

Cinderella And Her Beautiful Octuplets

Chapter 12

Chapter 12

"Mommy what happened to your face?" Her son, David asked.

Oh! It's nothing honey, mommy is going to be fine" Rhoda smiled as she starred at her son, David who looked so much like Jeff.

She had a son for Jeff years back and he's six years and some months old. Rhoda was glad she has a son for Jeff. There was no way Hannah could steal Jeff from her and her son.

She had gotten rid of her before, she was definitely going to get rid of her again, this time it was going to be for good but at first she needed to make her pay for hurting her today, Rhoda thought as she smiled at her son while patting his hair.

Meanwhile, Jeff is seen pacing to and fro in his room. He was still in shock that he had saw Hannah.

The guilt he tried to bury year's ago were back. he needed to find Hannah and make things right. He regret betraying her in the past.

The moment he saw Hannah today, he realized one thing, he was still in love with her.

He had noticed Hannah was looking so different. She was looking more beautiful and sexy, and that expensive car she had rode, he began to wonder if she was the one who owns it. Or what if she has a husband? The thought of it alone made Jeff feel jealous.

He didn't care about any of that, he just needed to find Hannah and make things right again.

Hannah drove in full speed inside the compound. She hopped out of the car and walked inside the house, there she met her kids playing together.

The anger she was feeling a while ago, all had just disappeared at the sight of her beautiful children.

"Mommy is home" the kids yelled happily and ran to hug Hannah who smiled at them.

"Sweathearts!" Hannah coed happily.

"Mommy, where did you go? When we woke up we didn't see you" Audrey said and Hannah smiled at her.

"Mommy had some work to attend to that's why she left do early " Hannah said and the kids nodded in response. Just then she heard a her phone ring, it was a call from Arianna.

"Ok kids!! Go play, mommy needs to answer her phone call" Hannah said to the kids who nodded happily and went back to play.

She stared at the kids and sighed softly. Seeing Rhoda and Jeff today had reminded her of so many things that happened in her past.

And the fact that she was raped and then got pregnant and gave birth to octuplets but nevertheless, she felt like the most luckiest person on earth to have those octuplets as her children.

They were her happiness and the reason she chooses to live. Even though she do not know the father, she would do anything in her power to protect them

Both as a mother and as a father.

She then picked up her phone and went upstairs to answer the phone call.

"Mommy!" Hannah called as she answered the phone call.

"Honey, did you get into a fight with Rhoda?" Arianna asked immediately and Hannah rolled her eyes.

"Ofcourse I did. If you called to reprimand me , you better end the call. I only gave her what she deserves, besides she started it" Hannah said as she walked inside her room.

"No, honey. You did well by beating the hell outta her, besides she deserves it. This is just the beginning, I guess the beating was to let her know Hannah Rodriguez is back and this time for revenge" Arianna said and Hannah smiled.

She would have asked Arianna how she knew she and Rhoda had gotten into a fight, but she was Arianna Mackenzie, she has eyes and ears all over Atlanta.

"Were you able to talk to Brandon today?" Arianna asked and Hannah sighed softly. She didn't want Arianna to know Brandon had asked his men to kick her out of the company. She didn't want Arianna to feel sad. She was her only hope to save the company.

"Uhm, yeah. He adjourned the meeting to tomorrow" Hannah said and just then she heard someone called Arianna from the background of the phone.

"Hannah, I will call you back I need to go now" Arianna said and with that she ended the call.

She sighed softly and dropped her phone on the bed. She hated the fact that she had just lied to Arianna. Arianna had put all her hopes on her , she didn't want to let her down.

She needed to make sure Brandon talks to her. She needed to think of something. There was definitely something she needs to do to get that arrogant Man's attention.

Just then a thought popped in her mind. Seduction. She just needs to seduce him and he would yield to everything she had to say and would save their company within a split seconds.

But on a second thought, she thinks seduction might not work. No, it definitely would, she had a sexy body that if she presents it before any man they wouldn't reject it.

She wasn't going to sleep with him though, she just needed to wear seductive clothes and go to his office and seduce him that was going to be all, she thought as she quickly stood up.

She needed some sexy dresses for that to take place. She needed to go shop some sexy clothes, she thought.

She then decided to take her bath and wash off Rhoda's dirty hands off her body. After then she changed her clothes and went out for shopping.

Next day

Hannah had woken up so early and to prepare the kids breakfast. She woke them up and helped the get dressed with the help of the maids and the nannies.

She made sure they eat breakfast and then she dropped them off at their new school while she went back to home to get dressed.

She put on a short, tight handless gown that pumped her breast upward. Anyone who would stare at Hannah would think she's never given birth. She was blessed with such a petite, and sexy body.

After putting on the tight dress. She combed her hair and applied lip gloss and a light make up. She wore her heels and carried her bag before walking out of the house.

"I'm coming for you Brandon"
