

Cheat. A 141

Chapter 141: A Little Accident...

"Okay, let's stop chit-chat, you guys were hunting all day and must be very hungry, right? Come I've already prepared food, Myne you too have dinner with us tonight, Fenrir said gently.

But Myne who suddenly gets an unexpected dinner invitation from Fenrir felt confused, he didn't understand how Fenrir prepared dinner with her big claws, hurriedly follows her toward the other side of the cavern and saw that under a giant tree that looks very magical, there were many strange looking fruits lying on top of each other and next to them lay the body of a very skillfully baked 3-meter giant monster, which looks very delicious at least it smelled good

"Those are special fruit grown in the centre part of the forest where magic energy is very dense, eating them not only make your body strong but also help magic energy in your body to become more powerful. As for that monster, it is a Naliter, a shadow-loving monster, eating its meat can clear all kinds of negative energy inside your body."

Fenrir seeing Myne confusedly stared at the dinner she prepared, patiently explaining their benefit. After all most of Hume never come in the center part of Divine Spirit Forest so of course they know nothing about the benefits of fruits growing there or monsters living there.

F*cking hell, just by eating fruits you can become powerful? No wonder although Fenrir children's levels are low, but they can easily beat much higher level monsters, they are literally cheating at board daylight by having an overpowered Mother who is making them strong just by feeding them.

This is the same feeling I felt some time ago, I am so jealous, Myne thought annoyingly while looking at the few dozen or so fruits and the roasted monster body, then the kids who already show him their frightening eating talent, and wondering how many fruits he can eat before those little guys put everything in their stomach which look little from outside but very big from inside.

Just as Myne worries about his valuable rare fruits, suddenly the little guy sitting on his head jumps down from there and spoke while looking at his Mother very seriously, "Mama, we are not going to eat those fruits today, Myne promises us that he would bring delicious food for us from his home."

"Yes, and that too enough to fill our little stomachs full."

"Mother, you won't believe but Hume's food is really very delicious and interesting, I have never eaten something so delicious before or seen so many different types of varieties, I can't describe the feeling I felt while eating those dishes."

Hearing her children praising food made by someone else more than her own, Fenrir felt like she is hit hard by a meteorite, she frowned and hurriedly asked Myne who for some reason had bright eyes as if he won a lottery, "Myne did you really promise such a thing to them?"

"Oops, I almost forget about this thing, and yes, I really promise to feed them my race's special food, sorry to disturb such a lovely dinner prepared by you, Fenrir, but worry not, I won't let waste your hard work, I will finish all the food specially prepared by you," Myne said with a bright smile, then he told them to wait for a while, and hurriedly open a portable to a random alley of the capital city near the outer area close to the main wall, he also didn't forget to put the roasted monster body in his Inventory so it won't get cold till he comes back.

Myne after coming out from the portal hurriedly look around to see if someone saw him or not using teleportation skill but to his bad luck, he actually opens the portal in the middle of a group of hooligans, who were doing a very serious thing and ruined all their fun.

In the hooligan group, there are a total of five people, two people are standing at the gate of the alley probably stopping anyone from entering or keeping an eye on the situation if some patrolling guards come toward them to make things difficult for them, after all, what they are doing is defiantly not something that will bring them anything good if guard finds out.

Remaining out of the three people two other guys stood just between the middle of Myne and the alley entrance, with alcohol bottles in their hands and unfocused eyes, clearly, they are heavily drunk, and probably watching fun before Myne come.

As for the last guy who looks like the Boss of this Hooligan gang thanks to his not-so-easy-to-forgettable face, he was currently in the middle of a fierce batter with a girl who look like a worker of a random Inn nearby with her unique maid-like outfit, which is very famous recently.

The first one who breaks this awkward silence from Myne's sudden appearance was the girl, who was clearly losing the battle with the bald ugly looking Boss, as for why Myne think this, because almost all her clothes are already left her side and now laying on the ground in bad condition not even her underwear spread, the Boss of the hooligan group have pinned her down on the ground while her both legs forcefully resting on his shoulder with his head in the middle and his sort 3.5 Inch long sword, I mean knife was about to enter inside her sacred cave.

"Sir, please, please help me! Those guys are trying to rape me!"

The girl's voice was loud, filled with sobs, and helplessness, but her eyes become bright and hopeful after seeing Myne.

"Shut up you bitch, how dare you scream in the middle of such an important business? The Boss becomes very angry seeing the girl under him shouting for help, he first slaps the girl's right cheek with a very heavy hand, directly imprinting his five fingers on her white and tender cheek.

After venting his anger the Boss stood up from the ground annoyingly, while mumbling some bad words loud enough that everyone can hear and put back his pants, hiding his short knife from Myne's sharp eyes.

"Basterd before I cut you in thousands of pieces and feed you to dogs for ruining my such wonder moment, tell me how did you suddenly come here out of nowhere?" The Boss said while making a dangerous expression which wasn't very difficult for him since his face was already scary enough.

"Would you believe me if I say that this was just an accident, and I don't have any intention of ruining your fun?" Myne asks calmly although he already knows the answer to his question.

"Hahaha, accident you say, huh? I will believe you if you honestly tell me your secret, how did you suddenly come here," The Boss asked while picking up his one-meter-long rusty-looking sword from the ground, and gesturing to the other members of his group to surround Myne from all directions.

"Well, look like it is not going to settle down peacefully, anyway, before I tell you my secret you don't mind if I have a few words with that girl right? Just a few words, It won't take even a minute," Myne said with an innocent smile like harmless to Hume and animals.

Hearing Myne's request the Boss and his gang looked at each other confusedly but still, for the sake of the secret they decide to let Myne talk to the girl, If Myne can honestly tell them his secret and they don't have to use force method to get his secret out of him, they are of course very happy to fulfil his little request.

They never heard of this kind of skill posses by someone before so they are of course very curious about it, and anyway Myne is already surrounded by them so they are not worried that he can play some trick on them.

After getting the hooligan Boss's permission easily Myne nodded his head with satisfaction while thinking that his personal charm had increased so much that now even some random cannon fodder easily listen to his order.

Then he looks at the girl who has a big red palm print on her soft white cheek, with tears falling down all over her face like a waterfall, sobbing once in a while and currently gathering big pieces of her torn-apart clothes in order to cover private parts of her body as soon as possible.

But before Myne could say something, that girl looked at him with a crying face and spoke in a teary voice, "Sir please save me from those bad people, please I beg you..."

"You already said this before, and I understood it very well, but let me tell you something, what you will give me for you helping you? You didn't expect that a random stranger whom you just saw would help you for free if you made that miserable and hopeless face, right?"

In this world nothing comes for free, believe me, I have seen this kind of situation many times before, people die, raped, and robbed every day, and believe me no one cares about them. If they do then this situation would never have happened in the first place. So now let me ask once more, tell me what would you give me for saving you?

Myne said everything with his same trademark smile, giving goosebumps to everyone, especially to the Boss, who already felt that Myne is not simple as he seem.

After saying what he want, Myne calmly looked at the girl waiting for her answer, like the last time, he still didn't mention what she can give him or how much should give, or if she don't have anything with her she can bring them from her home he doesn't mind waiting some moment, as for the reason behind hiding those details, it is very simple, from Myne point of view if this girl can't even thing such a small thing, then she might as well die early then later, anyway someone who can't use his head is just burden on this world.