Charming Mommy of adorable triplets Chapter 2332

Chapter 2332: Moreover, Mr. Tanner Harrington, who's present, has busin ess connections with Mr. Nolan Gallagher. Does she plan to offend the Goldmanns by saying this?" Seeing that they did not believe her, Tiffany took out her phone and showed the photos in her phone's photo album. "This was taken by one of the members of our cr ew. You can take a look at them."

In the photos, James' actions toward Daisie looked a little intimate. It w as difficult for someone who did not know the context not to misunders tand them.

"Is Daisie having an affair with James?"

"However, I heard that James and Daisie are rather close. This seems to make sense now."

Tanner did not say anything from the beginning to the end since everyon e was the observer. After some time, he placed his wine glass down, pati ed the director on his shoulder, and got up. "I'll go back first. I'll update y ou about my decision."

The director sent them away with a grin. "Okay, thank you for coming."

Tiffany felt smug deep down.

If Daisie and James have the balls to attend this variety show, the only t hing awaiting them in the near future will be a scandal.

"It'd be best if the fans of both parties were to start a Twitter war, the more intense the fight, the better. That would be a perfect incident to suppress the public's opinion about me. So why not ?

The next day, the crew behind the variety show "24 Hours in Isle" bee ated a post.

#New guest Amy Holt to replace Tiffany Cullen as a permanent guest o n the show.#

After the tweet was posted, all netizens were shocked. Tiffany had been replaced after the positive appearance on the variety show "24 hours in an Isle". Many netizens speculated that Tiffany had been affected by public opinion from the previous incident.

After seeing the news, Tiffany called the director immediately. "Sir, didn't you agree to let me onto the show as a resident guest? Why--"

"I only invited you to our show because of Mr. Gosling. And the first thin g you do after appearing on one episode is blathering nonsense last nig ht in front of all our investors? You're the one who's offended others. Wh at do you expect me to do to save you?"

The director of the show hung up the phone.

Tiffany froze in place.

"Did I just get replaced because I claimed that Daisie has an intimate rel ationship with James?

She was so exasperated that she flung her phone on the ground and sm ashed it. "F*ck! Why? Is it because Daisie has a strong background and a backer?"

She walked to the couch, sat down, picked up her laptop, logged into her Twitter account, and posted a tweet.

#What can I do in front of a capitalist? I admit defeat. .#

Her fans then started to send her consolation messages and retweeted her tweet.

Everyone also managed to guess who the "capitalist" she mentioned wa s.

Tiffany's fans were furious, and they started tagging the official Twitter account of "24 Hours in Isle" and reprimanded the crew, while some o f them corrected Daisie in their tweets. Even the official Twitter account of Tanet Music was not spared from the war.

#Can someone bully others just because you have the money? Tiffany h eelt before the public and apologized, so how can somebody get back a t her after all that she's done?#

#Someone even told the public that she didn't rely on her family to make her debut in showbiz. Isn't this a smack in her own face? Isn't she relyin g on her family now?#

#Hehe, she is a little princess in the circle, so what are we ordinary people to her? Be careful, or else we'll all be blo cked by the capitalist behind her.#

At that moment, at the studio in Corolla...

Tiffany's fans gathered outside the studio, demanding justice for Tiffany.

Daisie's posters were painted with red crosses and trampled by them. T he group of fans was so aggressive that the security at the scene could not stop them.

James and Daisie passed by, and James clicked his tongue when he saw the commotion outside the studio. "Hav e Tiffany's fans lost their minds?"

Daisie had seen such scenes so many times before this that she was no t taken aback by the protest. "It's okay. I've already gotten used to it. Let' s go."

She was about to leave when a shriek came from behind.

"Daisie Goldmann!"

An emotional fan snuck in through the blockade, went straight to her, an d splashed an unknown liquid in a glass bottle at Daisie.

James quickly stretched his arm out to block the liquid. "Hey! Look out!"

James's arm managed to block the liquid, and a strong burning sensatio n distorted his expression.

Daisie realized something, grabbed him, and supported him. "It's sulfuric acid!"

Chapter 2333

The female fan who splashed sulfuric acid was subdued to the ground by one of the security guards, but she would not admit her mistake. "Dai sie Goldmann, you deserve this! Why aren't you the one who got splashe d!?"

The crew found out about the situation and rushed over.

Daisie turned around and shouted, "Bring me a bottle of water now. Hurr y up!"

One of the crew members brought Daisie a water bottle. She immediate ly grabbed it from the employee and cleaned James's arm with it.

Meanwhile, the staff beside them called the police and an ambulance.

Daisie looked at James and pitied with bloodshot eyes, "What do you th ink you're doing? Are you stupid?"

James inhaled sharply, grashed his teeth, and forced a smile. "If I didn't block the acid for you, you would've been disfigured. I was only looking after you on your husband's behalf."

Daisie pushed the person next to her away, walked toward the female fa n subdued by security, and slapped her in front of everyone.

One of the crew members pulled Daisie immediately. "Ms. Vanderbilt, th ere are people watching."

"So what?" Daisie's eyes were bloodshot with anger, and she pointed at t he group of fans. Are you here to demand justice for Tiffany? Okay, then I'll tell you right here and right now that even if Tiffany kneels in front of me and apologizes to me now, I won't accept it.

"As for why I won't accept it and what she's done before this, I believe you'll find out at the ins and o uts of this incident soon. Apart from that, what makes you people think t hat I'll need my family's connections to deal with Tiffany? She's not wort hy of that level of effort."

(C

Daisie grabbed the collar of the female fan. "Splashing someone with su lfuric acid is a crime of violence and intentional injury, so slapping you is considered a light punishment in my book. If anything happens to Jame s..."

She then sneered and approached the female fan. "Criminal detention is definitely workable, and you'll surely be held accountable for the comp ensation for damages. Even that idol of yours will have to bear some of the consequences of your actions today."

The news about Tiffany's fan's detainment and James protecting Daisie from acid made it onto the trending list.

At the same time, Daisie slapping Tiffany's fan because of James and t hreatening that she would not forgive Tiffany even if she were to kneel a nd apologize to her also made it onto the list.

After the series of incidents made it onto the papers and other online media, many netizens supported Daisie.

James and Daisie's fans teamed up to reprimand Tiffany so ferociously that even Tiffany's agency dared not speak up for her again.

Netizens ridiculed Tiffany for thinking too highly of herself, and many haters dug into Tiffany's inappropriate tweets those that she posted before she made h er debut. Tiffany disliked celebrities who had a strong background in the entertainment industry and thought that their actions were equivalent to playing dirty a nd cheating in the industry.

However, she quickly apologized after being smacked in the face by oth er netizens.

She also liked and retweeted posts with the connotation, "Princesses ca n always live the life that they want without having to work hard." She al so commented with another private account.

#The only thing they're being blessed with is luck when they are reincar nated, making them think they deserve everything. I really despise such an attitude.

Some netizens even found Tiffany's past medical history and found out that she had undergone plastic surgery. They did not think of Tiffany a s sweets that promoted hostility toward the rich but also tweets in wh ich she voiced out her disdain toward the poor.

Some even found links and articles that had published videos showing Tiffany happily taking photos with indigenous children during a public e affaire undertaking but complaining to the staff behind their backs, sayin g they were dirty...

Tiffany was quickly labeled as a hypocrite and a two-faced woman by netizens.

On the other side, in the hospital...

James was leaning on the hospital bed, and his assistant and some cre w members were at his service, bringing him water, food, and fruits. "I a ssistantly feel being hospitalized isn't such a bad thing."

Daisie, who was peeling an apple, glared at him. "How can you still joke around!"

The area on his arm that got corroded and burnt was not too small, and it would surely leave a scar after this. And now that the leading actor ha d been hospitalized, it was estimated that he would not be able to film h is part for a while. The project could be said to have run into many obst acles along the way.

Chapter 2334

"pfft, it only hurt my arm. Besides, what kind of man will I be if I don't ha ve a scar or two on my body?"

James's assistant shook his head. "If your face got hurt, you'd be weep ing now."

Daisie pursed her lips lightly and lowered her gaze. "I'm the one who got you into this mess." James leaned on the pillow. "We're bro thers, so there's no need for us to get all entangled in this topic of who g ot who into trouble. Besides, I'm a man. Shouldn't I be the one who stands up whenever such things happen?"

Shannon and Nollace appeared outside the ward at this moment, and D aisie got up from her chair.

Shannon came over and stared at James. "How's the injury?"

James grinned. "It's okay, don't worry, I can still move my hand, so it wo n't affect the shooting much."

Shannon sighed and said earnestly, "I really didn't expect so many thing s to happen throughout the filming."

"We first encountered a huge blizzard, then Daisie fell sick and almost got drowned, and now James has been hospitalized due to a sulfuric acid assault. God will start the shooting of this drama at an unlucky time!"

It was hard for him not to have such thoughts.

James said, "That means that the drama will be very popular. We will b enevolence after running into so many obstacles. This will definitely be a great hit, don't you think?"

He amused everyone in the ward.

"Okay, don't talk too much, and get some rest already. You should take g ood care of your injuries first. I'll provide you with the result of our invest igation soon."

Shannon left the ward with James' assistant and some other members of the crew after saying that.

Only Daisie, Nollace, and James were left in the ward.

Nollace walked to the bed and patted him on the shoulder. "I owe you o ne."

He had asked James to take care of Daisie for him when they were the crew because he trusted James' character, but he did not expect that he would block an acid attack for Daisie.

James still looked as if it was not a big deal. "Alright then. If I run into an y kind of trouble in the future, I'll come to you. Will that be fine?"

Nollace nodded. "Of course."

He gave Nollace a thumbs up. "Cool. I just love to deal with people who are as bold and forthright as you."

Daisie followed Nollace out of the ward, but she stopped halfway. "Nolla ce, I don't want to let Tiffany off so easily."

It's obvious how Tiffany's fans got to know where the studio is. And the fact they had the courage to create a stir at the shooting site must have something to do with Tiffany's instigation.'

Nollace turned to look at her and then stretched out his hand to take her into his arms. "Don't worry. Toda y will be the last day she gets to enjoy peace."

Tiffany got scolded so much that she had to deactivate her Twitter acco unt temporarily. At present, she could only hide in her residence, hide be hind the curtains, and look downstairs.

By doing so, she saw many agitated fans of James gathering downstair s and reporters, hoping to get some photos of her.

She was biting her nails.

'I only wanted to make Daisie suffer a little, but who knew that James w ould block the acid for her?

'Heh, who will believe it when the two of them say they're not in that kin d of relationship?'

She picked up her cell phone and used another account she had created to post a photo on Twitter, hoping to divert some of the netizens' attenti on away from her. And the photo was titled "James Tait has an intimate relationship with Daisie Goldmann!"

However, not long after the photo was released, she was thoroughly sm acked in the face.

#Are you dumb? Daisie and James are close friends, okay?#

#You're one of Tiffany's fans, aren't you?#

#What kind of piece of trash would spread rumors about "The DJ Brotherhood"? Does your household d even have an Internet connection?#

#Everybody knows that James and Daisie are best friends and partners. James previously claimed on a few variety shows that he likes cooler women older than him, while Daisie looks like an innocent and beautiful princess, which is obviously not his cup of tea. He treats Daisie like a br other and a buddy.#

#Everybody also knows that Daisie has a husband, okay? This photo of yours only seems weird because of its shooting angle. And while you're photoshopping a picture, you've forgotten to remove the people in the r flection of the elevator, which shows that the two of them weren't the on ly ones in the elevator. Also, judging from the picture, James didn't act e xcessively. I'm reporting this photo at this very moment.#