

Cinderella And Her Beautiful Octuplets

Nice meeting you guys

Chapter 26

"Get someone else to do whatever you are thinking about. I don't have time for that" Brandon said rudely and with that, he ended the call.

Hannah sighed softly and dropped the phone on the bed. She rolled her eyes and hissed slightly. She just hates Brandon so much that she feels like punching him in the face.

"Mommy" she heard her kids call outside her room. She stood up from the bed and walked towards the door, she opened it and the kids walked in with their Nannies behind them.

"Wow, mommy your room is so beautiful, " the kids said and Hannah smiled at them.

"Ma'am, dinner is served," one of the nannies said and Hannah nodded with a smile on her face.

"Common kids, let's go downstairs for dinner," Hannah said and the kids yelled happily as they ran downstairs to eat dinner.

After they were done eating dinner, the kids sat in the sitting room while Hannah helped them finish their assignments.

Just then they heard a knock on the door.

Hannah raised her head and saw the maid walking towards the door.

"It's fine, I'll get it. You can continue what you were doing before" Hannah said as she stood up and walked towards the door.

She opened the door and to her surprise, she saw Brandon standing in front of the door with his PA, Liam beside him.

"Hey" Hannah muttered at Liam who waved at her, ignoring Brandon. She was surprised he had come. She thought he wouldn't come.

"Would you get out of my way, I'm not going to spend all my time here, I need to be somewhere in the next ten minutes" Brandon said and Hannah shot him a deadly glare before moving out of his way.

"Sweethearts" Hannah called and the kids turned to her at once.

"This is Brandon Colby, your new Daddy," Hannah said and the kids raised their heads staring at Brandon with a look of shock on their faces.

Liam and Brandon stared at each other before staring back at the kids. Brandon quickly replaced the look of shock on his face with a straight face.

"Hello Daddy!!" the girls said in unison as they stood up and rushed towards Brandon. They did the unexpected, they hugged him.

Brandon stared at the girls, he didn't know why, but immediately the little girls hugged him, the anger he was feeling a while ago disappeared, and he felt his heart become calm.

Brandon smiled at the little girls and ruffled their hair.

"Mommy he's so handsome" Addison yelled and Hannah felt her cheeks turn red at once.

She stared at Brandon who was smiling at the kids, then she realized the cold-hearted CEO looked so handsome while smiling.

She quickly looked away.

"Daddy come sit down" the girls dragged his hands, and made him sit on the couch, while they sat beside him.

The kids had always wanted a daddy and they were so glad they had finally gotten one. And their daddy was not only a rich CEO but a handsome one at that.

Meanwhile, the boys on the other hand kept staring at Brandon with no expression on their faces, and a lot of questions on their minds.

"Mommy, would you please get daddy a cup of water? He looked famished" Aubrey said and Hannah smiled at her and nodded in response, before walking away.

"You should join her in carrying the water too," Jayden said to Liam who has been staring at them.

"What? It's just a glass of water. She doesn't need help to carry it" Liam said and turned to Brandon who nodded at him and asked him to go.

Brandon was a smart man, he understood what the kids were trying to do, and they wanted to speak with him in private.

"It's okay Liam," Brandon said and Liam nodded before walking away.

Brandon and the boys kept staring at each other straight in the eyes like they were searching for something.

It was then Brandon realized something, the octuplets looked so much like him, especially the boys.

"Your name is Brandon Colby right?" Jayden asked and Brandon raised his eyebrows without saying a word.

Who's this kid to ask me about my name? the audacity. Brandon thought.

"You sent your lawyers the other day," Jamie said as she remembered the day those lawyers came and said they were sent by Brandon Colby.

"Well, that aside? How did you meet my mom?" Jamie asked and Brandon scoffed.

"Seriously? Are you little kids asking me that?" Brandon thought. He didn't know why but he found what the kids were saying funny.

"Are those questions necessary?" Jaxon asked

"Let's ask him the most important one. Do you love our mommy?" Jasper asked and Brandon hummed. He had remembered Hannah telling him he needed to make their marriage look real.

He hadn't wanted to do it, but who knows it might be of favor to him in the future, so he changed his mind.

"Yes I do, I love her," Brandon said and the kids hummed. Just then Hannah walked in with the glass of water.

"Here!" She said as she gave Brandon the glass of water. He took the water from her and drank a little from it then passed the glass of water back to her.

"Prove it to us that you love her," Jayden said and Hannah opened her eyes wide in shock.

Oh my goodness! These children are gonna put me in trouble, Hannah thought.

Brandon scoffed as he saw the look on Hannah's face. She asked him to pretend the marriage was real, she's gonna get what she wanted, after all, she asked for it.

Brandon smiled devilishly as he stood up from the chair, he walked towards Hannah who moved back a bit.

"The kids are watching, you wanted us to make it look real" Brandon whispered and Hannah stared at her kids who were staring at the both of them.

She swallowed hard and closed her eyes as Brandon's face moved towards her, she didn't imagine she would be kissing the rude CEO, now her kids are making her do it.

She felt her heart running a marathon race, suddenly she felt Brandon kiss her on her forehead and then whispered.

"Whatever you are thinking would never happen," He said and moved away from her and turned to the kids with a smile on his face.

"What?? I wasn't even thinking of anything!" Hannah thought as she stared at Brandon angrily.

"It was nice meeting you kids, I have to be somewhere. I'll be here some other time, so we could get to know each other" Brandon said and then turned to Hannah who stood like a statue, staring at him.

He looked away from her and with that, he walked away, with Liam trailing behind him.

TBC