

Cheat. A 61

Chapter 61: The Clan

"So what I am saying is, ohh yes, since now we are already three people in the party th how about I apply to create a 'Clan'?" Sylphid asked with a smile.

Eh? Now what the hell she means by creating a clan? I never about anything regarding the clan, Myne thought but before he could say something he heard Aisha's voice.

"Princess... Isn't that impossible? I don't think Your Majesty would accept a request of a three-person clan, something like this never happ before," Aisha said hurriedly in confusion.

"Normally, that's true, however," after talking till here Sylphid pause for a bit and looked at me before saying with a smile, "But wh a request comes from his beloved daughter, th everything works.

Also, getting permission for creating a clan is not as difficult as think, it just every kingdom can only create a specific number of the clan, so it won't become a mess later, and looking at Myne's face I think first we need to tell him what is a clan, as it doesn't seem like he knows anything about it," Sylphid said and briefly describe what is a can and how it is work.

In summary, Clans are something like this...

* It's a private managemt organization like the Guild (Battle, Commerce, Alchemy, etc.), but on a bigger scale, they have more resources and better m power than a guild, their respect in the kingdom is also quite high, and they are rich as f*ck.

* To establish a Clan, there needs to be approval from the King. It is judged by The King whether it is beneficial to the kingdom to create a new Clan, or not. Because The King is quite stingy regarding this matter, there's hardly a chance of it being approved in normal cases.

* Although a Clan works in the rules of that kingdom, but it is a completely independent organization, unlike the guild which has many restrictions from the kingdom. Clan members can refuse requests, and orders, from anyone if they deemed it unnecessary, there is no such thing as a mandatory mission like those in the guild.

* In contrast with the guild whose jurisdiction extends to many kingdoms in many sub-branches which makes it a little weak, Clans have their own specific area in a particular Kingdom.

Put simply, the clan is a small but better version of the guild, which can do anything in the kingdom, the clan will get exclusive and highest priority mission with the most generous reward from the kingdom, and within the kingdom, the clan leader's authority is same as that of highest level noble.

If someone dares to mess with the clan, then the clan has the right to ask for justice from The King himself. But the clan can only recognize within their specific kingdom and have no privileges, rights, or any kind of special treatment in other kingdoms.

Well, this flat-chested princess proposal is quite good by the way, if this clan thing is really as awesome as she describes then I can probably make a lot of profit from it, it's been a lot of days and I haven't used my stealing hand skill, and because of it I always felt like something is missing, Myne thought while thinking about his upcoming beautiful future, where he can rob...

I mean borrow those rich and powerful people's storage pouches without them knowing. Ahh, nothing can be more pleasurable than searching for treasure in other people's storage pouches, filled with all kinds of wonder.

"If this clan thing is really as use powerful as you are saying th we shouldn't ignore it, Princess you should definitely request about creating a small-scale clan to Your Majesty," Myne said while couraging Sylphid with a smile.

"Well don't worry it was not much of a big deal to get permission of creating a clan from my father," Sylphid said relaxingly.

"If the establishmt of the Clan is accepted, th many of our problems will be solved," Aisha said while nodding her head.

"Miss Princess, do you really want to marry me? Honestly, I think that there are many people who have high status, more power, and maybe not as handsome as me but still have acceptable looks, they would be defiantly more subtle for you than me," Myne said finally making his last move which he knows have no chance of success.

Just as Myne finished speaking Sylphid replied In a flash, as if she know that he is going to say something like that.

"Yes, I have no objections. And just as you said ev though you are not perfect and have a lot of flaws, but believe me in today's time finding a handsome and well-behaved man is more difficult than searching a gold mine, and I am not going to marry you for status or power, I am doing it for freedom, and a happy life," Sylphid said and this time Myne finally saw some sincerity in her eyes.

Aisha in the backg after hearing Sylphid talk, nodded her head in approval, seem like her past experice with m wasn't much prest.

"Well thank you for the complimt, by the way, I really didn't expect that you guys have such a big image of me in your mind," Myne said awkwardly while rubbing the back of his head, and thinking that if they both know about his affair with Big Sis Maya, and June, what kind of reaction they would have. He doesn't about Sylphid but Aisha would defiantly beat him to death.

"I understand, since both of you have no objections, then let's get married. Please take care of me, I am now in your soft hands," Myne said jokingly.

"Don't worry, you are in safe hands," Both Aisha and Sylphid spoke concurrently with a very beautiful smile, giving Myne a very bad feeling but now the arrow is already fired from the bow and it is too late to take his step back.

"Now then, with this, I and Aisha can consider gaging with you, just need some formality before it becomes official.

Also from now on you guys don't have to call me Princess anymore, you can just call me by my name, you might not know but other than my family member I rarely heard my own name, sometimes I felt like my name is Princess instead of Sylphid," Sylphid said while giggling but only she felt this joke funny, as Myne and Aisha who were thinking logically didn't think so, after all which person with his right mind would dare to mess with the princess while calling her from her name, doesn't it is same as asking her to send him in hell?

"Hmm, Okay if you say so..." Aisha said with a light smile while trying to not make Sylphid embarrassed that her talk in humor is so bad that it can make people want to beat her.

Maybe she really has something wrong with her mind, Myne thought but the smile on his face never left not even for a second.

While Myne and Aisha were thinking on their own, Sylphid continuously staring at them excitedly with a smile. Like how a child looks at his father who promises to give him a gift after he comes back, and when he returns from his work, he was waiting for him at the door, with eyes filled with excitement.

"Sigh, Sylphid!" Myne and Aisha said together helplessly, clearly they both felt like the upcoming future is no longer peaceful.

"Nice, although you guys just call me by my name but I feel that our relationship becoming is getting closer with every passing second," Sylphid said confidently.

"That's certainly, I feel that we're already much closer than before, and now you are looking cuter than before," Myne said and started doing what a wise boyfriend should do, and that is, always compliment you, girl, no matter what she says, this is only a god-level weapon which can make someone's life happy, he learned about this from his father.

As Myne said that a rare blush appeared on Sylphid's cheeks, it seems like she didn't have much experience in this kind of flirting. I already expected this, after all, she is a princess, who dares to flirt with her?

Hearing our conversation, Aisha could only roll her eyes.

"Myne, since you accept my marriage proposal, then according to tradition from now on I will call Lord Husband, this is what my mother told me," Sylphid said with an innocent face. But Myne can clearly see her evil smile which she is trying to hide.

...

After talking and joking with each other, Myne, and Aisha have a much better understanding of Sylphid and her character, she is just an innocent girl who wanted to prove herself in front of her father, so she is training very hard from her childhood, and because of this she never did anything that children should do, and after meeting with Aisha and Myne she finally started showing her carefree side, which she can't do because of her status.

"Lord Husband, now I will have to temporarily return to the Capital City to do the remaining work, and also I need a little of your help," Sylphid said while giving Myne a wink.

"Sigh, could you please stop calling me that, it really felt quite awkward, and what kind of help do you need?" Myne asked helplessly.

"Sorry, my mother said that a good wife should never call her husband by his name, as it is ominous, so I am not going to stop calling you Lord Husband and I heard that you have killed many Orcs in the last few days, so can you give them to me, so I can show them to my father as a proof, this will make easy for him to believe in my words," Sylphid spoke.

"Ohh, Sure, here, in this storage pouch bodies of two Orcs whom I kill, in the last few days, you can take them," Myne said with a smile, while giving Sylphid his old storage pouch in which he already transfers two random Orcs bodies.

Although he agrees to marry with Sylphid, but that wasn't entirely his wish, there are many factors mixed into it, that he can't overlook, so for some time, he has no desire to open up completely in front of Sylphid, as he always says stay low key, and you live longer and peacefully.

"Now with this things would be a little easy for me. Well then, I think it's time for me to head back to the Capital City. I'll return in about days, but... when I come back, we'll talk the matters regarding our future, okay? Also, Aisha, I'll be leaving Lord Husband to your care, please take care of them," Sylphid said while smiling towards me and giving me thumbs up.

"Yes, please leave him to me, I will take care of him, very carefully," Aisha said with a smile while waving her hand, and saying goodbye to Sylphid.

In this way, the mastermind behind all Myne future trouble with a big satisfied smile returned to the capital, leaving a big headache behind for Myne and Aisha.