chapter 98

Cherished By Seven Sisters chapter 98-Playing With Fire Osmond, Thomas, Christian, and the other heads of the wealthy families informed of the inside story shivered fearfully. The Chalkers are playing with fire!

They couldn't interfere in the matters at North River District, so they could only warn their subordinates not to speak recklessly. If not, even the gods couldn't save them.

Similarly astounded were members of the Sheldon family.

Ever since Benedict's son, Kane, offended Cordelia, the Sheldon family's influence in South River District had plummeted.

As almost all the affluent families in South River District knew Cordelia had Emphyrean Lord's support, no one dared to associate themselves with the Sheldons after the latter incurred Cordelia's displeasure.

In less than a month, the market value of businesses under the Sheldon family evaporated at a rate of hundreds of millions per day.

If that situation dragged on, the Sheldons might soon have to withdraw from Jadeborough permanently.

However, today, the Chalker family's voluntary provocation gave Benedict new hope for a resurgence.

"Tyson Chalker, congratulations! You've found a gem of a granddaughter-in-law! Hahaha!" Benedict laughed maniacally.

He was aware of Emrys' identity. The latter wasn't a kept man supported by Cordelia, nor was he Emphyrean Lord's brother-in-law. Instead, Emrys was Emphyrean Lord himself!

Benedict figured the Chalkers were destined to meet their demise for daring to tarnish Emphyrean Lord's reputation in that manner.

He believed it wouldn't be long before the Chalker family would perish, and their businesses in North River District would naturally be divided and taken over by the other prestigious families.

If Benedict wished to have a piece of the pie in that turmoil, he had to do one thing right away, which was to redeem himself. I must atone for my mistake, no matter what! Otherwise, the Sheldon family will never rise again.

He gathered all members of the Sheldons at once and suggested his idea of heading to North River District and thrashing Jadeborough News.

Once that decision was made, everyone from Sheldon Group was shocked to their cores.

The distribution of forces in North River District differed from South River District. South River District was led by Osmond, the South River King, with many prestigious families operating 1/2 12:12 Wed, 24 Jan G.

Chapter 98 Playing With Fire +10 pearls under him. On the other hand, the Chalkers reigned supreme in North River District.

In other words, the Chalker family's status in North River District was similar to or even more significant than Osmond's in South River District.

All of North River District's industries, including real estate, food and beverages, clothing, and many more, belonged to the Chalker family. Naturally, that included Jadeborough News as well.

Benedict's decision to thrash Jadeborough News was no different from challenging the Chalkers' authority. One could only imagine how insane that idea was, as doing that would cause them to face the Chalker family's wrath and retaliation.

Everyone in the Sheldon family advised Benedict not to be impulsive, but he was determined and stated that anyone who was afraid could leave Sheldon Group at any time.

The others asked in puzzlement, "Mr. Sheldon, what is the reason for you to take this huge risk of offending the Chalker family?" After experiencing the incident involving Cordelia Group, the Sheldons had already suffered an immense loss. If they were to provoke North River District's Chalker family at this moment, they would truly be driven to the brink of despair.

Has Mr. Sheldon lost all hope for the Sheldon family and is ready to give up?

Taking in everyone's confused expressions, Benedict sneered, "Why? Ha!

Because the Chalker family has crossed one of the most powerful figures in Chanaea—Empyrean Lord!" Empyrean Lord!

Everyone shuddered at the mention of that name. The next instant, their faces flushed, and an urge to kneel and show their reverence to the great man washed over them.

Empyrean Lord was Chanaea's guardian, so everyone wondered how he could possibly be related to this matter.

"Mr. Sheldon, are you saying that Cordelia h—has a relationship with Empyrean Lord?" Mr. Sheldon made such a crazy decision right after Jadeborough News published an article to smear Cordelia, and he also mentioned the Chalkers had provoked Empyrean Lord. Doesn't that imply Cordelia has a special relationship with Empyrean Lord?

The members of the Sheldon family weren't fools. Comprehension swiftly dawned on them.

Benedict nodded.

Boom!

Utter stupefaction surged and churned within everyone. So, this is indeed the case! No wonder Mr. Sheldon was willing to punish Kane severely, even beating him to the brink of death when he offended Cordelia previously.

Cherished By Seven Sisters chapter 99-Scandalous Article It turned out that the person standing behind Cordelia was indeed the renowned Empyrean Lord, who reigned over the entire nation.

They also finally understood why Benedict had made such a crazy decision—he wanted to atone for his sins!

"We are willing to follow you and enter North River District without any hesitation, Mr. Sheldon!" declared everyone in unison.

Their attitudes had taken a tremendous change. They were no longer fearful but extremely excited.

The opportunity for the Sheldon family to rise again has arrived!

Kane chimed in, "Dad, I want to go to North River District with you to atone for my sins too." However, Benedict patted his son's shoulder and replied, "Stay at the Sheldon residence. Remember, if I don't come back within three days, go to Cordelia Group and kneel there. Tell Cordelia everything I've done." The Chalkers were the most powerful and dangerous family in North River District.

Benedict made this decision without any intention of surviving. He wanted to sacrifice himself for a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for the Sheldon family.

When the members of the Sheldons heard his words, tears welled up in their eyes.

Mr. Sheldon has truly put everything on the line!

Meanwhile, a summer tuition class in Jadeborough was filled with students.

Since there was only one month left before the final year of high school, the students had to start studying diligently in order to achieve good results for the university entrance examination a year later.

Of course, many were forced by their parents to attend the tuition class instead of coming of their own accord.

Charlotte, who detested studying, was one of them.

While the teacher was not paying attention, she secretly took out her phone and started reading a novel. Just when she was engrossed in the story, a news advertisement suddenly popped up on the page, and she accidentally clicked on it. Tsk, how annoying!

However, when she scanned the contents of the article, she was dumbfounded.

+10 pearls Mr. Lund... is a pretty boy who leeches on women? I don't believe it!

Without even bidding farewell to her teacher, Charlotte grabbed her backpack and ran out of the classroom.

She returned to the Sunderland residence.

"Charlotte, aren't you supposed to be in class today? Why did you come back all of a sudden?" Franklin asked in surprise.

Charlotte held up her phone in front of him. With reddened eyes, she said, "Grandpa, this article says that Mr. Lund is a pretty boy who's being kept by a woman."

"Nonsense!" A grim expression instantly crossed his face as he bellowed, "These profit-hungry news agencies! They can't do anything but spout garbage." Franklin had already read the article, but he did not believe it at all.

Someone like Mr. Lund can't possibly be a kept man. These unscrupulous news agencies are simply spouting nonsense.

Thomas agreed, "What you see is not necessarily the truth, Charlotte. Kids your age are easily swayed by what others say. Don't read such nonsensical articles anymore in the future." "Okay!" Charlotte nodded, not believing the article either. She merely felt indignant on behalf of Emrys.

Thomas smiled and comforted her, "Don't worry. The bad guys will soon face their consequences." After saying that, he left the house and headed straight for Osmond's mansion.

When he arrived, he realized that the heads of several other prominent families were also present.

Everyone looked solemn.

Osmond, the South River King, stated gloomily, "Since the Chalker family insists on playing with fire, their downfall is inevitable. Before that happens, we must do something too. We must go to North River District and pressurize them." "Agreed!" "Agreed" "Agreed!" All the heads of the prominent families expressed their willingness to follow Osmond and head to North River District. Otherwise, it would be too shameless of them to divide the Chalkers' assets among themselves after the family's downfall.

The article caused a huge uproar.

The Jadeborough News articles that were defaming Cordelia instantly caused a sensation in the entire city.

While the prominent families at South River District were gathering their forces, Caylie, who was at Verdant Estate, was furious after reading the article.

Cherished By Seven Sisters chapter 100-Smash The Office How outrageous! I've never seen any news agency as irresponsible as them.

How can they spout such nonsense with a few mere photos? They don't even have any evidence! How dare they do something like this? I wonder how sad Delia and Emrys will be after reading these articles.

Even Yelena was so incensed that a murderous look raged in her pretty eyes.

While Caylie was helpless to do anything, Yelena directly changed into Shadow Garden's uniform and rushed to North River District.

In the meantime, still unaware of the severity of the issue, Angelina—the culprit behind everything—was gloating.

Ever since she was chased out of Cordelia Group by Cordelia, she escaped to North River District as pathetically as a homeless dog and had to marry Joseph, that castrated man.

For half a month, she suffered through all that humiliation.

Now, she could finally take revenge.

Angelina was filled with joy when she heard the citizens throw insults at Cordelia.

“Cordelia Youngblood, I’ve never expected you to end up like this. Even if you’ve made it big with Cordelia Group and managed to win South River King’s support, I will still crush your reputation.

“I, Angelina Gardner, will publish the articles that the other media platforms don’t dare to post. Those cowards might be scared of South River King, but I’m not!

After all, I’ve got the Chalker family backing me up.” She could not be any happier and smugger at this moment.

She wanted nothing more than to confront Cordelia face-to-face and witness how unpleasant the latter’s expression would be.

Hence, a plan to find Cordelia and humiliate her in person hatched in Angelina’s mind.

I want Cordelia to know how foolish a decision it was to have offended me! The same goes for Emrys, that pretty boy! I want that adulterous couple to be too ashamed to stay in Jadeborough!

With that thought in mind, she instructed the editors working for her to continue churning out articles that defamed Cordelia and Emrys.

Right then, an employee rushed in anxiously and announced, “Ms. Gardner, a group of people has just arrived outside. They’re threatening to smash our news agency!” “Smash our news agency? Hmph! Let me see who’s audacious enough to do that!” With a cold scoff, Angelina strode out of the office, only to see that a crowd had indeed gathered +10 pearls outside.

It consisted of Benedict and some b*dyguards from Sheldon Group.

She questioned grimly, “Benedict Sheldon, have you lost your mind? The Sheldon family was also a victim of Cordelia Group previously. Not only are you not grateful toward me now, but you even dare to come to North River District to defend that b*tch, Cordelia?” When Angelina was Cordelia’s secretary in the past, these influential figures seemed so unreachable and lofty to her. However, times had changed. She had managed to win the support of the Chalkers.

Thus, she dared to address Benedict by his full name and scold him so thoughtlessly.

“You’re the one who has lost your mind, you madwoman!” Benedict, however, merely glanced at her with a cold smirk before instructing the group of bdyguards behind him, “Smash this news agency right now! Raze it to the ground!” The bdyguards, all wielding hammers in their hands, immediately rushed forward and began to wreak havoc everywhere.

Clang! Clang! Clang!

The entire place became covered with shattered glass fragments. A few computers in the office had also been smashed.

“Benedict, have you gone mad? Do you know whose territory this is?” Angelina screamed.

Nonetheless, he ignored her and yelled at the top of his lungs, “Smash everything! Haven’t you guys eaten? Put all your strength into it!” The place was in utter chaos, with screams resounding unendingly.

“Lunatics! You’ll all be dead soon!” Angelina furiously made a call to ask for reinforces so that she could teach Benedict a harsh lesson.

Not long after, some people showed up, but they were not from the Chalker family.

Instead, they were Osmond, Thomas, Christian, and the rest.

All of them were also carrying hammers, evidently also there to destroy the news agency.

When they saw the scene in front of them, they were momentarily stunned.
