

Cinderella And Her Beautiful Octuplets

She wants me to find his mother

Chapter 71

"You sure you hate him or maybe you love him but you do not want to admit what you feel" The voice spoke calmly and Hannah turned only to see Jessica standing by the door with a smile on her face. "Oh my goodness, did I say that aloud?" she thought as Jessica walked fully inside the room.

Hannah wondered what she was doing in her room. This was the first time Jessica was entering her room and smiling at her, she wondered what happened all of a sudden.

Jessica stared at Hannah and noticed what was going through her mind. The looks Hannah was giving her said it all. She smiled and sat close to her on the bed.

"I don't think my brother was lying about calling that woman over to embarrass you. I know Brandon is a complete asshole but there are things he wouldn't do" Jessica said and Hannah turned to her at once. "Have you been eavesdropping on our conversation since?" Hannah asked and Jessica nodded in response and Hannah clicked her tongue.

"Shit!! Now she knows the marriage is a contract marriage and Brandon never wanted any of his family to find out about it" Hannah thought and then sighed softly with a look of disappointment on her face. "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to eavesdrop," Jessica said and Hannah nodded.

"Well, now you know it's a contract marriage," Hannah said and Jessica smiled.

"I knew before now that it was a contract marriage," Jessica said and Hannah raised her eyebrows wondering how she knew about it.

"Well, it was one fateful morning, I had gone to Brandon's study room, I needed to talk to him about something urgent but on getting there, I found out he wasn't in his study room.

I decided to leave when I suddenly saw a picture of you on Brandon's table. Out of curiosity, I decided to check out the picture but then I noticed it was on a file on his table.

I took the file and opened it, it was the contract agreement between the both of you. It was there I knew" Jessica said and Hannah stared at her speechlessly.

"It's fine, Grandma doesn't know. It's just me" Jessica said and Hannah gave out a breath of relief.

"You know I noticed you might not be as bad as grandma paints you to be. I wonder why she detests you so much. Well, even though I didn't believe I would say this to you but I think I like you. It's the truth" Jessica said and Hannah smiled at her without saying a word.

"And I know my brother likes you too even though he doesn't want to admit it. He's stubborn. I see the way he looks at you and how he acts around you. The last time I saw him look at someone that way was a long time ago," Jessica said and sighed softly.

"It was his-fiancé, it was a tragic story. He had to call off their wedding" Jessica said and sighed sadly.

"You do not have to talk about it if you do not feel comfortable," Hannah said and Jessica smiled at her. She decided to change the subject of the conversation. "Did you know that bitch Rhoda? Damn! I despise her a lot. I wonder how my brother knew her" Jessica said and Hannah laughed without saying a word.

She knows Jessica wants to say something but she's finding it hard to say it, and using other words to cover up, she wonders what she wants to say. Just then Jessica stood up and smiled at Hannah.

"You should fix things with my brother and do not let this marriage cut off. I see a contract marriage becoming a real one" Jessica said and with that she walked out of the room, locking the door behind her, she sighed softly. She knows Brandon went into the contract marriage because he needed to find their mom but he doesn't know the truth.

Grandma Elizabeth never told him the truth, their mom was dead. Tears gathered in her eyes. She quickly wiped them and walked back to her room.

Meanwhile, Hannah sighed immediately after Jessica left. She wondered what she meant by seeing a contract marriage becoming a real one.

Never! Not between her and that asshole Brandon, she thought. She needed to help Brandon find his mom too if she wants the marriage to end soon. She then brought out her phone and dialed Micheal's number. It rang twice and then Micheal answered the phone call.

"Hello ma'am"

"Hi, Michael. I need your help in finding someone" Hannah said and Micheal wondered who.

"Who ma'am?" Micheal asked

"Brandon's mom. Her name is Camilla Colby Montez" Hannah said and Micheal nodded in response and with that, he ended the call.

Hannah sighed softly and dropped her phone on the bed. She needed to find Brandon's mom, maybe she would be the answer to The Colby having a happy family again but on second thought, she wondered if she was still Alive. Meanwhile, immediately Micheal ended the call, he called Mrs. Arianna Mackenzie. Arianna had told her that if Hannah asked him about anything he should tell her about it.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

Immediately, Arianna answered the phone call.

"Micheal," Arianna said as she answered the phone call.

"Ma'am, your daughter called me and asked me to help her find someone," Micheal said and Arianna wondered who.

"Who did she ask you to find?" Arianna asked.

"I think a woman who goes by the name Camilla Colby Montez, Brandon's mom," Micheal said and immediately Arianna went dead silent for some minutes. She felt a cold shiver run down her spine and her phone almost fell from her hand. "Ma'am, are you there? Should I go on with the search or abort the mission?" Micheal asked, jolting Arianna out of her deep thoughts.

"Do not go on with the search " Ariana' said

"What do I tell her then?" Micheal asked

"I don't know, just tell her anything. Tell her she's dead, just tell her anything that would make her stop trying to find her" Arianna said and with that, she ended the call. Micheal wondered what was wrong with her and why she sounded weird when he mentioned the name, Camilla Colby Montez.

He quickly shook off the thoughts. He then decided to wait for probably a day before telling Hannah the person she asked him to find is dead, so she wouldn't suspect a thing. TBC

Planning something bad

Chapter 72

Arianna is seen in her room holding a glass cup filled with wine. She gulped from the glass of wine and then dropped it on the table.

She stared at her phone and suddenly picked it up and dialed Hannah's number, and immediately she picked up the phone.

"Hello Mommy," Hannah said over the phone

"Hannah, how are you feeling?" Arianna asked

"I'm okay Mommy, at least for now," Hannah said with a sigh

"What's the problem, honey?" Arianna asked in a concerned tone.

"Nothing much, I and Brandon have a misunderstanding and I'm planning on ending the marriage. He's asking me to give him a few more days to find his mom before we end the contract" Hannah said and Arianna screamed at once.

"What?!" She muttered as the color of her face changed immediately. She didn't want the contract marriage between Hannah and Brandon to end. She wished for it to become a real one. She gave out a deep breath and calmed herself. She just needed to speak with Hannah calmly and she would listen to her.

"What's wrong? It was all a contract marriage from the start and we both knew it was going to end anyways. I asked Micheal to find his mom, so we can be done with each other once and for all" Hannah said and Arianna sighed softly, she could sense the sadness in Hannah's voice.

"Honey, I know it's a contract marriage and it's fine if you do want to end it but why don't you wait a little bit more before you do?"

Uhm, the octuplets like Brandon a lot and they believe it's a real marriage, ending the marriage would make them feel sad and you know how excited they are to have a father figure in their life.

Whatever is going on between you and Brandon, I'm sure you both can fix it" Arianna said and Hannah sighed softly without saying a word.

Arianna was right, her octuplets love Brandon a lot and they feel protected and happy whenever they are with Brandon. Ending the marriage now might make her children feel sad, Hannah thought.

"And honey, please do not try looking for Brandon's mom," Arianna said

"But why? That's the most reason Brandon agreed to this marriage, he's been trying but to no avail, maybe if I try, I might get some lead on finding her" Hannah said

"It's too dangerous honey, searching for Camila Colby Montez is going to put your life and that of your kid in danger.

Let the sleeping dog lie..... honey, it's too dangerous " Arianna said and Hannah wondered what she meant by it's gonna put her life and her kid's life in danger.

"Is there something you know that you are not telling me?" Hannah asked

"Honey, please promise me you won't try to find her, please, it's for your good," Arianna said and Hannah sighed softly.

She trusted Arianna with her life, even though she isn't her biological mom, she trusted her and believed her judgment.

"Fine, I won't try to look for her," Hannah said and Arianna gave out a breath of relief.

"Good" Arianna said and suddenly someone walked into her room and spoke.

"Jefa, Mrs. Claire is here," the bodyguard said and Arianna nodded in response.

"I have to go now, Hannah. I have got some business to discuss with my new partner. I'll speak with you later" Arianna said and with that, she ended the call.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

Meanwhile, Brandon is seen in his office, sitting on his chair while staring at the computer in front of him with a lot of thoughts going through his mind.

Just then Liam walked inside the office and dropped some files on the table jolting Brandon out of his thoughts.

After they had left the mansion, they both went to the company.

"Are you alright?" Liam asked as he noticed the sad look on Brandon's face. He wondered what happened at the mansion that made his face look that way. He's been like this since he left his mansion. "You need to hasten your search on my mom, the contract between me and Hannah is ending soon," Brandon said and Liam sighed.

He wondered what happened between Hannah and Brandon. The contract is yet to expire and they want to end it. Did they both get into a fight when he left with Rhoda? He thought, lots of questions going through his mind. "Did you both get into a fight?" Liam asked and Brandon scoffed.

"That woman is so stubborn. She accused me of asking Rhoda to come over and humiliate her and called me an asshole, the same way she told me I'm not her type of man.

No one has ever spoken to me the way she did. How dare she?" Brandon said while thinking of all the mean words Hannah had said to her.

Liam sighed softly. He's known Brandon to be a strong man and words had never gotten to him and now, Hannah is the only woman that had made him this way.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"So, are you both gonna end the contract marriage because of that? I would advise you to apologize and fix everything" Liam said and Brandon gave her a deadly glare.

"What?! Never!" Brandon said and Liam sighed.

"I saw a contract she was trying to draft before she was shot. Brandon, that woman has the resources to make this company move forward.

Do the needful, at least for your company's sake and for the sake of your mom" Liam said and Brandon stared at him without saying a word.

Just then he heard his phone ring, it was a call from Rhoda..... he answered the phone call.

"Brandon, I'm so sorry for what happened. I was only trying to make peace with Hannah, I didn't know she would take it so personal and hit me" Rhoda said in a teary tone and Brandon sighed softly. "It's fine," Brandon said and Rhoda sniffed.

"My face hurts a lot and I'm all alone. Do you mind coming over for dinner today" Rhoda asked

"Sure, I'll try to make some time and come over, you should rest and take care of yourself," Brandon said and with that, he ended the call.

Liam knew it was Rhoda, he wondered if Brandon meant what he said by going over to meet Rhoda.

He wondered what Rhoda was planning this time.

He needed to make sure Brandon didn't see Rhoda, he knows Rhoda and he knows she was planning something bad.

TBC

We need your help

Chapter 73

He needed to make sure Brandon didn't see Rhoda, he knows Rhoda and he knows she was planning something bad.

"Is that Rhoda on the phone?" Liam asked and Brandon nodded.

"I do not think you would be able to meet with her today, you have a meeting with the T-Brothers this Evening. They changed their mind and are willing to talk business with you" Liam said.

"Oh, that's good news, you would be going over to Rhoda's house to keep her company then. She said she's lonely and needs some company" Brandon said and Liam nodded in response before walking out of Brandon's office. "Whatever you are planning, Rhoda, I'm going to stop you," Liam said and with that, he walked away.

The octuplets are seen in their room, discussing with each other.

"I remember that lady from the other day," Jasper said

"Same here, she was the woman that had gotten into a fight with Mommy the other day at the mall," Addison said and they all nodded in agreement.

"I wonder who she is," Allison said and they all sighed softly.

"We didn't have the time to investigate the lady from the last time we saw her, damn," Jamie said

"We thought she wouldn't be a threat anymore that's why we just didn't bother," Jaxon said

"But seems she's a big threat already," Jamie said

"What do we do now?" Aubrey asked

"We should first find out who that woman is before we make our next move," Audrey said and sighed softly.

Then suddenly they all turned to Jayden who hadn't said a word since they arrived in their room.

"What?" Jayden asked when he noticed all eyes on him.

"You haven't said a word since you arrived here," Allison said

"What are you thinking about?" Jamie asked

"Didn't you guys notice Daddy Brandon looks so much like us, the resemblance is just too much, this isn't a coincidence, I'm sure of that.

What if he's our Daddy?" Jayden asked and the kids stared at each other without saying a word but then Allison finally spoke.

"How do we know if he's our daddy?" She asked

"We need to do a DNA test," Jayden said and Japer scoffed

"And how are we gonna do that? We can't just go to a lab and tell them we wish to do a DNA test.

They gonna ignore us thinking we do not know what we saying" Jasper said

"Even if we are to do the DNA, how do we get Brandon's hair sample and take it to the lab," Addison asked

"That's true, this is gonna be difficult," Audrey said

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"Not if we ask help from a grown-up adult," Jayden said and they all turned to him at once.

"You are not planning on asking mommy for help right? Or do you want to ask Daddy Brandon to do it himself? Bad idea" Aubrey said

"No, of course, I'm not asking any of them for help, there's someone else that could help us," Jayden said and they all opened their mouths wide at once as they realized who Jayden was planning to ask help from. "What??? Aunt Jessica? No, it's a bad idea. I'm not sure she would even agree to help us after what we did to her" Allison said

"She will, we just have to apologize and tell her the truth," Jayden said and his sibling scoffed at once.

"What? I'm not apologizing". Aubrey and Audrey muttered at once and Jayden shot them a deadly glare and they both rolled their eyes at him:

"We are doing this for us, so we have got to cooperate, please," Jayden said and they all nodded in response.

"Yes Jefe" Addison said and they all burst into laughter.

Jefe is Boss in Spanish, they remembered their grandma teaching them Spanish while they were still in New York but they just weren't able to learn it because they find it difficult. Addison was the only one who was fast in learning the simple words, they wouldn't be surprised if she starts speaking Spanish today.

"What's the meaning of Jefe again?" Jayden asked, trying to remember so hard.

"I think it means dumb ass," Jamie said and they all laughed

"That's not true, even though I do not know the meaning, I know it can never be a dumb ass," Jasper said and they laughed.

"It means Boss or leader," Addison said and smiled at them.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"I knew the meaning would be Boss, I just didn't want to say it," Jaxon said

"You liar, you do not even know the meaning of hi, in Spanish. Your Brain is as empty as an empty bottle" Jayden said and they all burst into laughter as they all stood up from the bed they were sitting on. "Common now, it's time to go speak with Aunt Jessica," Jayden said and they all nodded before walking out of their room to Jessica's room.

Immediately, they got to her door, they planted a soft knock on the door, and Jessica spoke at once.

"Come in," she said without asking who was knocking and just then she saw the octuplets walking into her room.

The first person her eyes came in contact with was Jayden, she stared at him and the rest of the octuplets and noticed the strange resemblance with Brandon. She quickly shook off the thought and frowned at them. "You eight little rats," Jessica said and the octuplets frowned at her.

"How dare she call us rats" Allison muttered and Jayden gave her the look for her to calm.

"What do you guys want?" Jessica said angrily as she remembered what these kids had done to her. They had a video of her and the butler kissing each other.

"We come in peace Aunt Jessica," Addison said with the sweetest and purest smile on her face. Jessica stared at the beautiful children staring in front of her.

They were all so cute and she was almost falling for their charms. Damn! How can one woman give birth to these beautiful children?

"What do you want?" She asked, this time in a calm tone.

"We need your help, Aunt Jessica...."

TBC

I am sorry

Chapter 74

"We need your help, Aunt Jessica...." Jayden said and Jessica raised her eyebrows wondering what they needed her help for.

"If you want me to keep an eye on Grandma, well, sorry I can't. Besides she's no longer here, Brandon had thrown her out of the house" Jessica said and the kids stared at her surprised.

They didn't know Brandon had asked Grandma to leave. They wondered when this had happened.

They had seen Grandma Elizabeth with her luggage and they thought she was going on a travel trip, they didn't know she was asked to leave.

They wondered why. They quickly shook off the thought, they were here for a reason, they would find out why Brandon had thrown Grandma out of the house later.

"We didn't know she was asked to leave. Well, that's not the reason we came here. We came for a different thing" Jayden said and Jessica, who was sitting on her bed, folded her hands against her chest, giving her full attention to the kids. "We think Brandon is our Biological father," Addison said and Jessica raised her eyebrows confused

"But we are not sure yet, or rather we might be wrong," Jamie said

"But we want to do a DNA test, and we won't be able to do it ourselves," Jaxon said.

"So? Do you expect me to do the DNA test for you guys? I'm no doctor, I have never worked in a hospital before" Jessica said and Jayden touched his forehead and sighed.

"No no, we just want you to take our hair samples and that of Brandon to the lab and do a DNA test, to confirm if he's our father," Jayden said and Jessica rolled her eyes

"What if he's not your biological father?" Jessica asked

"Even though he's not our Biological father at least he's still our father, A win is a win," Aubrey said with a smile on her face.

"Please just help us," Jayden said and Jessica stared at them without saying a word.

"Please!!" The octuplets said at once as they pouted.

Damn! Jessica muttered, she just couldn't ignore them, the kids were just too cute.

But at times she begins to wonder if they were adults in a kid's body because the way they think and act is more than their age.

"Okay fine, I will help but on one condition," Jessica said and the kids stared at her waiting for her to speak.

"You would delete the video of me and the butler kissing," Jessica said and the octuplets stared at each other.

"Uhm, we do not have the video, we never had it from the start, we only tricked you into believing we had it," Audrey said and Jessica stared at the kids speechlessly.

"What?? You guys tricked me " Jessica said as her face turned red immediately.

"Oh no, this isn't good, this is your fault, Audrey, you talk too much" Addison whispered

"What? I thought we were planning on telling her the truth and I just did" Aubrey said and Jayden whispered at once.

"Shut up you two, let's run now!!" Jayden whispered and suddenly they all turned, opened the door, and ran out of Jessica's room to their room.

"Phew! That was close" Jamie said as he sat on the bed.

"Do you think she's still going to help us?" Jaxon asked

"She will," Jayden said in response.

It was evening and Brandon had closed from the office, he had attended the meeting with the T - Brothers and then went straight to the mansion, while he asked Liam to go keep Rhoda company. His car screeched to a halt in front of the mansion and he alighted the car.

He walked inside the mansion and everyone was so calm, unlike before the kids would be downstairs playing while Hannah would be sitting in the dining area.

Only the maids could be seen walking in the house, while they bowed their heads at Brandon.

Just then the Butler walked towards Brandon.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"Welcome sir," Butler said and Brandon nodded in response.

"Thank you, Alexander. Where's everyone?" Brandon asked as he stared around.

"They are all in their respective rooms," Alexander said

"What about Elizabeth?" He asked

"She left already," Alexander said and Brandon nodded.

"I want you to find out where she now stays and hire someone to keep an eye on her and tell me every one of her movements," Brandon said and Alexander nodded in response. He walked past him and climbed upstairs to his study room where he pulled his jacket and kept it on his chair.

He decided to go check on the kids, he went to their room and opened the door, there he found out they were all asleep. It's school week, he wasn't surprised they had slept early. He then decided to check on Hannah. He walked towards her door, wanted to open the door but he stopped himself.

He felt if he went in she would think he wants to apologize but he doesn't want to, he would never apologize.

"Just go in and check on her," his inner mind said and he sighed softly and finally he opened the door.

Immediately he opened the door, he saw the room empty, Hannah was nowhere in the room. He wondered where she had gone or did she leave her children behind and left. No, she loves her kids so much, she would never leave without them, he wondered where she then went.

Just then the bathroom door opened and Hannah walked inside the room with a towel tied around her chest.

Brandon swallowed hard as he stared at the petite woman who was on a towel, her skin looking flawless and her long lush hair looking wet.

Her eyebrows and red lips were wet making her look so beautiful. He had swallowed into nothing a hundred times while staring at her.

Meanwhile, Hannah was busy struggling to dry her hair with the towel in her hands while she walked out of the bathroom.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

She had barely noticed Brandon was in the room, when she finally raised her head, she saw Brandon who was lost staring at her.

At first, she was shocked.

"What are you staring at?" She yelled, jolting Brandon out of his wild thoughts.

Brandon blinked twice and then shook off whatever dirty thoughts were going through his mind.

"Why are you still staring at me, go out" Hannah yelled and Brandon scoffed.

"And why will I go out, what are you trying to hide? Are you, not my wife!" Brandon said and Hannah frowned.

Brandon stared at the petite woman in front of him. He wondered why she didn't call the maid to come help her. Her other hands haven't healed fully and she's trying to do everything herself. He sighed as he stared at her

He walked towards her and took the hand towel from her hands and helped her sit on the chair.

"What do you think you are doing? I said go out" Hannah said and Brandon paused.

"I do not wish to do this, but since you wouldn't let the maid help you, I guess I will do it myself," Brandon said

"I do not need your help, I can take care of myself. You should go back to your mistress," Hannah said and Brandon sighed softly.

"Rhoda is not my mistress, and if it's about what happened earlier today.

I promise I didn't ask her to come over here. I was surprised she came here" Brandon paused and then took a deep breath before saying the word he didn't want to say.

He didn't feel like saying it, but he had no option but to say it.

"I am sorry," Brandon said and Hannah paused at once.

Did she just hear the rude Brandon Colby say he was sorry and from the tune of his voice, he meant what he had said.

TBC

What are you doing here?

Chapter 75

"I am sorry," Brandon said and Hannah paused at once.

Did she just hear the rude Brandon Colby say he his sorry and from the tune of his voice, he meant what he had said?

Hannah raised her head and turned to him wondering if Brandon was the one who just apologized.

"I am sorry, I was wrong, I am sorry," Brandon said and Hannah scoffed. She pinched herself thinking she was in a dream. Brandon would never apologize if he did anything wrong, the only time he apologizes is in front of her children. "So, can I help you now?" Brandon said and Hannah didn't say a word.

He put the towel on her hair and helped her dry her hair. He then walked towards the wardrobe, brought out a big shirt and helped her put it on gently because of her hands that hurt.

At first, Hannah didn't want to agree but she had no choice but to give in. He took a comb, helped her brush her hair, and packed the hair in a messy bun.

Hannah wondered where he learned how to pack hair. Just then Brandon heard his phone ring. He checked the caller's ID and then went outside the room to answer the call.

Hannah stood up and decided to go pick up a short from the wardrobe since she wasn't wearing anything under her clothes.

She took the shorts and managed to put them on. She then walked towards the bed and sat on it. Just then Brandon walked in.

"Are you alright now? Is there anything else you need? And how's your hand? Did the doctor come over this evening to check on it again?" Brandon asked in the most caring tone ever and Hannah stared at him confused. She wondered what was wrong with him and wondered why he was so sweet all of a sudden.

"You should drop the act, being nice doesn't look good on you. Besides, my children aren't here. So, you shouldn't pretend" Hannah said and Brandon frowned at her.

He's trying to be nice to her and she's pretending she doesn't like him being nice.

"You don't get to see this side of me twice," Brandon said and Hannah rolled her eyes.

"You should go, I need to rest," Hannah said and Brandon hummed.

"I'm not leaving, this room is mine too and I'm going to sleep beside you on the bed," Brandon said and Hannah frowned

"What!?! You can't do that. We are not married. It's just a contract marriage and what if..." Hannah paused, staring at Brandon and Brandon laughed.

"Don't be scared sweetheart, I'm not going to touch you, besides you are not my type of woman" Brandon said and Hannah scoffed.

"Neither are you my type. You ain't even handsome, I wonder what your mistress saw in you" Hannah said and Brandon frowned at once and stared at himself from head to toe wondering if Hannah was telling the truth.

A lot of women do flirt with him and make advances towards him but he didn't give a damn about them and they all called him handsome and now this woman dares call me ugly and that I'm not even his type, Brandon thought as he stared at Hannah who had now laid on the bed and covered herself properly with the duvet.

Just then Brandon walked out of the room to the guest room and then stood in front of the mirror while staring at his face.

I'm handsome right, or I'm not, I wonder why she doesn't find me attractive, Brandon thought as she stared at his reflection in the mirror.

It was morning and a new day, Hannah had woken up early and asked the maids to help her kids get dressed for school.

After they were done getting dressed, they went to the dining table where they ate breakfast and just then Brandon came and joined them at the dining table.

"Good morning Daddy" The octuplets echoed at once with a smile on their face immediately after they saw Brandon.

Brandon smiled at them.

"I hope you guys slept well?" Brandon asked and they nodded in response as they are.

"I'll be the one dropping you guys off at school today, Mommy is still in the point of healing, so for now, I'll be the one taking you guys to school," Brandon said, and Hannah who hadn't said a word since Brandon arrived raised her head and stared at him.

"What do you think you are trying to do Brandon?" Hannah scoffed as she thought.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"You shouldn't bother, I will be the one dropping them off myself," Hannah said as she shot Brandon a deadly glare.

"But Mommy you won't be able to drive properly. Daddy, should take us to school, besides, our teacher has been wanting to meet our daddy, we can introduce daddy to our teacher and our friend David" Allison said and Hannah sighed softly. "Fine, you guys should eat. You do not want to be late" Hannah said and Brandon smiled inwardly.

When they were done eating, they all stood up and kissed Hannah on her cheeks.

"We love you, Mommy" the kids echoed at once and went outside to Brandon's car to wait for him while he finished eating.

When Brandon was done, he wiped his mouth and drank from the glass of water on the table, and stared at Hannah for some seconds before he finally spoke.

"You should take good care of yourself and if you need anything, you should ask the maids for help.

The doctor would be coming over to check on you" Brandon said and Hannah rolled her eyes.

Brandon picked up his phone on his table and was about to walk out of the house when the door burst open revealing Grandma Elizabeth, holding a little puppy. Immediately Brandon saw her, his face changed immediately.

"What are you doing here?" Brandon asked

"Don't kill me with that look of yours, I came to get my remaining stuff. I will get them and leave at once" Elizabeth said

"I do not want to meet you in this house by the time I return," Brandon said and with that, he walked past her.

Elizabeth gave out a breath of relief and sighed softly. Her grandson had changed a lot toward him and it's because of that witch of a wife, Elizabeth thought with a frown. She put the dog on the ground while she held it by its neck chain. "Guess who's here?! The devil In Black" Hannah said with a smile on her face and Elizabeth rolled her eyes.

"What's wrong? Even your hair looks mad. I'm sure you forgot to take good care of your hair before you came here" Hannah said and Elizabeth frowned.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

Hannah smiled as she stared at the little puppy.

"And who is this, he's adorable, too bad the owner is an old woman who doesn't know her place and a killer. What's his name?" Hannah asked as she bent and touched the cute white puppy. "Hannah or you can call him Cinderella" Elizabeth paused and then gasped.

"Oh my God, Hannah. I didn't realize such a coincidence until I said it out loud" Elizabeth said as she carried the puppy from the ground.

"No, I understand. It's a sweet name for a male Dog.." Hannah said and Elizabeth smiled.

"Sometimes a name just roared out of your mouth and you can't help it.

Damn, the dog is garbage, a whore who is out here to steal money but I got it handled...

Stinking stupid dog, ain't you Hannah?

Oh yes, you are, very soon you're gonna be out of our lives, poor little stinky Hannah, I will make sure of that " Elizabeth said as she petted the dog, giving Hannah a side-eye. Hannah shook her head and walked away, she wasn't in the mood to put on a fight with her.

Immediately Hannah walked away, Elizabeth quickly dropped the dog and brought out a mirror from her bag to look at her and truly it was scattered.

She hissed and brought out a comb to brush it. She didn't sleep properly last night.

She had slept in her car as she didn't have any money to rent a hotel because Brandon had frozen her account.

She quickly hurried to her room to take her bath because she had started to feel stinky.

TBC

He's taken

Chapter 76

She quickly hurried to her room to take her bath because she had started to feel stinky.

She rushed to her room and quickly took her bath, after which she took from the few clothes she left in her wardrobe and put it on.

She walked out of her room to Jessica's room, there she met her sitting on her bed while going through her phone.

Jessica raised her head as she noticed someone had entered her room and to her greatest surprise she saw Grandma Elizabeth. "Grandma," she called surprised and Elizabeth smiled at her and sat close to her on the bed.

"What are you doing here?" Jessica asked

"Are you still gonna push me away like your Brother did?" Elizabeth asked.

"No, Grandma. Of course not. I was just surprised to see you here knowing Brandon kicked you out" Jessica said and Elizabeth sighed softly.

"Where do you stay now?" Jessica asked worriedly. Even though her grandma was capable of doing evil, she was still her grandmother. After her father and mother had left, she was the one who took care of her.

"Brandon froze my account, there's no way I can be able to assess the money in my account," Elizabeth said and Jessica sighed softly.

"But why will you hire hitmen to kill Brandon's wife? Maybe you should apologize to her so she can talk to Brandon and then you can come live here again" Jessica said and Elizabeth scoffed.

She cannot imagine herself apologizing to Hannah, never, it was over her dead body.

"I can't, besides I do not think Brandon listens to anyone, aside from Camilla when she was still here," Elizabeth said and Jessica heaved a sigh of sadness.

She misses her mom a lot, she just wished things had turned out differently for their family.

Jessica then opened the side of her wardrobe and brought out a cheque book. She then wrote a cheque and gave it to Elizabeth.

"I know you need it," Jessica said and Elizabeth smiled at her and muttered a thank you.

"You should apologize to Hannah, it's going to fix everything, " Jessica said and Elizabeth stood up without saying a word and walked out of the room.

Just then she heard her phone ring, it was a call from the private investigator she hired to find out everything about Rhoda.

"Hello," she said as she answered the phone call.

"I think I found something about Rhoda"

"What did you find about her?" Elizabeth asked

"She is the ex-best friend of Hannah Rodriguez," the investigator said in reply and Elizabeth paused.

"What? Really" she asked surprised

"Yes, and there's more"

"Meet me at a restaurant down town, I'll be on my way," Elizabeth said as she ended the call.

She rushed inside her room, put on a heavy makeup, and brushed her hair. She took her bag and rushed out of her room.

She climbed down the stairs and was about to walk out of the house when she saw Hannah walk out of the kitchen.

She smirked evilly as she stared at her and then looked away before rushing out of the house.

A Black car came to a halt in front of The octuplets school.

All eyes turned to the car as it was an expensive one and a rare car in Atlanta city.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

Brandon alighted the car and all eyes were on him.

"Oh my goodness! Who's this man?" a teacher muttered as she stared at Brandon.

"It's him, Brandon Colby... Oh my goodness I can't believe this is him" another teacher muttered. They were all murmuring as they saw Brandon.

The Colby's are known to be a popular family in Atlanta city because of their history about how complicated their family was and how ruthless they were. No one goes against them and survive. Most people think they are even mafia because of how well they were feared and respected.

Brandon opened the car door and the octuplets alighted the car.

"Oh my, is he the father of the octuplets"

"They look so much like him and they are so cute" the teachers and students kept saying among themselves.

"Okay, why is everyone staring at us now?" Allison muttered

"I think they are all drooling over Dad," Jayden said and the octuplets raised their heads and stared at Brandon who held his face with no expression on it.

Just then The class teacher of the octuplets came rushing towards them and the octuplets rolled their eyes.

"Jayden, you and your siblings weren't in school yesterday. I heard it was because your mommy got shot" the teacher said

"How did you know she was shot?" Jamie asked, almost surprised.

"I saw it on the news," the teacher said

"And is this your father?" The teacher asked and the octuplets nodded.

"Oh my goodness! Your daddy is Brandon Colby. I knew y'll last name was Colby but I didn't think it would be the popular Colby we all know.

He's so handsome" the teacher said as she stared at Brandon who stared at her with no expression on his face.

"Hello sir, I have always seen you on TV and you look more handsome in real life than on TV. I'm so glad to meet you in person and you are so handsome. Your wife is so lucky. Now, I see where the octuplets got their looks from" the teacher said Brandon managed to smile at the teacher and the teacher almost yelled happily.

"Nice to meet you too," Brandon said in response.

"Oh my goodness! Did he just smile and talk to me at me" the teacher thought as she felt so many butterflies in her stomach.

Just then Brandon heard his phone ring, he checked the caller's ID and then turned to the kids.

"I have to go now, I'll be coming to pick you guys up when you close. Take care of yourselves alright?" Brandon said and the kids nodded in response.

"I'm on my way to the company already," he said as he answered the phone call. He hopped into his car and zoomed off.

Meanwhile, the teacher kept staring at his car until it was out of sight.

"Teacher, can you please help me with my shoes? It feels so tight" Jayden said and the teacher nodded in response.

"Of course, I'm at your service. Anything you all want just tell me" the teacher said as she bent to fix Jayden's shoes but then Jayden moved a bit closer to her ear and muttered. "Have you seen my mom? Forget her calm looks and all, she doesn't play with what is hers, I would advise you to keep your eyes off our dad.

He's taken" Jayden said with a smirk on his lips and moved away from the teacher.

"Let's go," he said to his siblings and they all walked inside the classroom.

TBC

You are mine and mine alone

Chapter 77

Immediately, they got to class, they met David sitting at the back sir looking all lonely.

"David!" Allison called and David raised his head at once. Immediately he saw the octuplets, a wide smile spread out of his face.

He stood up and rushed towards Allison and hugged her so tight.

"Okay okay, enough, " Jamie said as he moved towards the both of them and pulled both of them away from the hug making them all laugh.

"Oh my, Jayden," David said as he hugged Jamie too.

"I'm Jamie," he said and they all burst into laughter.

"Sorry, you'll look so much alike, it's kind of difficult to tell who is who between all of you," David said and they all laughed.

"How have you guys been? What happened? Why weren't you guys in school? A lot happened in school yesterday, I cannot wait to brief you all" David asked as they all went to sit down and started discussing.

Jessica is seen walking out of her room with her phone in her ear answering a phone call with a wide smile on her face.

She was talking to her new boyfriend.

"Would you be coming over tonight, let's spend some more time together" her boyfriend said and she smiled.

"Of course, I will," she said as she climbed down the stairs, touching the rails of the stairs with a big smile on her face.

"Okay I have to go now," her boyfriend said as he ended the call. She smiled as she walked inside the sitting room and to her surprise, Hannah was at the sitting room using one hand to operate her phone. "I can see someone is in love," Hannah said and raised her head, her eyes met with that of Jessica.

"I saw you at the staircases smiling and answering a phone call. Must be from someone special " Hannah said and Jessica laughed with her cheeks turning red.

"Who is he?" Hannah asked and Jessica sat close to Hannah.

"I met him at the club downtown a few days ago. He was so nice and all. He's the sweetest soul I have ever met.

He asked me out and now we are a thing" Jessica said and Hannah smiled at her.

"That's nice. What's his name?" Hannah asked

"Jefferson" Jessica said and Hannah muttered an 'oh'.

Her mind flashed back to her ex-husband, who went by the same name Jefferson. The memories of how he had betrayed her came rushing into her head like a flash. "What's wrong?" Jessica asked as she noticed the look on Hannah's face.

"Nothing, someone close to me in the past went by that name, but it's nothing. It's in the past now" Hannah said and Jessica nodded.

She quickly shook off the thoughts and sighed softly.

"We would be going out together tonight," Jessica said

"Wo. That's great. You should be careful alright and let's exchange contacts, you can call me if you need anything" Hannah muttered and she nodded in response. "Sure, thank you," Jessica said and they both exchanged contacts.

She then stood up and checked her time,

"I need to go shopping with my friends, before going out with my boyfriend. I have to go get dressed" Jessica said Hannah nodded in response.

She climbed up the stairs and walked past the octuplets room but then suddenly came to a halt.

She remembered them asking for her help, in carrying out a DNA test for them and Brandon.

On second thought she didn't feel like helping them because they tricked her but then she too was having the feeling they are Brandon's biological children because the resemblance was just too much. She then decided she would help them.

She walked inside their room, searching for their hair brush. She needed a few strands of their hair and that of Brandon too, to submit to the lab.

She stared at the room decoration with admiration in his eyes.

She then saw the hairbrush on their dressing table. She moved towards the table and was about to pick up the hairbrush when she suddenly saw a small sealed nylon with a few strands of hair inside, with their names on it.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"Damn, these children already kept their hairs for me. They must be really serious" she thought as she picked it up and then decided to go to Brandon's room to get a strand of his hair too.

It was there she realized Brandon didn't sleep in his room with Hannah, most times he would be in his study room and sometimes use one of the guest rooms. She wondered where she would find his hair brush and she prayed she would find any strands of hair on the brush.

She walked inside the study room to check for his brush or anything he was using on his hair but she found nothing.

She then decided to check the visitor's room and luckily she found the brush. She was lucky to find a few strands of hair in the brush.

She picked up the strands of hair and placed them in small transparent nylon before sealing it and then walked out of the room.

She walked inside her room and placed it in her handbag. She took her bath and got dressed, ready to leave.

She was planning on stopping by a lab and dropping the DNA sample on a lab before going to meet her friends for shopping which she did. Meanwhile, Jeff is seen in his company going through some files on his laptop when his phone suddenly rang.

It was a call from Dave, the guy he had hired to kidnap Hannah's octuplets.

"Hello, Dave" Liam said as he answered the phone call, stood up, and moved away from his computer.

"Is the plan still on to kidnap the octuplets?" Dave asked

"Yes, it's still on and make sure you do a clean job and leave no trace," Jeff says and Dave nodded in response before ending the phone call. Jeff opened his phone and stared at Hannah's picture which he used as his wallpaper.

"Hannah you are mine and mine alone!" he uttered as he stared at the wallpaper with an evil smirk on his lips.

TBC

What the fuck!

Chapter 78

Angry Rhoda is seen in her room looking as angry as ever. She had called Brandon yesterday and he said he would be having dinner with her, but he didn't, instead, he sent Liam.

Rhoda was so furious last night when Liam came instead. She had plans and had arranged how things would have gone between her and Brandon but everything got ruined.

She knew it was all Liam's handwork. He said he was going to stop her but she never took him seriously, guess she was going to take him seriously now.

He wants to play a game, now let's see who's best at the game, she thought and then sat on the bed.

On second thought, she imagined Brandon must have gone home to Hannah last night. She imagined Brandon and Hannah sleeping together and being happy. And then having a happy family with the octuplets. And the octuplets look so much like Brandon.

What if the kids are Brandon's? The kids look almost the same age as my son David.

When the hell did Hannah get pregnant? She was supposed to be barren. How did she get pregnant?

She remembered the day Jeff had come home saying he tried looking for her but couldn't find her. The last place someone saw her was on the street when someone came and took her.

What was she doing on the street that day? She knew Rosa had thrown her out of the house but she didn't know why she felt something was off and wasn't adding up.

Was she cheating on Jeff when they were still together? And that necklace that was said to drop from her when the strange person took her, doesn't look like that of Hannah. She's been friends with Hannah for years and she knows every piece of jewelry she owns.

That jewelry was an expensive one. She needed to know what happened to Hannah, and the only way she could know is finding out what happened next after Rosa threw Hannah out of the house that day, she thought.

No matter how hard she tries to bring Hannah down, she always comes out stronger and stronger. This time she has sworn to bring her down to the extent she won't be able to rise again. She's gonna take away that which she loves the most. She's going to make her suffer and finally get rid of her, she thought, and then brought out her phone and dialed a number. "Hello, Jones, I have. Job for you"

It was closing hours, and the octuplets and their friend David, are seen in their classroom playing while waiting for their parents.

"Daddy hasn't come to pick us up yet. I'm

So hungry" Aubrey said as she sat down and stopped playing.

"I'm sure he will be here soon, he's probably going to come a little bit late," Jamie said.

"I thought your mom was the one picking you guys up," David asked

"Yeah, but my dad would be the one picking us up this time," Addison said and David nodded.

"I can't wait to meet your daddy then. I already met your mommy, she's so kind and beautiful. You guys are still lucky your mom is with you guys" David said and sighed sadly. "Why? What about your mommy?" Allison asked

"My dad threw her out of the house, I haven't heard from or seen her since then," David said and the octuplets stared at him with pity. His eyes watered with tears.

"You are going to be fine. We are here for you, we promise not to leave your side, best friend for life" Allison said as she wiped his tears and pulled him into a hug and they all did a group hug.

Just then they heard footsteps. They pulled away from the hug and a then strange man, dressed nicely, walked inside the classroom.

"Hello kids," the strange man said and waved at them. They stared at him without saying a word.

"Who are you and how can we help you?" Jaxon asked

"You guys might not know me but my name is Mr Jones and I'm the new assistant teacher here. I'm trying to find the principal's office but I lost my way, do you guys mind showing me the way" Mr Jones said as he managed to smile. "This is school premises, if you say you are a new teacher, the principal must have employed you and you must know his office, except you are lying about being a new teacher," Japer said and Jones stared at the kids confused. Damn! What sort of children did Rhoda ask me to kidnap, they are so fucking smart. They detected his lie too quickly.

Jones felt impatient, he wanted to do things his way, by using his gun on them but he felt the children would scream causing scenes and he didn't want that as there were still few people in the school.

And didn't Rhoda say they were octuplets, why is he now seeing seven kids, he thought feeling confused.

He felt he couldn't wait to convince them, he was about to bring out his gun when Jayden stepped forward and spoke.

"I will take you to the principal's office. My siblings will wait here for me while I show you the principal's office" Jayden, who hasn't spoken since Jones arrived, finally spoke.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey! "What do you think you are doing, jayden?" David asked with a worried look on his face.

"It's fine, I'm going to be fine. I'll be back" Jayden said and moved towards Jamie and hugged him then whispered in his ears.

"Immediately I leave, take the rest of them and get out from here. Find a phone and call Dad" he whispered and then pulled away from the hug.

He then walked towards Mr. Jones.

"Jayden!" his siblings muttered and he stared at them before looking away.

"This way Mr Jones, this is the way to the principal's office," Jayden said as Jones followed him from behind.

The plan was to carry all the kids but since Jayden had followed him willingly, he would be back for the rest of the kids, he thought.

Immediately, Jayden got down the hallway and he stopped and turned to Jones.

"I know you are not a teacher, and neither are you looking for the principal's office" Jayden paused as he and Jones both stared at each other. Jones stared at him with surprise in his eyes. What the fuck!!

TBC

The kids are missing

Chapter 79

Jones stared at him with surprise in his eyes. What the fuck!!

Jayden had been scrutinizing Jones since he entered the classroom, it was then he noticed he had a gun on him.

He had stepped forward when he was about to bring out the gun and volunteered to go with him. He didn't want things to go the other way around and his siblings would get hurt. He could not afford that. As the eldest of the octuplets, he feels his number one priority is to protect his family.

"I know you came here for a reason, probably to abduct me and my siblings. I'm willing to go with you, but you have to promise you won't go back for my siblings.

You can tell whoever hired you that I was the only one you found and there were crowds in the school so you couldn't afford to get caught" Jayden said and Jones couldn't say a word. He was speechless. How can a child be so confident, brave, smart, and all? No, this is not a child, this must be a fifty-year-old man.

"I believe we have a deal already, you do not want me to scream and cause a scene.

We have a deal. I'll walk inside the car freely and no one would suspect anything. Where's the car you brought?" Jayden asked

"It's outside," Jones said and Jayden walked outside the school compound and entered the car, he noticed a few men standing outside the car and others inside the car.

"Let's get over this once and for all," Jayden said and they all stared at him strangely.

Jones, who was trailing behind, stood for a few seconds with shock on his face staring at Jayden.

"Who the fuck is he? And I thought we were supposed to kidnap six of them. Where's the five?" one of the men whispered to Jones.

"He's one of the octuplets, we will be taking just him," Jones said as they all entered the car, closed it, and zoomed off at once.

Meanwhile, Jamie and the rest of the kids had run out of the classroom and were now outside the school compound, trying to look for someone to give them a phone so they could call their daddy but just then a Toyota Venza bus drove in with full speed in their front and six men came out of the car in a rush and they hijacked the kids and pulled them into the car not without them screaming though.

"Let us go" The kids kept yelling and struggling inside the car as the car zoomed off.

They covered all of their mouths with a handkerchief and suddenly they all lost consciousness.

Dave who was driving the car, brought out his phone and dialed Jeff's number and

"It's done, We got the octuplets," Dave said as he stared at the octuplets from the rear view mirror. They were now unconscious.

"Take them to my mansion downtown, I will meet you there once I leave the office and make sure they are not harmed," Jeff said and with that he ended the call and his lip curled in a devilish smile. "Now I have your kids, Hannah, you will have no choice but to come back to me," Jeff thought.

Brandon is seen in a meeting with the investors when he suddenly checked his time and notices he was so fucking late from picking up the kids from school and they would be waiting for him now.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

"Shit!" he muttered. He's been so lost in the meeting that he almost forgot, he was the one that took the kids to the school and he was supposed to be the one to pick them up. Being a father wasn't an easy job, he thought and then called Liam and asked him to go pick up the kids from school and bring them to the company.

Liam nodded in response and then walked out of the company, he walked inside his car, ignited his engine, and zoomed off at full speed to the school.

Immediately, he got to the school compound, he met it quiet. It felt like no one was in the school as he didn't see anyone.

He parked his car and climbed out of the car while staring around. Just then he saw the principal of the school walking out of the school.

"Hello, sir," Liam said as he moved towards the principal.

"Hi sir, how may I be of help?" the principal asked

"I came to pick the octuplets," Liam said

"Oh, I think they left already. No student is in the school anymore. I just finished searching all the classrooms, no one is in the school except a few teachers" the principal said and Liam stared at him confused. "They left? Did you see anyone come pick them up?" Liam asked

"I have been in my office and I can't tell, except I ask the class teacher," the principal said, and just then the octuplets class teacher could be seen walking out of the school with her bag hung on her shoulder. "Oh, there she is. Miss Paulina" the principal called and the teacher turned to them and walked towards them.

"Hi sir" the teacher greeted and Liam nodded without saying a word.

"This is the octuplet's uncle and he has come to pick them up. Have you seen them around?" the principal asked

"No, I was in the classroom with them when we closed and then I stepped out to use the restroom, when I came back they were gone.

I believe their mom came to pick them" the teacher said and Liam nodded in response.

Did Hannah seriously leave the home to come pick up the kids, Liam thought and shook his head.

"Thank you for your time," Liam said as he moved away from them and brought out his phone to call Brandon.

He dialed his number and it rang twice before Brandon answered the phone call.

"I just finished the meeting with the investors. Have you carried them?" Brandon asked

"I just spoke with the principal, I think Hannah came to pick them up. Although I'm not sure but they are not in school" Liam said and Brandon gave out a deep breath.

He knew Hannah didn't want him to take the kids to school earlier today but at least she should have told him that she had gone to pick them up.

"I'll call her and confirm, I'll call you back," Brandon said and ended the call.

He dialed Hannah's number and immediately she answered at once, like she's been waiting for his call.

"I was just about to call you, when will you be bringing the kids home? I prepared their favorite food and it's getting cold already"

TBC

David is missing

Chapter 80

"I was just about to call you, when will you be bringing the kids home? I prepared their favorite food and it's getting cold already.

Before you start questioning me, I didn't prepare it myself, the maids helped me, I only gave them directions" Hannah said and Brandon paused without saying a word. "Why ain't you saying anything?" Hannah asked

"I thought the kids were with you, they are not in school," Brandon said and Hannah laughed

"What are you talking about? What do you mean?" Hannah asked as she felt her spirit leave her body immediately. Brandon went quiet and didn't say a word.

"Don't tell me my kids are missing. I'm going to the school to find them immediately" Hannah said

"Do not leave the house, I'm sure they are okay. I'm coming home now, do not leave the house" Brandon said and ended the call.

He picked up his car key and rushed out of the company. He hopped into his car, picked up his phone, and dialed Liam's number.

"The kids are not home either," Brandon said

"What?" Liam muttered

"I need you to search the entire school building, if possible go through the school CCTV Camera and see if you can find anything," Brandon said and with that, he ended the call.

He wondered where the octuplets had gone, they wouldn't just leave the school like that. He knew the octuplets were disciplined kids and they wouldn't leave the school like that, something must have happened. Or have they been kidnapped?

No, this can't be true. Just today I took the kids to school and they've been kidnapped. He needed to get home to comfort his wife while Liam searched for the kids, he thought as he rode the car at full speed.

His car came to a halt in front of Colby's mansion. He alighted the car and rushed inside the mansion only to see Hannah pacing to and fro.

"Hannah" Brandon called and she turned to him as he walked towards her.

"What happened? Where are my children? This is all your fault, if you had let me take my children to school myself, this wouldn't have happened. I need my children back, go bring me back my kids" Hannah kept yelling as she hit Brandon on his chest with her both hands.

She felt a sharp pain in the hand she was shot and suddenly she started bleeding. She didn't care that she was now bleeding on her hands, she kept hitting Brandon on his chest.

"Hannah!" Brandon called as he held her hands making her stop. Tears kept pouring out of her face non-stop. It breaks Brandon's heart to see her in tears.

Before, he could remember how it made him happy whenever he saw her sad but now, it broke him into pieces.

"Come here," Brandon said as he helped her sit on the couch. He went upstairs to his room and brought out his first aid box.

It was the stitches that got loose that's why it was bleeding. He took the hands, cleaned them, and stitched them back.

When he was done, he dressed the hand and asked the maid to clean the blood and whatever was on the ground.

Hannah then stood up and went upstairs to her room with tears in her eyes. She needed to change her clothes because it was now stained with blood, so she could go look for her octuplets. "Hannah! Hannah!" Brandon called as he followed her to the room but Hannah paid no attention to her.

"Hannah please," Brandon said and Hannah turned to him at once.

"What do you want from me? I want my kids back Brandon, without them I cannot live, they are the reason I kept fighting till this day.

Just a heads up: is the only place to read the complete version of this book for free. Don't miss out on the next chapter-visit us now and continue your journey!

They are my only source of happiness, please I need my children back.

What if someone had kidnapped them and is maltreating them? What if they are hungry, what if someone is trying to harm them or they are in some sort of trouble" Hannah kept on talking nonstop. She felt like she was going crazy. "I need to call my mom, maybe she can help me find them," she said and then Brandon moved towards her and hugged her while patting her back.

"Shhh, calm down. I'm sure they are fine. I'm gonna find them and make sure they are okay, alright, trust me" Brandon said as he pulled away from the hug staring deep into Hannah's eyes, deep inside her like he was searching for something. Hannah didn't know why, while he stared into her eyes and spoke, it felt like magic, she became calm instantly and she didn't know why she believed what he said. That he would find them and make sure they are fine.

Just then he heard his phone ring. He checked the caller's ID and saw it was Liam.

"Liam, any news?" Brandon asked

"No, not yet. The CCTV footage was disabled a few hours ago" Liam said

"So, this is to say, no one in the school, not even the security, saw the kids leave? No one? I'm going to sue the school, because how can a child go missing on their watch?" Brandon said and Liam sighed. He knew the principal was now in big trouble.

"Do you want me to call the DPO?" Liam asked

"No, I do not want to involve the police. I will do things my way. organize a private search team, I want them to be found as soon as possible," Brandon said with so much anger in his voice.

"Yes sir," Liam said in response.

"And one more thing, find out where my grandma is... I need to know if she's involved in this too or not" Brandon said and with that, he ended the call and then stared at Hannah who was looking so nervous.

She felt like she was gonna have a heart attack soon. A Lot of thoughts going through her mind making her lost.

"Hey, Hannah," Brandon said as he moved towards her and then pulled her into a warm hug.

"We will find them, you do not have to worry" he whispered and Hannah closed her eyes as tears slipped down from her closed eyes down to her chubby kids.

She wondered where her kids were and if they were okay.

Meanwhile, Jeff is seen in his office speaking to his secretary when he suddenly heard his phone ring.

It was a call from his mom, Rosa.

He wondered what she wanted, he had asked her to go pick up David from school, what else does she want to ask now, he thought as he answered the phone call. Immediately he answered the phone call, he heard the sound of someone crying. It was the sound of his mom's voice.

"Mom, are you alright?" Jeff asked

"No, Jeff I'm not alright. David is missing"

TBC