Chapter 51: Dark Hearted Myne

Hearing the voice Myne quickly looked back and saw Aisha running towards him with a worried expression on her beautiful face, with a big longbow in her slder hand, and her long gold blonde hair dancing in the air. She gave Myne a feeling like he was a maid and Aisha was a heroic knight who come to save him at the critical momt. This feeling wasn't good at all.

Why suddly I felt a little sad in my heart instead of happy after seeing Aisha? Myne thought, and just as Aisha come near him, he op his arm widely to give her a big bear hug, without caring that at the momt he was no differt from a barbarian, who doesn't like wearing clothes, and most of the time only wear small shorts to hide their little brother from incests.

"If you are thinking that I will hug you in such a condition, th immediately throw away your this idea, and what state have you made of yourself?" Just wh Myne waits for a warm hug from his girlfrid, after getting beat and fooled by an Orc, Aisha Immediately pours cold water on his wishful thinking mercilessly, and she didn't ev forget to criticize Myne like a nice housewife.

But still, her heart wasn't as strict as her mouth, she took off her cloak and put it on him, to cover his almost naked body. Although there was some selfish reason behind it as she didn't want that other girl behind her to watch his boyfrid's naked body while drooling, no matter if she is a princess, but still she can't dy the fact that she cares about him.

"At least you can say some nice words if you don't want to give a hug, Sigh, such a poor soul am I," Myne said sadly while shaking his head.

"Huh, Dream On, you are still young if think that with this level of acting you can get my sympathy, also what is the matter with that Orc? I never saw a fleeing Orc, don't these guys always attack mindlessly after seeing other species?" Aisha asked frowningly while using her healing skill on Myne to heal his injuries, but she didn't remove her sight from Ormanulunus, not ev for a single second.

"Hahaha, Don't worry about my acting level, it is already topnotch, it's just you are too smart, so it isn't working against you, as for the Orc, that is an Orc Priest, he is quite smart compared to other Orcs, his intelligence is same as a normal Hume, that why I am in such condition, Otherwise, I would have disposed of him long ago," Myne said calmly while flattering Aisha.

"WHAT!!! That is an Orc Priest, and you are fighting with him till now? How is this possible? You should not have stood in front of him even for 5 seconds, let alone fighting with him, and getting so few injuries," Aisha exclaimed with a shocked expression. Clearly, she didn't believe what Myne said, and there is also a reason behind her distrust.

An Orc Priest is the second most powerful Orc after the Orc King in the Orc Tribe, and In a small kingdom like the Augusta Kingdom, where normally an A-Rank Adventurer can consider quite a formidable force, this level of monster is more than enough to wipe out a town like Lucas Town single-handedly, so after hearing that her boyfriend whom she always thought weak, but cute, actually beat down such a level of monster alone, for a moment she loses her calmness.

Is she insulting me or complimenting me? And is that guy really so big deal? It seems so, Otherwise, she won't have such a big reaction. F*ck looks like I again mess up things. Damn, you my big mouth, now how should I explain to her?

should I say her that I was just kidding and that was just a normal Orc, who is running because he saw you and because of the fear that we will gang up on him and kill him? Myne thought nervously, while cold sweat started falling from his forehead.

But maybe Myne's luck was a little too good again or maybe Sylphid finally can't take Myne and Aisha's lovey dovey nonsense anymore, she spoke with an emotionless voice.

"Cough, it looks like you guys have a lot of things to tell each other, then how about if we first defeat that Orc, and after that when we return to the Town, you guys can talk with each other as much as you want? Forest is probably not a good place to let down your guard and starts an unnecessary conversation, also that too wh your emy is still alive."

Only after hearing Sylphid's voice did both couples separate from each other, Aisha's cheeks were little red because of embracemt while thinking how can she do such a low level mistake in front of Princess, why Myne as a high level shameless guy, of course, didn't care about such a little thing, but he was still little surprise, that there was someone else also come with Aisha, and although after hearing her voice Myne known that she was a young girl a the same age as Aisha, but other than that because her tire body from head to toe was covered in clothes, and the only thing he manages to discover about her is that her boobies were no match compare to Aisha, as for how he knows about it?

Simple because ev though her body was covered in clothes but there were no bulgy mountains on her chest, let alone mountains there wer't ev small hills.

Tsk, one more girl who doesn't have womanly charm, what a disappointmt, Myne thought disappointedly and completely ignore her, he didn't ev bother to use appraisal on her, he have more important things to do than watching some noobs status which he can't ev steal thanks to his low key policy.

Huh? Why did this guy suddly look disappointed after seeing me? Is this because I am concealing myself? Sylphid thought confusedly.

Just as Sylphid thinking about Myne's weird response toward her, Aisha took out three arrows from her back and nocked them on her bow, th she locks her target, Ormanulunas who was already 50 meters away from her, but ev after seeing such distance there is no abnormality on her face, just deep confidce.

Th Aisha took a deep breath and release all three arrows at once.

Ormanulunas who was fleeing depressed suddenly felt a deep sense of fear from his back, this is his natural instinct which he gets after fighting many life and death battles, and he has full confidence in his instinct, so after feeling that something is wrong, he without thinking immediately activates his staff's skill firewall behind himself.

And just as Firewall took shape behind him, three arrows were shot by Aisha which came also in front of him, but thanks to his quick decision, the arrow only hit the firewall and burned to ash, before they could even reach Ormanulunas.

Too close, all those arrows are aimed at my vital point, if by chance I got hit any of them, I probably lost my mobility, and with my previous injuries, they probably capture me in just a matter of minutes.

Damn, they are too dangerous, seems like I can now only escape toward the center of the forest, only that direction, I have hope of seeing the next day's sun, Ormanulunas thought and hurriedly starts running toward the center of the forest.

"Ohh, my god, that Orc actually uses magic, that means he is really a priest, and look, he's injured, otherwise, he won't run away after seeing us, quickly catch up after him, if we manage to kill him, we defiantly get a great amount of military achievement from the kingdom," Sylphid said excitedly.

"What! There is also such a thing as a military achievement after killing Orc?" Myne examined with a shocked expression, clearly didn't expect to hear such a piece of shocking information from an unknown girl who came with Aisha.

"How can there not be? Hume and Demon race is a born enemy, any demon race creature whose power is general level or above, no matter who kills him, after taking its body to the military camp of the kingdom, after verification, not only get achievement points which is useful to Rank up someone status in the kingdom but also receive a handsome reward for his bravery and contribution to mankind.

This is the way of kingdoms to attract and courage young and powerful people to fight the demon race for them," Sylphid said proudly as if it was she who set up this policy.

F*ck, bloody loss, a lot of money slip out of my hands, damn it, if only I knew about before th I never dismantled those Orc Geral bodies, and now this Orc priest also runs away from my hand. Shit, thank you father for never telling me such important information, Myne thought in his mind, while cursing his father for his incompetce.

"But I think it's too late now, The Orc Priest is already run away, and finding him in such a deep forest is defiantly not an easy task, also don't forest that he can still cast magic skills, if we blindly follow him, and he abuses us from behind th we can also fall in a dangerous situation," Aisha explained calmly while giving a meaningful glance at Sylphid, indicating to her not take unnecessary risk blindly.

Although Sylphid wanted to catch the Orc Priest, but she also knew her limit, and after getting a reminder from Aisha that currty, she is not a princess with a lot of knights a her to help, but just a normal traveler with a top level idtity, she unwillingly drops her idea of catching Ormanulunas.

But Myne who only has money and the magic staff of Ormanulunas in his mind didn't take Aisha's words seriously and quickly uses his new skill Presce Detect (Medium) to find which direction Ormanulunas run.

If he runs toward the Orc settlemt, th he doesn't have to worry about anything, he can just come here again tomorrow to take his head, and his staff, but if he runs in another way, th he can only try to persuade Aisha to cause after him, after all, there are too many things at stake, and he can't just let them run away from his hands.

This is Myne's first time using Presce Detect skill, and he doesn't know much about its features. After casting the Presce Detect skill, the area 500 meters a him appeared at an angle like a bird's eye in mind, but the visibility wasn't much clear, and It only show living creatures in the shape of dots, the more powerful the creature is the bigger the dot is.

After seeing everything a him from a differt and high angle like a bird, Myne was clearly quite surprised, but more excited since with these skills he can find his prey much more easily. But as always his happiness only lasted more than 5 seconds before he saw something which made his heart jump out from his chest.

In his Presce Detect a big light dot, 3 times bigger than his own, currty coming towards him with extremely fast speed, and behind him 5 more dots at the same level as Aisha following him, but because their speed wasn't fast as the biggest dot, they were far behind from him.

F*ck! That guy is defiantly Orc King, other than him I can't think of any other so powerful monster near this area. Now I know why that Orc priest was trying so hard to steal times, so that was his reason, and I thought that he was doing that so he can find a chance to run away. Shit!

That guy already comes so close, we have to quickly get out of here before Orc King reaches us, if not th I might be still able to run away alone but if I wanted to bring Aisha with me while escaping th that defiantly not possible, Myne thought nervously.

"Aisha! We should quickly get out of here," Myne said and after hurriedly grabbing her hand, he start running without explaining anything.

After seeing Myne's sudd change in behavior both Aisha and Sylphid are caught off guard, they both have question marks all over their head, especially on Aisha who was dragged by Myne without her permission, although she and Myne just rectly become BF and GF, and they don't have that type of super strong bond like old couples but ev still what she finds about Myne from many interactions, is that he is definitely not a guy who does anything recklessly without any reason, and most of the time remains in a happy mood, so now seeing him so nervous, one thing is certain for her that he suddly know something which they don't.

"Myne can you explain to us why are in so a hurry, is there any kind of danger a us?" Aisha asked calmly but she didn't try to resist and let Myne drag her like a child.

"We don't have that much time, If we don't get out of here quickly, we'll all be in someone's else stomach after a while, so put the brakes on your mouth and move your feet quickly."

Hearing Myne's serious voice, Aisha finally give up, and apologizing looked back toward Sylphid, wanted to say something to her, so she won't take Myne's reckless behavior on her heart, but just as she turned her head, she saw a hazy shadow of someone who was coming toward them with extremely fast speed.

At first, Aisha didn't recognize, it because of the distance, but wh that shadow, suddly vanished from its place, and appear just 30 meters away from them like a ghost, th she saw it clearly, and for a momt she wishes she had never se him.

That shadow was a 4-meter big gre muscular Orc, with long black hair, red eyes, and one big tooth while the other one is seem brok by someone, but its remaining part was still visible, wearing a leather skirt on his waist, other than that his tire body was naked, showing everyone his power of youth.

He has a crown on his head, made of various bones of differt creatures, and on top of it, a gre color ruby was strung on it. In his right hand, he was holding a giant black color iron axe.

"Roarrrrr..."

Sylphid who was still hesitating and just slowly following Myne and Aisha with a dissatisfied expression, after hearing the Orc King's voice just behind herself, nearly got a heart attack, she quickly raises her running speed but how can she run faster than an Orc King?

Soon the Orc King caught her, and already come near her, a little bit more and her chance of dying under the Orc King's axe is the same as the sun rising from the west literally impossible, unless there is a miracle happed.

"Myne! Release my hand Sylphid is in danger, we need to help her, otherwise, Orc King would kill her," Aisha exclaimed while trying to break free her hand from Myne's iron grip.

But Myne didn't give a f*ck about her request, and without ev looking at her, he hurriedly replied, "That not going to happ, ev if I release you, you can't do anything in this situation, don't overestimate yourself. We both know that we are nothing in front of the Orc king, other than making him angry and inviting our death sooner, what can we do?"

Don't forget I also remind her that we should quickly get out here, but obviously, she didn't want to list to me, so now let her suffer, while the Orc King deals with her we can just run away, this is a god giv opportunity, so don't let it go."

"Myne! How can you say something like that..." Aisha again exclaimed with her mouth wide op from shock, clearly, she didn't expect that Myne would be so shameless that he would abandon someone in order to save his and her life.

"Otherwise, what should I say? You wait here and I go, and save her, whose I never ev saw face? Don't you think this is too much, her life has nothing to do with me, but your life has and for some stranger, I am not going to put my and your life in danger, ev if you later break up with me, got it? Now shut up and follow me, Myne said coldly.

"But...She is prin..."

*Boom...

Just as Aisha was finally a bit little convince by Myne's OP speech, and wanted to reveal Sylphid's Idtity as her final trump card in front of Myne, behind them all of a sudd the situation takes a completely differt turn.
