

Chapter 7

Elijah's POV

All of the alphas are at our pack for meetings. They all arrived late last night and the first meeting will start today a er everyone had breakfast together.

When everyone starts to make their way towards the meeting hall a er breakfast, I get a mind link from one of my guards on duty.

"Alpha, mm, I'm not sure how to explain this. We need you in the clearing." He says and I can hear the confusion in his voice.

I speed up a bit, but I know it is no use the other Alphas will follow me to the clearing, because it is also the way towards the meeting hall.

At least the guard didn't sound distressed like we are under attack, so whatever it is, can't be that bad, right?

Wrong!

When I get to the clearing, I understand the confusion. It is chaos. It is the kids. Well sort of. The only reason I recognize them instantly is because something like this happened once before, to me.

All four of my children, are shi ed into their wolfs!

I hear gasps and whispers from around me, but I ignore them as I watch everything before me, they all look like little puppies.

Was I that small? Did I look more like a puppy than a wolf?

Xay, is black and furry, which was expected since he is the future Alpha King. He is chasing a er Hazel trying to catch her, as she runs as fast as her little legs can carry her, clearly not understanding what is happening, while Axe runs a er Xay trying to stop him from chasing Hazel.

Malia, is a beautiful brown-red color with her signature grey eyes, she is inspecting herself, turning trying to see every part of her new form. She almost looks like a dog trying to catch its tale. If this whole situation wasn't as strange and big a shock I would have laughed.

And poor Lexi, she is lying flat on her back as Ace, who is a grey wolf with beautiful green eyes, is on top of her licking her face. She is trying to push him o , but doesn't look like he plans on going anywhere.

Seems like Xavier's wolf isn't the only one who is recognizing their mate.

And Liley, my baby, she is a flu y white furry ball, almost looking like a cloud. She is running around with Hope and Ellie, tripping over her four legs every few seconds, not use to the feeling.

What shocks me most about her is not the fact that she shi ed at the age of six, but the fact that she has the most beautiful purple eyes.

It was the most unexpected thing, because usually in wolf form you have the same eye color as in human form.

More whispering from the crowd behind me, brings me back to reality, and I whistle loudly to get everyone's attention.

This makes my four pups stop in their tracks, realizing the crowd that formed for the first time. They all look towards me, Ace licking Lexi one last time before all of them make their way towards me.

When they are near me, they stop, the boys slightly in front of their sisters protectively. They all stand tall and proud. Even at such a young age, I can feel the power radiating o them.

They are already more powerful than every alpha in the clearing, myself included.

It become even more clear when some of the alphas, bow their heads in respect. A big gasp pulls a bit of attention away from the pups in front of us. "My babies! What happened, you're going to be okay. It is all your daddy and Wolfie's fault, but you will be okay."

And she says I'm the one that always blames someone else. How is this my fault?

Wolfie is hiding behind his paws in my mind, I can practically see Liley laughing her little butt o behind her wolf form and little Hope is pointing her tiny finger accusingly at me.

I hu , turning to the pups "Okay, time to shi back" they look at each other like they are debating their options, or trying to figure out how it works, when Xay finally starts to shi back.

Soon they are all back in their human form. The guards giving them some clothes to quickly put on. Which makes them look even smaller since it's adult clothes

Ellie gives a small whine for being the only one le on four legs, before dismissing herself.

"Daddy, daddy! Did you see I was a wolf? A white one like mommy. And her name is Luna! She is so nice."

Little Liley says excitedly running into my arms that I can pick her up. Lana gasps "Your eyes" I can see Liley rolling her eyes around like she is trying to see what is wrong with it, "It is purple!"

Everyone ignores their mother's remark as they start talking enthusiastically "My wolf's name is Orion, he says it means hunter" says Chase.

"My wolf's name is Estelle and she says it means Star." Malia says excited. "My wolf says his name is Lupus, which means wolf, right daddy?" Xavier says.

"At least it is not literally Wolfie like someone we know" Zander mumbles with a small snicker, earning a glare from me. It is not my fault I was young when I named my wolf plus my mate really liked it. Anything to make her happy.

A small cough from behind me, gets my attention. As I turn around all of the Alphas stare at me intently, expecting an explanation about what they just saw.

"Daddy, the moon goddess told me that we shi ed because we had to show all the Alphas who we are. She said they would not believe us if they didn't see it with their own eyes, and we need to help each other, we will need all the help and protection we can get. They need to know everything we know." Liley whispers to me

"Mommy! The moon goddess told me what my gi is, she says I am her messenger, she can talk to me. And she said I have more gi s, but I don't know what they are until I need them. I don't know when I will need them Momma." She says a little confused

I lead all the Alphas and high-ranking pack members towards the meeting hall. We have a lot to discuss. It might make things easier since they can't argue or say they don't believe us, because they saw it with their own eyes.

My only fear is, what would a change like this mean for my children? Will they be in danger now? Does this mean the war is getting closer? I know one thing for a fact, I can't lose my precious babies.
