

Cheat. A 190

Chapter 190: End of Training...

After doing about ten styles, Aniue stopped and spoke with a deadpan expression, "Try doing the same thing."

Hearing Aniue's command, as one might expect from a newbie, Myne failed miserably.

"Wrong, that's not how you do it! The way you're moving your arm is completely wrong! Are you an idiot? How can you not even move your arm properly?"

"That's not it! Relax your shoulder more! Yes, that's it! Now before you again forget the next move, quickly swing it! Wrong, f*ck, remember how I did it just now!! Don't add your own ideas!!"

Aniue's loud yell resounded throughout the entire training ground, but because of his identity, no one dared to come near them to watch the fun.

Myne was made to redo those ten dagger styles over and over again which Aniue demonstrated just once while thinking that Myne have a photographic memory, and remembering them should be a child's play.

Although this training wasn't as intense as the previous two times, but only physically, and mentally Myne felt so much pressure because of Aniue's continuous nagging that once Myne even thought that maybe he is an idiot who couldn't remember anything. But even after an entire hour Aniue not once said a good word to him, which made Myne quite desperate.

"Let's take a break."

As Aniue said that Myne angrily threw the dagger on the ground with a heavy sigh, and sat down hard on the ground.

Why the f*ck those movements are so damn difficult. Why can't I do it properly, Myne thought while taking deep breaths to calm down his frustration.

"Listen, Myne, being angry for such a small thing won't take you anywhere, you can't do it now doesn't mean that you can't do it later as well. You just need patience and a lot of practice. After you finish resting, relax your mind and try to think about your condition, before we start again.

"Right now, your tiredness both physical and mental is at its peak, right? Try to naturally relax your body and cut down on unnecessary movements. If you move as such, it'll be half the battle won. After that, you should memorise those ten moves thoughtfully and practise them till they become your muscle memorise. Only this way you can react immediately in front of unexpected danger..."

While receiving such wonderful advice from Aniue, Myne rested for 10 more minutes and once again restarted his practice.

In the end, while getting bombarded by Aniue's poisoness mouth which can make even the sunniest person question his life. That day's wretched training ended two hours after that.

"You worked hard, good work. Now just like this, I'll train you every day, and it will be just a matter of time before you are more than enough capable of protecting yourself from many dangers without your skills."

As Myne lay down exhausted under the tree to hide from the scorching heat of the afternoon, covered in sweat from head to toe, and smelling like shit, Aniue spoke some words of appreciation, which Myne clearly have no mood to listen, because today he didn't want to see Aniue face anymore.

Not getting any response from Myne, Aniue could only shake his head helplessly and walked back to the training ground leaving him to himself, but before getting too further he didn't forget to throw a final threat toward Myne.

"Don't be late tomorrow, otherwise, be ready to spend one more hour with me..."

"Tsk, I can say guarantee that if he was a commoner then with this kind of personality his chance of getting a girl never be more than 10%. This guy's mouth is powerful enough to make any person his enemy, this is definitely a natural talent."

After Aunie left, Myne at first wanted to go back to his room and take a warm bath before getting on the bed and driven into sweet dreamland, but his dream of sleeping peacefully broke like a mirror again, when he realised that he is so tired that he can't even move his legs let's alone going back to his room.

Uu f*ck, my body's aching all over, Myne thought and with great determination, he tried to stand up, but soon his legs were shivered greatly and he again found himself laying on the ground like a dead fish.

"Wafuu..."

"Bow-bow..."

Huh? Did those two little guys come to check me? Myne thought and with a great effort moved his head toward the direction from where the sound came.

As he did that, he saw Waffle, wagging his tail as he was carried in Aisha's arms, while Ted followed beside them.

"Lord Husband, you look quite tired and miserable..." Sylphy who was walking behind Aisha, said with a sad voice, while quickly coming to Myne, and wiping sweat from his face with her Handkerchief.

Ahmn, her handkerchief smells nice, I wonder which perfume Sylphy used today. Myne thought while enjoying Sylphy's genuine care with a smile on his face, finally, after 4 hours of hellish training, he was getting well-deserved care from a beautiful lady.

"Thank you for coming everyone, I don't know what would I have done without your care and support in this cold and dark world, filled with pain and suffering," Myne gently stopped Sylphy's action and spoke.

"Are you alright? It seems like this training has been very hard on you," Aisha said with a flat expression while looking at Myne worriedly although she didn't show it on her face.

She is still acting like a cold-blooded introverted type of lady who rarely speaks to anyone to not create unnecessary trouble, because in the eyes of everyone, Sylphy is the main wife of Myne, and she is his second wife with much power. If it wasn't for Myne, she might not even have a chance to enter the Palace, let alone temporarily live in it.

"Hehe, don't worry I am fine, it's just my legs aren't listening to me, and now I can't even stand up properly," Myne said with a forced giggle to relieve his both wives' tension, while secretly trying to peek inside Aisha's skirt.

"If you want to peek inside my skirt then you can do it as much as you want, after we return to our room, you know right?" Aisha ask confusedly she clearly did not understand Myne's motive for peeking inside her skirt, even though he can directly ask to eat her pussy if he want, it is not like she has even refused this kind of request.

"Sigh, can't you just let me play for a while? Screamly peeking inside the skirt of a girl whom you love every time you get to change is one of a man's wishes. Forget it you won't understand," Myne wanted to teach Aisha some basic knowledge about a man's thought process, but after seeing her confused face, decided to let it go and didn't bother to waste his time.

"Anyway, Lord Husband, here, hold on, let go back to our room, and you rest there properly, you might also be very hungry after training for so long, right?" Sylphy sweetly said with a smile and gave Myne a hand.

Myne took the hand Sylphy held out and somehow stood up. However, he still underestimates his tiredness, just after standing up he can't control his feet well and accidentally collapses as if pushing down Sylphy, both of them fall on the ground with Myne on top of her.

"Lord Husband, are you okay"? Sylphy without carrying about her image or awkward position, hurriedly asked concernly.

And in the reply, she got a deep kiss from Myne which surprised her greatly she didn't expect this kind of thing.

"Thank you for your concern but rather than asking me, I should be the one who asking you whether you are okay or not?" Myne after breaking the kiss asked. As for why he even kissed her first place, that was because since the opportunity itself came to embrace him, how could he let it go without taking advantage of it?

"I am okay, this kind of thing can't hurt me, I am not as fragile as you think," Sylphy replied with a cute pout.

Aisha who has veins popping up on her forehead watching Myne and Sylphy's romantic conversation in a very awkward position which can cause a lot of trouble if people saw them like that, so she hurriedly pulled Myne up from his back before he started doing something shameless with Sylphy openly.

Getting held by Aisha's hands, this time Myne was able to stand up to any accident, which made him a little disappointed.

After Myne got up from her, Sylphy with a tomato-like red face also stood up and quickly adjusted her clothes.

"Honey, please take me back to our room, today I am completely in your care," Myne gave a light kiss to Aisha as well while leaning on her shoulders.

But after only walking around 20 meters a big frown appeared on Myne's face, as saw a lot of people staring at them as if were rare animals in the zoo, which clearly wasn't a good feeling at least for Myne because Aisha and Sylphy didn't seem to care about it.

So he didn't waste time and opened a big enough portal under everyone's feet.

No one was ready for such a big action, and before anyone could react, everyone fell into the portal.

Inside the Palace, Sylphy's room...

On the top of the big bed, suddenly a portal appeared out of nowhere, and one by one everyone fell from it onto the bed like fruits from a tree during the storm.