

Cheat. A 163

Chapter 163: Jormungandr

"The child dragon Myne mentioned before although I didn't think deeply about it at that time but now after thinking about it, I have decided to meddle in this matter a little, after all, I can understand the emotions of having your child separated from you," Fenrir in her home laying under the big tree said to the small cute creature in front of her.

When I went out for a short while, my own children were abducted by Humes. The children who had never seen a Hume before approached them out of curiosity, but those basterds attached annoying slave collars on them. Noticing the fact that my children had been kidnapped from their cries, I hurriedly chased after a few humans and killed them.

It's good that I caught up to them before they got out of the forest, but a human who wanted to order me stabbed my cute boy with a dagger. That feeling of loss and rage just recalling it disturbs my heart.

The dragon parent who had their child abducted is probably experiencing the same emotions, maybe more intense than me.

Originally, it probably wasn't something I should intervene in or care about. However, as a Mother, I want to help the poor dragon parents whose child was taken away from them

While Fenrir thinking of those things, suddenly a big red figure appeared in her mind.

"Speaking of dragons, I should talk of Jor if I wanted to know the situation properly before getting into this matter," Fenrir said thoughtfully.

"Jor? Who is that, My Lord?" The small creature asked confusedly.

"Jor is a Divine Beast who like me, has been entrusted with the duty of safeguarding this land by God. His full name is Jormungandr, the supreme being who rules the Dragon race, and my younger brother," Fenrir said proudly before using her telepathy skill.

"What! The Divine Beast of Dragon Race?!" The small creature was exclaimed by the information he just got.

Fenrir ignores her talking buddy, who occasionally comes to her and tells her some interesting news.

"Jor, can you hear me? Jor, It's me, Fenrir, are you alive?"

"Hm? Oh, Big Sis Fen? It's been a long time. How are you? By the way, your mouth is still very poisonous, are you in so a hurry to see my dead body? Every time you talk to me through telepathy first thing you ask is if I am alive?

Which kind of sister asks her younger brother this kind of ominous thing? "Jor said with a sigh.

"The one who cares about her younger brother," Fenrir said with a giggle.

"By the way, Big Sis Fen, if you don't have anything urgent, then let's talk later, I'm currently very busy with something."

"It is urgent and I think it's probably related to the reason you're busy," Fenrir said seriously and then told Jor about the fact that her children had been abducted, her meeting with Myne, and everything related to it.

"Ahhh, those damn Humes again, this shitty race, they're beyond help, this time they even dared to reach out their hand on my cute nephews. This kind of thing can't be ignored. I think It might be better to destroy this greedy race once and for all," Jor's angry voice sounded in Fenrir's mind.

"Calm down Jor, you can't just destroy an entire race because of some people's bad deeds, fortunately, thanks to Myne, your lovely nephews are safe and sound. However, I am also feeling bitter, sympathising with the feelings of the dragon parents who had their child kidnapped.

Right now, I decided to ask Myne and let him find the whereabouts of the child, It shouldn't be difficult for him with his current identity, also I will try to assist him if there is any need," Fenrir said and after talking a little bit more with Jor, and making a promise that if she gets hold of the child's whereabouts, she will immediately contact him, she ended the telepathy.

Next I have to tell Myne about the details I've arranged. But he seemed sleeping now, so let's contact him later, Fenrir thought and looked at her children who were sleeping beside him with a motherly smile.

...

As expected, this is the most reliable method I can think of currently. I think it's alright, but I have to take the possibility of getting rejected into account, Faren thought after learning from the slave trader that the child dragon is in Adol Town.

"Order the First Knight Unit to head towards Adol Town immediately!!!"

Faren ordered the knight leader Rick, and dispatched the knight unit to Adol Town.

Every minute and every second counts, a delay in the decision may possibly cause fatal wounds. While following the back of Rick who was running until he was out of sight, Faren hurriedly came out of the prison and quickly came to Sylphy's room.

Just as he was about to knock on the room, he suddenly stopped and after taking a deep breath, he turned around and walked away.

Myne has just come back and might be very tired, I have already given him a fair share of trouble, and now in the middle of the night if I ask him to contract Lord Divine Beast, even if I have the right motive there is high chance that things become complicated. I should talk to him tomorrow morning, Faren thought and took a deep sigh while walking.

"I really miss the old days when the only thing I had to care about was how to prank Garnet and play all night with her, but after becoming king everything has changed, sigh..."

...

Morning 5 o'clock.

Knock-Knock...

In Sylphy's luxurious room, there is a king-size bed, and on the bed, three naked people are sleeping soundlessly with smiles on their faces while hugging each other and dreaming about some wonderful things, but suddenly loud noise of knocking on the door, pour cold water on their sweet dreams.

Knock-Knock...

"F*ck! Which bastard knocking at such an early in the morning, don't you have anything better to do than ruining other people's sleep!" Myne yells angrily in a low voice while staring at the clock on the wall with sleepy eyes.

"Myne who is it," Sylphy who was hugging him also woke up because of the knocking sound and while rubbing her sleepy eyes which she opened with great effect she asked.

"There are always some people who can't see others sleeping peacefully, I go and check out, you don't have to worry about it, go and sleep more, beautiful young woman like you need more sleep otherwise it can affect your skin," Myne said dotingly to Sylphy before looking at his lazy elder wife, who in order to not let her sleep disturb hide inside the quilt with a pillow on her head to block noise.

"Okay, thanks for the trouble," Sylphy said happily and again lay down on the bed while hiding her beautiful breathtaking figure into the quilt.

Sigh, I hope It is some serious matter otherwise this troublemaker is done for, Myne thought annoyingly while wearing causal black colour pants, but before he could wear anything on his upper body, another round of knocking came.

Knock-Knock-Knock...

"Coming, wait a little, do you want to break the door? Don't you know there are two young ladies sleeping in this room? You better have some decent reason behind disturbing our sleep otherw... Ohh, Father-In-Law? Why are you here at such early in the morning?" Just as Myne opened the door, he saw Faren with a tired face as if he hadn't slept the entire night.

Faren after seeing Myne made a forced smile before speaking, "Myne I need your help, It is very urgent, so please forgive me for disturbing your sleep."

"Ahh, don't say such a thing, Father-In-Law, since you personally come to visit in so hurry then things might really be serious. Give me a minute, I wear some clothes and then let's talk," Myne said.

"Okay, then come to my previous study room, I am waiting there for you," Faren nodded his head, and walked away in a hurry.

After Faren left, Myne also entered the room and saw Sylphy wearing her bra while looking at him concernedly.

"Myne what is the matter? Why did Father come to you?" Sylphy asked worriedly.

"I didn't know, he said that he needed my help, and the matter was very urgent. Aisha wakes up, sleep time is over, we have to go," Myne slaps hard on Aisha's round ass to wake her up and helps Sylphy to wear her one-piece sky blue dress with white lining.

"Amm, what the hell, people can't even sleep properly there, I am really missing our house now," Aisha complained angrily but still got up quickly and took out her clothes from the cupboard with sleepy eyes and started wearing them.

"Aisha, wake up, you are dressed upside down."

Myne after helping Sylphy and wearing his shirt, when he looked at Aisha, saw her wearing her shirt on the wrong side, could only remind her while shaking his head. After which Myne also Aisha to wear her clothes and hurriedly headed toward the Faren study room with Aisha and Sylphy.

"Guys, I am really sorry, that I disturb you all but time is running out.

Last night after interrogating Claude and the Slave trader who sold slave collars to him, we finally found the place where they hid the dragon's child is Adol Town, but you all know that it is extremely far from the capital and although I already sent a knight unit there but till they reached there maybe it will be already too late.

Every minute is precious, so Myne I wanted to ask your help, can you contact the Lord Divine Beast and let them open a portal connected to this place and Adol Town where the child dragon is, so we can go there and rescue it?

Although It may sound a little selfish, but you also try to understand a lot of innocent people's lives are on the line, if that child dragon's parents reach there before us then only god knows how many people will lose their lives then."

Just as Myne and his gang enter the study, Faren directly comes to the point and tells them the entire matter.

"Don't worry Father-In-Law I will help you as much as I can, we can't let innocent people die in vain," Myne said righteously in order to impress his Father-In-Law, anyway it is just opening a portal and sending some people to Adol Town not a big deal.

Then Myne contacts Fenrir to ask her if she doesn't mind if he uses her name a few more times, but out of his expectation just as he contacted Fenrir, she throws a big pot of trouble on his head with a warning that no matter what happens he has to save that dragon child, otherwise he has to deal with her younger brother.

"What the f*ck, what that dragon child have to do with me? And why do I risk my life for someone whom I had never seen before, let alone getting punished for no reason?" Myne asked angrily.

"Save that child and you will receive a big reward from The Supreme Being of The Dragon Race," Fenrir didn't talk nonsense with Myne and directly threw candy in his mouth.

"Deal, just wait for good news," Myne said happily and ended her conversation with Fenrir.

"Sigh, this guy is really too greedy, now I am worried about my little cutie, I hope he won't learn those bad habits from Myne," Fenrir thought while shaking her head.