

Cheat. A 156

Chapter 156: Myne's Headache...

"Finally no more problems, now I can breathe a sigh of relief," Myne spoke happily while laying on Sylphy's big king-size bed with his arms and legs wide open.

"Yes, you really work hard Lord Husband, but this is not without gain, right? Now you are many times more powerful than before, and also have a powerful backer to protect you," Sylphy said dotingly while handing Myne a cup of black tea brought by a maid.

"Well, you are right, but believe me I miss both of you a lot, it was very difficult for me to live without seeing both of you for an entire day," Myne said with a smile, and gave a deep kiss to Sylphy before taking the black tea cup from her.

"Phew, that surprised me, today's weather is quite hot, right Aisha?" Sylphy asked with a red face while fanning herself with her hand trying to change the topic.

"No, I didn't feel hot, maybe you have been infected by a certain person, you should go and see a doctor. It can be very dangerous," Aisha said seriously, while eating an apple, as for black tea, she did taste it morning and tell the truth she still doesn't understand how can someone drink this kind of bitter thing, this is literally self-torture.

Phuuu..."

"What the hell is this shit..." Myne said after spitting out black tea from his mouth.

"Myne! Mind your language," Aisha said with a heavy voice while throwing the half-eaten apple in her toward Myne.

"Sorry dear, sorry Ayri, my mistake, but why are guys giving me bitter decoction? I was not ill nor did I get hurt that I need this kind of thing," Myne said confusedly and after putting a black teacup on the table, he eat the half-eaten apple thrown by Aisha to clean his mouth.

"Hahaha, Elder Brother Myne, this black tea is a high-grade item that only some very powerful people in our kingdom can drink, but your right this tea taste is very ugly, I never understand why Father like to make everyone drink this," Ayri said with a giggle, she is currently playing with Ted, as for Little Fenrir, this naughty guy still unwilling let anyone easily touch himself other then Myne.

"Sorry, Lord Husband, this is a special rule set by Father, that every new guest in our home once has to drink this tea, he said that it is the rare tea of his home town, and he wanted to make it famous, but I don't think his dream going to fulfil, this black tea is just too bitter," Sylphy said helplessly and order the maid who was standing at the door to clean up the floor and take back black tea.

"You naughty girl really likes to do pranks with me, huh? Seem like staying with Aisha for so long, you are also get affected by her," Myne said with one eye close.

"Hehe, sorry, the rule is the rule, I can't do anything about it, Aisha also drank this tea today morning and her reaction was exactly the same as yours," Sylphy said while biting her tongue between her front teeth cutely.

"What do you mean affect by me?" Aisha asked with a frown.

"Nothing, I was just joking," Myne reply playfully and continue, "By the way, I'm sorry, for keeping quiet, and not telling you about my skills."

"Don't worry about it, I never really care about your skills in the first place, for me as long as you love me heartily, that's enough for me," Aisha said carelessly, Sylphy also nodded her head, although she was very interested in Myne's skills at the start but now after falling love with him she also doesn't care about his skills much.

Hearing Aisha and Sylphy's carefree reply Myne took a breath of relief, and then ask again, "But aren't you worried that might take your Skills away?"

"Huh? Why should we worry about it? Do you think that we are just acting to love you and have absolutely no trust in you?" Aisha asked angrily.

"Yes, Lord Husband, asking this kind of question, you really disappoint us, and do you really think that we don't know about our skills?"

Although our skills are powerful but they are just common skills, they are nothing special compared to monsters' skills which can destroy a town with one attack, so is not it better to steal monsters' skills, rather than ours?" Sylphy said disdainfully making Myne laugh from awakedness.

Seem like I was thinking too much, this bad habit of mine of being a Skeptic. Sigh, I should have more trust in my family," Myne thought while taking a deep breath, then he walked toward his both wives, he hug them one by one, before speaking, "Sorry, my little fairies, I was just a little worried that you might be afraid of me after knowing that I can steal your skills."

Little Fairies, that was a cute one, I like it. Okay, we forgive you this time but don't even doubt our love again, otherwise, you might as well find new a wife," Aisha said gently with a smile.

"Yes, never doubt in our love," Sylphy also nodded her head, with her arm crossed over her chest.

"Thank you, I am really lucky that I meet both of you," Myne said emotionally while again hugging both Aisha and Sylphy, but this time both of them together.

"Cough, can you guys do your lovey-dovey thing later, I am still here you know?" Ayri seeing the fire of passion and lust in Myne and his both wives' eyes, cough lightly and brought them back to their senses before they cross the line, and start doing something which wasn't very suitable for underage kids.

Hearing Ayri's voice, all three of them immediately come back to their sense and awkwardly move away from each other, Myne again sits down on the bed, while Aisha and Sylphy are on the couch with red faces.

"By the way, Elder Bother Myne, what is this little guys name? "Ayri ask curiously watching the Little Fenrir devouring food after food in his mouth, while wondering how can such a small stomach accumulate so much food.

"Yeah, I am certainly curious about his name, also how can he eat so much? He already has eaten two adult people worth of food, But it still doesn't look like his stomach going to fill up anytime soon," Sylphy asked surprisingly.

"No, he doesn't have a particular name, and as you already know how wonderful my naming talent is so I thought that I should ask for your opinions since he will become a part of our family from now on," Myne said with a smile, and rub Ted's head, who was still staring at him hatefully because of being ignored continuously by him.

"Name, Huh? Let me think about it," Aisha said while rubbing her chin thoughtfully

"Huh? Are you guys talking about me?" The Little Fenrir asked Myne while putting a big piece of meat in his mouth.

"That's right, we are discussing what kind of name we should give you, would you like a cool name or a cute one?" Myne asked back.

"Mn, anything is okay! By the way, the food here is quite delicious, can you order those creamy things more?" The Little Fenrir said carelessly.

Sigh, Fenrir really spoiled him a lot, just as I thought she is not a reliable mother, Myne thought while shaking his head, and looked at his wives, both of their eyes seem to be sparkling as if they were thinking seriously.

"I think the name Fenrir's good enough, right?" Sylphy said after thinking for a while.

"What are you saying, Sylphy? Fenrir is a girl's name, and we can't give him his mother's name, he's such a cute kid, he needs his own cute name. I firmly nominate Kuru name!"

"Nonono, he's a Divine Beast, you know? His name should be cool and dominating, how about Shin!? Isn't it cool!"

"No! Kuru, Kuru is better! Shin, just hearing this name anyone can say this is very wretched."

"What kind of logic is this? Shin is a very good name okay, I firmly believe we should give him this name."

"Sorry, Sylphy but I can't accept this kind of name, you either change it and think something better or just accept my one."

"How about Woly?"

Just as the matter between Aisha and Sylphy gets heated Ayri also jumps onto the battlefiled with her own name, which was surprisingly quite a nice one.

"No, no, Shin name is best, if you can't accept it then we can also call him Chin."

"Can't you be a little more creative? What is the difference between Shin and Chin? Anyway, Kuru name is perfect."

Sigh, now this is going out of hand, I shouldn't ask for their opinion, just give him a random name, and close the matter, Myne thought helplessly while rubbing his forehead, he is now having a headache.

"Woof-Woof."

Ted seeing that the fight is about to happen between all three girls, also starts barking trying to give his own opinion but sadly no one understands his language other than his parents.

"Lord Husband, Lord Husband! Shin name is good, isn't it?" Sylphy asked Myne with puppy eyes while burying his right arm in her small but perfect handful size boobs.

"Myne! It should be Kuru, right!? Kuru's better right!!" Aisha spoke while making a cute face as well, trying her best to not let Sylphy win, she also quickly grab Myne's left arm and bury it in her big D+ cup-size boobs.

"Elder Brother Myne, Woly, Woly is cutest right, You should give him Woly's name," Ayri who doesn't want to be left behind also joined the fun, and jump on Myne and hung herself on Myne's neck with her both arms.

F*ck, what a mess I got myself into? Next time I will never ask any opinion from those girls," Myne thought, and just then his eyes fall on Little Fenrir who was laying on the table while rubbing his touch with a satisfied expression on his face. The Little Fenrir then opens his mouth and yawns as if what going on between Myne and the girls is someone else's business.

"Wafuuuuu~~~~"
