

Cheat. A 82

Chapter 82: Super Pebbles

After coming back to the Inn, first Myne paid for two more nights. Then he and Aisha eat a luxurious dinner and hurriedly come back to their room.

Myne just closes the door, when Aisha directly jumps on him like a hungry tigress and starts kissing him very passionately. While kissing both of them help each other to remove their clothes, and after being naked both of them throw themselves on the bed.

Aisha's pussy was already very wet, and Myne didn't have done anything to make her mood, he hurriedly put the tip of his little brother on her pussy, and with his all strength, he pushes it deep inside Aisha's vagina directly kissing her G spot.

Ahhh.., *Moan...

...

Aisha and Myne made love all night until both of them finally get so tired that they can't hold it anymore and fall asleep while hugging each other with smiles on their face.

The next morning after waking up, first they did some exercise on the bed, a little bit in the bathtub as well and then get ready and went straight to their destination, the dungeon.

After 30 minutes of walking Myne and Aisha finally arrived at the dungeon's entrance which was no different than a normal cave entrance.

If not for the fact there is a knight in silver armour sitting in front of it working as a receptionist, and many people wearing adventurer-type outfits with different kinds of weapons in their hands were coming in and out, for a second Myne even thought that he come to the wrong place.

"Good Morning! Can we enter the dungeon?" Aisha asked with a smile.

Hearing Aisha's voice, The knight first give Aisha and Myne a quick glance with a poker face, then he took out two pieces of paper and handed both of them each while saying, "Please fill in your name and place of residence."

On this paper, the time of exit seems to also be recorded. Probably In the case where an accident happens inside and someone cannot return, by checking this paper, it seems that they can check if someone hasn't returned or maybe never going to return.

As Aisha and Myne filled out their forms and give them back, the knight handed them metal plates in return. It seems like a token or entry ticket to the dungeon.

After finishing the legal process and asking for quick information about the interior, both finally started challenging the Dungeon of Strength.

#Dungeon of Strength: First Floor.

"Oh, I thought it would have a gloomier feel since it's called a dungeon filled with darkness, weird and unbreathable smell, with the sound of people crying and begging for mercy but seems like I was thinking too much," Myne said while looking at the interior of the dungeon entrance which looks just like a normal cave.

"Huh? Did you read too many novels or something? How can the naturally formed dungeon be so vicious and scary? They are not the prison of our Hume," Aisha said with a frown. Clearly didn't expect that Myne has such a creepy image of dungeons in his mind.

At first, Myne thought that they might need touch or a magic lantern to illuminate the way, but as they walk a little deeper, the walls themselves starts emitting a subtle glow reminiscent of a firefly's light which made everything very bright, making Myne very surprised. Thanks to that, the inside of the dungeon is quite dazzling.

Seeing Myne's surprise Aisha chuckled and spoke while hugging his arm between her big boobs, which become a little bigger than before thanks to Myne's hard work of the previous two days, "You can only see this kind of beautiful bright walls in the Dungeon of Strength, other dungeons need the item for illumination, otherwise, you can only wonder in darkness like a ghost."

As they advanced while Myne listened to Aisha's lecture on basic knowledge about dungeons, suddenly they discover a group of little monsters in front of them.

[Name: Power • Slime

LV: 6

Race: Slime (Power Family)

Gender: None

[Skill]

Power (Passive)

[Ability]

None]

[Name: Heat • Slime

LV: 7

Race: Slime (Fire Family)

Gender: None

[Skill]

Heat (Passive)

[Ability]

None]

Huh? Passive skills? Doesn't it mean that those skills can always stay active without any need for power/magic energy supplies, and those are skills so anyone can use them at least I can, unlike the ability which was exclusive to that monster, Myne thought surprisedly, he never thought that he would get this kind of surprise just after entering the dungeon.

Also, those slimes are much stronger than the previous one I had killed during my guild mission. Maybe it is because of the dungeon environment which is very suitable for monsters' growth, Myne thought while looking at five jelly-like slimes in front of him.

[Power (Passive): Become slightly stronger.]

[Heat (passive): Become slightly hotter.]

Well, those skills description is really rubbish, it is the same as not giving me any information at all. at least let me know how much percentage this "Slightly" represent, Myne complains but his appraisal skill shows him nothing else. its intent is clear take it or ignore it.

Although Myne complain about the skills description, but he didn't hesitate slightly to cut those skills from poor slimes and paste them into his skill list.

After which he concentrate seriously to see what kind of improvement those skills brought him but other than feeling a little warm, and that too so little that he hardly noticed it he felt nothing, as for Power skill it didn't give him any improvement at all.

Well, I don't think those useless skills are of any use to me, Myne thought disappointedly, but then an idea came into his mind as his eyes suddenly fell on pebbles scattered about the ground. He picked up a pebble from the ground, held it in his palm, and pasted the Heat passive skill in it.

Just as he did that the pebble in his palm started heating up automatically.

F*ck! Really started heating up? Although not much hotter as it took out from the fire, but still the same hot as if I have picked it up from the ground during the hottest day of summer. With this, I think I can use those skills somewhere at least, Myne thought happily and pasted all those slime skills on the pebbles and put them in this Inventory.

During this entire process where Myne experimented with slime skills, Aisha took out her new longbow and arrows from her storage bag, and fired two arrows at the slimes.

Her arrows flew with a violent force along with a sharp wind noise, and directly hit slimes. Although slimes have soft bodies, they couldn't absorb the impact, and they died quickly.

As expected of someone who has Archery • Sacred type of high-level skill, she killed three slimes with two arrows! One of her arrows took away two slimes live at once.

"I think because of not practising for so long, my archery started rusting," Aisha spoke with a helpless smile, and with two additional shoots, she killed the remaining slimes as well.

"It is not true, you are just being humble, this level of archery is already considered perfect in military training, let's not talk among adventures," Myne said gently while cheering up Aisha, and giving her a light pat on her head.

Just as Aisha eliminated those five slimes, three more slimes come out from a corner, and while making a weird chi-chi sound, they start running or jumping toward them with an angry expressions on their face.

After taking those slime skills as well, Myne holds a pebble tightly in his palm and throws it toward a random slime with his all strength.

The pebble flew at a very fast speed and directly hit that slime, and blasting like a balloon. spreading its jelly-like substance all around it.

Seems like a pebble thrown by a level 52 person is no joke, and here I always that increasing levels is useless, and only skills matter the most, Myne thought with a smile, but when he turned around and looked at Aisha, he saw she was looking at with a shocked expression on her face.

Well, I think killing a slime with a pebble is not a common thing, at least for Aisha this doesn't seem so, Myne thought helplessly and throw two more pabbles and killed the other two slimes as well.

"Myne I didn't expect that you would be so strong, although they are just slimes, but still killing them with just pebbles is unheard of, maybe I don't need to take action along the way anymore. With your abnormal strength alone, we can defiantly clear this dungeon without any problem," Aisha said half-jokingly with a smirk on her face as if she was saying, 'I know one more of your secret.'

"Stop joking, and don't even think about being lazy, since we are the partner of life and death, then at least half of the monsters that come in our way should be dealt with by you, otherwise I have to punish you, and believe me you defiantly not wanted to experience that again," Myne said with an evil smile while slapping on Aisha's butt lightly.

"Try it if you can, if dare to tickle me like that day again, so I'll shoot an arrow in your ass hole, Aisha said with an angry expression.

"Then it would be better for both of us, to cooperate equally and complete our tasks instead of being lazy, and depending on others," Myne said and give Aisha a kiss before walking further into the cave. As for the Slime Oil dropped from the defeated slimes, Myne ignore them as they don't have any high value.

Aisha curses Myne in a low voice for being so harsh on his own wife but quickly follows him.