

Cheat. A 142

Chapter 142: A Brave Little Cutie...

The girl after hearing Myne's bitter words of truth suddenly fall silent, probably she would have never expected this kind of answer from Myne, in her mind maybe Myne should be the knight in silver armour of fairy tail who saved the princess from the bad guys at the critical moment winning her heart and then live happily afterwards.

But alas to her bad luck, neither Myne is a knight in shining armour, nor some kind of brainless idiot who only thinks with his lower half after seeing a girl in danger, and she is also not a princess.

"Okay, times up, your few moments are over, now tell me your secret obediently, otherwise be ready to endure the pain you might never have imagined," The boss who had heard enough nonsense between Myne and the girl finally lost patience, and said with a heavy voice, after all, he and his boys still have to f*ck this beautiful chick, they don't have all night to play around with Myne.

"Don't be so hurried gentlemen, can't you wait a little more, just for the sake of this beautiful lady?"

Aren't curious about what would be her answer?" Myne said with a smile his words were full of temptation while pointing at the half-naked girl to distract hooligans so they don't ruin his momentum, otherwise, if he killed them before the girl could answer then wouldn't he just become a joke who is bubbling nonsense to scare girls?

Hooligans who become a little curious after hearing Myne's words mockingly look at the girl to see just what would she offer Myne in exchange to save her life from them, if it is really something valuable they can also take it as well along with her virginity. As for Myne saving the girl? They didn't take it seriously, Myne his own safety is not secure currently how can he save the girl?

This is also the reason they decide to wait a little bit more.

"Oye, b*tch, can you hurry up? We are still waiting to eat you after Boss is done with you," One of the random gang members said with a perverted expression while looking at the girl's body up and down.

This frightened the girl so much that she hesitated whether to believe Myne or not who himself doesn't look much powerful but still hoping at last that he could save her with the special skill he used to come here, she looked at Myne trembling and spoke in a hoarse voice, "Mister, if you save me from those bad guys, I'm willing to give you all my savings I've made all those years working as a waitress."

Hearing the girl offer, before Myne could say anything hooligans looked at each other and start laughing manically as if they heard the world's greatest joke.

"Hahaha, Boss did you hear that? This girl is offering her entire saving to save her from us."

"Haaha, yes Boss, it seems like recently because we work outside the city too much that people forget your terror, now even a street girl can buy people to beat us with just her puny savings."

"You guys are right, laying low key for some years people really forget about me completely, tomorrow we will go and show them what the real bad guy looks like," The Boss said while making an ugly smile which if children see in the middle of the night they'll definitely pee their pants on the spot.

While the Hooligan gang member is discussing their strategy of spreading terror, Myne only god knows when to come beside the girl, and put a big cloth on her half-naked body.

"Well, I accept your mission, my lady, it's nice to work with you," Myne said with a polite but good-looking smile while helping the girl to stand up from the dirty ground.

The entire time Myne suddenly come beside her, put a cloth on her half-naked body, and spoke gently, the girl just stared at him with a dumbfounded and shocked expression on her cute face, which now temporarily lost its original beauty because of a red palm print and tears.

Hearing Myne's voice which sounded from a different place, hooligans who were laughing a moment ago, immediately become serious while looking at Myne beside the girl confusedly.

"When did you get there?" Again a random gang member asked subconsciously.

"When you guys are having a group meeting," Myne replies calmly with a smile, but then he put away his smile as fast as it appears and continues in a deadly serious tone, "Now its time to sand you guys your way, I am really not in the mood to listen your nonsense anymore."

Saying such Myne raise his left hand and pointed it toward the Boss of Hooligan and ready to shoot a wind blade at him, after all, as a boss of the gang he deserved to first, this is the honour he earn by his own hard work. But then Myne suddenly thought something and look at the girl beside him who trembling probably imagining the upcoming bloody battle.

She doesn't look like a brave girl who can witness bloody sense without any problem, thinking such Myne put his right hand on the girl's eyes tightly not letting her see anything while saying, "You don't need to see what is going to happen next."

Then Myne looks at the Boss and shot a wind blade at him aiming at his neck.

The wind blade left Myne's side at an extremely fast speed, and before the Boss could understand what Myne did and or raise his rusty sword to defend himself, a bloody line appear on his neck.

With a thump sound, in the horrible eyes of the remaining gang members, their boss's head fall down on the ground while his body was still standing like a statue.

Hum... Not bad, my shooting has become more accurate, but I still don't know how it compares to Aisha, I should compete with her someday just for fun...

Ahhhh...

Myne thoughts were interpreted by the loud girlies' scream for the remaining hooligans.

Tsk, losers, now such people will also become bad guys, they are literally disgraced in the villain community, they only know how to beat the weak but when encounter the strong they start screaming and run away.

No wonder they said they are working out of the city, they are probably bandits who live in the forest about whom I heard from Sylphy, who rob passing villagers, and hide in their holes when they saw knights.

And their skills are not good as apes, I didn't get a single useful skill from the total of five people, useless piece of shits, Myne thought while looking at the reminding hooligans who were now running toward the alley entrance while screaming for help, which was very ironic because the alley they choose to rape the girl is in a very remote area and getting help by screaming here is near to impossible.

Myne then shot ten or so wind blades continuously cutting four unlucky guys' bodies like vegetables, blood spared all over the ground with internal organs, making the entire already gloomy, dark, dirty alley more horrific, now if Myne hasn't close the girl's eyes, maybe this sense probably hunted the innocent girl for a long time in the form of a nightmare.

After finishing all hooligans, Myne while still tightly shutting the girl's eyes walk out of the alley with her, only when they walked quite far away from the alley entrance did Myne remove his hand from the girl's eyes.

The first thing the girl did after opening her eyes was made a little distance from Myne, clearly, she heard those hooligans scam very well and probably imagine something that wasn't very positive for Myne's image, maybe she might have already labelled him a Devil.

"Okay, no need to be scared of me, I am not going to eat you, now give me my reward and you your way, and I mine, I don't think we even going to see each again anyway," Myne said calmly with a poker face without caring about the girl reaction toward himself.

"Also, I know you don't have any money on you right now so let's go to your home, as quickly as possible, I am currently in the middle of an important mission, and I don't have too much time to waste around."

"Ahh, yes, sir, please follow me, my house is not that far away from here," The girl said in a trembling voice, worrying that Myne would kill her if she delay too much and after wrapping the cloth around her body tightly she lead the way.

Soon while following the girl, Myne appears in front of a big building that looks like an apartment. The building has title four floors made of wood and stone, and there are many windows that can be seen on every side of the building which shows that there are a lot of people living there.

"Sir if you don't mind, please wait a minute I will bring the money," The girl said fearfully, while thinking that Myne misunderstood her intention she hurriedly explain, "Our landlord doesn't like seeing strange in his building."

Hearing the girl's explanation Myne nodded his head and gestured for her to go on.

Seeing the girl hurriedly running inside the building Myne activate his Presence Detect skill to watch over her if she dare to play some trick, although he really didn't care about the girl's puny money, but a deal is a deal, and if she can't fulfil her part of the deal after making him work, then she can only reunion with those hooligans in another world.

But to Myne's relief, the girl wasn't an idiot who love money more than her life, and she return soon while followed by a cute little child, who look very sleepy but still firmly holding the girl's hand, not wanting to be separated from her.

"She is my younger sister, she follow me when I was coming back," The girl explain the origin of the little child beside her after seeing Myne staring at her while handing him a small old-looking normal leather pouch filled with coins.

Myne opens it and shows some silver coins on the small pile of bronze coins which he hasn't seen after awakening his skills, as for the golden coin, there is non in the beg, which is very normal.

After all, not all people are like Myne who play with golden coins as if they grow on a tree, for most commoners having a gold coin means not needing to worry about food for half a year, which very big thing for them.

"Big brother, are you robbing my sister?"

Just when Myne put away money in his inventory carelessly and was about to go on his way, suddenly the little girl beside her sister spoke in her cute and innocent voice, which made Myne feel a little guilty, but this didn't stop Myne from replying to her question honestly.

"Yes, I am robbing your sister, what are going to do about it cutie?"

"But why are doing this? You don't look like someone who needs my sister's little money right?"

The little child who turn out to be more intelligent than her sister asked while staring at Myne with her big watery brown eyes.

"Sigh, look, little cutie, as you said I really do not need your sister's money, but it is part of the deal, and I have to take it according to an agreement, she requested me to save her from bad guys and I did in exchange for money, that its, so now go back to your home with your sister, and I too going on my way, let's never see each other again," Myne heartlessly said goodbye while messing little girl black hair, and start walking away.

But who would have thought that the little girl would be so courageous that she would run in front of Myne and while blocking her way would bravely ask, "Big brother, If you work for money and deal with bad people, then can you also beat Lyauru and his friends who always bully my sister and rob her hard earn money every month?"

I am willing to give you my most precious thing in exchange for beating them."

Myne hearing the little girl's request stared at her with an emotionless expression, without saying anything...

