let's not talk about taking care of a slave.

Also, are all of those people his slaves? Myne thought with a frown.

Well, it seems like Claude is only interested in buying female slaves, tsk, lucky bastard, she is probably his spy in this group so they don't dare to steal anything. Huh? What is this? An additional function? When did this unlock? It looks like it shows the current mood of the target person.

This is quite a helpful function, at least when trying to pick up girls, you can see whether they are interested in you or not, or when you should back off before they get angry, Myne thought with a satisfied expression on his face.

"You b*tch dare to attack my child!!!"

The Divine Beast finally lose her mind seeing her child in pain, and howls so loudly that everyone feels like they would become deaf if she didn't stop. The whole forest rustled at the shock, and the branches of the surrounding trees shook greatly.

The monsters in the surrounding area fled as quickly as possible with their tails between their legs, not daring to stay in a place where the Divine Beast was about to bring havoc.

At the excessive sense of terror and fear those adventurers felt because of the massive aura released by the Divine Beast, they finally realized whom they are messing with.

But there are always some idiots who never understand what they are doing, maybe Foxgirl suffered a head injury when she was young, or God spent so many resources creating her sexy body that he couldn't properly create her brain, whatever the reason, but one thing is clear, this girl is completely psychic that can't be explained by common sense.

Just when most of the adventurers were praying to god and thinking of a way to somehow calm down the Divine Beast and safely escape from her, the Foxgirl made a bold move, she first curses the Divine Beast for not listening to her threat and then in front of horror-filled eyes of everyone, she swung the dagger she was holding down on the Divine Beast child's stomach.

"Gyauuuu...n"

The child which had been stabbed in the stomach, its cry, full of sorrow and pain echoed throughout the forest, making shiver from fear.
