

Cinderella And Her Beautiful Octuplets

Read Cinderella Mackenzie

Cinderella Mackenzie

Chapter 30

"Welcome sir," A maid said with her head bowed. She heard a knock on the door and decided to go open it and to her surprise, she saw Brandon at the door.

"Where's she?" Brandon asked and the maid quickly understood who he was asking after.

"She's upstairs in her room" the maid and with that Brandon walked past her. He climbed upstairs to her room, pushed the door opened and walked in without knocking. Hannah, who was sitting on the chair in her room, staring at the laptop in front of her, jerked up immediately when she heard someone barge in.

"You!!" She muttered as she put her hands on her chest, trying to calm herself down.

"What did you think you were doing by barging into my room? Shit! You scared the hell outta me" Hannah said, as she exhaled deeply.

"Point of correction, our room, not yours. I own this room" Brandon said and Hannah rolled her eyes at him, wondering what he was doing at the mansion and her room. "Why are you here?" Hannah asked

"Won't you offer me a chair to sit on?" Brandon said and Hannah scoffed.

"What do you want?" Hannah asked and Brandon stared at her for some seconds before he finally spoke.

"I needed to talk to you about something important, " Brandon said and Hannah gave him a weird look, wondering what was so important that he couldn't call him on the phone.

"Don't give me that weird look, I tried calling you but you weren't answering your phone call?" Brandon said and Hannah stared around searching for her phone.

She caught a glimpse of it at the corner of the bed. She remembered putting it on silent because she wanted to work.

"What do you want to tell me?" Hannah asked but Brandon didn't say a word, instead, his eyes were on Hannah's laptop staring at what she was doing on it.

Hannah sighed and closed her laptop.

"I need you to do something for me" Brandon paused and Hannah raised an eyebrow waiting for him to continue.

"I would be attending a party in two days, I need you to come with me as my wife," Brandon said as he brought out the invitation card from his pocket and placed it on Hannah's bed.

Hannah scoffed, as she stared at the invitation card.

"I can't come, I would be busy. I have far more important things to do" Hannah said as she stood up from the chair she was sitting on.

"You will come, besides I'm not begging you to come, it's a command, not a request, " Brandon said Hannah turned to him and just then she burst into laughter.

"Seriously?, because we are married, you do not have any right to start ordering me like I'm your slave, because I'm not.

So, read my lips, Brandon Colby, I'm not attending the party with you. Look for someone else.

Would you please excuse me now, I was busy before you came in" Hannah said with a small smile on her face.

Brandon didn't know, he find the way Hannah speak with so much authority, interesting.

Brandon put both his hands in his pocket and took a step toward Hannah.

"I can see you are the stubborn type. I like that, I love stubborn women because, in the end, you'll do what I want one way or another.

Like I told you the first day we met, I, Brandon Colby do not take no for an answer. Besides, it was stated in the contract you signed that you would do anything I want, and if you ever refuse....." Brandon paused with a devilish smile on his face.

He took a long stride towards Hannah, making her move back, till she hit the wall.

"You would do what I say or you would give me a blow job" Brandon whispered, as he stared Hannah straight in the eyes.

Their faces were so close that they could feel each other's breath. Hannah felt she was going to melt any moment from then. She quickly gathered the courage and pushed him away from her. "What? You pervert" Hannah muttered with an innocent look on, as she moved away from him.

Brandon raised his eyebrows in a sexy way, making Hannah swallow hard. How can a human be so handsome like a Demigod, she thought but then she quickly shook off the thoughts.

"It was stated in the contract you signed that, if you refuse to do what I want, you would give me a blow job," Brandon said and Hannah frowned. "You liar, it wasn't stated in it," Hannah said

"You never read the contract before signing it, so how would you know, it wasn't written there?" Brandon said and Hannah stared at him innocently.

Now, she regrets signing the contract without reading it first. What else is in the contract that I signed, oh! What have I gotten myself into, she muttered softly. She felt like she was about to cry.

"So, are you going with me or not?" Brandon asked and Hannah blinked twice.

"Fine, I'm going with you. Just get out of my room" Hannah said angrily.

"I told you, you were gonna say yes. That aside, you owed me a favor before. You asked me to act as if I love you in front of your kids which I did, so it's time to repay me" Brandon said as he stared at the innocent look on Hannah's face. It was like she was about to cry.

Brandon chuckled gently, this is the beginning, Cinderella Mackenzie. I would make sure you do whatever I want, it's a payback for calling me dump and insulting me on phone the other day, Brandon thought.

"Don't cry, I'm about to leave?" Brandon said and with that, he walked out of the room.

Hannah sat on the bed angrily.

She wondered what else was written on the contract that she had signed. She regrets not going through the contract that day.

She stood up and moved towards her door, she opened it and yelled.

"I hate you Brandon Colby" She yelled and suddenly she heard Brandon's voice in return.

"I hate you too, Cinderella Mackenzie" Brandon yelled back and Hannah groaned and jammed the door angrily.

"Bastard!" She muttered.

TBC

The fight

Chapter 31

Brandon walked out of the house and hopped inside his car.

Just as he was about to ignite his engine, he heard his phone ringing.

It was a call from Liam. He answered the phone call.

"Brandon, when did you leave the office, I have been searching for you," Liam said, sounding so worried.

"I went out, is anything the problem?" Brandon asked and Liam paused before speaking.

"I think we've got a big problem at hand," Liam said and Brandon became alerted immediately.

"What's wrong?" Brandon asked

"I just got a call from your grandma," Liam said and Brandon exhaled deeply.

"Speaking of the devil herself, what does she want?" Brandon asked

"She's back in Atlanta," Liam said and Brandon felt his heartbeat increase at once.

"Shit! When did she arrive? I thought she said she wasn't going to come back till further notice and why didn't she call me instead of you?" Brandon asked, already getting angry.

"I don't know, she said she wanted to surprise you. She asked me not to tell you she was in town. She didn't come alone, she came with your younger sister, Mellisa" Liam said and Brandon rubbed his hands on his forehead.

Two devils decided to come to Atlanta without informing him, he scoffed gently. He knew they were up to something and it was not going to be a good one.

"She would be coming to your mansion tomorrow night, she had asked me to make sure everything was in place before she arrives," Liam said

"It's fine, they can come to my mansion, I'll just try my best to avoid them," Brandon said tiredly

"Not your mansion, Brandon. I mean your mansion but the one Hannah and the kids are staying in. She wants to stay there" Liam said and Brandon screamed at once.

"What??? Why didn't you convince her to stay with me?" Brandon yelled

"I tried but you know your grandma, she always goes for what she wants and she must get it," Liam said and Brandon sighed softly.

"What I'm I going to do? I can't ask Hannah to suddenly move out.... It took a lot to make her come in with her kids, asking her to move out with her kids would be war, the woman is just so stubborn.

I can't allow her and grandma to live together, she's gonna make life hell for her and the kids. Hannah seems to be stubborn, she won't give in easily, thereby causing war" Brandon said and sighed. "There's only one way to solve this...." Liam said and paused for some seconds before he finally spoke.

"You should move into the mansion tonight and start living with Hannah and the kids, together as a family.

You just have to speak with Hannah, all you guys have to do is act like you love each other. No matter how evil your grandma is, she loves you and wants your happiness. You just have to convince her Hannah and the kids are your happiness" Liam said and Brandon sighed softly.

Liam was right, he needed to put on an act. He cannot afford to let his grandma or sister hurt Hannah or the kids in any way.

He needed to protect them, they were his only hope of finding his mom, and he cannot afford to ruin everything. He needed to find his mom, he thought.

"I'm coming to the office now, we will discuss it when I get there," Brandon said and ended the call.

He ignited the engine and with that, he zoomed off.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

Meanwhile, it was evening and Hannah had gone to pick up her kids from school. On their way home, they kept talking about their new friend David.

"Is this David at your class?" Hannah asked as she drove the car.

"Yes mommy, I think Allison has a crush on him," Jamie said and Allison frowned.

"That's not true mommy," Allison said and they all laughed.

"Mommy, he seems to be so sad, he said his daddy had thrown his mom out of the house. He also said he misses his mom so much" Aubrey said

"I feel for him, he's in so much pain," Audrey said and Hannah felt her heart melt. He didn't know the little boy, but she felt for him.

She knew what she had passed through when her mom died, the pain she felt, and all. Even to this day, she still feels the pain but she has learned to live with it.

"I told him not to be sad, he's going to be fine. That we are here for him and if he ever needs someone to talk to, we would be here for him" Addison said and Hannah smiled. "That's nice of you," Hannah said and smiled.

"Mommy, why aren't we taking the route to our house?" Jayden who noticed Hannah taking a different route asked

"I'm going to the grocery shop, I need to get some things that we don't have at home," Hannah said and the kids nodded in response.

Immediately, Hannah got to the grocery shop, parked her car, and told her children not to leave the car that should be back soon, she just needed to get something and would be back.

The kids nodded obediently. Hannah climbed out of the car and walked inside the grocery store.

She picked some stuff and paid for it. Just as she was about to leave, Rhoda, who was in the grocery shop too, caught a glimpse of her and rushed towards Hannah who was already moving towards her car.

"Bastard!" Rhoda yelled as she pulled Hannah's hair making her groan.

Hannah turned swiftly and to her surprise, she saw Rhoda.

"You!!" Hannah muttered and slapped her on her face for pulling her hair.

"How dare you, slap me? You had the gut to tell Jeff to throw me out of the house, so you can go be with him. You whore, you have no shame at all" Rhoda yelled and pushed Hannah making the things she had gotten from the grocery store fall from her hands.

"You tart!! You whored yourself to Jeff, You stole my husband from me in the past and now you dare attack me. You are the one with no shame. This is the reason your family abandoned you. I regret ever being friends with you" Hannah yelled angrily Rhoda tried hitting her but Hannah was quick to stop her by holding her hands.

She slapped Rhoda twice on the face and suddenly they started fighting.

Hannah pushed Rhoda to the ground, came on top of her, and started punching her so hard. This was an opportunity for her to beat her up for what she did in the past, she hadn't had the opportunity to pour out the anger she felt, now is the opportunity and she wouldn't let any of it slide away.

"Mommy!" The kids who had seen her mom and a strange woman fighting rushed out of the car.

Jayden quickly took her mom's phone which she had left in the car and dialed Brandon's number immediately Brandon answered the phone call.

"Daddy, mommy is fighting with a strange woman," Jayden said worriedly

"Where are you guys? I'll be there in a jiffy" Brandon said and with that, he ended the call.

TBC

You are going to expose us

Chapter 32

"Where are you guys?" Brandon asked and Jayden told him they were in a grocery store downtown.

"I'll be there in a jiffy," Brandon said and with that, he ended the call.

A few minutes later

A Black Roll Royce pulled in front of the grocery store. Brandon and Liam Alighted the car in a rush to the scene of the fight.

A lot of people were surrounding the both of them taking pictures.

"Shit!!" Brandon said as he made his way inside the scene, there he saw Hannah on top of a woman punching her like she was a punching bag.

"Hannah!!" Brandon yelled and pulled Hannah away from the woman roughly, making Hannah fall to the ground.

Brandon stared at the lady who was on the ground laying weakly, who was now bleeding on her face.

He quickly recognized her.

"Rhoda!" He called out surprised. Rhoda recognized the voice immediately.

"Brandon", Rhoda called out as she managed to open her swollen eyes.

"Brandon please take me to the hospital, I'm in so much pain" Rhoda cried out and Brandon stared at her with pity and at the same time confusion on his face.

"Oh, Jesus! What were you thinking about, while beating her up? Do you want to kill her? Are you this heartless?" Brandon yelled at Hannah.

"Are you seriously blaming me? She fucking started it. She deserves it" Hannah yelled at Brandon.

"You started it, you beat me up when I didn't do you anything" Rhoda managed to cry out in pain.

"You bloody liar. I'll kill you with my bare hands" Hannah yelled and tried moving towards Rhoda but Brandon was quick to hold her and pull her off.

"If you dare lay your hands on her, you'll regret doing it, I'll make sure of that," Brandon said angrily and Hannah scoffed.

"Wow, you are defending her, when you were supposed to defend me. Wow, just wow. Y'all are bastards, go rot in hell" Hannah said and with that, she walked away.

What was she expecting? For Brandon to defend her, it was mission impossible.

"Get in the car," she said to her kids who were standing outside the car with worried looks on their faces.

The Octuplets quickly got in the car, Hannah ignited the engine and zoomed off at full speed.

"Brandon, please take me to the hospital" Rhoda cried and Brandon stared at her face, which was swollen. He barely recognized Rhoda.

He wondered what must have caused the fight between the both of them. And the whole time, Hannah had so much hate in her eyes while staring at Rhoda, he wondered what had happened. There was more to this fight, he thought as he walked towards Rhoda and carried her in a bridal style from the ground.

He carried her to his car, he entered his car, ignited the engine, and zoomed off to the hospital, not without Liam.

At the hospital, Brandon is seen standing at the corner of the hospital room, with Liam beside him, watching the doctor treat Rhoda.

Once the doctor was done, he turned to Brandon.

"I prescribed some drugs for her, it would help relieve her of the pain and make her heal fast," the doctor said and bowed his head and with that, he walked out of the ward. Brandon moved towards Rhoda, staring at her.

"How are you feeling now?" Brandon asked and Rhoda winced like she was feeling all the pain in this world.

"It hurts so much, she's ruined my beautiful face" Rhoda cried and Brandon sighed softly.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"What caused the fight? And do you two know each other?" Brandon asked and Rhoda pouted.

"Yes, we know each other. We were once friends...." Rhoda paused and continued

"Something had happened between us in the past, which I apologized for but she refused to forgive me.

Today I saw her at the grocery store and decided to apologize again but then she started punching me. I didn't think she would still be angry after so many years. I was only trying to make things right" Rhoda cried and Brandon stared at her weirdly, wondering what must have happened between them.

"You should rest, I'll send someone to get you the drugs the doctor has prescribed," Brandon said and Rhoda nodded in response.

Brandon was about to walk out of the ward but then Rhoda called his name making him turn to her.

"I heard the Donalds are going to hold a party in two days, can I come with you please?" Rhoda said and pouted.

"I'll think about it, if you are well before then you can come with me. For now, you should rest and focus on healing. I'll be on my way now, Liam would keep you company" Brandon said and Rhoda nodded.

She felt her heart leap in joy, she was gonna go to the party with Brandon. She felt so happy.

Brandon and Liam walked out of the ward.

"I will go check on Hannah, if Rhoda needs anything, make sure she gets it," Brandon said Liam nodded in response, and with that Brandon walked away.

Liam walked back inside the ward and stared at Rhoda for some seconds before moving towards her.

He sat on the chair close to the bed staring at her.

"Stop giving me that look," Rhoda said as she touched her swollen face.

"That bitch ruined my face, I'll make her pay for this" Rhoda groaned and Liam scoffed

"What happened between you guys?" Liam asked

"She attacked me first," Rhoda said as she rolled her eyes and groaned in pain.

"The both of you know each other?" Liam asked and Rhoda hummed.

"Where's Brandon?" Rhoda asked

"He's left, he's gone home," Liam said and Rhoda frowned.

"Wasn't he supposed to stay with me, I'm the girl he slept with years ago" Rhoda said and Liam shot her a deadly glare.

"Don't give me that look. Fine, I know I'm not the girl but at least to him, I am the girl. He's supposed to be by my side" Rhoda said and Liam stared at her without saying a word.

"Whatever! Do Brandon and Hannah know each other?" Rhoda asked

"Yes, they are..... friends" Liam lied and Rhoda nodded in response.

"You should be careful next time and try not to get into a fight with anyone.

It puts both of us at risk. What if Brandon decided to go into your case himself because of the fight between the both of you?

If he does, we are both dead.

You are trying to expose us, Rhoda.

You should be more careful"

TBC Search the findNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

We need to talk

Chapter

33

A Black Roll Royce screeched to a halt in front of Colby's mansion.

Hannah and the octuplets alighted the car, they walked inside the house with no one speaking with each other.

The kids knew Hannah was so angry, they didn't want her to yell at them, so they didn't say a word. They'd never seen their mommy this angry before and worst of all, she got into a fight with a strange lady.

"Go upstairs to your room, your Nannies will come to attend to you," Hannah said and was about to climb upstairs to her room when Jayden called her.

She turned towards him and he stared at her for a few seconds before speaking.

"Your arm is bleeding," Jayden said and Hannah stared at her arm. It was just a small scratch from the fight.

"I'll go clean it up," Hannah said and walked upstairs to her room. She closed the door to her room.

She walked inside the bathroom and took a clean bath. She walked out of the bathroom and put on simple nightwear.

She sighed softly as she lay on the bed tiredly, she was glad she had given Rhoda the beating of her life, she won't dare to mess with her next time, Hannah thought.

But on second thought, Brandon knew Rhoda, she wondered how and he was defending her too, what if the both of them are???.... Hannah scoffed, she wouldn't be surprised, Rhoda is a whore but if her thoughts are right, the hatred she felt for Brandon had just increased.

She didn't want anything that has to do with Rhoda, to come close to her, she thought.

She stood up from the bed and decided to go to her kid's room, they had witnessed her get into a fight today which was bad. She as a mother should be a role model to her kids, she thought as she felt guilty. She needed to apologize to them.

She planted a soft knock on the kid's room, and when there was no response, she opened the door and walked in. There she met her kids, sitting together discussing.

They looked so engrossed in their discussion, that they barely noticed Hannah walk in. Hannah stood for some seconds wondering what they were talking about.

"This is a secret between us. Whatever you guys find out, bring it to the table so we put it all together and find out who that woman was" Jayden said and Hannah sighed softly. She then knew what they were talking about. It was obvious they were talking about Rhoda. They're still wondering who she is and why she had gotten into a fight with her. Hannah cleared her throat and the kids turned to her swiftly, as they finally noticed her presence.

"Mom" the Octuplets called at once and Hannah managed to smile at them. SEARCH THE Find_Novel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"When did you come in?" Addison asked

"Did you hear anything we were talking about?" Jayden asked and Hannah gave out a small smile. "Sh!t" the kids muttered at once. Hannah moved towards them and sat close to them on the ground.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"Mom, we were just....."

"It's fine honey," Hannah said, cutting Allison's speech off.

"I just wanted to apologize for getting into a fight in your presence. I know I made you guys worried and put you guys in so much tension, I'm so sorry sweethearts" Hannah announced with guilt in her eyes.

"Mommy, it's fine. Besides, we saw what happened. We were watching from the car, and I saw the woman pull your hair and throw away the things you bought from the grocery store. So, she deserves every beating you gave her " Audrey said and rolled her eyes.

"Grandma had told us not to take nonsense from anyone. You made us proud mommy, you are a true Mackenzie" Jayden said and Hannah stared at the kids speechlessly. Hannah wasn't the type that would get into a fight with anyone, she just couldn't afford to let Rhoda step on her, the way she did in the past.

She wasn't going to allow anyone to walk all over her as they did in the past. She wasn't the Hannah of before, she's now a different Hannah and a no-nonsense woman.

"That doesn't mean you guys should get into a fight in the future, else I'm going to deal with you all. So promise Mommy, none of you won't get into any sort of fight. You would always make peace" Hannah said and the kids stared at each other.

"Mommy, you of all people knows, peace is for the weak. We aren't weak" Jamie said Hannah raised her eyebrows and the kids sighed softly.

"Fine, no fighting, all we want is peace," they said at once and Hannah smiled at them.

"But Mommy, where did you get your fighting skills from? Did you learn kung fu back in New York?" Jasper asked and they all burst into laughter.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"Of course, I did and I'm going to show you how I learned kung fu," Hannah said and she started tickling them one after another, as their laughter filled the room.

"I want us to always be this way, a happy family, no matter what happens. Even when I'm not with you guys, learn to protect each other. We are family, and....." "Family is everything" the Octuplets echoed at once and Hannah felt her eyes fill up with tears.

"Come here," Hannah said as they did a group hug.

"I love you, my babies," Hannah said as tears slipped down her cheeks.

"We love you too Mommy," the octuplets said in response.

Hannah quickly wiped her tears and pulled away from the hug.

"Daddy!" The kids voiced out at once as they pulled away from the hug and saw Brandon standing by the door watching them.

Hannah was surprised to see him, she wondered what he was doing here so late at night, and how long he'd been standing there.

Meanwhile, Brandon who placed his hands inside his pocket, staring at the small family finds himself smiling at them.

"What do you want?" Hannah asked angrily at him for taking sides with Rhoda at the grocery store earlier.

"We need to talk"

TBC

They are here

Chapter 34 SEAR*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"What do you want?" Hannah asked angrily at him for taking sides with Rhoda at the grocery store earlier.

"We need to talk," Brandon said coldly and Hannah stared at him for a few seconds before standing up from the ground.

"Go to sleep now, sweethearts. It's late already. I love you all" Hannah said as she kissed them on their forehead.

The kids nodded obediently and climbed into their bed, Hannah covered them with the duvet.

"Good night Mommy, Good night Daddy," the kids said at once.

"Good night little armies" Brandon muttered and Hannah shot him a deadly glare.

They both walked out of the room, and Hannah closed the door behind her.

"Why did you call them little armies?" Hannah asked angrily

"Why are you so pissed I called them little armies. Seems like they are fighters like their mom and I overheard them telling you, peace is for the weak, that's why I called them little armies" Brandon said and scoffed. "What do you want to talk about?" Hannah asked

"About that scene, you pulled at the grocery store" Brandon announced

"What happened?" Hannah asked, pretending not to know what he was talking about.

"Seriously, you are asking me what happened? You almost killed Rhoda, what if I didn't come in time to stop the fight? You would have killed her. Fuck!! Did you see the damage you caused to her face and do you know there's every probability, what just happened would be on the internet by tomorrow if it's not already" Brandon said angrily and Hannah sneered.

"Why are you so pissed that I beat her up? Is she your lover?" Hannah asked and Brandon stared at her without saying a word.

"Wow, I knew it, no wonder you were defending her. She's your lover. That whore! You both match each other. A dumb ass CEO and a whore!" Hannah said with pure hatred in her eyes and was about to walk past Brandon but he held her arms and pulled her back roughly.

"Don't you dare touch me" Hannah said and slapped his hands off.

"Don't you have any shame woman!!! For God's sake, you are a mother of eight kids, you should have some shame and stop acting like a child" Brandon said and Hannah smiled at him. "However I act, it's none of your concern. You should go back to your lover, besides she needs you by her side now she's badly injured" Hannah said and walked inside her room. Brandon sighed softly, deep down he wanted Hannah to know Rhoda is not his lover, but he didn't feel the need to clarify anything.

He owes her no explanation, besides their marriage is a contract marriage and nothing more. She can think whatever she wants, he didn't care, he thought.

Brandon walked inside the room and stood staring at Hannah who pretended like she was looking for something in her wardrobe.

Brandon stared at the petite woman, she looked so petite and fragile, he wondered how she got that so much strength to beat up Rhoda, she never seems to amaze me, Brandon thought.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

Hannah turned swiftly and saw Brandon staring at her.

"What do you want? You should leave my room immediately, I do not want anything to do with you," Hannah said as she closed her wardrobe.

She saw he wasn't willing to leave.

"If you do not leave, I will. You can have the room to yourself" Hannah said and was about to walk past Brandon but he was quick to hold her, and he pulled her back.

He pulled her towards the wall, staring deep into her eyes like he was searching for something, Hannah became numb immediately. Her looks were immediately replaced with fear when she saw the anger in his eyes. His face moved towards hers, with the both of them feeling each other's breath.

Brandon moved his lips to her ear and whispered, "You don't walk out on me, it's disrespectful, I won't take such an attitude from you" Brandon said and immediately he pulled away like something had gone wrong. He stared at her with a strange look and then look away from her.

"My Grandma and sister will be coming over tomorrow, I want us to act like a real couple and like we are into each other. I do not want them to start thinking it's a fake marriage and you and your kids must be on your best behaviors" Brandon said coldly and with that, he walked out of the room.

Immediately, he walked out, Hannah sighed softly and sat on the bed. She placed her hands on her chest and took a deep breath.

"That bastard!!" Hannah thought. She wondered what just happened just now. Why did she feel so nervous around him, there was this spark she felt when he whispered into her ears.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

She quickly shook off the thought. She hated Brandon and hated him the more as she finds out, both he and Rhoda are lovers.

She couldn't believe it, she thought Jeff and Rhoda were a couple, how come Brandon and Rhoda are now lovers, she thought silently.

She had remembered Rhoda saying Jeff had thrown her out of the house, she sighed at the thought of it. She deserves it anyways, Hannah thought.

Anyways, she was glad she dealt with her, she would not mess with her again the next time she sees her, she thought as she lay on the bed.

Brandon on the other hand, said his Grandma and sister are coming over, why do I have a bad feeling about this? Hannah thought tiredly as she walked towards her bed and laid on it. It was morning again and another new day. Brandon and Hannah are seen arguing.

Brandon had asked Hannah not to take the kids to school, that they needed to welcome his grandma home together. He didn't want the same kids to be at school when his grandma arrived.

Hannah didn't agree in the first place, but she later agreed. Even though she was angry at Brandon and he was angry at her, they needed to put their differences aside and put an act in front of her grandma.

"Sir your grandma and sister are both here" a maid announced and everywhere went silent like a graveyard.

TBC

DNA test.

Chapter 35

"Sir, your grandma, and sister are both here" a maid announced and everywhere went silent like a graveyard. I thought she was not going to be back until the afternoon, I'm not surprised though, she's filled with surprises. "Where are the Octuplets?" Brandon asked as he shot Hannah a deadly glare.

"They will be here soon," Hannah said and Brandon sighed softly.

He moved towards Hannah and held her hands.

"What? Is this part of it?" Hannah asked and Brandon nodded.

"You want us to act separately? It would only make it look more suspicious. It's just an act, why are you acting all worked up" Brandon said and Hannah frowned.

"Whatever!!" Hannah said and just then the front door burst open revealing a woman in a black gown and a black hat, followed by a black bag, shoes, and black sunglasses.

"Oh my goodness! Home sweet home!" The woman said as a maid greeted her and collected her bag from her. She smiled at her.

"Is that your grandma?" Hannah asked curiously. She had thought she would look so old, but she was looking so young.

"Yeah, that's her, the devil in Black" Brandon said as they both stared at the woman who was busy removing her caps and jacket, giving it to the maid.

"Why's she wearing all black like she's attending a funeral?" Hannah asked and Brandon shrugged. That's his grandma, her best color was black, But she rarely wears it. Whenever she decides to wear it, it means danger and only her family knows that.

"Welcome grandma" Brandon muttered as she moved towards her and she hugged him.

"Oh my, Brandon you've grown into a big handsome man," Grandma said as she scrutinized Brandon and just then she pulled him into another hug.

"I miss you, my boy," she said and just then she caught a glimpse of Hannah staring at the both of them.

"Did I come to the wrong house? Who's she?" His grandma asked as she stared at Hannah weirdly.

"Grandma, this is my wife Cinderella Mackenzie and Cinderella, this is my grandma, Elizabeth Colby," Brandon said and Hannah smiled at her.

"Did I hear you say, wife? When the hell did you get married, Brandon!!" Grandma Elizabeth said, dragging his name and Brandon swallowed hard.

"There was only one wedding I wanted to attend but you called it off and now you are married. Wonderful!" Elizabeth said as she glared at Hannah and Brandon shot her a deadly glare.

"Grandma!" He said and she rolled her eyes at her.

"Hi, Grandma Elizabeth, welcome home" Hannah said as she moved towards her and was about to hug her but she moved back.

Hannah felt a little bit embarrassed but she quickly smiled at her.

"What are you smiling at and why does she look so much like CCM?" Grandma Elizabeth said as she walked past them and sat on the couch and Hannah raised her eyebrows. "What's a CCM?" Hannah asked confused

"You didn't tell her about your psycho mom?" Elizabeth asked and Brandon shot her a deadly glare.

"Camila Colby Montez. My mom, that's her name. She was called CCM when she worked at my dad's company," Brandon said and Hannah raised her eyebrows curiously. "Your mom's last name. Montez, is your mom Spanish?" Hannah asked and Brandon nodded in response.

"I thought you came with Jessica," Brandon asked wondering if her younger sister didn't come.

"Here I am brother," a lady in red, said as she walked elegantly inside the house.

"Oh sorry it took me a long time to come in, I have been on call," Jessica said and suddenly she paused as she saw Hannah.

"Who's she?" Jessica asked

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"Jessica, this is my wife, Cinderella Mackenzie, and Cinderella, this is my sister, Jessica," Brandon said and Hannah smiled at her.

"Hi," Hannah waved at her.

"Woah, do people still bear the name Cinderella at this time? Or are you the Cinderella from the Cinderella cartoon?" Jessica asked Brandon yelled her name and she rolled her eyes. "Anyways nice to meet you, sister-in-law," Jessica said as she moved toward Hannah and hugged her. Hannah hugged her in return. Elizabeth rolled her eyes.

"Mommy!" The octuplets called at once as they climbed down the stairs and everyone's eyes moved in their direction.

Elizabeth and Jessica stared at The octuplets with shocks in their eyes.

"Brandon, are these your kids?" Elizabeth asked and Brandon sighed softly.

"Sweethearts, this is your grandma and your aunt Jessica," Hannah said to the Octuplets who waved at them.

Grandma Elizabeth's eyes moved from The kids to Brandon, as she couldn't help but see the resemblance.

"What the fuck!" Grandma Elizabeth said as she stood up at once.

"We need to talk, Brandon!" Grandma Elizabeth said as she climbed upstairs to Brandon's study room.

"Wow, are you guys Octuplets?" Jessica asked and the kids nodded in response while staring at her and Jessica hummed softly.

"Where are the maids? Please come show me my room, it's been years since I last came, I barely remember anywhere here" Jessica yelled and then turned to Hannah and smiled. "You are pretty..... I hope your beauty doesn't fade away soon.... I hope you knew what you got into when you married my brother?" Jessica asked

"What are you talking about?" Hannah asked, confused.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.
"Oh, obviously, you don't know. Anyways, welcome to the Colby family, Sister-in-law" Jessica said and turned to the kids. She stared at them and with that, she walked away. Hannah sighed softly.

"Mommy, I do not seem to like them," Aubrey said

"I feel something is off about them, especially Grandma," Audrey said Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Same here," Addison said

"You shouldn't say such. They are your grandma and aunt. I want you guys to be nice to them " Hannah said and the kids nodded obediently.

"Okay now, go back to your room and play with your toys, " Hannah said and the kids nodded obediently and walked upstairs to their room.

Hannah sighed softly and sat on the couch, she decided to call Arianna and speak with her.

Meanwhile, Brandon and Elizabeth are seen in the study room arguing.

"Brandon, when did you get married and those kids? Are they yours?" Elizabeth asked

"Of course not, they aren't mine," Brandon said and Elizabeth scoffed.

"I doubt this, the kids look so much like you. Why don't we perform a DNA test"

TBC

The DNA 2

Chapter 36

"I doubt this, the kids look so much like you. Why don't we perform a DNA test" Elizabeth said and Brandon shot her a deadly glare.

"They are not my kids. Besides I know who the father is, it's just a coincidence we look alike and just like you said Cinderella looks so much like my mom too" Brandon said "All this is too real to be a coincidence. Well, that's for that besides I don't like her" Elizabeth said and rolled her eyes.

How could you not like someone you just met, Brandon wasn't surprised, his Grandma has always been that way. It was the same way she didn't like his mom.

"I do not expect you to like her. You've never liked anyone I have been with in the past, so why now?" Brandon asked and Elizabeth stared at him speechlessly.

"Why did you come back to Atlanta? And you didn't call me when you were coming? Instead, you called Liam?" Brandon asked

"I wanted to surprise you," Elizabeth said and Brandon scoffed.

"We know that's not true, you came for a reason and we both know that. Just spill it out and tell me why you are here, so we can get over it" Brandon said and Elizabeth smiled at her.

"You are the smart one, I'm sure you'll find out. For now, I need to go to my room now. The one with the biggest wardrobe designed with lots of flowers" Elizabeth said as she stood up from the chair she was sitting on.

"You can't have that room, the octuplets own it now," Brandon said and Elizabeth scoffed

"What?? That room was mine before I left"

"As you said, you left and I wasn't expecting you to come back.... Well, the room is taken. There are sixteen bedrooms in this mansion, choose anyone you want but not the one the Octuplets are in" Brandon said coldly and Elizabeth groaned "Just so you know, whatever you are planning Elizabeth Colby, I promise you I'll find it and stop you. It's not a threat," Brandon said and Elizabeth stared at him before walking out of the study room angrily.

Immediately, Elizabeth walked out of the room, brought out her phone, and called her private investigator.

"I want you to find out everything you know about Cinderella Mackenzie and her Octuplets," she said and with that, she ended the call.

Meanwhile, Hannah is seen in her room speaking to Arianna on phone.

"Wait, you mean his grandma, Elizabeth Colby is back and would be staying together with you guys?" Arianna asked to be sure of what Hannah had said and Hannah nodded while she stared at her mom, who was looking stressed because of what she had said.

"That bitch!" Arianna muttered angrily

"You know her?" Hannah asked and Arianna swallowed hard.

"Yes, I do...., who doesn't know the devil's mistress, Elizabeth Black," Arianna said angrily

"Black?" Hannah asked

"Yeah, that's her favorite color," Arianna said and Hannah raised her eyebrows curiously. Her mom was saying the exact thing Brandon had told her. "How do you know so much about her?" Hannah asked and Arianna paused for some seconds as she felt her heart twitch. But then she finally spoke.

"We did business together in the past," Arianna said and Hannah muttered an "oh".

"Just be careful around her, I have to go now!" Arianna said and with that, she ended the call.

Hannah wondered what was it about this woman, Elizabeth Colby that everyone calls her devil. She would surely find out why. Search The Findnovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Just a heads up: www.findnovel.net is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

Immediately after Arianna ended the call, a strange call came in. She wondered who owns the strange number.

She answered the phone call and to her Surprise, she heard Jeff's, her ex-husband's voice.

"Hannah, is this you?" Jeff asked as he answered the phone call.

"How the hell did you get my number?" Hannah said almost yelling.

"It doesn't matter, I did what you asked. I drove Rhoda out of the house and divorced her, please give me a second chance" Jeff pleaded and Hannah chuckled at his foolishness.

"Jeff, are you this stupid to see I can never give you a second chance? We cannot be together, not now, ever, or never! You are just stupid and confused. Go find something to do instead of chasing what can never be yours, because when you first had it, you never valued it. It's gone and gone" Hannah said and Jeff frowned. He's never felt so insulted in his entire life.

Did Hannah know the length he went to just to get her number and she had fooled him? She asked him to divorce Rhoda so that she would give them a chance and now he's done what she asked and she insults him, he thought angrily. "Don't ever call this number" Hannah said and ended the call.

Jeff groaned as she ended the call and threw it at the wall making it break into pieces.

"I'll make you mine, no matter what Hannah and nobody can stop me, not even you," he thought angrily.

It was evening and Brandon decided they would all have dinner together.

The entire household is seen sitting at the dining table eating, with utmost silence.

"So, Cinderella or Ella, where did you grow up?" Jessica asked as she drank from her glass of juice.

"I grew up here in Atlanta," Hannah replied with a Smile on her face.

"Oh wow, that's nice," Jessica said and Brandon shot her a deadly glare telling her to stop. He knew where his sister was heading, but instead, Jessica rolled her eyes at him.

"Have you been married before?" Jessica asked and Hannah almost choked on her food.

"Mommy, here," Jayden said as he passed his mommy a glass of water, which she took and drank from it.

"Thank you, honey," she said to Jayden as she dropped the glass of water back on the table.

"Who's the father of the octuplets!" Jessica asked and Brandon slammed his hands against the table making everyone flinch and of course except the devil in Black, Grandma Elizabeth. "Enough of all these questions!" Brandon yelled and Jessica raised her hands in surrender.

"You ruined my appetite already," Brandon said as he stood up and left the dining table.

"I'll take the kids upstairs," Hannah said as she and the kids stood up. She took the kids to their room and decided to go to hers.

On entering her room, she met Grandma Elizabeth, sitting on her bed, with her leg crossed and a glass of wine in her hands.

TBC

Let's go

Chapter 37

On entering her room, she met Grandma Elizabeth, sitting on her bed, with her leg crossed and a glass of wine in her hands.

"Grandma" she called out, surprised to see her in her room. She wondered what she was doing in her room and on her bed, sipping her wine from the glass cup.

"You are Cinderella Mackenzie, right? How did you and my grandson meet? I have been wondering how the both of you met" Elizabeth paused as she sipped from her wine and then continued.

"Brandon is not into any woman, and all of a sudden he's married to you who happened to be a mother to eight kids that look so much like him. Is this a coincidence or....." she paused as she stood up from the bed and walked towards Hannah and whispered in her ear.

"I just found out your real name is Hannah Rodriguez," Elizabeth said and Hannah felt a cold shiver run down her spine.

"I wonder why Brandon said your name is Cinderella Mackenzie instead of Hannah Rodriguez, or he doesn't know about it?"

Oh my goodness! I'm sure he doesn't know about it. I wonder what else he doesn't know about his dearest wife" She laughed and sipped everything from the glass and dropped it on the ground making the glass break into pieces. Hannah flinched.

"Oh, poor glass! This is gonna be you when I find everything about you and your motive here.... You better run away while you still have the chance" Elizabeth said and was about to walk away when Hannah spoke.

"I love Brandon and I'm going nowhere," Hannah said and Elizabeth frowned at her. Just the look Hannah wanted from her. She scoffed.

"I hope that love saves you by the time I'm done with you," Elizabeth said

"It sure will, besides, love conquers all," Hannah said and a rage of anger rushed through Elizabeth's veins. She walked out of the room angrily.

Hannah sighed softly, she couldn't believe she had said she loved the stupid CEO. She just can't let Elizabeth walk over her as Rosa did in the past. She noticed the more she's close to Brandon the more she gets pissed off, this time she's gonna make sure she pisses her off all the time. She wanted war, then war it is.

She thought as she sat on the bed. Just then Brandon walked inside her room. She wondered if he was there to scold her for pissing off his grandma.

"What did you say to Grandma that made her angry?" Brandon asked curiously

"Are you here to shout at me because I made her angry?" Hannah asked and Brandon scoffed.

"Of course not. I have never seen my grandma this angry in a long time. No one has ever pissed her off this way, except my mom though and that was a long time ago and today you made her angry.

So I was wondering what you told her" Brandon said and Hannah rolled her eyes at him.

"Doesn't matter" she said as she took her laptop and opened it. Brandon smiled as he stared at Hannah.

He felt happiness in his heart, knowing Hannah must have stood up to his grandma, that's why she is angry. No one has ever stood up against her in a long time but Hannah did, he doesn't know why but he was starting to like Hannah, he thought.

"Are you gonna keep staring at me or leave?" Hannah asked as she raised her head.

"I stay in this room, remember," Brandon said and Hannah rolled her eyes.

He sat close to her staring at what she was doing at her laptop.

"Did you draft this out?" Brandon asked surprised to see what she was doing.

"Yeah, I'm planning on creating my own company although I'm still thinking of a name," Hannah said, her eyes on her laptop.

Brandon stared at her and noticed how serious she was while staring at the laptop. She's intelligent and smart and seems hard-working too. These are the kind of people my company wants. Ideas like this could blow BRC to the next level. He wouldn't let this slip off his finger.

"There's a vacancy in my company, why don't you work for me? Of course, I'll pay you" Brandon said and Hannah turned to him at once.

"I'm not interested," she said as she closed her laptop and stood up from the bed.

"Okay, what if I make you the new COO?" Brandon asked and Hannah stared at him for some seconds before she finally spoke.

"And who was the former COO?" Hannah asked curiously.

"When my father was in the company, my mom was the COO, but grandma overthrew her and took the position. She's the COO but I'm willing to give you the position, besides Grandma no longer works for the company" Brandon said and Hannah hummed.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"Okay, fine. I accept it" Hannah said with a devilish grin on her face.

"That's good, I'll call Liam to prepare all the necessary documents and your office too. You can resume whenever you want" Brandon said and brought out his phone from his pocket before walking out of the room. Hannah chuckled softly, once Elizabeth heard the news, she was gonna be so angry that she might explode. I just can't wait for that. That's gonna be payback for trying to investigate my past, Hannah thought angrily.

But on second thought, she needed to do everything to cover up her past. She cannot afford to let Elizabeth find out about it because there are things she did in the past that she wasn't proud of.

Meanwhile, The octuplets who pretended to be asleep when Hannah took them to their room, stood up from the bed.

Earlier, before they had dinner, they had overheard Grandma Elizabeth talking to someone on phone about their mommy and it seems like she was planning something evil. They decided to find out and they plan on keeping an eye on their new grandma.

They decided to split themselves.

"We should split, the eight of us can't go spy on Grandma at once," Allison said and Jayden hummed.

"I think you are right, the four of you girls will go spy on Aunt Jessica, I don't trust her too. I think she's up to something, while we boys will go spy on grandma" Jamie said and they nodded in response.

"Common, let's do this and make sure none of us get caught. Are you guys ready?" Jayden asked and they nodded in response.

"Let's go"

TBC

The New COO

Chapter 38

Common, let's do this and make sure none of us get caught. Are you guys ready?" Jayden asked and they nodded in response.

"Let's go"

Meanwhile, the girls are seen walking towards Jessica's room when they saw Brandon walking out of their mommy's with his phone in his ear. He was on a phone call. They quickly hid themselves.

"She's gonna be the new COO. I want you to make sure her office and everything is in place tomorrow, although I told her she could resume anytime" Brandon said as he walked inside his study room.

The kids sighed softly, they were glad they weren't caught. If there's one thing they've noticed about Brandon is that, whenever he's on call, he's always talking about business or his office and the kids find it boring. They moved away from where they were hiding and walked towards Jessica's room. They opened the door slightly and walked inside the room. They scrutinized the whole room and noticed no one was inside. They wondered where she had gone by this time of the night, when she was supposed to be in her room.

"This room smells of alcohol and cigarettes, did you guys think she was drinking and smoking?" Allison asked as they covered their noses.

"Let's get out of here, before someone catches us" Audrey said and they walked out of the room.

"I'm tasty, let's go get water in the kitchen and go back to our room then wait for the J4 to arrive and tell us what they saw" Aubrey said and they nodded in response and went downstairs to the kitchen.

On getting to the kitchen they heard strange sounds coming from the kitchen. They wondered who was making that sound.

They walked inside the kitchen and to their surprise they saw Jessica and the Butler smooching and kissing each other.

"Oh my goodness!" The kids muttered in unison and quickly turned around.

"Shit!" Jessica moved away from the butler as she saw the kids. She quickly arranged her clothes and the Butler walked out of the kitchen in a rush.

"What are you guys doing here? Aren't you guys supposed to be asleep?" Jessica asked as she staggered and the kids turned to her. They stared at her weirdly.

"She's drunk" Addison said and her sisters hummed. They walked past her without uttering a word, they walked towards the fridge and took a bottle of canned water each, and then walked out of the kitchen, leaving Jessica alone who also staggered back to her room.

On getting to their room, they met their brothers inside. They were already back.

"What took you guys so long?" Jayden asked as his sisters walked in with a bottle of water in their hands.

"Nothing, we didn't see or hear anything, we only saw Aunt Jessica and the Butler smooching each other, " Addison said as she opened the can of water and drank from it then walked towards her bed and sat on it. "Woah!" The boys muttered in unison.

"Then you guys found something" Jamie said as he laughed and they all stared at him wondering what he was thinking.

"Okay, first of all can you all stop giving me that look?" Jamie asked and they rolled their eyes at him.

"I have got a plan" Jamie said and his siblings hummed.

"You can tell us about it tomorrow, for now we are tired, we need to be in school tomorrow" The girls voiced out as they laid on the bed tiredly. They closed their eyes and drifted to sleep.

"You can tell us about the plan by morning," Jayden said and Jamie nodded in response. They laid quietly on the bed and drifted to sleep.

It was morning and a brand new day.

Hannah had woken up early and decided to make breakfast for the kids before going to get dressed for work. Today she was going to resume as the new COO of BRC. co.

After finishing cooking, she went upstairs to check on the kids, and to her surprise they were already awake and dressed up for school.

"Good morning sweethearts" Hannah muttered with a smile on her face.

"Good morning Mommy," the kids said in unison and Hannah smiled at them.

"Breakfast is ready, it's y'all favorite. Go downstairs and the maid will serve you guys. I need to go get ready for work" Hannah said and the kids turned to her at once. "Work?" they asked in unison and Hannah nodded.

"I'm going to be resuming as the New COO of BRC. CO" Hannah said and the kids opened their eyes in shock.

They knew BRC. CO belongs to Brandon, they wondered how their mommy did it that made Brandon give her such a high position, not that their mommy has worked for him before.

On the other hand, they knew their mommy was a smart woman and she would surely do well as the COO of the company.

"We should celebrate mommy, this is huge" The octuplets said and Hannah smiled at them.

"We would surely celebrate it, but first of all you guys need to go to school early. You all do not want to be late" Hannah said and the kids nodded and went downstairs to eat breakfast, while Hannah went to her room to get dressed. She hadn't seen Brandon since he left the room last night, she wondered where he had slept. Didn't he say they needed to pretend and make it look like they were a real couple, she thought as she got dressed.

But on second thought, she was glad he didn't sleep in the room, she would have felt so uncomfortable.

Meanwhile, The kids are seen downstairs eating breakfast, while Brandon walks towards them and joined them.

"Good morning Daddy" the octuplets and Brandon hummed as he stared at the kids who were so focused on their food, which seems to be their favorite.

He remembered when he was so little, his mom had prepared his favorite food and when he ate it, he focused all his energy on the food. He didn't know why but the kids reminded him of his childhood. He quickly shook off the thoughts.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

Just then Elizabeth walked towards the dining table and sat on a vacant chair. Search the FindNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Good morning Grandma" the octuplets said and Elizabeth rolled her eyes at them. She picked up a knife as she cut from the chicken on the table and placed it on her plate. "Grandma, Good morning" Brandon said and Elizabeth scoffed.

"I thought I was invisible that you couldn't greet" Elizabeth said as she scooped a spoon filled with spaghetti in her mouth.

Brandon ignored her because he knew she was trying to get on his nerves. They all are in silence, Brandon begins to wonder why Jessica hasn't come downstairs for breakfast. It was unlike her, Jessica never misses breakfast, she loves food too much.

So, he decided to ask the maid and they told him she was still asleep. The kids stared at each other knowing fully well that she had drunk so much last night, that must be the reason she's still asleep.

"Brandon, I'll be resuming my position as the New COO today at BRC" Grandma Elizabeth said as she drank from the glass of water and wiped her lips.

Brandon stared at her surprised. He smiled.

"I don't think you can work as the COO anymore, you should be resting at your age," Brandon said and Elizabeth frowned.

"I'm still very strong Brandon....." Elizabeth paused as she stared at Brandon.

"Don't tell me you employed a new COO already" Elizabeth said and Brandon sighed softly.

"Yes Grandma, someone has taken over that position already" Brandon said and Elizabeth felt her heart shatter into pieces.

"Who is that bitch you employed as the new COO?" Elizabeth asked as she slammed her hands on the dining table making the octuplets flinch and of course, except Brandon.

"I..." a voice muttered and everyone's gazes moved towards the direction where the voice came from and to their surprise they all saw Hannah looking so beautiful in her dress.

Brandon swallowed hard as he stared at her. He was almost lost in her beauty, he had seen lots of beautiful women in his life, but this woman in front of him, there was something about her beauty that made a strange feeling arouse in him. TBC

They are Brothers

Chapter 39

"I..." a voice muttered and everyone's eyes moved towards the direction where the voice came from and to their surprise, they all saw Hannah looking so beautiful in her dress.

Brandon swallowed hard as he stared at her. He was almost lost in her beauty, he had seen lots of beautiful women in his life, but this woman in front of him, there was something about her beauty that made a strange feeling arouse in him. "What the hell?" Grandma Elizabeth muttered with shock in her eyes.

"You asshole!" she muttered as she stared at Hannah who walked towards her kids and kissed them on their cheeks.

"The driver will take you guys to school. I'll come to pick you guys up when you close from school" Hannah said as the kids stood up from the chair they were sitting on.

"It's fine Mommy, you should focus on your work, you can ask the driver to pick us up from school," Jayden said and she smiled at the same kids. She didn't know what she could do without them.

"Bye Mommy, we love you" The kids waved at them and ran out of the house but just then Jayden came running back to Hannah.

"Honey, is everything alright?" Hannah asked and Jayden smiled at her.

"Good luck with your new job. Prove to them that you are the queen of the Mackenzie Empire" Jayden said and hugged Hannah.

"Thank you, honey," Hannah said as she felt tears gather in her eyes. Jayden smiled at her and then walked out of the house to the car.

Meanwhile, Elizabeth and Brandon have been staring at the mother and kids. Elizabeth didn't know why but she felt so jealous of Hannah and her kids. While Brandon on the other hand stared at Hannah strangely, he admired the way she mothered her kids.

Elizabeth stared at Brandon and noticed the way he was staring at Hannah. She's never seen Brandon stare at any woman that way. It was like there was something else in his eyes while he stared at her. She wondered what Hannah might have done to her son, she thought.

Hannah turned to Brandon and noticed he was staring at her, she smiled at him and Brandon quickly looked away from her.

Elizabeth frowned and stood up from the dining table. She wasn't going to sit and watch those two stare at each other with love in their eyes, she needed to do something before everything got out of hand. Hannah watched Grandma Elizabeth walk away angrily. She sat on the chair and started eating.

"I see you know how to get my grandma angry," Brandon said as he gulped down the water from the glass cup. Hannah hummed without staring at him.

Brandon stared at her, all he wanted to tell her was how beautiful she was looking, but he quickly shook off the thoughts. He didn't want to let his pride down.

"We would be going to Mr. Donald's party this evening, " Brandon said as he stood up from the chair and Hannah nodded.

"The driver will bring you to the company, you should be in the office before 10 am. There is gonna be a board meeting, I want you to attend so I can introduce you to the board members" Brandon said and raised her head, staring deep down into Brandon's eyes.

"Okay," she said and looked away from him and then continued eating her food.

"Okay? Hmm weird!" Brandon thought as he scoffed and walked out of the house. He hopped inside his car and drove out of the compound.

Immediately, Hannah heard his car leave, she stood up and carried her bag. She walked out of the house and entered the car while the driver drove her to the office.

A Red Car screeched to a halt in front of BRC. Co.

The driver opened the door and Hannah alighted the car.

She was wearing a red gown, her lips were as red as blood, with a sunglasses on.

"Mrs. Mackenzie" she heard someone call her name and she turned, to her surprise she saw Liam, Brandon's PA. Has he been waiting for me outside? she thought as she smiled at him.

"Mr. Colby asked me to wait for you outside. I'll show you to your office and I employed a new personal assistant. If you need anything you could ask me or the personal assistant" Liam said and Hannah nodded as they both walked inside the company, lots of eyes staring at them.

"What about Brandon?" Hannah asked as they both entered the elevator.

"He's in the boardroom, the board meeting will start in the next five minutes, you should join them," Brandon said and Hannah nodded in response.

The elevator stopped on the last floor, and Hannah recognized the area very well. It was on the same floor as Brandon's office.

"Your office is next to Mr. Colby's office," Liam said and Hannah stared at him surprised. She thought Brandon's office was the only one on the last floor, she didn't know there was another, she thought. Search the findNovel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

She walked past Brandon's office and entered her office, there she met a lady sitting down but immediately the lady saw Liam and Hannah walking in, she stood up at once.

"Welcome ma'am, welcome sir," the lady said with her head bowed.

"This is your new Personal assistant, Kara Derrick," Liam said

"Hi ma'am" Kara muttered and Hannah smiled at her.

Liam stared at the woman, he wondered why she was always smiling. But if there was one thing he wouldn't lie about was that the lady was very pretty.

"Ma'am I prepared everything you need, I didn't know what you like so I got you a hot coffee and I cleared all your schedule for today because you gonna be attending the party with Mr Brandon and the board meeting is gonna start in two minutes," Kara said calmly and Hannah raised her eyebrows,

Not bad, she was sure she's gonna enjoy her time with Kara because she seems so good at her job.

"If you need Anything, ma'am, I'll be right beside you," Kara said Hannah nodded and walked out of the office to the board room where the meeting was being held.

Immediately she entered the board, everywhere went silent at once, all eyes were on her.

"Who is she?" The board members thought, whispering among themselves.

Meanwhile, Brandon who was on his phone raised his head immediately after he saw Hannah and asked her to sit down.

"Attention everyone..." Brandon said and everywhere became as silent as a graveyard.

"As we all discussed in the previous meeting, I told you guys I was going to bring in a new COO since my grandma is no longer fit for the job... and yes of course, I kept to my word.... Meet my Wife, Cinderella Mackenzie, the new COO of BRC. CO" Brandon said and the board members opened their mouths wide in shock.

"What?!" The board members muttered in shock. They had thought maybe he was gonna bring in his sister as his new COO, but he brought in a woman who he claims to be his wife, it was shocking to them all.

"Oh don't tell me I missed the meeting!" A voice muttered as the door burst open, everyone turned to see who it was and to their greatest surprise, it was Grandma Elizabeth. "What are you doing here? I thought I...."

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. "I'm still a member of the board, remember?" Elizabeth said, cutting off Brandon's speech.

"This meeting is adjourned. Everyone out!" Brandon said and all the board members stood up and left and Of Course except Elizabeth, Hannah, and Brandon. "No matter how hard you try Brandon, you cannot force me to stay away from this company, it's mine....."

"Point of correction, the company is mine and mine alone," Brandon said angrily, Elizabeth became calm immediately after he saw the angry look on Brandon's face. "Brandon, honey, can't you see this woman is trying to get between us? She's only after your money" Elizabeth said and Brandon shot her a deadly glare.

"Yeah, I can see that, same way you tried coming between my mom and dad..." Brandon said and Elizabeth swallowed hard.

"You think I don't know the truth? You know what? Leave this company or the guard will help you out" Brandon said and with that, he walked out of the boardroom.

Meanwhile, Hannah sat down watching the whole scene without uttering a word, immediately Brandon left, she stood up and was about to leave but Elizabeth pulled her by her hair. "You Bastard!" Elizabeth yelled

"Let go of my hair!" Hannah said as she pushed Elizabeth away, making her fall to the ground. Hannah wondered why the woman hated her so much.

"How dare you push me, you whore,"

"Oh Grandma, you know I'm not a whore, I'm your son's wife and your new boss, you should start addressing me as your new COO," Hannah said and was about to walk away when Elizabeth spoke, making her pause. "Oh yeah, COO Hannah Rodriguez, I'm sure your Ex husband Jeff Mickelson doesn't know you are married to his stepbrother," Elizabeth said and Hannah turned to her swiftly.

"Jeff and Brandon are Brothers?"

TBC

Watch where you are going to

Chapter

40

Hannah is seen sitting in her office staring at the computer in front of her. She didn't believe what Grandma Elizabeth had said, that Brandon and Jeff are stepbrothers.

Does that mean they both know each other? No, that cannot be true, she was so sure Elizabeth was trying to piss her off, and come to think of it, Elizabeth has been doing too much digging about her past, it was high time she does something about it, she thought.

Just then a knock came in,

"Come in" she muttered and the door opened revealing Liam.

"Mr. Brandon wants you to meet him outside the company in his car," Liam said and Hannah raised her eyebrows giving him a questioning look.

"Tch" she clicked her tongue as she remembered she was going to attend a party with Brandon.

"I'll be there in a jiffy," Hannah said and Liam nodded in response before leaving. she stood up and packed her things in her bag. She walked out of her office and entered the elevator.

Immediately she walked out of the elevator, she saw two employees gossiping about her. They weren't just any random employees, she had seen both of them in the board room earlier when Brandon had introduced her.

"I'm so fucking sure, she slept her way to the COO position and seduced him to become his wife," one of them said.

Hannah walked past them pretending not to hear a thing they were saying. She walked towards the garage, there she saw Brandon's car.

She walked towards the car, opened the door, and hopped in. Brandon, whose eyes were fixed on his phone, dropped his phone immediately after she entered the car, ignited the engine, and zoomed off without staring at her.

On the other hand, Hannah turned and stared at Brandon whose eyes were fixed on the road, she wondered what was wrong with him, he seemed angry, but she quickly shook off the thoughts, it was none of her concerns. "I need to change my clothes," Hannah said and Brandon turned to her, he stared at her for some seconds before looking away.

"You look okay in this dress! It's just a birthday party and we ain't gonna spend too much time there," Brandon said coldly and Hannah scoffed.

"But the dress is....."

"Is there someone you wanna try to impress there? Or is your ex-husband going to be there?" Brandon said and Hannah frowned at him. She wondered what he knew about her ex-husband.

Hannah stared at Brandon angrily without saying a word. It's better to ignore him, if I had known I would have gone to the party on my own and not in his car, Hannah thought as she looked outside the car window. The car screeched to a halt in front of a big mansion, Brandon Alighted the car and Hannah did the same while trailing behind him.

There were a lot of men in suits and women too in different kinds of dresses. They were all looking so elegant and rich. This was a party for the rich only, she thought as she scrutinized the whole area.

She stared at the mansion which was so big and well-decorated. It has the almost size of Colby's Empire.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free.

"Mr. Brandon Colby" She heard a voice call and then she turned only to see an advanced man walking towards Brandon with a smile on his face.

"Mr. Donald" Brandon said as they both shook hands.

"I thought you wouldn't come," Donald said and Brandon chuckled,

"I wouldn't miss your daughter's birthday party for anything," Brandon said as he forced himself to smile, it wasn't his idea to come to this party, he had only come because he wanted Mr. Donald to partner with him. He needed his resources for the project he's currently building.

Donald smiled and just then he caught a glimpse of Hannah who was standing beside Brandon.

"And who is this beautiful Damsel?" Donald asked and Brandon turned to Hannah. This was the first time since they arrived that he had taken a good look at her, and he must confess, she was looking so beautiful and shiny. He wondered why she said she needed a change of dress. This woman looks good in any dress she puts on.

"This is my wife, Cinderella Mackenzie, and Ella this is Mr. Donald, a friend of mine," Brandon said and Hannah smiled.

"Hello sir," Hannah said and Donald Brought his hands forward for a handshake which Hannah wholeheartedly took.

"It's nice meeting you Cinderella Mackenzie," Mr. Donald said and kissed her hands. SEARCH THE Find_Novel.net website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Welcome to my party and enjoy," Donald said as he winked at Hannah who gave him a weird look.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. "Come, Brandon, I'll introduce you to my friends and business partners," Donald said and Brandon nodded in response and walked away with Donald leaving Hannah all alone. Hannah sighed softly, staring around... just then she heard her phone vibrate, she brought out her phone from her handbag and saw a message. It was from her mom Arianna.

"How's your first day as the COO going?" Hannah read and smiled. She had told Arianna that Brandon had offered her the position of the COO and she accepted it but she didn't know why, Arianna felt more than happy about it.

"It isn't going well as thought. A lot of people are gossiping that I slept my way to the COO position when I haven't even seen the size of Brandon's dick" she texted and laughed at what she had sent to her mom. Arianna replied with a laughing emoji.

"They will always talk. It's better to ignore them, when they get tired, they will stop talking.... So, don't let what anyone says get to you" Arianna said and Hannah smiled.

"Ok Mom, I'm at a party, I have to go now. I will call you when I get home" Hannah texted and put her phone back in her bag.

She sighed softly and decided to use the restroom but she didn't know where the restroom was. The house seems so big.

Just then she saw a waitress and then asked her where the restroom was. The waitress directed her to the restroom.

Just as she was about to enter the bathroom, she bumped into someone unexpectedly.

"You asshole, watch where you are going to" A voice yelled and Hannah raised her head to see who it was and to her surprise, she saw.....

TBC