Chapter 1361: Storm In The Capital (4)

1361 Storm In The Capital (4)

"You can leave. Keep paying attention to him." The Third Prince closed his eyes.

Lu Qing stayed silent as he bowed and left.

The noble reopened his eyes. His gaze turned sharp; the dossier he was holding was engulfed in a ball of golden light. It turned into ashes and disappeared.

...

In the imperial garden—a tall and slender young man in a long white gown was watering the rare plants and flowers with a watering can.

The young man was graced with handsome looks, and was a little similar to the Third Prince. Both had a noble aura, but the former's vibe was gentle and calm. He wasn't as cold and arrogant.

A beautiful young lady stood behind him. She looked as refined and elegant as a white swan.

She wore a long purple dress that accentuated her perfect figure. Her charisma was undeniable; any man would have been mesmerized by her presence.

"Second Prince!" A person appeared in a hurry.

The young man was the Second Prince. He turned to look at Zhou Jingtian with a smile. "Jingtian, why the rush?"

"Zhou Jingtian, mind your manners when you meet the Second Prince," scolded the young lady with a frown.

"It's all right," said the prince, waving a hand.

"Haha." Zhou Jingtian chuckled. He gave the lady a proud glance before passing the report to the young noble. "Your highness, quick, take a look at this report. This is information about Baron Wang Teng, whom you asked me to pay attention to."

“Looks like there’s big news.” The noble passed the watering can to the lady and took the report. He then read through it with interest.

The more he read, the smaller his smile became. He was astounded.

“Is this the Wang Teng who rejected the Second Prince’s offer?” The young lady seemed unhappy.

“Yes, that’s the one.” Zhou Jingtian nodded.

He wondered what face the uppity young lady would make once she learned of the young hero’s achievements.

She had a very bad impression of the latter since he had rejected the Second Prince’s offer.

Zhou Jingtian was waiting for a good show.

“Hmph, he’s just a baron. Why the need to disturb his highness?” The young lady snorted.

“Qingyi, you may be wrong this time.” The prince shook his head and sighed.

“Your highness, what do you mean?” Lin Qingyi was surprised.

“Take a look.” The noble sat down on a stone stool in the garden and passed the report to the lady.

Lin Qingyi was puzzled. She scanned the content of the report and her expression froze.

“This is... impossible,” she exclaimed in disbelief after a few seconds.

“That’s how it is.” Zhou Jingtian chuckled.

He had a great time talking to Wang Teng, so he was astounded yet happy when the latter achieved that merit.

Looking at Lin Qingyi’s bewildered expression made him feel even even more refreshed.

“You did it on purpose, right?” Lin Qingyi glared at him.

“Hahaha.” Zhou Jingtian burst out laughing.

The Second Prince smiled and waved a hand "All right, all right." He then said with regret, "Wang Teng is impressive but my offer isn't good enough to get such a talent."

"Your highness, you're thinking too highly of him; your status is much higher than his. He might have made some achievements, but he's not worth your effort," Lin Qingyi said in a hurry.

Zhou Jingtian opened his mouth but chose not to speak in the end. From a prince's perspective, Wang Teng's status was indeed too low; he would only be seen as a true talent if he became an eternal stage martial warrior.

There were many talents in the world.

Chapter 1362: Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (1)

1362 Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (1)

Defense Planet No. 29.

After many days of rest and recuperating, many of the heavily injured had recovered and their lives were no longer in danger.

Wang Teng played a huge part in this. His light force rain was amazing, both in quantity and quality. All those who experienced it would give him a thumbs up.

Now, there was a legend about a nanny in the military camp.

Of course, it was all a joke; just a sign that everyone was close to the young hero.

Wang Teng's face turned black when he heard the rumors. He felt tired; it seemed that his nickname would stay with him for life.

Moira covered her mouth and chuckled. The young hero had taken some time in the few days prior to make the Xuanyang Soul Restoring Pill and saved her. Wang Teng had found her in time, so the devil mind apparition had not sucked too much of her soul. Her injury was lesser than Di Qi's and she experienced a swift recovery.

"The undefeatable Colonel Wang Teng has the nickname 'nanny'. What a stark contrast." Moira laughed.

"Go away!" The young man was angry and frustrated.

“All right, all right, don’t mind it. It’s just a nickname,” Moira consoled him.

“Why don’t I give you one?” Wang Teng stared at Moira’s chest.

“Pfft!” Moira snorted. She couldn’t stand his gaze, so she hurriedly changed the topic. “I came to thank you in person.”

“It’s nothing.” Wang Teng waved a hand in dismissal.

She was stunned by his response, so she snapped back angrily, “My life is nothing? I think you’re humiliating me.”

Wang Teng teased her, “Ah, saving you was a piece of cake.”

Moira: (・^・||)

“You won’t get a girlfriend,” she said softly.

“Do you want to be my girlfriend?” Wang Teng nudged her.

“Don’t overthink it,” she replied with a calm tone, while combing her long hair.

“That’s good. I’m an outstanding man, and too many ladies love me; I can’t have another.” Wang Teng sighed.

Moira: ...

This guy’s heart must be made of trash.

How insensitive!

It took her a few deep breaths to calm down. Then, she handed something to Wang Teng.

“This is my gift to you.”

“What is this? A little branch?” Wang Teng sized up the item with interest. Then, he gasped and added, “There’s a dense amount of light force inside.”

“My friend from the Light Velvet Planet gave this to me. You can look for her if you have any troubles in the future,” Moira said.

Wang Teng raised his eyebrows. “This must be important to you. Are you sure you want to give it to me?”

“I’m leaving.” Moira waved a hand and simply left.

Wang Teng looked on as she was leaving, while shaking his head.

“Slap!”

Someone suddenly slapped his shoulder and teased, “Stop looking; she’s gone already.”

“I knew you were hiding back there.” Wang Teng turned and looked at Di Qi, feeling at a loss.

“You send your spiritual power all over the base.” Di Qi was similarly taken aback.

Wang Teng stored the little branch in a small jade box. “One can’t be too careful.”

Di Qi shrugged and asked, “Anyway, what’s going to happen with my cousin if you start dating Veblen’s disciple?”

“What do you mean? What about your cousin?” Wang Teng’s face turned black. He quickly added, “There’s nothing going on between me and your cousin. Are you trying to take advantage of me?”

“Also, there’s nothing between me and Moira. Don’t tarnish her reputation.”

“Tsk, I saw everything.” Di Qi pouted and sniggered.

“What did you see?” A dangerous glow appeared in Wang Teng’s eyes. He stared at the other with a smile.

“Cough, nothing. I saw nothing.” Di Qi quickly changed his tune. This fellow is too powerful. I can’t afford to offend him.

“Look at your timid expression.” Wang Teng rolled his eyes. “Don’t joke about your cousin and me. I’d be put on the spot if your family finds out and later wants me to be their son-in-law.”

Di Qi wanted to give him a thumbs up.

Never had he seen such a thick-skinned person.

Dong...

Just then, the clock in the base chimed.

Wang Teng and Di Qi turned serious.

“Let’s go.” Wang Teng walked out; Di Qi nodded and followed. The pair reached a building at the back of the military base.

The place had a simple build, but it was tall, and it gave off a dignified vibe.

A huge stone tablet was erected in front of said building, with names carved on its surface. There were countless of them.

Wang Teng blinked when he saw this. He started to feel emotional.

Countless martial warriors rushed over from all directions. They walked silently, standing in the plaza facing the building. None of them made a sound.

Upon closer observation, everyone was wearing their military attire. A white cloth tied on their shoulders was extremely conspicuous.

Wang Teng and Di Qi were no exception.

More and more people arrived. The plaza was packed.

However, it was strangely quiet.

Silence!

There was only silence and deep sorrow in everyone’s eyes.

Some of the people were still bandaged, as they had yet to recover completely, but they also stood there in silence.

Chapter 1363: Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (2)

1363 Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (2)

A light shower fell from the gray sky all of a sudden. Heaven seemed to be moved by the atmosphere.

Orderly footsteps were heard coming from a distance. A path was cleared.

Warriors in military attire were making their way over, carrying black wooden caskets. General Cameron was in the lead.

Swoosh!

The martial warriors in the plaza stood up straight and saluted.

The ones carrying the caskets entered the building under everyone's gazes.

As the clock chimed, a sorrowful and solemn voice came from the building and carried in the air.

"To our heroes!

"Your spirit will live on!"

That was the Hero Hall!

Every defense planet had one of such buildings. The corpses of the fallen warriors... or their belongings would be buried there so they could rest in peace.

Wherever they died, they were buried.

It was the highest level of respect for their dead heroes.

It was their home!

Wang Teng was awestruck. He looked up and felt an invisible force spinning above the building, something akin to the souls of all those heroes.

...

The dead were gone, but the living needed to move on.

The next day, everyone swallowed the sadness and switched to their tough side. They resumed their usual behavior, firmly set on the martial warrior's path.

Another matter ignited everyone's emotions and spirit.

The National Military Medal!

Defense Planet No. 29 would receive one soon.

There was great uproar when this piece of news was revealed. It was the talk everywhere, being the hot topic for many days.

Such a recognition was a huge honor; many took it as fuel to motivate themselves.

However, it was extremely rare.

Only a handful of martial warriors had managed to get a medal over the years. Even the older martial warriors who had been on Defense Planet No. 29 for tens of years had yet to see one.

And yet, someone posted on their planet was going to receive it!

It was a huge honor for them all.

In the future, others would say, “Look, they’re from Defense Planet No. 29. They received a National Military Medal recently.”

That was why everyone was excited and pumped up.

Everyone was also guessing who the recipient would be. They turned their attention to one person in unplanned synchronicity.

Wang Teng!

General Cameron had recited Wang Teng’s contributions a few days prior, so everyone was in the know.

Everyone’s guess was that the young colonel would be the one who would get the medal.

His contributions were outstanding. However, no one thought he could receive the award since it was extremely rare. Not even General Cameron could receive it.

But now, everyone was certain it would be him.

Aside from Wang Teng, no one fulfilled the requirements!

Di Qi instantly rushed to find the young hero when he heard the news, feeling extremely jealous.

“You must treat me to something. It would be inappropriate if you don’t.” His face was red, belying how jealous he felt. He couldn’t control himself.

It was the National Military Medal!

What a huge honor!

He hailed from a noble family, yet he couldn’t resist the medal’s allure.

None of his noble peers from the younger generation would ever beat him if he were the one receiving the recognition.

His status and identity would be a notch higher than the rest.

Alas, the medal had nothing to do with him. He could only dream about it.

"It's just a National Military Medal. Why are you getting so worked up for? Calm down," Wang Teng replied indifferently.

He had already received the notification and knew he would be the one awarded, so he could boast about it peacefully.

He would be reduced to a joke if it weren't so.

Di Qi's expression froze. He stared at Wang Teng bitterly.

This fellow is baiting me on purpose.

This is infuriating. Isn't he afraid of getting beaten up?

Wang Teng waved a dismissive hand and said generously, "Anyway, I can treat you to something; just tell me what you want to eat."

"Your answer doesn't make me happy for some reason..." Di Qi shook his head and sighed.

"Jealousy will only make you lose yourself." Wang Teng patted his shoulder.

"Go away!" Di Qi fumed.

"Hahaha." Wang Teng burst out laughing.

"Anyway, are you sure you don't want to consider my cousin? I think she likes you. Her parents have been asking me about you lately. Looks like you caught their eye." Di Qi winked at Wang Teng.

"Come on, why are Olivia's parents joining the game?" Wang Teng felt shocked.

It would be fun if they forced him to get married.

"Hahaha, you're too outstanding. It's normal for them to be interested." Di Qi laughed.

"No way. I'm just a small baron, not worthy enough to join a grand duke's family," Wang Teng replied hurriedly.

"I have high hopes for you." Di Qi patted the young hero's shoulder. He then felt proud for being able to tease the fellow.

He had yet to realize that he might need to pay the price for selling his cousin.

Chapter 1364: Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (3)

1364 Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (3)

Di Qi dared to sell his younger cousin without any hesitation!

Amid the anticipation of many, morning arrived. An announcement resounded in the entire base.

“All martial warriors, please gather in the plaza!”

Wang Teng finished his breakfast and went to the plaza along with Di Qi, Peggy, Wei Tong, and the others. They stood in front of the Tiger Strike Force; everyone was in military attire, standing up straight.

The other martial warriors arrived. Raging Bear and Red Scorpion were not far. The two commanders—Berkeley and Haus—gave Wang Teng envious looks.

Being in the military, they couldn't resist the temptation of the National Military Medal.

In the past, they felt that losing once didn't matter, because they could win in the future. They would still get more chances.

In the end, Wang Teng had surpassed them before the chances came.

He had the highest glory, the National Military Medal. How could they compare with him?

Even if they worked hard and received it in the future, this would very likely happen numerous years later.

They felt bitter for a moment.

The commander of the Tiger Strike Force was a monster!

They lamented in their hearts.

The other martial warriors were also looking in Wang Teng's direction. The envy and respect in their gazes were apparent.

More and more people gathered in the plaza. Then, the generals arrived.

How could they not attend the event?

General Cameron stood on the platform in front of the plaza and shouted, "Soldiers, let's welcome General Fu Xinglan from headquarters!"

"General Fu Xinglan!"

Many people were taken aback with surprise.

He was a renowned general from the core of the military, one who had made great contributions on one of the defense planets and was also holder of the National Military Medal.

Furthermore, he was an eternal stage warrior. However, he stepped down after his breakthrough was achieved through some forceful means, and would rarely appear in public.

No one expected such a famous general to personally present the National Military Medal to Wang Teng.

The latter raised his eyebrows when he overheard some discussions. He was equally stunned.

"General Fu Xinglan will be presenting you with the National Military Medal. This is a great honor," Di Qi said with respect.

Amid everyone's expectation and excited gazes—a figure slowly appeared next to General Cameron.

It was a charismatic middle-aged man. He wasn't handsome, a little ordinary-looking even, but his aura was exceptional. His white long hair was scattered over his shoulders; his eyes were calm and deep.

"This is General Fu Xinglan!" Wang Teng was surprised. He could see the immense amount of force and its glaring glow coming from the senior's body using his Real Eye. He was on par with Bai Shanhou. He was also a powerful martial warrior.

Fu Xinglan felt Wang Teng's gaze and looked down. He looked into the young man's eyes with his calm gaze.

However, he quickly shifted his gaze to look elsewhere.

It was a quick action, but Wang Teng was still shocked.

Was I discovered?

No, the other party only noticed his gaze.

Round Ball's exclamation resounded in Wang Teng's mind. "Wang Teng, this General Fu Xinglan is impressive."

Wang Teng took a deep breath and asked with curiosity, "What do you mean?"

"The general's achievements are legendary. He had already won numerous wars against dark apparitions before he advanced to the eternal stage. He rarely suffered defeat and was considered the God of War.

"His military exploits were outstanding, and was bestowed the National Military Medal for it. He was merely at the heaven stage back then.

"No one knew how many battles he had won by the time he reached the universe stage.

"When he rose to the eternal stage, rumors were spread that he killed numerous devil titans and was greatly feared by the dark apparitions."

Round Ball sent a large bulk of information about General Fu Xinglan to Wang Teng as they spoke.

"Oh my god!" Wang Teng cursed directly. He squinted and said, "Is he a bug?"

"You could say that. He was basically the man of his era." Round Ball continued, "He has a high status in the military and the Great Qian Empire. I didn't expect that he would be the one presenting the medal to you."

Wang Teng nodded. He was in awe and felt proud about the situation.

It was indeed a great honor to have that general taking part in the ceremony.

General Fu Xinglan glanced at everyone and saluted. "I'm glad to return to Defense Planet No. 29." Then, he continued, "I have fought here before; being back makes me emotional.

"Of course, I'm happy to see you all. You show me a different spirit.

"Before I came here, I was wondering what the army who defeated the dark apparitions looked like. What kind of army is able to achieve this huge victory? I understood when I laid eyes on you. This is a tough and fiery army.

"Achieving victory is not a coincidence.

"You make me proud."

There was commotion among the martial warriors below. They all felt exhilarated.

Receiving General Fu Xinglan's compliment was a cause for great prestige.

Everyone knew that the senior expert always meant what he said. He would never say polite words.

The men were only attending the medal bestowal, but they also received General Fu Xinglan's compliment. It was a pleasant surprise.

The famous powerhouse lowered his hand and all noise disappeared. He then opened his mouth to address the crowd.

Chapter 1365: Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (4)

1365 Their Spirit Will Live on! The Pillar of the Empire! (4)

"I came here today to present the National Military Medal.

"Colonel Wang Teng, please come on stage."

General Fu Xinglan was straightforward. His gaze landed on Wang Teng.

Instantly, all eyes were on the latter.

As expected, it's him!

Their inner speculations were confirmed at the moment. Envy and admiration appeared on their faces as they trained their eyes on Wang Teng.

Wang Teng stepped on the stage, calm and composed.

General Fu Xinglan looked at the young man in front of him in satisfaction as he spoke in a low voice. "Colonel Wang Teng, your exploits during this war were outstanding. On behalf of the military and the Great Qian Empire, I award you with the National Military Medal.

"This medal represents the pillar of the empire. I hope you'll stay true to your principles and never forget your battle spirit.

"May you flourish, may all martial arts flourish."

"Yes!" Wang Teng saluted and replied loudly.

The next instant, an exquisite jade box appeared in General Fu Xinglan's hand. He opened it, revealing a gold medal to all the people present.

Everyone had their eyes peeled to see the medal. It felt like a rare treasure.

The great general took out the gold medal and pinned it on Wang Teng's chest. Then, he firmly patted the young man's shoulder and saluted.

No words were exchanged, but the former could feel the general's expectation. An additional burden landed on his shoulders.

He lowered his head to look at the gold medal shining gently as it hung over his chest. It was eye-catching and extraordinary.

So this is the National Military Medal!

This recognition was like a death-exemption token.

It represented the backing of the military and the protection of the Great Qian Empire.

However, Wang Teng realized that he wasn't as excited as originally thought he would be. After rounds and rounds of battles, he knew that his own ability was the foundation of everything. If he managed to reach the eternal stage, no one in the entire Great Qian Empire would be able to threaten him.

General Fu Xinglan said all of a sudden, "Colonel Wang Teng, I look forward to your performance in the League of Talents."

Wang Teng blinked. The general actually knew he was going to participate. It seemed that General Cameron had told the higher ups about his plan.

"I will work hard," Wang Teng replied.

General Fu Xinglan continued, "Good. You're representing the military, so all of the military is there to back you up. You have nothing to fear."

"Yes!" Wang Teng's eyes shimmered.

He suddenly had people supporting him!

Most of the talents participating in the League of Talents hailed from powerful backgrounds; dirty tricks could be expected. However, he wouldn't have to worry since the military would be supporting him.

Of course, he wasn't really worried, but having less trouble was always a good thing.

“Go ahead.” General Fu Xinglan nodded. He faded gradually until he disappeared in silence.

Many among the warriors wished they could see the latter for a few more seconds.

“Colonel Wang Teng, congratulations!” General Cameron smiled.

“Thank you for taking care of me,” Wang Teng replied gratefully.

He knew that without the general and his faction’s help, he would have never received the medal that easily.

“All right, no need to be so polite.” General Cameron waved his hands and smiled. “Go ahead and bask in this glory.”

Wang Teng shook his head with a smile. The general had learned how to tease him.

The ceremony was over, but none of the martial warriors attending were in a hurry to leave. All of them wanted to take a closer look at the medal.

The instant the young hero walked down—Di Qi and the others crowded around him, intently staring at his chest.

Wang Teng was speechless. What’s wrong with them? Shouldn’t they be looking at me? Am I not much better-looking than the medal?

“Tsk tsk, so this is the National Military Medal!”

“I want to touch it...”

“Bastard, who dares to touch my chest!” Wang Teng fumed.

Chapter 1366: Departure! (1)

1366 Departure! (1)

A cosmos level spacecraft left Defense Planet No. 29.

The fleet outside the planet lined up on both sides of its trajectory, as if sending the vessel off.

The ship became smaller and smaller as it delved into space, gradually turning into a dot before it disappeared.

Many on the planet were monitoring the ship's departure. General Cameron and his group, and even Veblen, Moira, Peggy, Huo Qiya and Di Qi...

Many martial warriors went to see him depart after hearing the news.

—the main reason being that the one riding on that vessel was the one who had made unparalleled achievements on Defense Planet No. 29!

All that he was leaving on the planet would eventually become a legend!

His exploits would probably be forgotten with the passing of time, but if the hero rose further and engraved his name throughout the universe, his legacy would only be filled with more colors and be longer lasting!

Just like General Fu Xinglan!

He might even surpass the latter!

However, the future was unknown; the road ahead was still long and full of variables.

The ship traveled to a remote planetary sector. A figure clad in crimson armor flew out of the craft, which then vanished, to be replaced by a larger crimson spacecraft.

The difference between the two vessels was like comparing an ant and an elephant.

The figure then entered the new spacecraft and set forth at an astonishing speed, disappearing into the vast space.

...

Inside the spacecraft—Wang Teng was seated in the main control room. His armor disappeared, revealing his face.

“Round Ball, how long till we reach the Light Velvet Planet?” he asked calmly while looking into the distance.

Round Ball floated next to him and stretched out a hand. A vast starry sky was then shown, brimming with countless stars. Galaxies were intertwined, turning the whole view into a bright picture of the cosmos.

A path was drawn, stretching all the way to a planet located in a remote galaxy.

“Based on our speed, provided no accident occurs, we can get there in five days,” said the little one.

“It’ll be faster than expected.” Wang Teng nodded.

“That’s right. Good thing we repaired the Flaming River in advance; we wouldn’t be as fast if we hadn’t.” Round Ball smiled.

Wang Teng frowned, “Repairing this ship costs me a pretty penny.”

The Flaming River suffered serious damage when he was being hunted down by the Sailer the universe stage warrior. Round Ball also did its best to make the needed repairs.

And right when the Flaming River was finally repaired, the Devil Slayer was then damaged during the battle with the Obelisk Scale Dragon Beast. Good thing it could be replaced in the meantime.

“It’ll cost a lot of money to repair the Devil Slayer.” Round Ball’s heart ached.

“Will we run out of money soon?” Wang Teng said bitterly.

“Almost. We spent a lot to repair Flaming River. We would run dry if we were to repair Devil Slayer right now.” Round Ball then came up with a bad idea, “However, you can definitely make a lot of money if you sell the immaculate energy stones.”

“Come on, those stones are priceless. It’s better to keep them for our own use.” Wang Teng rolled his eyes. “The military gave me a lot of rewards; I can use them to buy things. Besides, my National Military Medal might get me special discounts and privileges. This would be a good time to test it.”

“You shouldn’t buy everything via the Empire; it would be easy for others to guess you own a universe-level spacecraft.” Round Ball frowned. “After all, the things we’d buy would be intended for spacecraft repairs of that level. It would be obvious.”

“We should just buy a portion of what we need, to avoid making people suspicious,” Wang Teng suggested.

“That’s our only option.” Round Ball sighed. “Life without money is tough!”

“It’s all because of the antman queen. The Devil Slayer would have been as battered otherwise.” Wang Teng got up from his seat. “Let’s go and have a look.”

In the next moment, Wang Teng and Round Ball’s bodies disappeared and moved into the Devouring Space.

This wasn't Nihility's space, but Wang Teng's own.

His Devouring Space appeared once World Devourer was attained.

Only then did he learn that the two came in a combo package!

Was this considered a surprise?

But that was not all. The real surprise was...

His and the Devouring Nihility Beast's spaces were connected!

This allowed for exchanges and transfers with Nihility through their link.

After learning this, Wang Teng did some experimenting. Although transfers were possible, there were many restrictions.

The first was consumption.

Exchanging spaces required space power, and the further he and Nihility were apart, the more space power it was consumed.

It was similar to teleportation!

Wang Teng and the Devouring Nihility Beast were just like two mobile space nodes. Given their connection, they could be switched at any time, which was amazing.

Chapter 1367: Departure! (2)

1367 Departure! (2)

Wang Teng and Nihility were two worlds apart at the moment. It would be impossible for the former to reach the Darkland, even if he exhausted all his space power.

They were too distant, making his spatial capabilities insufficient.

Of course, he could give it a go if he had enough space stones.

Second, they would need to exchange positions, unless they were close by.

They were basically space nodes. If Wang Teng teleported to the Darkland and Nihility didn't switch to where he was, they would have to stay there and find other ways to return.

Hence, Nihility had to leave when Wang Teng went over.

Besides those two points, there were more restrictions.

In a nutshell, the connection was a good thing, but they couldn't use it however they wanted.

Since Nihility had left, Wang Teng stored the corpse of the Obelisk Scale Dragon Beast into his Devouring Space.

At the moment there were two unique spaces floating silently inside Wang Teng's consciousness.

One was milky white, emitting a faint glow—

The other was purple-black. It was dim and deep, giving off a faint glow.

The second, dark one was the Devouring Space.

Wang Teng entered it. The place wasn't as big as Nihility's, however, it was enough to store the Obelisk Scale Dragon Beast... even if it was a little cramped.

The dragon beast was completely covered in a cocoon of light.

A strong vitality was exuded by the latter. The antmen queen was undergoing a transformation.

Looks like she needs more time, Wang Teng pondered after checking the progress with his Real Eye.

The antmen queen was hibernating. He couldn't talk with her.

Wang Teng left the Devouring Space and entered his Space Fragment.

Little White was also undergoing a transformation. A huge blood cocoon was hovering in the sky. Catalpa and the other floral fairies were working hard in the spiritual garden below. They would raise their heads on occasion to give curious looks at the cocoon.

"Little White is about to finish," Round Ball exclaimed in surprise.

"Yes, it's almost finished absorbing the blood essence." Wang Teng nodded. He felt at ease, since the little one's transformation was coming along.

He didn't leave. Instead, he toured the garden and inspected the fairies' work.

The Floral Fairy Race were skilled in grooming, as well as breeding spiritual plants and flowers, surpassing other races in this aspect.

“Not bad,” Wang Teng complimented, “the Spiritual Vanilla is useful for your cultivation. Everyone can take one.”

The fairies were elated.

“Really? Are you really going to let us have some?” Flower Angel had ponytails that day; they bounced up and down behind her as she jumped for joy. She was like a cute little girl.

Yes, she did look really cute~

“You don’t want it?” Wang Teng smiled.

“Yes, yes.” Flower Angel nodded profusely.

“Go on, pick them up. I won’t treat you badly if you work hard.” Wang Teng disappeared the moment he finished speaking.

The little fairies were exhilarated. However, they didn’t pick the Spiritual Vanilla right away; they looked at Catalpa first.

“Since he gave permission, you can pick them.” Catalpa smiled when she noticed their gazes.

“Yay, that’s great! I’ve been eyeing the Spiritual Vanilla for a long time.” Flower Angel jumped up in delight. Then, she took out a small spade, bent down, and looked for a well-grown plant. She then dug it up.

Soon, an entire Spiritual Vanilla was dug up. The roots were also intact, showing how professional Flower Angel’s skills were.

Once done, the fairy placed it below her nose and smelled it happily. Then, she stuffed it in her mouth.

“Mmm, delicious! Fragrant!” she exclaimed in satisfaction as she ate.

Catalpa, Flower Iris, and the other fairies followed suit, happily chewing their own Spiritual Vanilla happily, amazed by how delicious they were.

Wang Teng would have burst out in smiles had he stayed to watch the scene.

Unfortunately, he had already left the Space Fragment and missed it. He returned to his spacecraft and locked himself in the cultivation room.

He had made huge gains during the war.

First, all his five basic elements had reached the ninth level of the celestial stage; none of them lagged behind.

Wang Teng smiled when sensing the immense force reservoirs in his body.

His ability rose tremendously during his time on Defense Planet No. 29. Still at the celestial stage, but the difference was vast.

Unfortunately, other than the five basic elements and his dark force, the remaining forces had yet to reach the same level.

Still, they rose.

Constellation Light Force: 5600/70000 (planetary stage, seventh level)

Constellation Wind Force: 33200/60000 (celestial stage, sixth level)

Constellation Lightning Force: 12300/40000 (celestial stage, fourth level)

Constellation Ice Force: 13500/90000 (planetary stage, ninth level)

Constellation Poison Force: 2300/10000 (celestial stage, first level)

Chapter 1368: Departure! (3)

1368 Departure! (3)

Light force and ice force were only two below the celestial stage.

Wang Teng was heading to the Light Velvet Planet, which meant that his light attribute would definitely reach the celestial stage. It was just a matter of time.

Ice force would be the only challenge to surmount. He had yet to find a way to raise it, so he could only get ice force from star beasts in the virtual universe. The progress was a little slow.

Unfortunately, star beasts with the ice element were uncommon. Searching for them was troublesome.

Wang Teng shook his head helplessly; this could be handled one step at a time.

He looked at the changes to his other attributes. The ultimas for his five basic elements had reached the perfected stage.

The young man closed his eyes to have a sense of his ultimas. He felt something in his heart.

The sensation was odd, as if the five had merged and turned into a part of his body. He could execute them with the flick of his fingers. All his skills had ultimas in them, meaning that even the simplest battle technique would be extremely powerful.

He then raised a hand. Five different colored rays were intertwined, forming a ring.

“The five ultimas became smoother and easily found an equilibrium at the perfected stage.” Wang Teng opened his eyes and stared at the five-colored ring with a strange glimmer in his eyes.

Then, he closed them again and started merging the ultimas, further developing his five-element fist.

He created the skill from scratch, but it wasn’t powerful enough so he left it on the back burner. He then had a sudden inspiration when his five ultimas reached the perfected stage.

He leaped up and started practicing in the cultivation room.

He didn’t have many fist battle techniques and most of them were at a low level, so he didn’t practice them. However, all those skills turned into fertilizer, aiding in the enlightenment of his fist skill.

That was how he created the five-element fist, but he had used low-ranked skills in the beginning. Now, he was instilling his understanding of various fist moves of the celestial stage and above.

This was frightening.

It was noteworthy for a normal martial warrior to have one or two celestial or above battle techniques. And yet, Wang Teng had merged countless battle techniques.

No normal person would ever dare think about this.

Wang Teng tore his Five-element Fist apart and started from scratch again, merging the other fist battle techniques.

The new move would be made with all the battle techniques acquired recently.

Three hours later—Wang Teng stabilized himself and let out a long sigh.

His gaze turned sharp.

Boom!

The next second, he threw a punch, compressing space and releasing a sonic boom. The air shook.

A fifth-level cosmos stage warrior would probably croak when dealt such an attack. If I release my full power, ninth-level cosmos stage fighters would also die. Wang Teng's eyes lit up. He felt proud of himself. Indeed, I'm a talent!

His five basic forces were at the ninth-level, while his five basic ultimas were at the perfected stage. The new five-element fist he just created was unexpectedly powerful. He felt delighted by the result.

Mind you, some common universe stage battle techniques didn't have such power.

It was astounding that a battle technique created by a celestial warrior could reach that level.

Wang Teng calmed down and sat down cross-legged on the ground. He looked at his attributes board.

Aside from the five basic ultimas, the other ultimas rose as well.

Lightning Ultima: 2600/6000 (sixth-level)

Wind Ultima: 1300/7000 (seventh-level)

Ice Ultima: 800/6000 (sixth-level)

Blood Ultima: 10000/10000 (tenth-level)

Dark Ultima: 10000/10000 (tenth-level)

Bone Ultima: 3650/8000 (eighth-level)

Poison Ultima: 1680/7000 (seventh-level)

The first three were uncommon, especially the Lightning and Ice Ultimas, as they were even harder to find than the Wind Ultima.

The Lightning Ultima was an unexpected gain when he created the Mystic Heaven Lightning Sword Array. More of this attribute was dropped during the battle, so it reached the sixth-level directly.

The Wind and the Ice Ultimas were at the seventh and sixth-level respectively, considerably higher than before.

The next four ultimas had been collected from dark apparitions. Both the Blood and Dark Ultimas had reached the tenth-level.

It was an unexpected harvest.

That pair of ultimate moves would greatly help him understand dark domains, especially the Blood Sea Domain; having the Blood Ultima was a prerequisite to learn it.

Bone Ultima had jumped from the third to the eighth level. It seemed that many members of the Spiritual Bone Race had been killed.

Splat!

Wang Teng opened his palm. A bone protruded from within, piercing through his skin.

However, neither his flesh nor skin was damaged; they seemed to have opened a gap for the bone to go through. It was interesting.

“Is this osteoproliferation?” Wang Teng had a strange expression.

He knocked on the bone, which produced a metallic ring. The bone was quite hard.

He would be able to easily injure opponents if it came out during close combat.

Lastly, the Poison Ultima was a new addition to the family. Information about the latter flashed through his mind and a ghostly green glow floated above his palm.

This glow changed shape continuously; sometimes resembling needles, while others it was like dust.

Chapter 1369: Departure! (4)

1369 Departure! (4)

Normal martial warriors would be poisoned upon infection.

That ultima was probably from the Devil Moth Race, the mid-tier devil emperor who looked like a female human. Wang Teng noticed her from the start.

The dark apparition gave him a dangerous feeling, much more so than all the mid-tier devil emperors he had ever met.

However, she managed to escape. The humans couldn't capture her.

Just from this he could tell that the devil moth species was powerful. If they matured, they would be harder to deal with than other creatures.

After all, poison force was troublesome.

Wang Teng turned to look at his domains. He was overjoyed.

All his domains had made progress. He even received a new Wood Domain.

Now, he had all five basic domains.

Wood Domain: 1400/3000 (third-rank)

Two more domains had been acquired, the Poison Domain and the Bone Domain.

Poison Domain: 1400/3000 (third-rank)

Bone Domain: 600/3000 (third-rank)

Both were special. They were the ones grasped by the Devil Moth and the Spiritual Bone races. None of the others had them.

And yet, Wang Teng had them.

Two more strange domains were added to his collection!

Wang Teng shook his head. In any case, they represented more trump cards.

He glanced at his other domains and smiled. All of them represented his hidden aces for the League of Talents.

Let's see who has more domain than me!

He turned to look at his origins when suddenly—Bai Shanhou's amazing sword attack appeared in his mindspace.

A sword that struck fear in people!

It had cut through space and injured a devil titan!

What a terrifying sword attack!

Wang Teng knew there was nothing fanciful about the attack, nor did it use any battle techniques. It was just an ordinary sword attack.

Still, the power of origin instilled in the move was immense.

Water Origin!

That was the newest origin in our hero's arsenal.

Water Origin: 5600/10000 (first-rank)

5600 points instantly made it the second most powerful origin.

Wang Teng felt the urge to give the attribute a thumbs up.

Bai Shanhou was amazing. No one could replicate that sword attack.

The young man continued to scroll down and was surprised to find that his Space Physique stat had increased, rising from the third to the fourth rank.

Space Physique: 3500/400000 (fourth-rank)

It jumped a rank.

It was worth noting that three hundred thousand points were needed for that jump. He had some points left, but he was still in need of more than a hundred thousand to hit the advancement limit.

How did he break through?

Wang Teng was shocked by this. He didn't know he collected that many space attributes.

No wonder his Space Tornado was able to injure a universe stage warrior! How terrifying!

Most of the remaining attributes weren't worthy of mention.

Oh wait, there was another one that rose a lot.

Enlightenment!

Wang Teng realized that this stat had jumped to the heaven realm.

Enlightenment: 15500/200000 (heaven realm)

A rise in level implied a change in quality.

Now in the heaven realm, Wang Teng's enlightenment was top-tier. Most heaven stage experts didn't have such attainment.

Wang Teng sighed as he left the attributes board alone. Then, he began working with domain mergers.

He had several domains at the moment. Fusing them could bring about more power and changes.

Succeeding would result in having a mighty domain he could call his own. Once this happened, none of the talents in the universe would be able to compare.

He slowly closed his eyes. Many thoughts darted to and fro in his mind, like shooting stars. They were domain-related enlightenment.

The Flaming River spacecraft traveled through the lonely and cold universe like a dirfter, heading towards a peculiar planet that had never been registered by the empire.

Chapter 1370: Open in Daytime, Close at Night! (1)

1370 Open in Daytime, Close at Night! (1)

There were always special beings in the vast universe, home to millions of stars. They thrived on those stars.

The countless living creatures made up the myriad of species in the universe.

The Light Velvet Planet was one of the special stars.

It had been around for 8.6 billion years, which was nothing in the scope of the vast universe.

Still, compared to earth, it was the ancestor of its ancestor.

This planet was located in a remote area. It was a peaceful place, with no one trying to disturb it.

Even if outsiders did land on that planet, they wouldn't meddle in its development due to several reasons.

It was a blessing!

...

A spacecraft traveled silently in the great expanse.

Based on speed, the sound of the engine, and the hull's material, one could tell it was a cosmos level vessel.

It had a rough and sturdy look, like a giant metal beast roaming through space.

There were shields on both sides of the craft, adorned with a sword and blade crossing as a symbol.

If anyone were to see it, they would recognize the unique symbol of the Universe Mercenaries Alliance.

Below the symbol was a big and hideous black snake.

The latter had a triangular head. Its scales were like tree leaves, while the pupils were blood-red. There was a green crown on its head, something like a cockscomb, and its fangs were visible. The creature had a ruthless and terrifying aura.

The Black Leaf Green Crowned Snake!

This was an evil and vicious reptile of poisonous nature. It was powerful; an ordinary celestial warrior could die from exposure to its poison.

Of all the mercenary groups in the alliance, only one used that snake as their symbol. It was the powerful Black Leaf Snake Team!

It was a mercenary force that stood among the alliance's top three. There were five heaven stage martial warriors in the team and their leader was a famous character. His ability was top-notch, even among heaven stage warriors.

Just then—

A group of martial warriors were standing right next to the ship's control station, intently looking at the map displayed in front of them. They seemed to be a little excited.

A middle-aged, bearded man couldn't help but curse, "Damn it, we're finally getting there."

"Honestly, it really is an out-of-the-way planet. We took three months to get here from planet Soaring Cloud," said a handsome brown haired warrior.

A beautiful, cold-looking lady in black battle uniform said with indifference, "I hope the map is correct. If not, it would be three months wasted." She was twenty years old or thereabouts.

Her lips were thin, while her eyes were slightly narrow and long. She was a bit sinister, and her indifferent expression made her seem even more distant.

“Leader, I’ve studied the map and it’s real. It’s been around for a few hundred years. It cannot be fake,” said a young man wearing a pair of glasses that gave him a tech-savvy look.

“I hope so. If not, I’ll skin you alive,” replied the fierce and beautiful lady.

The young man felt confident, but ended up shrinking his neck after hearing what the latter said.

The others looked at the lady fearfully.

The fierce lady patted the young man’s shoulder and said in a calm voice, “My brother’s birthday is coming. I came here following your advice; you know there will be consequences if I don’t get enough presents for him.”

“Yes, it shouldn’t be a problem.” Cold sweat poured down the young man’s back. He felt he was being targeted by a poisonous snake.

The others were also frightened. That was their leader’s younger sister; their evil and merciless nature was exactly similar.

Without the shadow of a doubt, the young man would suffer, if they returned empty-handed. Furthermore, the others would suffer along with him.

The spacecraft became silent. Everyone observed the map in silence while time flew by.

“Leader, we’re here.” The young man’s eyes lit up. He shouted in excitement, “We’ve detected a planet with life signatures. We’re right on the money, it has a dense light force.”

“That’s great!” The others were elated and relieved.

“Light force! A planet filled with light force... We’re rich!” The bearded man was exhilarated.

“Of course. I would never dare offer you this planet if it wasn’t special enough,” said the young bespectacled fellow to butter up their leader.

However, the beautiful lady remained expressionless. Her gaze became sharp as she ordered, “Full speed ahead!”

“Yes!” the young man quickly replied.

The people onboard the ship felt motivated. Following the young man's orders, the vessel accelerated and rushed to reach a certain direction.

Soon, a planet covered by a white glow entered their vision.

Everyone's eyes lit up as if seeing a treasure. The greed on their faces was apparent.

That was an undiscovered planet: a lamb waiting to be slaughtered.

"Leader, shall we land on the planet?" the fellow with glasses asked impatiently.

Chapter 1371: Open in Daytime, Close at Night! (2)

1371 Open in Daytime, Close at Night! (2)

"Idiot." The beautiful lady slapped his head and snarled. "Scan the planet first and determine the strongest combat ability of the inhabitants."

"It's an underdeveloped place. There aren't any powerful martial warriors here," muttered the young man with glasses.

"Say it again." The beautiful lady gave him a cold look.

"Ugh... Leader, you got it wrong. I didn't say a thing." The fellow quickly put on a smiling face and turned on the spacecraft's scanning system to check on the planet.

Some time later, results started to emerge.

"The strongest is a planetary-stage warrior. The natives are really weak." The bearded man flashed a sinister grin.

"Varian, hack into their network system," instructed Ren Gulan, their beautiful leader.

"Leader, they don't have a network system," replied Varian, the young man with glasses.

Ren Gulan's face froze for a while. "Why didn't you say so earlier?"

"I just found this out," quickly offered the startled young man.

The handsome, brown-haired man looked at Varian, feeling at a loss. He knows our leader has a bad temper, but the guy keeps pushing her buttons. Does he think he's lived long enough?

He's asking for it!

"Why are you still standing there? Land on the planet already." Ren Gulan scoffed.

"All right, all right." Varian quickly maneuvered the spacecraft and flew towards the nearby planet.

"Harrett, Billbrom, take some people with you and capture all the planetary stage warriors on the planet," Ren Gulan ordered.

"Yes!"

The brown-haired man and the bearded fellow responded in unison.

Their expressions were relaxed, as if not taking the matter seriously, at all.

They were all celestial stage warriors. Mere planetary warriors were too weak for them and wouldn't pose a threat to them in the least.

In fact, they only need one person to sweep through the whole planet. Still, they would never counter their leader's orders.

Boom!

The spacecraft landed above a lush forest, and strong gusts of wind crushed the trees below.

The star beasts in the forest were disturbed; they screamed in terror as they wildly ran for safety.

Swoosh, swoosh, swoosh...

Several figures rushed out of the spacecraft, their bodies radiating power. It was Ren Gulan and her men.

The brown-haired Harrett took a deep breath and exclaimed, "What fresh air, what a rich source of light force. This planet is a huge treasure trove."

"Untapped riches." The bearded Billbrom laughed.

He grabbed forward, and a fleeing star beast was captured by an invisible force; it floated in front of him while struggling in fear.

The creature was a snow-white rabbit, about three meters high and a meter wide. It was a fat one.

Harrett glanced at it and his eyes twinkled. "This star beast is a light element planetary disciple."

"Yes, there are light element star beasts all around. This one alone would be enough to fetch us a hundred thousand Universe coins or so," Billbrom said cheerfully.

Ren Gulan walked over and touched the rabbit's head. The creature was so frightened it was completely still, not daring to resist.

All the people present thought they had seen a ghost, watching Ren Gulan act like that.

Does this vile woman actually like rabbits?

Sure enough, no woman can refuse cute animals.

"We shall eat braised rabbits tonight," Ren Gulan ordered.

Everyone: ...

That's how our leader would act!

It was ridiculous for them to even entertain the idea she had a soft spot for cute animals. They were too naive.

The rabbit trembled. Although unable to understand Ren Gulan's words, it seemed to perceive something and felt uncomfortable.

"What are you doing? Go." Ren Gulan ordered.

"Yes!" everyone immediately responded.

Afterwards, figures soared into the sky and rushed towards the distance, disappearing in the blink of an eye.

Ren Gulan grabbed hold of the rabbit and returned to the spacecraft.

Varian hurriedly followed behind and asked, "Leader, where are we going now?"

"Head to the area where light force is densest; that should be the most important part of the planet," Ren Gulan said.

The spacecraft headed in a different direction.

The local vegetation was lush, almost covering 70% of the planet's surface. It was brimming with life, the natives live scattered in forests, where their tribes bloomed.

In the depths of the largest forest on the planet—there was a place considered their holy land!

It was a towering mountain!

There was a dense forest at the foot of the mountain, which was layered and shrouded in mist. All kinds of exotic flowers and plants grew there; fragrances were pervasive, streams were flowing. The place looked like a fairyland.

There were many strange wooden buildings in the middle of the forest, either built on trees, between rocks or hidden amongst flowers. The sight was peculiar and unique.

There were many sphere-like figures with white fur covering their bodies, shuttling among the exotic flowers and plants with innocent looks.

A peaceful scene!

No one knew that a disaster was about to befall them.

Suddenly, a black shadow in the distance flew straight over and stopped to hover right next to the mountain.

Chapter 1372: Open During the Day, Close at Night! (3)

1372 Open During the Day, Close at Night! (3)

The shadow blocked all sunlight, rousing chaos below.

Many round creatures covered in white fur ran out of their houses and looked up at the sky. They pointed at the object and discussed fervently amongst themselves.

In the middle of the valley, inside a slightly bigger house—an old furry creature walked out in an unstable manner. His eyebrows were so long it was sweeping the ground.

Ren Gulan and the others walked out of the spacecraft and stared at the creatures below with a frown.

“What are those?” Ren Gulan frowned.

“They’re probably just locals.” Varian was surprised too. He sized up the furry creatures with interest. “Honestly, they do look exquisite.”

“Powerful martial warriors from the universe,” said an old voice somewhere below.

Ren Gulan looked down and fixed her gaze on the furry creature in the lead.

“He speaks the common universal language!” Varian was stunned.

“Since the planet’s location was leaked, it means that someone came here before. It’s normal for them to know the language,” Ren Gulan said.

“I don’t understand why anyone would come to this land of treasure and not take anything.” The young man with glasses shook his head.

Ren Gulan blinked, but didn’t comment on it.

To her, kindness was just an excuse for the weak. It was tantamount to stupidity.

“Powerful warriors, quick, come down,” said the old fellow, sounding a little nervous.

The martial warriors: ??

Ren Gulan and Varian were just as confused.

It didn’t sound like an invitation, nor was it an order.

“Leader, shall we head down?” Varian asked Ren Gulan.

“Let’s... huh?” Ren Gulan was about to nod when her expression changed. She looked at the peak of the mountain some distance away.

Their spacecraft was hovering halfway to the peak. The mountain went straight up into the clouds, making the top impossible to see. Naturally, they land their spacecraft up there.

However, three figures were dashing down the mountain right then.

The furry beings rushed back into their houses when they saw the three, disappearing in an instant. It was as if noticing some frightening presence.

“What is happening?” Varian was astounded.

Swoosh, swoosh, swoosh.

The three figures reached them in the blink of an eye.

They shared some similarities with the furry creatures, but they weren’t round. They were slender and muscular; they also had golden patterns on their white fur. The lines ended at their forehead, forming an occult symbol.

Their eyes were also golden, which gave off a cold and noble gaze as they stared at the mercenaries.

“Didn’t you say that their highest battle ability was the planetary stage?” Ren Gulan gritted her teeth as she spoke to Varian.

“Leader, I don’t know how this could happen.” Varian was frightened and overwhelmed by disbelief.

The incoming trio had a cosmos stage cultivation!

The scan never showed their presence.

Only Ren Gulan was at the cosmos stage; the rest of the group were at the celestial stage.

Did we dig our own grave?

“Idiot, we’ll talk about this when we get back,” Ren Gulan cursed angrily. There was no time to think; she turned, wanting to rush back to her spacecraft.

However, one of the figures cut her off, blocking her path.

“Move!”

Ren Gulan took a deep breath. She knew that a fight was inevitable, so she gave the creature a disdainful stare and took out her battle sword. She then slashed at the other party.

Boom!

Sword light cut through the air.

The being was unscathed. He stretched a hand and a golden ray of light was shot, shattering the sword glow, right before rushing towards the cold mercenary leader.

Ren Gulan’s expression changed. She chose to dodge, not daring to receive the attack.

Just then, the other two beings made a move, quickly flanking her and raising their hands. Golden rays flashed.

The adventuress felt the threat of death. She quickly retreated, but was still hit by some of the rays. Blood spurted out of her body.

She gasped and her pupils shrank. She knew she couldn’t beat them, so she quickly evaded.

However, she was injured; escaping wasn't possible.

The three beings surrounded her, leaving her seriously injured soon after. There was no chance for her to resist.

The mighty trio captured her and her team, and then returned to the mountain peak, disappearing into the clouds.

Some time after the dust settled, the round creatures below finally walked out of their houses, looking scared and worried.

A few of the settlers spoke to the furry elder. The latter waved a hand and everyone returned to continue their activities, acting as if everything were normal.

Peace and harmony was resumed in the valley.

...

Inside the Flaming River spacecraft—Wang Teng stood in front of the Solar Dragon creature and circled it, wondering how to start his plan.

In the end, he had no choice but to take out his Lightning Slap and used it to smack the corpse's head with it.

Swoop! Boom!

The power of the calamity lightning was released and the dragon corpse's head was burned, as if struck by lightning.

Chapter 1373: Open During the Day, Close at Night! (4)

1373 Open During the Day, Close at Night! (4)

Please forgive me! Wang Teng said in his heart.

A few attribute bubbles were dropped.

It works! His eyes lit up as he quickly moved to pick them up.

Solar Dragon Eye*1

Solar Dragon Eye*1

Divine Level Fire Talent*200

Solar Dragon Flame*100

...

“Huh?!” Wang Teng exclaimed, clearly surprised. “The Solar Dragon Eye?!”

He felt a strange energy enter his eyes as the attributes merged into his body; a transformation was taking place.

The Real Eye was stimulated. Gold light flashed in his eyes, and a tinge of black and white appeared on his pupils.

Blinking once, they turned white. Blinking again turned them black.

It was peculiar.

The strange scene lasted for a second, but then the eyes were covered by a conspicuous golden light.

“Open in daytime, close at night!” Wang Teng was enlightened. His eyes glistened and he was pleasantly surprised.

It was a vision skill!

He managed to pry a vision skill out of the Solar Dragon’s corpse. It was unbelievable.

Honestly, Wang Teng didn’t expect such a boon. It came completely out of the blue. The devil mind creature had never executed vision skills while controlling the body; there was no clue of its existence.

His corpse pummeling was done with a ‘just in case’ mindset. What if there were any goodies dropped? After all, the Solar Dragon Race was famous, endowed with exceptional talent. He honestly didn’t expect to receive something.

Information pertaining to the Solar Dragon Eye was sent to Wang Teng’s mind, which helped him attain a basic understanding of the skill.

The skill would allow him to absorb light and heat within a certain range. That was where the ‘open during the day, close at night’ came from.

What did it imply?

It would be daylight when opening his eyes, and dark when he closed them.

The white and black colors of the Solar Dragon Eye were related to that saying.

When the pupils were black, they could absorb the nearby light and heat, turning a certain range into a 'nighttime' of sorts.

When they changed to white, they could release light and heat, releasing a sun-like attack. The surrounding area would turn bright.

Our hero thought that the skill was impressive.

Of course, the prerequisite was having a high skill level; otherwise, the attacking ability would be limited and basically useless.

The mere two points of Solar Dragon Eye were only enough to test out the skill before it died down. He couldn't use it.

Devil Emperor Bare Brain wasn't able to use the skill when he was taking control of that body. There wouldn't be a reason not to use a powerful skill.

Actually, the original owner of the body not having awakened the Solar Dragon Eye skill was another possibility.

Those were our hero's guesses after receiving the skill.

He shook his head, putting the matter to rest. His gaze was smoldering as he stared at the Solar Dragon corpse again.

This is good stuff.

If he could milk more of those special attributes, he would be able to use that amazing vision skill of the Solar Dragon Race.

Wang Teng lifted his Lightning Slap and started bashing the corpse.

Fortunately, it was an extremely tough, universe-stage body. It wouldn't be crushed easily; the young hero could work while free of any guilt.

He had nothing against that dragon race but he had no choice. That's why he tried not to ruin the remains. That would be inappropriate.

He wanted to properly return the body to its people.

An hour passed. Wang Teng managed to collect 26 points of the Solar Dragon Eye attribute in the end. It wasn't much, but it was more than before.

He felt able to execute the eye skill with some effort.

He also obtained a good amount of Solar Dragon Flame and divine-level fire talent from the corpse, allowing those two attributes to rise a little.

Wang Teng stopped, realizing he couldn't get more attributes out of the body anymore. The limit had been reached.

Still, he was already satisfied since the gains were completely unexpected.

"I'm sorry, I'm sorry." Wang Teng placed his palms together and bowed at the corpse as a way to clear his conscience. Then, he stored the body and planned for the day he would return it to the Solar Dragon Race.

"Wang Teng, we're here," said Round Ball in Wang Teng's mind.

Wang Teng was excited. He quickly walked out of the cultivation room and entered the main control room.

"Look." The little helper stared at the planet being monitored. Excitement was evident.

The young man also noticed. There was a strange glimmer in his eyes as he looked at the planet covered with a faint white glow. "We're finally here."

Round Ball suddenly asked mysteriously, "I scanned the planet and... guess what?"

Wang Teng raised his eyebrows and asked, "What?" He didn't bother guessing.

"I detected cosmos-stage warrior fluctuations on the planet," Round Ball replied.

"Cosmos stage warriors!" Wang Teng frowned. Veblen had told him that the natives had planetary-stage cultivation at most. Why were cosmos warriors detected?

"It can only mean that something has happened," Round Ball said.

"Invaders?" Wang Teng pondered.

"Yes, it's the most likely scenario," Round Ball said.

Wang Teng nodded. He asked his small ally to move closer before activating his Real Eye to look at the planet.

Wang Teng saw something and turned grim. "It's not just an invasion. This planet is a little strange."

Chapter 1374: The Seed of the Tree of Light! (1)

1374 The Seed of the Tree of Light! (1)

In space—Wang Teng stored the Flaming River ship in his space fragment.

Then, he wore his red universe-level battle armor and floated in the void.

The situation on planet Light Velvet was still uncertain. His ship was a huge target that would be easily discovered, so he chose to hide it and enter the planet on his own.

He moved silently towards the planet.

The high-tier armor was enough; he didn't need to use any skill to protect his body. The armor's surface ignited due to friction against the air, creating flames.

The temperature of those wasn't enough to hurt him.

Some time later, he entered the planet's atmosphere and plummeted at a high speed.

Once at an altitude of eight thousand meters, he took off the helmet and allowed the strong wind to blow against his face. His black hair danced in the air.

Wang Teng simply closed his eyes to enjoy the moment.

"The light force here is dense!"

The planet was a paradise of light force, unlike other places in the universe. It was filled to the brim with energy.

I'm glad I came here. Wang Teng smiled; he was elated.

Round Ball floated beside him and exclaimed, "It's rare to find a planet filled with light Force. You lucky dog."

"Thanks to Mister Veblen," Wang Teng replied.

"Where are you going? Should we go there?" Round Ball blinked and asked.

It was referring to the place where they noticed something abnormal.

"No hurry. Let's figure out what's happening first." Wang Teng shook his head.

He scanned the ground below and randomly chose a spot. He then flew over.

The region was a sea with small islands dotting the surface, like gems on blue silk.

Wang Teng fixed his gaze on a small island where the light force there was thicker compared to its surroundings.

The landing place was picked randomly. He went there to collect attributes, so the general idea would be to find places where light force was thicker.

He was going to get all he could from that planet.

Cough, of course, he wouldn't completely ransack the place. He promised Veblen he wouldn't harm the natives.

Furthermore, it was a special planet, a treasure to all the universe which couldn't be destroyed.

Wang Teng moved quickly, reaching the targeted island within a few seconds.

This isle was approximately 300 thousand square meters in size. Various coastal plants covered it. Star beasts crawled out from the sea and rested on the beaches.

There were many star beasts in the forest, too. One could hear them roar occasionally.

The creatures didn't know that a nightmare was upon them.

Wang Teng wanted to enter the forest, but then noticed something and gasped. He turned and headed straight toward the beach.

A giant crab had just crawled out of the sea. Seawater flowed down from its body like mini waterfalls.

The crab was special; its shell was hard, with scary-looking thorns protruding. The body was brown, covered with white spots. Its pincers had a strong appearance.

If a planetary-stage warrior was pinched, his body could be chopped in two.

The crab was at the emperor-level, which was equivalent to the planetary stage.

It was evident that the creature was among the strongest beings on the planet.

At least, based on a surface-level judgment.

The thing that caught our hero's attention was that the crab was a light element star beast.

Come on, even a crab is a light element star beast. This is absurd.

But, this also proved that the planet was bountiful!

Mind you, light element star beasts were rare in the universe. There was a massive demand but no supply to fulfill it.

Furthermore, they were delicacies; delicious, high-class food!

Wang Teng thought about whether to open a seafood market.

Would Veblen blame me for touching the star beasts?

He wouldn't drain the pond to catch all the fish. Sustainability was still the way to go.

Yes, he could do it.

Wang Teng suddenly felt he was awfully business-minded. Nothing short of genius.

He landed in front of the giant crab and sized it up while touching his chin.

The giant crab looked back and started to speak an unknown language, most likely the planet's language.

It was common for emperor-level star beasts to have speech abilities.

Wang Teng asked Round Ball to take out a translation device. The planet's language wasn't recorded, but the advanced universal translator had ample functions. It had a variety of languages in storage, and the analyzing capability was powerful.

It quickly translated the crab's words.

Basically, it was asking the other 'what he was looking at'.

"You look delicious." Wang Teng used his spiritual power to send his reply, right into the giant crab's mind.

The latter became furious. This two-legged creature wants to eat me. It was unbearable.

The being raised its huge pincer to slam the human.

The young hero was exceptionally small in comparison. Normal martial warriors could easily be squashed by the massive limb.

Delight and contempt flashed past the crab's eyes. How dare this puny creature provoked me. Courting death.

But, its gaze changed soon after, once it realized that the pincer didn't hit the ground; there was a strong force pushing against it. It couldn't move an inch.

Chapter 1375: The Seed of the Tree of Light! (2)

1375 The Seed of the Tree of Light! (2)

How is this possible?

The crab-like monster was stumped by disbelief. Its eyes twirled to look below its pincer.

It could not believe that a puny two-legged creature could stop the attack.

Still, that is what came to pass.

Wang Teng gave the creature a mocking glance. He was only using one hand to stop the giant pincer. He looked relaxed.

It was just an emperor-level star beast. There wasn't even a need to put forth a tenth of his strength.

The giant crab was infuriated. It quickly moved its other pincer towards Wang Teng, trying to catch him off guard.

Clang!

Sparks flew.

Wang Teng didn't evade. His universe-level battle armor was enough to block.

The monster froze, knowing it had met a tough opponent. The situation also left it confused.

When did this powerful presence appear in the area?

Wang Teng waved a hand and summoned the metal-armored flaming scorpion.

The scorpion was bigger than the crab; the latter trembled in fear and shrunk back.

It had finally realized that the small biped wasn't something it could provoke.

The sea monster regretted going out to the shore. It would have been better to stay put under the water.

The poor fellow should have looked at the calendar and checked the date!

“Wow, what a fat crab!” The flaming scorpion’s eyes lit up when noticing the giant crab. It was almost salivated.

Having followed the human for a good while, its taste became more expensive.

The scorpion ate good stuff most of the time; its widened horizons helped it discern that the crab was definitely delicious.

Both creatures had some similarities, but they were ultimately of different species. Hence, the hero’s pet didn’t care.

“You can cook this crab. Don’t kill it; it won’t be as fresh,” Wang Teng said.

“Don’t worry. I’ll make sure it’s as fresh as it can be,” the metal armored creature promised.

Wang Teng simply left the shivering crab with the flaming scorpion and gradually disappeared.

The scorpion waited for Wang Teng to leave, then turned and smirked at the crab. The prey felt a chill course up its pincers.

As for the young hero, he went to the forest. He noticed that the light force around him was thick, but there weren’t any attribute bubbles.

It was a disappointing find.

Still, it was understandable. He would never have the need to spend much effort collecting attributes if the bubbles appeared that easily.

Judging by past experiences, he only had a chance to find them in areas where force was densest.

However, the planet’s light force was evenly distributed in the air. Naturally, this made seeing bubbles impossible.

Roar!

An insensible star beast jumped out of the bushes in an attempt to bite off Wang Teng’s head. It was a three-meter long creature.

Wang Teng donned his helmet, allowing the monster to bite him.

Crack!

The lizard's sharp teeth broke instantly. Not only did it fail to kill its prey, the outcome was a bloodied maw.

What happened?

What just happened?

Bewilderment filled up its face, eyes showing confusion.

Wang Teng raised his hand and casually slapped the lizard's head.

Bang!

The lizard howled in pain and died on the spot. A few attribute bubbles popped up, floating around the corpse.

Wang Teng released his spiritual power and swept them out.

Constellation Force (Light)*500

Constellation Force (Light)*300

Blank Attribute*1200

...

Wang Teng was a little surprised.

That star beast was merely at the lord-level, yet the thing dropped constellation forces.

Mind you, it was usually the emperor-level and above the ones with constellation forces. Normal star beasts didn't have the ability to cultivate them.

This planet seemed to be a little special, since light force was so abundant. Hence, the native beasts could convert their forces into constellation force directly.

It might have something to do with the cultivation method passed down by their ancestors, too.

The young hero had to admit that the cultivation methods on many other planets were better than the ones found on earth.

Of course, that was all in the past. Earth had changed; the cultivation methods he left behind surpassed the ones on many other planets.

If the earth was considered a slum before, it evolved and rose to middle class, jumping two levels.

Not dwelling in the matter for too long, he collected the attribute bubbles and stored the lizard's body.

The body of a light-element star beast was a good thing. Of course, it would be even better if there were star cores or star bones to be found.

He ventured deep into the forest. Many star beasts ran to meet him along the way, yet he killed them all, turning them into attribute bubbles.

Wang Teng was sneaky, retracting his aura so ordinary star beasts couldn't sense any danger. All of them thought he was a fat piece of meat, while in reality he was a little demon luring them in!

He had already collected lots of blank attributes and constellation force.

A rocky wall with weird-looking rocks appeared in front of him.

Wang Teng scanned the wall and noticed a small and narrow cave below. There were bushes covering the entrance, making it inconspicuous.

The young man smiled and confidently walked into the cave.

The place was damp and smelly. The inner walls were dripping with water, covered with moss that gave off a faint glow.

Even the moss had light force imbued. It was bizarre.

Chapter 1376: The Seed of the Tree of Light! (3)

1376 The Seed of the Tree of Light! (3)

Wang Teng assessed his surroundings as he walked into the cave. He found many attribute bubbles on the ground, just ten meters in.

He blinked and picked them up.

Constellation Force (Light)*120

Constellation Force (Light)*60

Constellation Force (Light)*150

...

The attribute bubbles merged into his body. All of it was constellation light force.

Wang Teng was elated. He had just been on that planet a short while, and he had already collected lots of constellation light force. It wasn't a wasted trip.

The trip was worth it!

He went further inside and kept on collecting bubbles. He then realized he was going downwards. The ground had a slope.

The passageway became wider. All kinds of strange rocks covered the walls; water dripped down, forming puddles.

Wang Teng saw a faint light further ahead; there was something there.

He kept on going and found a pool; light came from the bottom.

There were also many attribute bubbles floating above the quiet waters.

Constellation Force (Light)*300

Constellation Force (Light)*500

Constellation Force (Light)*450

...

Wang Teng collected the bubbles. There were more of them, attesting to the dense light force present.

Wang Teng pondered for some time and leaped into the pool.

He could breathe underwater thanks to some of his skills, so he could travel inside the pool with ease.

The place was quiet and clear. Many creatures roamed within, unafraid of the human; they swam casually around him.

Wang Teng ignored the small creatures and went directly to the bottom.

Aside from mud, there wasn't anything else.

Looking into the distance, he saw a tunnel linked to the sea; however, some rocks were blocking the path.

Why are there this many attribute bubbles here?

He could still see many attribute bubbles emerging from the mud. However, he still couldn't figure out how they were being formed.

Wang Teng collected them all.

Boom!

Suddenly, the ground shook; the water became murky. Wang Teng's vision was blocked so he couldn't see anything.

An immense, pitch-black hole was revealed in the mud. All of a sudden, something darted out and shot towards Wang Teng.

"I've been waiting for you." Wang Teng sneered and sent a downward slash with his sword.

The sword glow was exceptionally clear, even at the bottom of the murky pool. It was blue in color, as it was formed with the water ultima.

The attack split the muddy waters and landed on the thing attacking him.

They were tentacles.

The appendages were chopped by the young hero's attack.

Then, a strange agonizing cry resounded inside the hole. The tentacles shrunk back and the giant cavity began to close. The being seemed to have realized that Wang Teng was someone it shouldn't provoke.

The young human shook his head, then formed an invisible hand with spiritual power and prevented the hole from closing.

There weren't any tentacles in the hole. Instead, there was a soft object squirming frantically, wanting to break free from his grasp.

"Move and I'll kill you," Wang Teng said calmly.

The thing froze and gradually quieted down, seemingly afraid.

It could sense the vast difference in strength, so it could only comply.

Round Ball floated on Wang Teng's shoulder and gasped in surprise. "Wang Teng, this looks like a giant clam."

The latter nodded. It was indeed a gigantic mollusk; he wondered how long it had existed, for it to grow to that size.

Most importantly, it gave him a strange feeling. The force fluctuation it exuded seemed to have reached mid-tier of the emperor level.

However, it appeared to be at most an emperor-level star beast. It was impossible to tell that it possessed such a mighty force.

It was sealed by something.

This was why he felt that the planet was weird.

The clam wasn't the sole presence of that level in planet Light Velvet.

However, its attacking ability was subpar; he easily subdued the creature.

Wang Teng entered the clam's mouth. The body was soft, plump and slimy.

"Come out!" he ordered indifferently.

The clam remained silent. Then, it let out a sigh and a ray of light floated out: the clam's spiritual body.

Wang Teng sized up the other party, feeling intrigued.

The manifestation was a young lady, around 1.5 meters tall, wearing a white dress. Her figure was voluptuous, peach-like, and some body parts could be seen faintly.

A young face with a mature body!

Such a combination was.... disharmonious!

Wang Teng felt his nose turning warm after a single glance. He almost couldn't control himself.

"A human?" The young lady's voice was gentle. She was using her spirit to communicate, making the language barrier irrelevant.

"Huh? You know that I'm a human?" Wang Teng asked in surprise.

"Yes, we're not ignorant." The young lady nodded.

"We?" Wang Teng caught the crux of the sentence. He asked, "Why did you attack me?"

Chapter 1377: The Seed of the Tree of Light! (4)

1377 The Seed of the Tree of Light! (4)

"You came with hostile intent," said the young lady after hesitating for a moment.

"Really? How did you reach that conclusion? Aren't you the one with sinister motives?" Wang Teng asked calmly.

"I wouldn't hurt the innocent," the young lady said.

"Then why were you using an illusion to attack me?" Wang Teng asked.

The young lady's expression froze. "I didn't..."

"You can't fool my eyes, old lady," Wang Teng interrupted.

"Old... old lady!" The young lady's face turned green, as if not giving credit to what she heard.

"Isn't this so? You've been around for who-knows how many years. Calling you lady is me being courteous," Wang Teng replied.

"Pant..." The young woman's chest heaved up and down. Finally, she couldn't help but shout, "You're the old one. Your whole family is old!"

Wang Teng pointed at her with the tip of his sword. The other stopped as if strangled.

"Carry on," Wang Teng urged.

"Erm, I think we can sit down and chat properly," the young lady said awkwardly.

"There's nothing to discuss. Give me what you have and I can spare your life," Wang Teng said.

"You..." The young lady was in distress. "You know I have that thing? How do you know? Wait, you didn't come for me. You want that thing."

How could I know what you have? Wang Teng wondered. However, he remained expressionless and continued, "You have three seconds to consider. I'll take action if you don't give it to me."

"One!"

“Two!

“Three...”

The young lady’s expression changed a few times, but she still gritted her teeth and refused in the end. “I won’t let you have it!”

The next instant, her eyes turned golden and endless beams of light were shot from them. They turned into a terrifying attack.

“Huh?” Wang Teng frowned when he sensed the frightening killing intent imbued in the rays.

He suddenly remembered the Solar Dragon Eye. It was great for dealing with this kind of move.

Black light glowed in Wang Teng’s eyes, dark enough to devour all light.

It only took a split second—the light released by the young lady was absorbed, and the space around them turned dark.

The young lady panicked and shouted, “What is going on?”

All light disappeared in the small area they were located. She felt submerged in an abyss. She couldn’t see anything.

The skill she used was a light force battle technique; extremely powerful, as fast as the speed of light. Even cosmos-stage warriors could get hit if caught off guards.

But, the problem was, her attack disappeared.

Everything was dark. No matter how hard she tried, it was useless; no light appeared.

She was confused. What the hell is going on?

She felt a great sense of danger at the moment, causing her spiritual body to shudder. A chill went up her spine.

“Ah!”

The next moment, she felt an excruciating pain, like needles pricking her. She screamed in pain uncontrollably.

A few seconds passed. The darkness dispersed and the young lady was still floating there. However, she was extremely weak; her body wasn’t as solid as before.

Wang Teng crossed his arms and looked at her indifferently.

“You!” Only fear was left in her eyes as she stared at the human.

“Give it to me,” Wang Teng ordered fiercely.

The young lady was unwilling, but she didn’t have the courage to disobey. His cold-blooded expression made her clench her teeth. A thumb-sized object emitting a golden glow floated out of her body.

Wang Teng raised his hand and allowed the object to land on his palm. He looked at it closely and was stunned by what he found.

This looks like a... seed?

There was a strange light force within.

Asking when in doubt was a good habit. Wang Teng instantly did so.

“What is this?”

“The seed of the Tree of Light.” The young lady hesitated but still replied in the end. She didn’t dare to meet Wang Teng’s indifferent gaze.

Chapter 1378: 'Her'? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (1)

1378 ‘Her’? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (1)

“Tree of Light!?” Wang Teng raised his head and tore his eyes off the seed to look at the young lady.

Based on Nihility’s memory, the Tree of Light was a kind of spiritual tree that gathered the power of light, along with the essence of heaven and earth.

It was an extremely mysterious sacred tree!

According to rumors, everything within a radius of thousands of miles would be ‘blessed’ by the tree, and endowed the range with the power of light.

It was said that it had the ability to heal everything. Common injuries and diseases would heal without requiring any treatment, being close to it was enough.

Even some of the stories talked about a droplet of light water that would be gathered every century. If swallowed, it would cure any injury or disease. It could even save a dying person.

However, the Tree of Light only existed in legend. It was merely something recorded in the Devouring Nihility Beast's memory; something that had never been seen.

And yet, the young lady claimed it was the genuine article!

Wang Teng didn't believe her.

Although planet Light Velvet was rich in light power, it didn't look like a place where the Tree of Light would grow.

In simpler terms, the concentration of light power wasn't strong enough.

Also...

He looked at the seed again; there was something mysterious about it. The light-element star beasts could temporarily increase their strength, far beyond their potential, by using that seed.

Wang Teng clearly remembered the young lady's indifferent gaze when she released the light, as if she were a true goddess.

It was tantamount to her conscience being taken away.

Wang Teng felt an evil aura lurking behind.

According to legend, the tree was presumed to be a sacred and holy existence. It would never harbor a sinister aura.

And, if Wang Teng guessed correctly...

"This is the Tree of Light's seed. At least to the best of my knowledge," the young lady said.

"Is that so?" Wang Teng didn't give a definitive answer.

The woman's eyes flickered ever so slightly, unable to ascertain what the human was thinking.

Wang Teng thought about it, then released his spiritual power to probe the 'seed'.

The seed's interior was like a white space filled with light. The condensed light power nourished Wang Teng's spirit, tempting him to linger.

However, he was determined, and his gaze was unwavering. He controlled his spiritual power and delved deeper!

Bang!

Suddenly, the light burst and a powerful spiritual power surged from deep within the alleged seed.

A blurred figure loomed in the light. It was sacred, majestic, and inviolable; just like a god.

Wang Teng looked at the silhouette and released his spiritual power. He wanted to find out what was going on!

“How dare you!” said a majestic and cold voice.

A powerful spiritual power was swept over, overpowering Wang Teng’s own.

“Die!”

The cold voice was heard again, accompanied by powerful white light. The overwhelming spiritual power seemed intent on erasing the young man from the world.

Wang Teng noticed a pair of golden eyes beyond the endless light!

He scoffed and his spiritual power surged. The Nine Treasures Pagoda released endless rays of golden light and suppressed all the incoming power.

Boom!

The spiritual attack was immediately suppressed, shattering like glass against the pagoda and vanishing without a trace.

“Impudent!” The figure’s golden eyes glowed, filled with rage.

Wang Teng didn’t reply, merely sending the pagoda to bash his opponent’s head.

Boom!

There was a loud explosion; the golden figure was instantly turned into pieces, completely disintegrating.

“What’s this all about?” Wang Teng slowly opened his eyes; a trace of coldness flashed in his eyes.

“You!” The young lady was terrified; she couldn’t believe her eyes. She gave the human a blank look.

She clearly felt the explosion that took place inside the ‘seed’, but the feeling quickly disappeared. The thing inside didn’t fade away on its own; it had been defeated by someone.

Only her and the human were present.

Who else could it be?

But who is this person? He was actually able to defeat the spiritual mark hidden inside the seed. How powerful is he?

Her face went pale, and her heart was filled with horror. She felt that the young human was an extremely terrifying existence.

Wang Teng looked at the young lady, then made a grabbing motion. A huge hand made with spiritual power did the work.

“Ah!”

The young lady screamed at the top of her lungs and her complexion paled rapidly. Her body then became less solid.

That was a manifestation of spiritual damage!

Wang Teng dragged the young lady over with spiritual power and questioned, “What was that just now?”

The young lady was desperately struggling. She cried out in fear, “Don’t, don’t kill me.”

“Answer the question,” Wang Teng said calmly.

“It was the Mother of Light,” said the young lady with a pale face.

“The Mother of Light?” Wang Teng scoffed. “Anyone could say that. I want to know what it was, not just a name.”

“I don’t know, I’ve never seen ‘Her’,” the young lady replied hastily.

“Her!” Wang Teng became even more skeptical.

Considering the language they were using to communicate, the pronunciation of ‘Her’ was different. Wang Teng felt it was ridiculous for the lady to address the being as ‘Her’.

Chapter 1379: 'Her'? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (2)

1379 'Her'? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (2)

Only martial warriors who surpassed the eternal tier and reached the god-like stage had the right to be called 'Her' or 'He'. (In Chinese, the pronunciation is the same but the word is different, so we'll use apostrophes to differentiate.)

What right does this fellow hiding in the dark have to call himself so?

Wait, this lady has never seen this thing?

Wang Teng frowned. A strange light flashed in his eyes as he activated Bewitch.

"Look at my eyes!"

The young lady wanted to avoid eye contact, but she was affected by the human's spiritual power and was entranced.

Wang Teng questioned her again, but disappointment struck; he frowned, as he found out that she really didn't know.

Round Ball appeared on Wang Teng's shoulder and said solemnly, "Looks like the Mother of Light is very mysterious."

"I didn't expect such a surprise on a planet unknown to the outside world." Wang Teng shook his head.

"Generally speaking, the more unknown it is, the more mysterious," Round Ball replied.

"Veblen came here before. Didn't he find anything else?" Wang Teng had his suspicions.

"I'm afraid they didn't delve into this like you have. After all, they were outsiders without evil intentions; they wouldn't have dug into the planet's mysteries," Round Ball analyzed.

"Your words don't sound right to me." Wang Teng felt at a loss. "What evil intentions? Did I come here with the wrong mindset?"

"You can only ask yourself to find out." The little one gave the young hero a meaningful look.

It still didn't know what abilities Wang Teng had and how he found the cave.

This guy is like a treasure hunter. There's treasure wherever he goes and he never misses them.

Wang Teng wanted to refute. Am I the greed-driven kind? This was an insult to him.

Just then, the young lady woke up and looked at Wang Teng in horror.

"What did you do to me?"

"You're just a clam. What can I ever do to you?" Wang Teng snapped.

The clam spirit young lady: ...

She felt humiliated by his words.

"OK, nevermind. You look meaty. I'll eat you tonight," Wang Teng said.

Young lady: (ツ_ㇿ)

Wang Teng stepped away from the clam's insides and channeled his spirit to form big hands and abruptly close the massive clam.

"No...!" The young lady screamed.

The young man glanced around and picked up the newly dropped attribute bubbles.

Constellation Force (Light)*1500

Constellation Force (Light)*1200

Dazzling Sky*200

Origin of Light*10

...

Suddenly, something appeared in Wang Teng's mind.

A battle technique!

Dazzling Sky!

Light was condensed in a special way and to instantly be released, creating an area with endless light.

And hidden within that light is an extremely powerful killing intent.

Dazzling Sky was the move used by the young lady previously.

Wang Teng's eyes lit up. He didn't think he could get a technique just like that.

It was a powerful attack. Once caught in the light, you would be blinded and vulnerable.

Unfortunately, Wang Teng could counter that.

The Solar Dragon Eye could absorb light and form a dark night.

Honestly speaking, it was highly coincidental.

He felt the whole thing was a bit unbelievable. Had he not gained the Solar Dragon Eye, he wouldn't have had a good way to face the light technique; the only option to overcome it was brute force.

However, he decided to farm some attributes from the Solar Dragon before the trip and managed to get its race's strongest talent.

Although he didn't obtain much of the special eye attributes, it was just enough for him to use.

Furthermore, the clam spirit was strong. It was fortunate that his ability with the Solar Dragon Eye was enough to deal with her.

Everything was according to God's will!

Looks like I'll have to rely on the Solar Dragon Eye to walk on this planet! Wang Teng thought.

He then examined the attributes board.

Dazzling Sky: 200/1000 (foundation)

There were only two hundred attribute points, which were merely enough to reach the foundation stage.

He wasn't in a hurry to improve it. He didn't have many blank attributes at the moment, and he was saving them for later use.

He then looked at another attribute.

The level of enlightenment earned from that attribute was much deeper than Dazzling Sky.

Fortunately, there was no difference for Wang Teng.

His enlightenment had reached the heaven realm and was considered quite high. On top of that, he had the Light Physique, and was sensitive to everything related to light power. Enlightening for anything related to the light element would grant him multiplied results.

Even without the system's help, he only needed a little time to advance in his understanding of Light Origin.

Of course, absorbing attribute bubbles was much faster!

After a while, Wang Teng fully understood Light Origin. Although it wasn't much, this meant that he had attained an extra origin power.

"It's the Light Origin!" Wang Teng was really surprised.

The clam spirit was at most an emperor-level star beast. Even if she borrowed the power of the 'seed', she could only reach the mid-tier of the imperial-level, which equated to a cosmos warrior. There was too much difference compared to a universe stage martial warrior. It was impossible for the origin power to appear.

However, the Light Origin did show up.

There was only one possibility. The Light Origin wasn't dropped by the clam spirit, but from the consciousness within the 'seed'!

Yes, the strand of consciousness!

From the looks of it, the Light Origin attribute bubbles were dropped by a certain someone's consciousness within the 'seed'.

Chapter 1380: 'Her'? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (3)

1380 'Her'? The Mother of Light? Crazy Harvest! (3)

"Looks like this Mother of Light is not an ordinary being." Wang Teng became vigilant.

He sniffed at her existence, but that didn't mean he would underestimate her.

One 'seed' was enough to allow an emperor-level star beast to have mid-tier power of the imperial level. The so-called Mother of Light had to be someone extraordinary and definitely powerful.

And yet, she chose to stay hidden for some reason, refusing to come out.

Light Origin: 10/10000 (first-rank)

“Erm...” Wang Teng was speechless as he looked at the ten points on the attributes board.

He had the origin, but it wasn't enough!

Wang Teng shook his head and stopped thinking about it. Then, he left the pool; there was no point staying there any longer.

...

In the northwest region of planet Light Velvet.

There was a vast grassland with green, luxuriant grass close to three meters tall. Many star beasts hid within, waiting for prey to appear.

A zephyr blew past and all the grass started swaying like a wave.

Just then, a universe spacecraft appeared out of nowhere. It seemed to have crept out from the void, leaving circles of space fluctuations in the sky.

The ship gradually floated down, stopping to hover around ten meters above ground.

A figure flew out from the craft and descended.

It was a young lady with short silver hair, seemingly around seventeen years of age with big eyes. Her pupils were silver colored, as pure as pristine water ponds.

She submerged into the tall grass, as her height was only 1.58 meters. The vegetation covered her entirely.

This made her look exceptionally small and delicate.

The young lady flew up again. She angrily muttered, “Stupid grass, why is it so tall?”

“Roar!”

A fierce roar was heard, followed by a strong wind.

It was a giant wolf who had chosen the silver-haired girl as prey. The prey was small, but she looked tender. She must be delicious.

A sly and intelligent glimmer appeared in the giant wolf's eyes.

“Are you trying to eat me?” The young girl sniggered and flipped in the air. She threw a punch.

Her small fist landed on the giant wolf’s waist and the latter was thrown back forcefully.

The giant wolf howled in pain, knowing it had met its match, so it turned and fled.

“Come back!” The silver-haired girl flashed and reappeared in front of the giant wolf to punch again.

The giant beast was badly beaten after some time. It shrunk on the ground in fear and regret, covering its head with its two front paws, not daring to look at the young girl.

“Stand up and lead the way!” the young girl shouted in her sweet voice.

The giant wolf howled. The cowering fellow allowed her to ride its back and ride in a certain direction, based on her description.

...

Wang Teng didn’t know that two groups of outsiders had landed on the planet, before and after his arrival.

Either no one traveled or everyone went there at once to planet Light Velvet.

Did this count as Wang Teng being lucky, or unlucky?

On the beach.

The big crab was chased around by the metal-armored flaming scorpion. Sand flew all over.

The scorpion would increase its speed on occasion and knock the crab’s head with its pincer. It wasn’t enough to break the latter’s shell, but enough to make it scream in pain.

Wang Teng was caught between laughter and tears when he saw this happening.

The crab walked sideways like a boss. Indeed, it was the king of all crabs. Wang Teng began to look forward to the evening’s seafood meal.

The large crustaceous suddenly shivered as it ran, feeling an evil intent locked onto it.

Wang Teng appeared in front of the giant crab and the flaming scorpion. The two star beasts stepped on their emergency brakes, raking up a pile of sand that splashed towards him.

Both creatures were stunned.

Shit, we're toast!

They looked at each other as if the other party was an idiot.

Wang Teng's lips twitched. All the sand stopped in front of him, not touching the edge of his clothes.

Controlling sand was a piece of cake with his Heart of Magnetic Essence.

The scorpion heaved a sigh of relief. It inched over carefully and said, "Master."

"I see you're having fun." Wang Teng glanced at the latter.

The flaming scorpion shuddered. It waved its pincers and replied, "No, no, not fun at all."

Wang Teng was at a loss, seeing a 60 kg scorpion trembling like a child. "Am I that scary?"

"Haha." The flaming scorpion laughed awkwardly, not knowing what to reply.

Saying no would be a sign of disrespect. Saying yes would be tantamount to calling Wang Teng a tyrant.

There was no right answer!

The flaming scorpion felt wronged.

Wang Teng waved a hand. "All right, I won't eat you."

The scorpion thought to itself, you might have already eaten me if I were delicious.

Wang Teng ignored the latter and looked at the giant crab. The creature shuddered, and quickly looked away, pupils shrinking.

Silence.

Wang Teng suddenly wondered if he was too evil.

He shook his head and blinked. Then, he took out the 'seed'.

The giant crab started panting heavily when he saw the item. Greed welled up in its eyes, its gaze becoming intense.
