

Cheat. A 76

Chapter 76: Why is everyone Ignoring me? (Shyphid POV, Part 2)

"I'll never accept this! As if I'll let my cute little sister become a bride!"

At least read the mood, you damn Siscon! Although I am shocked by Big Brother's unable to read the mood, I calmly started talking. Goodness, if only he didn't have his problem of being overprotective, he'd be an excellent big brother whom I can respect...

"Aniue, my marriage is my duty as a part of royalty and before long, Aniue will also have to decide on a partner, no? Won't you celebrate your younger sister's big moment? Don't you want to see me happy?"

As expected, with me putting it this way, even Big Brother cannot help but re-think his next words.

"Certainly, if you put it that way, I can't say anything as the First Prince. However, I am worried! Worried about my cute little sister marrying a man I have never seen before! Sylphy, you are a girl. Even if you are called a Princess Gerald Or Princess Knight, you are still a sweet little girl!

Even if it's you, you can't defend yourself against all the malice, can you? If that time comes, who will protect you? If it's after your marriage, it's that man who will become your partner, right? Can he really protect you? I doubt that."

It's not like I don't understand Aniue's fears. From now on, something might appear which hurt me when I leave the capital. It's indeed a question of whether I can absolutely oppose it.

"I can certainly understand what you are trying to say, Big Brother. However, you've seen it, haven't you? Those Orc corpses are still in front of you? He has the power to kill Orcs and compare to those pig head sons of nobles, he is a lot better. He'll surely protect me from any malice! And he already had protected me from the Orc King once."

"Is that really true? A young man who just came of age, no, you can even call him a boy. He's probably immature when it comes to battles and physical ability, no? And above all else, he's probably overwhelmingly lacking in life experience. Those who bear a grudge against the royal family won't attack with just military power, you know?"

"When they hold your weaknesses and attack, can that boy truly protect you!?"

I couldn't say anything. Lord Husband is certainly strong, no doubt about that. However, I think what Aniue pointed out is perfectly possible. This is where Lewis started mediating. Thank you, it's really good timing to cool Aniue down.

"Lewis, what are you talking about? Your elder sister's marrying off, you heard! And that to such an inexperienced person!"

While Lewis feebly shook his head, he breathed a magnificent sigh. He probably gave in, huh.

"Well, it's not like I haven't thought of anything. But you also know that she'll have to marry sooner or later. Big Sis also seems to be interested in this person, so isn't that fine? About him being young, this also reflects the possibility that he can grow, as for being inexperienced, as a commoner isn't it normal?"

How many commoner families do you think can afford proper teachers for their children who can train them? I think it's way better than marrying Big Sister off to some perverted old geezer, though."

Listening to Lewis' words, Aniue was probably thinking something as he suddenly went quiet. Especially the last old geezer thing, he probably has imagined something as his expression suddenly became very ugly.

When Brother and Lewis' exchange ended, Father started participating in the conversation.

"Haha, that's true, it's as Lewis said. Being young isn't a bad thing. It's up to the person himself, but if he's willing, the faults Art pointed out will gradually disappear, won't it? If you are willing, won't it be okay for you to temper that boy? There's not much of a difference from coaching the knights, or coaching a young boy is there?"

Aniue let out a 'hmph' and didn't show much dissatisfaction, and even if he wanted to be he still can't do that both Father and Lewis are on Lord Husband's side.

"Either way, it's necessary for the marriage to be in a shrine. If you are going to marry, then the marriage ceremony must be grand, right? It'll be sufficient for us to probe that boy then"

Marriage ceremony, huh... It's certainly impossible to not perform one. Will Lord Husband be okay with it? I wonder if he'll start complaining about it. Ah, this can't do. The real issue still hasn't been completed.

Since Father and Brother's responses were according to expectations, I completely forgot about the clan matter.

"Well, I have a request concerning that matter I would like Father... or rather, His Majesty The King to consider"

"Hmm? As the king, huh... I can't guess what it is, just say it."

"The boy who will become my partner and me, and also Aisha, the Sacred Bow, a retired adventurer, want to start a Clan and seek your approval."

The moment I said Clan, Lewis got into it more than Father. Well, that's understandable. Since Lewis himself is a Clan Master.

"Oh, Big Sis wants to start a Clan, huh... Why so suddenly?"

"It's because I will be in Lucas Town from now on, so I won't be able to perform my duties as a knight. If it's as a Clan, I can contribute to the country, no? Though it's also for protecting Lord Husband..."

"Oh, 'Husband', huh"

Father and Lewis looked at me with a smile that doesn't look like a smile as if they discovered something interesting.

Dammit, my tongue slipped. I accidentally let it slip.

"Oh, when all is said and done, nothing's better than getting along. I was surprised to hear something like 'Husband' coming out of your mouth, my sweet daughter."

"Lord Husband, huh~, so Big Sis calls him that huh!"

After that, although the Clan's establishmt was easily approved after accepting ~3 questions, Father and Lewis continued to severely tease me. Although I was tired from the persuasion as expected, what's with the exhaustion from something completely unexpected?

....

Now what should we do with Orc King we get from Lucas Town?" Father asked after seeing two orc bodies in his office.

"Father, why don't you let my Clan buy it? Also since it is all thanks to Big Sis And his Husband that I get such a nice thing, I am also willing to give them a big wedding gift for their help."

I was surprised after hearing Lewis going to give the Orc King's befit to me, and Lord Husband, ev though we just provide information. And didn't do anything with mtioning. I look at Father who just waves his hand casually like saying 'Do whatever you want' and sits down on his chair and starts reading documts.

Since Father didn't mind, and Lewis, the richest person with personal money in the family wanted to give me such a nice gift th as a Big Sister, It was natural to take his goodwill, right?

"Oh, how much will you give?"

"Let me see. How about 50 platinum coins?"

F*ck, I know it, this guy really super rich, just for providing the information he giving such a big gift? I wonder just how much he manages to earn in a month, someday I have to resolve this mystery.

"Well, this is reasonable, it's a deal th. By the way, I won't going to count it as a wedding gift, this amount is not ough for considering a wedding gift."

"Well, th how about 00 platinum coins? This should be ough for that, right?"

Hmm, now this is called a wedding gift.

"Understood, that will be ough. You are really the best Lewis," I said and give Lewis a sweet hug, which he deserve after emptying his pocket.

Why do I feel like I was abandoned by everyone? Aniue thought after seeing that everyone is laughing and talking while ignoring him as if he didn't exist.