

Owned by the Alphas 2: Claimed by the Alphas |

The Dream

LORELAI

I woke up wrapped in warmth, my body tingling with sensation.

My eyelids fluttered open, and I was greeted by Derik watching me, his body still, like he was afraid to move and cause me any discomfort.

Kai had me bundled against him, not having the same worries, his heavy breathing almost a snore in my ear. Brax was curled up between my legs.

It was almost suffocating, almost too much, but it almost made me cry. My heart clenched, and I blinked back the tears. I was back. Back in their arms, back with them like I had never left.

When I had been in the cell thinking they might not find me in time, that I was going to die, I had never stopped thinking about the mornings like this.

Kai's mark had nagged at me; the thoughts of when he would mate, who he would mate with kept me on edge, kept me wondering what I would come back to when I couldn't feel them.

But he was still mine, and that alone was enough to make me forget the slight claustrophobia that came with having three huge-ass werewolves on me.

"How are you feeling, beautiful?" Derik asked, and I wriggled a little, wincing at the tug of my stomach. I held it, and his eyes went to the movement.

"I'm okay. A little sore, but..."

"You need the bite," Kai whispered through a breath that tickled my ear.

I smiled. He wasn't wrong.

The idea of their fangs—and other body parts—inside me had me snuggling closer in his arms, my ass brushing his thick cock beneath my cheeks.

He groaned, nuzzling into my neck, inhaling the scent of me. Derik shuffled closer and grabbed my hand from my stomach, kissing along it before his fangs dropped, grazing along my wrist.

I shuddered at the pleasure from the scratch of his canines on my skin after so long. It was electric, the way my body responded to them, like it was made for them, like it had been made to respond to them alone.

I'd believe it too.

Humans had never given me the same feelings, never the same reactions. Marrying one of them had been on my list of "don't fucking want to" for so long that not having to had been my only hope.

Now I hoped for more because I had been given a taste of it. Now I never wanted to let it go, I never wanted to settle for less.

"You don't have to, beautiful," Derik murmured against my skin, and I licked my lips as Brax stirred between my legs.

His shadows tugged at mine before they were moving against each other inside my body. Mine linking to his, caressing each other, swirling together inside me, making my body hot with the desire I felt inside us both.

It was intense and had me releasing a moaning breath.

"Brax," I sighed, reaching for him. He nuzzled up my body, and Kai released me slightly so I could run my fingers up Brax's arm as he came over me.

"Morning, Spitfire," he said before leaning down, pressing his lips against mine.

I kissed him back, my reaction desperate as I wrapped my arms around his neck, latching on and instantly deepening the kiss.

Brax ran his hand up my thigh, hitching it against his as he slid his tongue along mine and the taste of him finally hit me.

I had missed him so fucking much. All of them. It made me impatient. I reached between us, finding the hard length I knew would be there and gripping it in my small fist.

Brax growled as Kai breathed hard, kissing along my neck.

Derik's fingers traced over my skin, teasing the flesh into goosebumps before slipping under my nightgown.

I trembled as his fingers found the throbbing nub between my legs, rubbing against it as I arched into my kiss with Brax, gasping at the pleasure that filled my body.

My clit was a bundle of nerves, ready to release the pleasure from every single one into my bloodstream.

My heart was beating so fast as Derik played with my pussy, his fingertips dipping inside my entrance, teasing me with the friction as I kissed Brax, tugging at his length with full, tight strokes that had him grinding Derik's hand into me.

Kai kissed along my neck, his own playful noises taking over my mind as he tore my nightgown down, his hands cupping my tender breasts, teasing the sensitive nipples with tugs that had me panting for more.

My body was so full of tension and need, it was suffocating. Heat built within me, from my core straight to the folds between my legs.

My thigh shook against Brax, as I wanted to be filled with them. I needed it.

"We have to bite you first, Little Human," Kai breathed against my ear, and I broke my kiss with Brax to nod.

"Do it then," I gasped back as Derik's finger stroked inside my pussy.

My fingers clutched against his abs, finding his cock and stroking it at the same time I moved against Brax's. They groaned in unison just as the door swung open.

"Holy mother of fuck—" Cain blew out a breath, and my alphas froze.

Kai growled and pulled the blankets over us as Brax hung his head, controlling the instant rage that polluted our pleasure-filled link.

Derik sighed, exasperated, as he eyed Cain. "Hand the damn potion over and get the fuck out," he snapped.

"I have the potion, but I was told you wanted me to check the baby out first? Is that still a request, or would you rather I came back?" he asked.

I knew they'd want him to. / wanted him to.

Brax rolled off me and grudgingly pulled on his pants, standing by the bed, guarding me as I tugged my nightgown as closed as I could after Kai had torn through it.

Derik got out of the bed, not caring that he was naked, his body big and his cock still hard.

Kai didn't move from my side, sitting up with the blankets in his lap, but he looked ready to ditch them if he had to.

Or maybe he was just getting ready for the second Cain left. I would bet my ass on that one.

I looked over at him, and he smirked, obviously agreeing with my assessment of his actions. I grinned back, then turned to Cain as Derik pulled on some pants and stood behind him.

"How will you check?" Derik asked gruffly, the leftover huskiness of our teasing still there and, I was guessing, a little bit of irritation.

It tainted the link, but Brax was covering that with his full-blown scowling. I gave him an affectionate smile, my shadows touching his, reassuring him that he would have me soon, and it softened a little.

"I'm just going to feel over her stomach, then see if I can get a magic read on it. I don't know if I will be able to, it depends how much wolf and how much human it has so far, but I should be able to get something.

"If you listen closely, you can hear the heartbeat for yourselves, so that's a good sign," Cain said, putting the purple potion on the bedside.

Derik let him get closer, stepping back a little, and they all went silent. I couldn't hear what they could, but I felt the warmth through the link when they heard our baby.

Derik hid a smile along his lips, and Brax's eyes went wide. Kai was grinning before he leaned in and kissed me.

I thought it was a cute moment kind of kiss, but then his tongue was against mine, devouring me. And then I heard it. The gentle thump of a heartbeat through our kiss.

I gasped against Kai, the link strong as he pushed it at me. I could hear it! The heartbeat of our baby, so clear and even. I smiled up at him as he leaned back and held my face.

“You kept him alive, Little Human,” he said, his voice thick with emotion.

I grinned at that and kissed him again.

“Can I feel your stomach now, Lorelai?” Cain asked, and I nodded, turning onto my back and lying flat.

He buttoned the leather vest he wore closed, then leaned over me, his hand hovering over my skin as I opened my nightgown enough for my stomach to be exposed.

He went to touch it when Brax grabbed his wrist. “If I sniff even a slither of arousal coming from you, hybrid, then I will rip your cock off. Do you understand?”

Cain scoffed. “So violent, Brax. Chill out, okay? I’m mated now, I have no interest in your female.”

He was telling the truth, but I felt the worry from Brax. He had so much distrust in him, especially for Cain and Tabby.

I wished I could change his mind, but it was something he had to work through on his own. Maybe having Cain help me survive this pregnancy would gain some of that trust back. I hoped so.

Brax looked down at me then, his eyes meeting mine, his shadows wrapping around mine. He was promising to try. For me. I smiled at him, then turned to Cain.

“You can check.” I gave him the all clear.

“I’ll be quick, before your glaring alphas become any more restless,” he teased, and I chuckled.

His hands pressed against my stomach, and I winced. Kai growled low, but I grabbed his hand and kissed it. He calmed down but wouldn't let me have my hand back.

Cain kept moving his fingers over me, a golden glow growing out of his hands as he concentrated. After a few tense moments, he stepped back and smiled, undoing his vest and showing off his body of tattoos.

"He's healthy. And strong," Cain said, and I let out a sigh of relief. I didn't realize how much I needed to hear that until I had.

"Thanks, Cain," I said back, pulling my gown closed.

He nodded, his brows creasing a little. "No problem. Just make sure you drink that potion. And you'll need the bites from these three. He's alive, but it's draining you fast.

"Make sure you're eating and keeping that toxin in your blood or not even your shadows will be able to keep you both alive," he warned, and I nodded, the words sinking into my heart.

"Thanks, Cain." Derik nodded, his voice stern, dismissing him.

Cain gave us a peace out, then went to leave the room. He hesitated at the door, looking over the bed, the alphas, me.

"Enjoy your orgy, friends." He chuckled, shaking his head like he couldn't quite believe it before leaving us alone.

I grinned, but before I could say anything, Derik was shoving the potion at me. I sat up and emptied the glass down my throat.

As soon as I did, I felt better, and definitely ready for the bites that I knew were going to make me feel more than better. I looked into the hungry eyes of my alphas and knew they were just as ready.

"I'm ready to be ravaged, Alphas," I teased, and then all three of them were over me. Naked.

I laughed as Brax yanked me closer, his mouth kissing up my leg, his canines dropping as he did. I sucked in a breath as Kai licked over the bite on my breast he had given me.

Pleasure tingled beneath my skin, turning my core into liquid fire.

Derik turned my face to his, claiming my mouth, his tongue delving deep, sliding against mine as I moaned, arching my back into their touches.

Brax's rough tongue stroked my other bites, the spot so damn sensitive it had me sucking a breath, my eyes rolling back as I gripped the sheets.

His fangs grazed the raised skin there a second before they sank into my thigh again. I cried out, Kai's fangs burying in my breast again while Derik pierced the flesh of my neck.

Every part of me, every fiber, every fucking piece of my soul glitched, corrupted, seared with pleasure so intense and deep, I was lost. Somewhere in the darkness, somewhere I couldn't see, only feel.

I grasped at Brax's hair, Derik's face, arched into Kai's mouth, desperate for release from the steel cage of the feelings exploding inside of me.

I moaned, gasped, cried out as their toxin kept the storm raging, kept my core tight, my body hot.

It wasn't an orgasm, it was more than that, like something inside me was being changed, like my body was at its human limit and was finally accepting that there was something else happening to it.

Whatever it was, it was pure bliss. What I imagined heaven to feel like. So fucking good, content, and warm. Pure damn ecstasy.

I shuddered as my body wound down, their teeth extracting from my skin slowly. I whimpered as they took the blissful pleasure with them.

"More," I breathed, finally opening my eyes and seeing their flushed faces, their hooded eyes, their panting breaths, their thick cocks all dripping with want, throbbing, veined and ready to be inside me.

I licked my lips, desperate for them, my thighs damp, my pussy aching to be full.

"Greedy Little Human." Kai smirked, and I nodded, spreading my legs that little bit wider, anticipating them being inside me again.

They looked so much bigger after they had bitten me, like it had brought out the wolf in them. I loved it, even if it was going to stretch me so fucking well.

Brax pulled me up to him, and I sighed at the feeling of his cock between my legs, throbbing there, teasing my wet folds.

He turned me over and bent me down, my ass against him, and he groaned, running his hand over my ass before slipping his fingers between my cheeks, down to my pussy.

I yelped as he thrust three fingers inside me. My hands clenched in the sheets, my throat hoarse as my breathing harshened, my stomach tightening as my pussy clamped on them.

“Just getting you ready for us, beautiful,” Derik whispered as he turned my face to him again, covering my mouth with his as I moaned against him, pushing back against Brax’s fingers inside me.

“I’m ready,” I begged, and Kai chuckled from next to me.

I broke my kiss from Derik and turned to him. He had his hand at his base, stroking his cock slowly. It made me want it that much more.

“Biting you, the toxin, it makes us almost feel like we’re in heat, Little Human. Our cocks will tear you apart if we’re not careful, but don’t worry, Brax will look after you.”

He smirked, leaning in to kiss me. His words tugged at the pleasure devouring my core, and I almost came again. My eyes went to Kai’s cock, and then I was looking up at him.

“I want it,” I whined, and he raised a brow.

“You’re a little full right now,” he growled, watching Brax stroke me with his fingers, his length teasing my folds as he pressed against my clit.

I only just held back my cry as I shook my head. “Not here,” I panted, pointing to my mouth.

Kai pumped his hardness fast with a deep groan. But he didn’t resist.

He inched forward on his knees as Derik moved, slipping underneath me, lifting my ass up so Brax's fingers dug in deep just as my gasp was taken by Kai's thick cock filling my mouth.

I moaned as his salty taste coated my mouth, running my tongue along the strong vein up his girth, more of the liquid seeping out before he was thrusting into my mouth.

Again and again he pushed to the back of my throat as I sucked him as well as he had taught me.

He growled the entire time as I pushed back against Brax, moving faster with him as Derik positioned himself between my thighs, his tip pressing against my entrance, teasing it as I lost myself in the overwhelming sensations they were giving me.

Brax pulled out his fingers and I whimpered against Kai's cock, hating the feeling of not being filled by at least a part of them.

But then his cock was slamming inside me. I cried out, and Kai stole the sounds, muffling them with his own hardness filling my mouth.

Derik lay beneath me, my legs astride him, holding me open wide for Brax as he pumped into me from behind.

Derik's mouth latched over my nipple, his fingers stroking down my stomach, landing on my clit, caressing it, stimulating it until I was a quivering mess.

I wasn't sure how long I managed to hold it in; time didn't exist. I fell apart, Brax's cock stretching me until I wasn't even sure where I ended and he began.

He fucked me with so much desperation, but I needed it, I needed to feel everything he did, everything he wanted, and I needed to be everything he needed in that moment.

His shadows thrust inside me, turning through my body with mine, making the connection so intense that it only took one more pump against my G-spot and I was done, breaking, crying out, trembling, my body a violent hurricane destroying me.

I broke away from Kai's cock so I could pant out my gasps, and he gripped my chin, stealing those breaths with a searing kiss that kept my high going.

Brax grunted and stilled against me, his hot seed filling me up as I tried to catch my breath, my skin damp.

I looked back over my shoulder as he leaned down to kiss my ass before falling back on the bed with a huge sigh, his cock still throbbing and hard. His shadows withdrew again, and I missed the warmth that they had brought.

"My turn, beautiful," Derik breathed, and I looked down at him, smirking.

I had never thought I was lucky before, but being in bed with three sexy alphas who desired me so much they were willing to fuck me to death made me reconsider the idea.

Derik grinned and leaned up to kiss me. I let him sit up, and he turned me, facing me away from him on his waist.

I looked over my shoulder at him and he kissed it, placing himself at my entrance. Kai came to my front, kissing me, teasing my nipples, sparking pleasure alive inside my core again.

"If it gets too much then tell us, Little Human," Kai said, but I shook my head.

"It won't," I promised, and he grinned before taking my nipple in his mouth.

I arched into the roughness of his tongue as Derik pulled me down onto his waiting dick, filling me with a swift, deep stroke that had me clutching Kai to me.

Derik kissed my shoulder, my neck, wrapped my hair around his hand and pulled.

My head snapped back, and he kissed the flesh there, burying himself deeper inside me as I welcomed the sweet ache his cock gave me as it filled me up.

Derik gripped my hips, pulling me onto him as I met each thrust, desperate for more as I clamped my greedy pussy around him.

He groaned as I did, moving faster until I was crying out, Kai's mouth making a meal out of my breasts, his fingers on my clit, teasing me to the edge again.

I reached down between me and Kai, wrapping my hand around his cock, teasing him right back, making sure I wasn't the only one losing my mind.

I pumped him in my grasp as he grew more frantic, Derik's thrusts becoming more urgent. I panted, my chest tight as I tried to breathe, but I was too tight, too hot, it was too much.

My orgasm crashed over me so fast and hard, I cried out, screaming and trembling as Derik held me back against him, my head still tipped back.

His fingertips traced down the line of my throat before he buried his face in my neck and let out a ferocious growl.

His dick thrust so hard, I almost fell forward on Kai but he steadied me, letting Derik drive himself deeper until I was so sore, but in such a good way.

I clutched Kai's body, my ass, my pussy clenching, sucking Derik in as he let himself go with me.

He thickened inside me, and I sucked in a breath right before he released himself, stilling his thrusts against me.

He slowed then, kissing over my shoulder with heavy breaths, his fingers tracing down my spine and over my stomach as my hand fell from Kai's cock.

Derik slowly released me, and Kai caught me as I sighed at the emptiness again.

"You okay, Little Human?" he said in that low, husky voice that made me shiver.

I nodded and looked up at him, knowing he was going to destroy me just as wholly as the other two.

"I missed you. All of you," I whispered, and a low growl came out with his next breath.

He pulled me to him, cradling my body against his before kissing me softly, tenderly. A side of Kai that I didn't normally see.

His mouth moved over mine, his tongue finding mine as he lowered me onto the mattress.

I wrapped my legs around him, my nails scraping his back as he nudged my legs apart, sliding inside me with no warning. I arched into him, but he held me tight, capturing my moans with his lips still on mine.

He rolled his hips against mine, thrusting slowly, and I whimpered at the pace, the fullness stretching me, but it was different, he was taking his time, like a sensual buildup that made me so damn hot.

"I want to feel every part of you, devour you, consume you. I can't do that if I'm racing to the finish line," Kai breathed against my lips, then claimed my mouth again before I could talk.

I had nothing to say anyway; it was exactly what I wanted.

I moaned as his cock reached the sensitive spot inside me, moving against it, shooting my core with pleasure before pulling all the way back and moving into me again.

I gripped him hard, my nails digging in as I bucked my hips, trying to meet his thrusts but trying to urge him faster at the same time.

He wasn't letting me though, his pace holding as he wound the pressure so tight within me. I broke from the kiss with a nip of his lips.

"Faster. Kai. Please," I begged, my pussy throbbing, the pleasure swirling inside with me, tightening and tightening until I couldn't handle it.

He grinned down at me, kissing over my jaw, down my neck, over my breast, his tongue tugging at my nipple.

I arched into his mouth, my pussy clenching as he rolled his hips into me again.

It was throbbing as I groaned, the pleasure so intense and intimate it had my body shuddering, trying to take every inch of him so slowly.

He moved slightly faster and I trembled at the feeling, my thighs shaking against him.

My head rolled to the side as he kissed my neck, my eyes meeting Derik's as he watched, leaning against the bedpost.

Brax lay next to him, his eyes hungry again. They were insatiable. So was I though, and I needed Kai, all of him, everything he had.

He chuckled and dragged my lips back to his.

“I was giving you a chance to recover before I destroy you, Little Human,” he teased, and my core pulsed with a dangerously intense pang of pleasure.

“Destroy me,” I breathed, and he grinned.

“Careful what you wish for.”

I met his eyes and dared him to make me regret it. And then he was gripping my thighs, pushing them apart, sinking even deeper inside me until I cried out at how full I was and how good it felt.

“Fuck,” I gasped as he thrust so fucking fast, leaving me breathless and desperate for the finish line he was holding just out of my reach.

I met each thrust, his cock so precise with each stroke it had me breaking beneath him. I was pretty sure he was going to tear me in half, but I had never wanted that so badly in my life.

But I also wanted him to be just as gone as I was, and he was too in control, so I rolled us, landing on top of him, his cock never faltering in its pace as he gripped my hips and yanked me down onto him.

I rode out each pump, widening my legs over him, taking every delicious inch of him. It wouldn't have been so seamless but he let me take over, and that alone had me throwing my head back, the moans escaping.

I was so close, the pleasure overwhelming me bit by bit, when there was a knock on the door.

I paused on Kai but he pushed inside me, making me gasp. Derik swung off the bed and went to answer the door.

I had fucked at the heat before, watched, but it felt weird being in our room, our private space and having someone watching.

One of the wolves was at the door. I hadn't learned his name yet, but he was wide-eyed as he whispered to Derik. I was going to stop, but Kai didn't let me, urging me on, stealing my attention back.

He sat up, kissing me, gripping the back of my neck.

“I can’t stop now, Little Human,” he growled in my ear, and a shiver of pleasure melted my awkwardness into liquid heat beneath my thighs. “I’m too close.”

I kept going, riding him as Derik pushed the other pack member out of the doorway and closed it behind them.

“Finish with me, Kai,” I said, and he clenched his jaw, slamming inside me hard and fast the way he knew I loved.

It brought everything inside my body to the hilt within seconds, until I couldn’t keep riding him without somewhere for the pleasure to go.

I broke, ripped in two, falling into oblivion as my orgasm claimed me as harshly as my alphas had. My nails raked down his chest as I arched my back, and my eyes clenched shut.

A few more strokes of my tight, shuddering pussy walls and Kai’s control snapped too. His roar shook the room as he rammed inside me, the entire bed squeaking, threatening to break as we bounced on it.

And then Kai rolled us, grunting as he pushed through his release, stretching us both to our limits, pumping into me harder and faster, sinking me into the mattress as I cried out over and over.

It was obsessive and desperate and had my climax taking me over, everything else falling away as I clutched Kai to me, his growling spurring me on, his swelling cock burying inside me a last time just as the bed leg snapped.

The wood cracked, putting us on a lean, and we might have fallen, but Kai reached out and gripped the bedside table, knocking the cup and the candle off, breaking both.

He let out harsh, raspy breaths as he smirked down at me, his cock released, sated but still inside me. My pussy throbbed against him, so fucking spent and happy.

So was I.

"I leave you two alone for one conversation and you break our shit?" Derik scolded as he came back in.

Brax was laughing, bending down to where the bed had snapped at the leg. He shook his head and went through to the bathroom.

"Have fun fixing that, Kai. I'm showering before breakfast. You coming, Spitfire?" he asked with a grin as he looked over my body.

Kai released me and cursed as he leaned over the bed and saw how badly it was broken. I didn't care if I had to sleep on the floor if it meant fucking like that every time though.

I climbed off the bed and went to go to Brax, but my legs were jelly. They tried to give out but Derik was there, holding me up.

"I've got you, beautiful," he said, holding me with hands that were deceptively tender.

He looked over at Brax with a stern look. "No fucking. She needs more sustenance than cock," he warned, and Brax grinned.

"No promises," he teased, but I knew he was joking.

He took me from Derik, pulling me into the bathroom. I went easily, needing to wash the sweat and sex off me, but I was stuck on the "breakfast" part. I was starving.

My stomach growled as if to prove my point, and I blushed. Brax knelt down to my stomach and kissed it.

"We'll feed you soon, little one," he murmured, kissing the skin there again, and my heart swelled.

I looked down at him, running my fingers through his damp hair.

They were so different than I had thought they'd be. Sure, they could be vicious animals, they could be the savages from the stories we were told growing up, but they could be so much more than that.

They could be sweet and kind, loving and devoted. More than any human had ever been to me.

I wished the humans knew what it could be like. That wolves and humans didn't have to be at war or hate each other. We could exist together, happily.

Maybe not in the way I existed with them, but I hoped our child was going to grow up in a world where he was allowed to love my kind as much as the wolves.

Maybe that was the stupid dream of a naive human, but I couldn't help it.

"We dream the same dreams, Lorelai," Derik said from the door.

I looked over at him as Kai leaned his arm against the top of the doorframe and gazed at me intensely.

"It's why we don't rule things like our fathers did. We're trying to make a difference."

"I know." I smiled, and Brax stood up before me.

"And we'll keep trying. Things can't always be sunshine and rainbows, but they don't always have to be war either.

"Maybe your humans will realize that before it's too late," he murmured, and I offered him a tight smile because we all knew the likelihood of that happening.

Still, I could dream.