

Cheat. A 55

Chapter 55: Life Changing Cave!

"Where is Ha?" Hamir asked the newbie after seeing him coming out from the cave alone.

"She is inside, and she said that she wants to stay alone there, and I don't need to accompany her, so she kick me out."

"What! Ha said such a thing to you? Wh did your girlfrid become so brave?" Luka asked Hamir with a frown.

"Let's go in, I think there is defiantly something wrong going on in Ha's mind, otherwise, she won't dare to go into an unknown cave alone," Hamir said and hurriedly walked into the cave.

Luka also sighs helplessly and after picking up his sword from the g, he also walks into the cave with Hamir side by side. As for the Newbie, he only ter the cave after Hamir and Luka already walked 0 meters ahead of him.

This is what Hamir has told him to do, so if there was any surprise attack, th he can hide in a safe place, as while fighting saving someone else is a little difficult for them, and most emies always attack weak members of the team first.

"Do you want more meat?" Myne asked suddly catching June who was listing story very focusedly off guard.

"What!"

"Do you want more meat? Your plate is already empty," Myne said while wiping his mouth.

"No, I don't need anything, quickly tell me what happened after that," June asked impatiently.

Hohoho, seem like someone is enjoying my story very much," Myne said with a knowing smile on his face.

"Yes, I really like your story, it is better than those in my books, now stop your chit-chat and tell me what happened next," June said with a frown on her face.

"Well, when Hamir and his team members entered the cave, even after walking 10 meters ahead they don't find Ha, which surprises Hamir the most as he knows very well just how cowardly his girlfriend is and it's not for the sake of her healing skill, and his little brother, he would have never taken her in the team."

"Luka, be alert I think Ha is in danger, otherwise, there is no way, she could run deep into an unknown cave by herself," Hamir reminds Luka while holding his weapon nervously.

"I know, sigh, I have told you many times that you should kick out this woman from the team, but only god knows what kind of black magic she did on you, you stick to her like glue all day long," Luka said helplessly.

"Can you now shut up for some minutes? And stay focused, otherwise, if something attacks you stealthily, believe me, I am not going to help..."

Hamir talking a little angrily, but halfway through he stopped as he finally saw Ha.

Ha was standing at the end of the cave while facing a wall, her back toward Hamir and his team, because of it they can't see her face, but they know in their heart that there is defiantly something wrong with her, especially after seeing a small man-made tunnel at the end of the cave.

But what surprised them most is that the tunnel traces and all walls on which the tunnel was built actually made of metal, and there are thousands of unknown symbols written on it, and after seeing it even an idiot can say that this is not a place where they should come.

"Hamir, my best friend, at least one time in life, believe me, and just forget about this woman, and let's run away from here.

I don't have a very good vibe from that tunnel, and your cowardly girlfriend standing there while staring at the wall like a statue, I think once she saw us, there is undoubtedly something bad going to happen," Luka said nervously the matter of fact, which most of horror movie protagonists always ignore.

"Shut the hell up, do you forget my motto? Till there is even a little bit of chance we are not going to abandon any of our team members, do you hear it clearly, now stop behaving like a child, and prepare for battle," Hamir said while slowly walking toward Ha.

But unlike Luka who was forced by the power of friendship, and no matter how unwilling he was, still decide to follow Hamir, Newbie doesn't have this kind of thought, the moment he saw Ha and that weird tunnel, he immediately stops his steps, and start retreating, every time Hamir and Luka took a step forward, he took two steps backward, while continuously increasing his speed.

Till Hamir and Luka come behind Ha, he was already 50+ meters away from them.

"Ha!"

Hamir spoke nervously while putting his left hand on her shoulder.

...

As Hamir did that, suddly there are dead silce spread all over the cave.

"Hamir, dear, is that you?" Suddly Ha broke the suffocating silce and spoke with a very gtle voice.

"Yes, it was me, but what the f*ck are you doing here? Do you lose your mind? Don't know how dangerous it can be to wondering alone in this kind of cave? Now quickly follow me, we are going back," Hamir said quickly as with every passing second he felt more fear, and his heart also beating very fastly as if indicating him to run away from this place as soon as possible.

After saying that Hamir and Luka hurriedly turn a and start walking the way they come, but suddly stop wh they heard Ha's next words.

"Going back? Where? Ar't we already at home?"

Till she finished her stce, Ha's voice becomes so weird that Hamir and Luka hardly understand it, because although only Ha spoke, but it sounded like 0 or so people are speaking together, and a mixer of their voices produces a very chaotic sound.

After saying that Ha turns a toward them. And wh Hamir, Luka, and that Newbie who was now reached 300 meters away from them but still manage to get a chance to see a glimpse of Ha's face, the only word that come to their mind is 'Run'.

Because Ha's appearance becomes extremely horrific, as her tire face has weird stretching marks, like someone wanted to peel her skin out from her face, her jaw was slit up to her ears, and blood is guessing out from all over her face, but still, there is a smile on her face like she doesn't feel any kind of pain but instead she was feeling an extreme level of pleasure.

Starring towards Hamir and Luka she was continuously eating gold coins, which she was taking out from the tunnel, because of eating gold coins too much her stomach swelled up so much as if she was pregnant with 9 month old child, only god knew just how many gold coins she has swallows.

"I told you to forget about this trouble, but you never list to me, always just saying your righteous nonsse, now we got into so much trouble are you happy?" Luka doesn't forget to taunt Hamir with a forced smile, while trying to control his shaking legs, but no matter what he does, they don't list to him.

"If you have so much ergy to talk, th why not use it and run faster, you idiot," Hamir said and after grabbing Luka's hand he start running away.

But to their surprise, wh they thought that ghostly Ha would catch them, they found that not only Ha didn't move from her place at all, still eating gold coins happily but she ev wave her hand toward them as if she were saying goodbye.

"Sigh, It seems like because of her big stomach she can't walk, we are safe," Luka who can barely control his tumbling leg said after seeing no one catching them.

"I don't think this is really so easy, I have a bad feeling about it, hurry up, we have to get the hell out of here!" Hamir exclaimed fearfully while looking at his back once in a while.

"Yes, you are right, but did you notice one thing, the time Ha was eating gold coins, what do you think, where did she get so many gold coins?" Luka asked after making some distance from scary Ha.

"I don't know, maybe from that tunnel?" Hamir spoke hesitantly, clearly after hearing about money his fear also reduced a lot. Really Greed is such a wonderful thing, it can make even the smartest man an idiot, who will forget all his reasoning and fear.

Just when Luka wanted to one more question, he suddenly saw light in a small hole in the corner.

"Look there is something," Luka who just saw a lot of gold coins with Ha said hurriedly and after releasing his hand from Hamir's grip, walked toward the hole from where the light was coming, without caring that he was still running away from a dangerous city.

"What are you doing you bastard, do you want to die, hurry up, escape from this f*cking cave," Hamir cursed Luka. But Luka as if he was deaf, didn't listen to Hamir, and after kneeling down in front of the hole, he put his hand in it, and with a little bit of force, took out a big bag size of one year old child.

After which he and Hamir ran at their fastest speed within some minutes, they came out from the cave successfully.

"Haa, finally came out, thank god, that scary thing didn't attack us," Hamir said while panting heavily, but still a smile was clearly visible on his face which showed how happy he was after experiencing a near death experience.

"Yes, you're right, but now let's see what's in this beg," Luka said and quickly opened the beg.

"Ohh shit!" Luka exclaimed excitedly, nearly scaring Hamir to death.

"What happened? Did Ha come out of the cave?" Hamir asked fearfully while hurriedly looking at the cave, but other than the darkness he saw nothing.

"Look at it, we become rich! Hamir, finally we don't have to risk our life anymore, and finally, now we can live our life like we always dreamed of." Luka said excitedly while showing a handful of Platinum coins to Hamir, then he opened the bed mouth widely and showed Hamir, the tired bed was filled with Platinum coins.

"Ooh F*ck, how can this be!" Hamir exclaimed with joy and took out a handful of coins from the beg, and only after feeling the cold touch of coins, did he believe that what he is looking at is not his illusion but real money.

"We are rich, Hamir let's get out of this scary place, and enjoy our life," Luka said.

"Yes, but where is that newbie? Didn't he the first one to run out of the cave?" Hamir asked with a frown.

"Who cares where is that coward, maybe he thought that we are dead so he ran away with our items, look at you, he even didn't spare those traps we set before," Luka said disdainfully, while walking toward the nearest town.

"Sigh, maybe you are right," Hamir said and started following Luka.

After that, Luka and Hamir, return to the nearby town, without any delay they booked a carriage, and headed toward the capital city immediately, in fear that someone stole their money. They reach their destination in the late evening and spend their night in the most luxurious hotel in the tire Capital City.

The next day Hamir and Luka divide the tire money they found in the cave between each other and went their own way. Hamir as he always dreamt bought a high-end restaurant in the middle of the capital city.

His business works very well, and he soon becomes a good businessman, whom everyone loves and respects, and one day he accidentally meets an extremely beautiful lady, and they both fall in love with each other, get married, have a lot of children, and live a happy life.

As for Luka, unlike Hamir who wants a happy family and good status, he always wanted to live like a noble and wanted to enjoy his life to the fullest, so he bought a big mansion in the most popular location in the capital city without any problem, then he bought 10 female slaves of different colors and shapes, which not only take care of his mansion but also fulfilled his dirty wishes.

Later he also opens a slave business which also works very well, and at the peak of his business, he also caught many different non-Hume females for his enjoyment. Like this that cave which they thought a ghostly place changed their life completely.

But is it what it seems?...