

Charming Mommy of adorable triplets Chapter 2209

Chapter 2209 Sunny, who captured the moment, ducked behind a wall. Cameron's face turned red. She felt extremely awkward and ran back into the house.

Waylon held his palm to his cheeks because he had lost his cool...

LLL

L

Cameron ran into the study and opened the door.

Sunny was sitting behind the desk and reading his newspaper, pretending nothing had happened. She walked over and held out her hand. "Give me your phone." He looked up and smirked. "Why? Is that how you speak to your father? You're going to check my phone? No way." Cameron crossed her arms. "You're not going to delete it?"

Sunny turned way and mumbled, "No, I finally got a picture of my son-in-law. I would have no dignity if I just deleted it just because you said so."

She choked. "Son-in-law..."

Sunny smirked and folded the newspaper. "I've accepted him, so you're not going to reject him." After that, he continued. "He's such a great guy. Even Minzy could see that, but you're still oblivious. If I didn't insist, he would have left. You're pretty smart about most things but not about your own feelings. I'd be damned if I didn't remind you about it."

1

Cameron was at a loss for words.

It felt as if Sunny had been planning this all along, and she just found out toward the end.

Cameron said stubbornly, "You just can't use that picture. I need my dignity." "You care about dignity?" Sunny looked at her with a serious face. "Why were you not ashamed when you asked for a cheque from him?"

Cameron was stunned. "How did you know about that?"

"It doesn't matter how I found out. You have to repay the money even if it means you have to work in Bassburgh. We don't owe."

A few million dollars wouldn't mean a lot to him, but he was just scaring her. She did owe it.

He just had to find a way to get her to Bassbough no matter what. Cameron turned away. "I have a few millions."

"The money in your account belongs to me too."

Cameron scoffed. "If you have to push it, all I have left is my life."

"I can help you pay it if you want me to."

Sunny smiled. "Get close to him and give me a chubby grandchild in a year, and I'll clear the debt for you."

"You can do that yourself!"

Cameron's face was red with anger when she stormed out.

Sunny smirked because she was no match for him.

He picked up his phone, opened the photo, and sent it to Damian to show off. Damian was annoyed and blocked him.

In the afternoon, Daisy and Nollace returned from shopping and saw Sunny playing with his lizard in the garden, seemingly in a good mood.

She walked over and handed the box of tea to him. "I know you love tea, so I got this for you."

Chapter 2209

Sunny took the box and was surprised. "Oh, there's no need to spend money." Daisy smiled. "We're going back tomorrow, and I didn't know what to get you. Please keep it. It's just a small gift." "Alright, since we'll be a family soon, I'm going to just accept it." Daisy raised her brows. "You're so confident about that?"

Sunny waved his hand. "I've been there before, I'm sure of it. I'm going to win this bet."

After saying that, he quietly showed her the picture on the phone.

Daisy was shocked. "They've progressed so much? How could I not know about it?"

"But more importantly, is Waylon someone who would take the initiative!?"

Chapter 2210 That was unbelievable. Daisy scratched her cheek. "What are your terms?"

Sunny said, "Nothing much. All I want is for Cam to find a man who matches her. I think your brother is a good man, and I hope that I'm not wrong about it."

Daisy suddenly felt guilty. "But it doesn't look like Cameron wants to go to Bassburgh. I don't know if it's a good idea to insist that she goes."

Even though Sunny did this for her happiness, it felt as though forcing her to go to Bassburgh for her brother wasn't the right way to do it.

Sunny smiled. "No one can make her do something if she doesn't want to. I have no idea how, but what if she wants to go?"

At least she wasn't forced to go.

Even if they tricked her, there was no point if she wasn't willing. He knew his daughter well enough.

She just didn't want to admit her feelings to anyone.

The next day, after breakfast, the party went to the pier. The ship that was docked there would leave at 10:15 a.m.

ILI

Sunny, Mahina, and the butler sent them to the pier, and some of the Southern Clan members were there too.

Daisy looked toward Sunny and the others with a heavy heart. "Take care of yourself. We'll come back and visit."

Sunny smiled and nodded. "I'm glad you think that way. We'll always be on the East Islands."

After a long time, Cameron was not there yet. Daisy looked toward Waylon. "Is he not going to wait for her? Would she really show up? Daisy wasn't sure, even though Sunny had said that Cameron would go to Bassburgh.

After around ten minutes, a car parked not too far away, and Cameron got out of the car in her shades. The driver helped her get her luggage out of the trunk.

She walked over with her luggage.

Daisy was shocked. "You..."

Cameron turned away and smirked. "I'm just going for a few days. I don't plan to stay for too long." Daisy smiled. "You can stay as long as you want."

Cameron turned to look at the rest. "I'm really leaving. Are you not going to ask me to stay?"

Sunny turned around. "Oh, it's time to go home and have a drink with Damian. Let's go."

Mahina waved. "Have fun."

The butler smiled. "Go have fun. I'll take care of him."

Cameron was speechless.

Those were the real faces of her family members. She angrily boarded the ship with her luggage. Waylon looked at Cameron and couldn't help but smile. Daisy walked close to him. "Let's go."

She boarded the ship with Nollace and Waylon following close behind. The ship sailed off into the wide ocean.

Cameron sat in her cabin, reading a magazine, when Daisy poked her head in. "Cameron?"

She turned and closed her magazine. "What is it?"

Daisy walked into her cabin, closed the door, and sat down on the couch. "I came to see you because you might be bored."

Cameron put her magazine aside. "It's rare that you're not spending time with your husband and with me instead."

"It's different." Daisy walked over to the window and pulled the curtains aside. The sun's rays shone in while the water shimmered. "The first time I left home was to study at Yaramoor with Colton."

Cameron was surprised and squinted. "Are you trying to make me feel better?"

She turned back with a broad smile. "I was just worried that you would be sad."

Cameron chuckled. "Why would I be sad? I can still go back. I haven't been to Bassburgh before, so it would be nice to visit it."