

Cheat. A 60

Chapter 60: How about we create a Clan?

After some momts of kissing wh Myne and Aisha start to heat up, Sylphid who couldn't take it anymore, interrupts them again, after all, she is a 9-year-old virgin who has ev kissed someone till now, how could she take this kind of emotional torture?

"Cough, can you guys stop this public show of love? You can do this later as much as you want, right?"

Only after hearing Sylphid's voice, did Aisha come back to her sse and she hurriedly push Myne away, and lowered her red face shyly ough to bury it in her big breasts, while mumbling something which this time Myne heard very clearly.

"Pervert! Shameless!"

"So, Aisha about forming a party with Myne, what do you plan to do with the guild? You can't join an unauthorized advturer group while being a receptionist, you know right? Also, I heard that you are joying your job very much there, are sure you wanted to want to quit your this job?" Sylphid asked sincerely, at least this is what she show on her face. But anyone can see jealousy in her eyes.

"Ah, thank you for your concern princess, but you don't worry about that, although the receptionist job is quite nice, but the wage is not that high, and I believe that what I earn while sitting all day long on a chair, I can earn that amount of money in 7 days from any kind of advturer mission or hunting," Aisha causally said clearly not took her old boring job seriously.

Anyway, she has long since known that no one in the guild really liked her, most people were afraid of her, and there were only one or two people to whom she actually talks, and others were just strangers to her.

So cool, that's my girl, as expected from Aisha directly kicking that old bastard job without any hesitation, I am really proud of her, Myne thought happily, while giving Aisha a thumbs up for her heart-touching dialogue.

"Okay, I understand what you want to say, Aisha. Well since you already made up your mind, th I also have a proposal. A proposal that might be able to solve Myne and your problem of unemployment, Sylphid said while crossing her arm on her flat chest.

Now, what a diabolical plan is brewing in the princess's mind? -_-!!! Myne thought he is having a bad feeling about it.

"But before coming to this topic I want to ask something. After seeing you and Aisha it's clear that both of you love each other, th what did you think about my marriage proposal?

Also let me tell you something that if you marry a woman from the royal family, th polygamy is allowed but if you wanted to marry a commoner who doesn't have any status, th you need the King's approval before doing that, as it becomes royal family's personal matter. After all, no one wants to that their son-in-law has a lot of wives right?"

"Ohh, and one more thing, I don't have the right to succeed on the throne. So you don't have to worry that people will come to trouble you in the future, but there is a small problem you are also not going to be able to become a real member of the royal family if you marry me.

You will be treated as a distant relative to the royal family and will only get a mention, and title of noble, but not the land or any other rights that a real Noble should have. And if you want those rights then you have to show your value in front of the king.

But not getting any real benefits for free also have its own advantage that there are no restrictions, rules, or task that can restrict your freedom, you can do whatever you want, and the kingdom can't force you to do anything.

Like every other official Noble family who has to give a lot of taxes every month, as well as other kinds of services for the development of the kingdom, "Sylphid said with a smile.

Well then since other than a house and a flat-chest wife, I am not getting any worth mentioning thing then why someone wanted to marry her?

If there is also a chance that all family members of the royal family dead (accidentally), and he can become the new king, then there is still a lot of room to think about it, but if not then, just forget about it, Myne thought with a sigh, but like always no matter how much you plan everything, there is always a loophole in it, and which took shape of a big 'But', and in Myne case that 'But' is Sylphid know too much about his skills and currently he has no way to deal with her, if he rejects her now, and later in anger if she opens her mouth in front of her family, then he has no doubt that, with most of Royals and Nobles characters before tomorrow morning he will defiantly facing her father the King, for a friendly chat.

Sign, it seems like I can only agree with her request anyway what's the worst that can happen? At most her boobs will be smaller than I currently imagine? Well, now I think about it, in reality, I have not seen her boobs since most of the time her body was covered under her robe, they won't be smaller than B-Cup size, right?

Myne thought but then put away this thought and looked toward Aisha for her choice, but only saw her nodding her head.

"Okay miss princess, I am willing to marry you, but I have two conditions, first no matter who you are, or what other people think, but Aisha will be always my first wife, and second is that you are not going to mention anything about my skills to anyone, not even to me from now on.

If you have no problem with my both conditions my answer is clear," Myne said seriously, and after saying that he looked at Sylphid without blinking.

"Well, to tell you the truth, as a princess, according to the rules of the kingdom, I will be your first and main wife and a commoner like Aisha can only be your concubine or second wife, but since you wanted her to be your first wife, that's okay, but in front of my family and other people, can you guys pretend that I am your first wife, it is really important," Sylphid requested while making puppy-like eyes.

Hearing Sylphid's requests Myne hesitated for a while, then he looked at Aisha, who just helplessly nodded her head. Myne still doesn't understand why Aisha is so partial toward Sylphid, compared to her personality when he meets her first time, it looks as if she was a completely different person.

"Okay, we have no problem with this," Myne said after thinking for a while.

That's great, so for now, I will return to the capital city, and after meeting my father, I report about my marriage with you... Are you all right up until here?"

Myne nodded without saying anything, anyway even if he wanted, what can he say? This is a simple price he has to pay for having special skills, but anyway, this price is not that bad, and a little bit beautiful as well, it's just her personality is not his type.

"Wait a minute, what are you going to talk to your father? Th if he asks what is so special about me that you wanted to marry me, th what would you say?" Myne suddly thought of a problem and ask suspiciously.

"Don't worry about it, currtly, my father is very worried about my marriage, as some nobles are continuously giving him a lot of pressure, but there are already too many foreign nobles from other kingdoms trying to make their place in the kingdom for some reason, and my father didn't want to marry me with any of those bastards.

So wh I would say to him that I found a good guy for myself who have ough strgth to fight ev with an Orc, he will definitely agree with my request."

"Also, seeing your face I know what you wanted to say, don't worry, I won't say anything about what happed with the Orc king, I just made a story that sounds reliable. Believe me, nothing can go wrong, I am an expert in this field," Sylphid said while making an Okay gesture.

"I hope so," Myne said doubtfully clearly not fully convinced by Sylphid's reasoning.

"Anyway, now let me tell you my second proposal, it is about your newly created party. For now, let me join your party as well, if only, you guys don't have any problem," Sylphid said.

"Since you already decide to become my family member th why are you asking such an obvious question," Myne replay helplessly.

Yes, I also thought so, but still, as an honest wife, it is my duty to take my husband's permission before doing anything," Sylphid said but Myne and Aisha only roll their eyes after hearing that.

"So what I am saying is, ohh yes, since now we are already three people in the party th how about I apply to create a 'Clan'?"