

Clan Cultivation 91

Chapter 91

"Father, mother, uncle, aunt... I want to avenge you."

Five hundred miles away, in a cave.

The black tiger's body was rising with mist, and its body was changing, turning into a man in black.

He gritted his teeth, resentful.

Thinking of the scene where my father was killed, my mother and my uncles were beheaded in order to intercept the human sword cultivator, I was extremely angry in my heart. After the anger, the killing intent was boiling.

Losing his father to sit in town, Baihu Mountain cannot be preserved.

The enemies of the past will come and divide everything in the family.

As for him, he will also become the target of some demon kings to hunt and kill, to cut grass and roots, so as to avoid future troubles.

After he was killed by some demon kings, those demon kings would frame the crime on certain human cultivators to clear their relationship.

"Father has always been cautious and does things without leaking. The guards set up on the periphery have set up a strict line of defense. If human monks come sneakily, they may be detected in advance. Even if it is unexpected, there will be monsters leaking the news. All kinds of early warning methods have failed, and all kinds of sentries have failed."

Heihu pondered, killing intent flashed in his eyes.

If you don't think about it, you're done, and if you think about it carefully, you're afraid.

But a human cultivator is extremely familiar with Baihu Mountain, avoiding all sentries and preventing news from leaking.

The perfect use of various conditions gave Baihu Mountain a fatal blow.

If you want to do this, there must be a demon clan to provide intelligence support, avoid some dangerous places, and sneak into this place.

Without the intelligence support provided by the demon clan, it would have been impossible to complete this raid.

"Who the * is going to kill my father with the help of a human monk?"

Killing intent flashed in Heihu's eyes, as well as the names of rivals and related information.

Those demon cultivators leaked information to their father, which would lead to an accident for his father.

In the demon clan, Qi training monsters are just cannon fodder. Many demon kings acquiesce to the fact that the low-level monsters are fighting, and their status is low. Teach its exercises, teach its life supernatural powers, and give it a certain amount of training.

The great demon of the Purple Mansion, which can be transformed into a human form, was mainly cultivated by the Demon Emperor's Palace.

The Golden Core Demon King, guarding a Lingshan Mountain, became the top of the Demon Emperor's Palace.

The demons are in good order and join forces to fight against the killing of the human monks.

But after all, there are some "monster traitors" who take refuge in the human race, sell the information of the monster race, and give the human race convenience.

Brush.

The Jiaolong departed silently.

Back in the cabin, the three of them were resting, silent.

The first elder was injured and was using his true essence to repair the injury; his father, Lu Jinwen, was not only injured, but also had an arm broken; Lu Xuanji was also injured and was taking care of his meridians.

In the cabin, other monks were also injured and were adjusting their breath.

Some cultivators are not seriously injured and can recover after a few months of recuperation; some cultivators are seriously injured and require ten or even 20 years of recuperation.

Some cultivators were seriously injured, so serious that their foundation was destroyed, and their cultivation could not be improved.

There is no injury on the body, so I am too embarrassed to say that I participated in this battle.

After this battle, it was almost a life-threatening event, and everyone was injured.

This is war, and wounds and bloodshed are the keynotes.

As for the kind of enemy that died several thousand and zero casualties on our side, that is a plot that only appeared in the novel.

Killing one thousand enemies and killing three hundred of our side is considered a great victory.

"Huhu."

Thinking of something, Lu Xuanji directly handed the storage bag to the Great Elder.

"Elder, there are thirteen corpses of monsters inside, you can check them."

The first elder took the storage bag, counted it, and said, "This time, we moved closer to the Ye family to avoid the danger. To thank the Ye family, let's send three monster corpses."

Father Lu Jinwen nodded and said, "You should be like this."

"It should be so."

Lu Xuanji also nodded.

One should know how to be grateful. The Ye family gave a helping hand on the battlefield. This is a human favor; one should return the gift and give thanks.

"These corpses of monsters, plus the merit reward, are enough to buy half a Zifu Dan for the Great Elder." Father said happily.

"Zifu Pill, still don't need it. It's too expensive, I plan to rely on myself to attack the Zifu realm." The elder directly refused: "It's better to use these pills to reserve three Foundation Establishment Pills for the Lu family. By the way, I have to buy some auxiliary medicine pills for Xuanji to improve my cultivation."

"Each small level of the foundation building period takes too long. Without the help of medicinal pills, it is almost impossible to break through. The life span of foundation building is two hundred and forty years, which seems to be long, but it is actually too short."

"The spirit stones earned this time are used as reserves on the third floor, foundation building pills on the second floor, medicinal pills for Xuanji on the third floor, and medicinal pills for the old man on the second floor."

The meritorious service has not been issued yet, but the elder has already roughly estimated the rewards after the war.

After the war, the Lu family could get at least 200,000 spirit stones as a reward.

This is a huge sum of money.

The Lu family can earn 15,000 spiritual stones every year by relying on spiritual fields, medicinal pills, minerals, etc.; but they have to pay salaries to the monks in the family, give various benefits, and cultivate resources, etc. Thousands of Spirit Stones. If you add the offerings handed in every year, as well as personal exchanges, etc., it will cost 3,000 spirit stones.

At most, one thousand to two thousand spiritual stones can be saved every year. com

After ten years, there is a Foundation Establishment Dan.

There is one Zifu Dan in the balance of a hundred years.

This is in the absence of accidents, in fact accidents often happen.

Relying on the wealth of the Lu family, if you can save one Foundation Establishment Pill in 20 years, and one Zifu Pill in 200 years, you are lucky.

The income is large, the expenses are also large, and the balance is small. This is the current situation of the Lu family, and it is also the current situation of many immortal clans.

As for reducing the salaries of the family monks, reducing welfare benefits, etc., I don't want to use them. Welfare can only be increased, not reduced. Once wages are lowered and benefits are lowered, the family will be separated and the family will fall apart.

And the annual salary of the Lu family cultivator is really not high.

A cultivator in the Qi training period has an annual salary ranging from ten to thirty spirit stones.

A foundation-building cultivator, with an annual salary ranging from 300 to 700 Lingshi.

The annual income of many loose cultivators is higher than that of the Lu family cultivators.

The Lu family cultivator has a low salary, not as high as a loose cultivator's annual salary, but there are all kinds of invisible benefits, with a family sheltering outsiders who dare not kill people and stealing treasures, they can have a stable spiritual vein to cultivate and live in the cave, and they can provide exercises and books at a low price. . The annual salary is low and the hidden benefits are high, which is why many family cultivators are better than loose cultivators.

But even so, wages cannot be any lower.

No matter how low it is, it's not like human words.

Now this expedition, the family has more than 200,000 spiritual stones, which means that the financial future will be relatively rich, you can buy a lot of things, and some plans can be opened.

Of course, the more than 200,000 spirit stones belonged to the three of them who fought desperately and exchanged their lives for it. They belonged to the three of them's private property, not the Lu family.

I can't, and I won't give credit directly.

Instead, it entered the family account in the name of family credit.
