Chapter 1 Dramatic wedding

It was quite a passionate night.

Amy Miller was sleeping and felt someone came closer to her. Did Matt, her husband, come back? She wanted to open her eyes but she felt too sleepy to make it. The next second, that man already took off her clothes and left kisses on her body.

She was turned on and felt her desire was ignited by him. She wanted more and couldn't help moaning in a low voice, which made him more excited.

The sex was wonderful and she didn't count how many times she came.

But she was exhausted in the end. The last thing she remembered was that he caressed her cheek gently.

And she just said, "Let's stop and rest. Please, I'm really tired."

After that, she passed out.

Sunlight poured in as dawn awoke the sky. A violent knock on the door woke Amy. She opened her eyes and looked around. But to her surprise, she wasn't in her bridal chamber.

Her marriage to Matt Wilson was the night before. The wedding was so pleasant that Amy drank quite a bit. After having the last glass of wine toasted by her intimate friend, Gina White, Amy forgot what happened.

She had no time to recall the night before. She picked up her torn wedding dress from the floor and pulled it on in a hurry as pain wracked her entire body. Before Amy had the dress on all the way, a group of journalists broke the door down and rushed in with Matt close behind them. The flashing cameras startled Amy so much that she reached for Matt's hand. But he shook off her.

"Amy Miller. We haven't even been married half a day and you can't wait to sleep with other man. You son of a bitch!" Matt said, stepping forward and slapping her cheek so hard that it echoed through the room.

"Matt!"

Matt beat her down, catching her off guard. Her face swelled within seconds. She cried out and covered her face with her hand as she tried to put together what was happening.

"Amy, I can't believe you would do such a terrible thing! Matt had been waiting for you in the bridal chamber for the whole night, but you never came. And now you turned out to be busy having sex with someone else last night. How could you?"

Gina walked up to her and tossed the photos to Amy with a foxy glance. Amy looked at her doubtfully and picked up the photos. The next moment, her face turned pale. She was clearly having sex with a man in the photo. Although his face didn't show in the picture, he wasn't Matt.

'What the hell is going on? Why did I sleep with this strange man last night?' Amy totally blanked.

"Listen to me, Matt. I can explain."

She scrambled to her feet and struggled to explain what happened. But what could she say? She didn't remember anything!

"We're getting divorced," Matt said in distaste. He took out the divorce papers prepared in advance and threw them at Amy.

He pierced Amy's heart with his words and refused to look at her.

"Amy. It's better for you to let go of Matt. He doesn't love you anymore," Gina pretended to comfort her, but her tone was full of arrogance and happiness.

"Gina, you plotted this?!" Amy asked because she suddenly recalled the wine and lunged at Gina for confrontation.

"What are you doing? Just sign the papers and get out of here," Matt shouted.

Before Amy got close to Gina, Matt shoved her violently, causing Amy to smash into the table. She fell to the floor, tears blurring her vision as she hid her face in her hands.

"Matt." Gina caressed Matt's hand and sneered at Amy, gloating over her prize.

Amy raised her head and understood everything. She glared at them, hands balling into fists.

"Matt Wilson. I refuse to sign the divorce papers." She sneered back at them and threw the papers to their faces. She refused to let them play her in such a way. He wanted to divorce her and stayed with Gina? She wouldn't allow that!

"Don't be silly. If you reject to sign them, I'll send the photos to the newspapers and they'll be all over the front page. Soon your dad will know all about your shame." Matt knew exactly what to say and how to control her.

Amy hesitated. Miller Group fell into sudden bankruptcy not too long ago. Her father had a heart attack and was still in hospital. The doctor warned Amy that any extra stress would be too much for his fragile heart. She had to prevent her father from seeing the photos. His life depended on it.

She glared at Matt's face, one she used to gaze at in awe and now wanted to do nothing more than to tear it into pieces.

"Fine, I'll sign."

She compressed her anger, picked up the papers and signed them without even reading. She knew the terms would make things even worse for her, but her father's health came first.

"Don't forget your things in the bridal chamber." Matt reminded her with a sneer.

"Throw them away. I don't need them." Amy held her head high and protected her pride. But she knew her head was aching badly as if it was going to explode.

Then she shoved past the journalists in front of her and rushed out without looking at the traitorous couple behind her._

Chapter 2 The car accident

The heat of the sun dazzled Amy. She rushed out of the building too fast to avoid the on-coming car.

She crashed into the front corner and collapsed to the ground.

"What happened?" A man's cool and magnetic voice came from the backseat of the car.

"I believe someone crashed into our car. Let me go check," the driver said, not having fully seen what happened.

The man sat in silence as the driver opened the car door and went to see.

Amy was lying on the ground. She forgot the dizziness and anger suffocating her heart, only feeling the pain in her backside.

"Madam, are you OK?" the driver asked nervously as Amy grimaced in pain.

She said nothing and struggled to stand. When she couldn't quite reach the car to pull herself up, the driver was quite thoughtful and reached down to help her.

Once Amy was leaning against the car, she reflected on how unlucky she was in the past twelve hours.

She had unknowingly slept with a strange man and her husband caught her, well, her ex-husband blackmailed her into divorce on their first day of marriage. And, now, a car hit her. She couldn't help but vent her anger by kicking the car as hard as she could.

Wow, she felt so much better after kicking the car. So she decided to kick again. But before she could, the car window was slidden down and a handsome face was staring at her. Handsome could never fully depict how stunning he looked.

She believed Matt was the most dashing man she had seen in her life. But not anymore. Now that she saw the man in the car, she knew Matt couldn't compete with him. "The kicking shows she's fine. Give her some money and ask her to leave." The handsome man's bitter words awakened Amy's anger again, and she regretted not to kick the car again.

"You think you're really something, don't you? No matter how rich you are and how luxurious your car is, you can't control me with your money," Amy said while shouting and pointing at the man, not caring how she looked. But the man just ignored her and slid up the window. "Madam, please take the money and leave us alone. My boss has urgent business to attend to. Please, go to the hospital with the money to make sure you're okay." The driver took out a thick stack of money and handed it to Amy. She snatched the money from the driver and before he could react, she opened the car door and threw all money at that handsome man before running away. Richard Carter sat in shock as money fluttered around him. He assumed Amy opened the door to thank him, but she spited him instead. "Sir... are... are you OK?" the driver asked, his horror causing him to stutter. Richard wiped the money off his face and clothes at ease and turned to his driver, "Pick up the money." Richard stared at Amy running off and couldn't help but smile. She was quite interesting. It seemed she didn't recognize him. Or did she forget what happened last night? He entered the wrong room and found himself attracted to her. So they enjoyed the steamy night, right?

While Amy didn't look back. She ran as fast as she could in her torn wedding dress and with the pain she was in. The car looked so luxurious and the man was obviously rich. Now, she was bankrupt and couldn't afford to offend the rich. She was too impulsive. But if the man tried to offer her the money again, she wouldn't hesitate to throw his money at him again. Afraid the man would chase her for making trouble, she continued running although she didn't know nowhere to go. At this moment, she felt someone patted her on her shoulder and she screamed in terror.

Chapter 3 Homeless Amy

Amy's scream scared the person who patted her. So they screamed together.

It took Amy a moment to realize it wasn't that man, but her friend, Hannah Adams. Hannah didn't attend Amy's wedding yesterday because Gina and she never got along. "Hannah, you scared me!" Amy said. She thought that man caught her and was going to get back at her.

"You scared me too, Amy!" Hannah's heart was still pounding heavily.

When they calmed down, Hannah took Amy to a nearby cafe.

"Why were you running? I called your name for a long time! But you were running so fast. Who was chasing after you?" Hanna asked, glancing at her.

Looking into Hanna's worried eyes, Amy didn't have to pretend she was fine and couldn't help crying out.

"What happened, dear? Did Matt upset you? Let me teach him a lesson!" Hannah's heart hurt for Amy's sadness. She stood up and decided to look for Matt. She couldn't allow him to upset her friend.

Amy hastily stopped Hannah by grabbing her arm. She knew Hannah very well. If Hannah found Matt, she would beat him and this would only make things worse.

"Please don't go, Hannah. We're divorced now." Amy explained, holding back tears.

"Divorced? You just got married yesterday, and you're divorced already? Are you kidding me?"

Hannah laughed, not wanting to believe her friend.

The laughter confused Amy. 'Is Hannah happy to see me divorced?'

"Why are you laughing? Shouldn't you feel sad about my divorce? Are you happy I'm divorced?" Amy stopped crying and wiped her tears with a tissue.

"Actually, I'm glad you divorced Matt. I told you before he wasn't reliable, but you insisted on marrying him. See. He's rubbish indeed." Hannah became more furious and pounded the table hard, which attracted the waiter. The two apologized before continuing the conversation.

"The most disgusting thing is that Matt and Gina got together and set up a trick for me. They even brought journalists to the hotel to humiliate me and force me to sign the divorce papers." Recalling what happened in the hotel, Amy felt angry and sad at the same time.

She did love him and treat Gina as one of her best friends. But look at her now, was this what she deserved?

While Hannah was listening quietly with her face full of worry.

"Never mind. It won't hurt anymore. The only question is who slept with me last night. You know, I was a virgin before... but now..." Amy took a sip of her coffee with tears adding a salty flavor.

"Damn it! I'm a hundred percent sure their relationship won't last long!

As for what happened last night, what's done is done. Don't fret over this and move on, darling."

Hannah tried her best to

...

Richard sneezed in the car suddenly.

"Should I turn up the air conditioner?" the driver asked.

"It's okay. Just keep driving." Richard frowned. His family called him earlier and said they needed him back now. So his driver was expertly maneuvering through traffic to get him home as soon as possible.

To comfort Amy and cheer her up, Hannah spent the whole day staying with her. But when the evening came, it reminded Amy that she was homeless now. She couldn't go back to the house her family bought for Matt and her because the house was under Matt's name at his request. Back then, she believed they were going to be the family and agreed without hesitation.

Now she regretted losing her last family property because of her ignorance.

"It's too late now, Hannah. You'd better go home or your mum will get worried. Don't worry about me. I'm getting better now." Amy said, persuading Hannah to go home.

"What about you? Will you go back to your new house?" Hannah asked.

Amy nodded, "I'm good now. You already comforted me for the whole day. It's time to go home."

Later, she pushed Hannah into the taxi and watched her leaving.

After Hannah left, Amy sat on a bench and felt lost. Where should she go now? After all, she was homeless

Chapter 4 Hit his car

Richard felt frustrated after talking to his family and headed back home directly. The urgent business in their eyes was his marriage. They wanted him to get married as soon as possible. But he thought he was young. Why was the hurry? Besides, why would they worry about his marriage? He was so handsome and rich.

Richard frowned and his grandfather's words replayed in his mind. "Richard, you'd better forget that woman right away and find a wife within a month. If you don't, I...I will die in sorrow!"

He didn't quite understand his grandpa. How could he find himself a wife in just a month! Well, he couldn't just randomly find a woman on the street and propose to her, right? At least, they should agree to get married.

Usually Richard wouldn't take his grandfather's words seriously. But this time, however, Richard was worried his grandfather wouldn't let him go easily. If he really got stubborn and did something stupid, Richard would regret for the rest of his life.

"Sir, look at the the girl sitting over there. She is so bold. It's quite late now, but she still hangs out outside alone." the driver exclaimed.

Richard didn't bother to see. He had no interest in this kind of girls at all.

The story between the two should've ended there, but God made a joke of it.

When his car drove by, it drove right through the puddle in front of her, covering Amy's entire body with muddy water.

Amy was sullen about her future since she was both divorced and homeless. And the next second, she had to forget the past and deal with a soaking, filthy dress. Could this day get any worse? She wondered.

"Hey, you! What's wrong with you? Stop your car!" Amy yelled. Since Richard's car was soundproof, he didn't hear Amy was yelling at him.

Without getting any response, Amy was so angry that she picked up a stone, and threw it at the car.

Coincidentally, the stone hit the trunk with a perfect clink.

The car stopped instantly and the driver rushed out to check for damage. Amy went panicked when she saw she did hit the car. She was just angry and tried to do something.

Besides, the car looked so luxurious. If she caused any harm, there was no way she could afford to pay for the repairs.

But after a second look, why did this car look so familiar?

Before Amy moved, the driver already walked over to her. It was already too late for her to run away.

"It's you again?" The driver recognized her at once. She was the woman who threw Richard's money back at him earlier this morning.

"What? I don't understand. Do I know you?" Amy played innocent. She had no other choice, either.

She was bankrupt and couldn't afford to pay the repairs.

"You look like a nice girl but why are you always making trouble for us?" the driver asked gloomily.

She didn't mean it. After all, she could never hit anything so precisely.

"There's a dent at the back of the car that will cost a lot to fix." The driver dragged Amy to the car and pointed it out to her.

Amy felt sorry and lowered her head. But when she saw her filthy, soaking dress and remembered being splashed by the puddle, she knew it wasn't just her fault.

"I only threw the stone because you splashed me with the puddle as you drove by. I never meant to damage the car, but you should be more careful when driving!"

Then the car door opened and a shiny shoe stepped onto the street..

Chapter 5 You planned it

Seeing the car door opened, Amy stepped back and stared at him as he stepped out and walked toward her.

He was over six feet tall and looked extremely stunning in the dark blue suit. He even looked far more handsome than any international models Amy had ever seen. However, he also seemed cold and unapproachable at the same time.

Richard got out of his car and checked the dent directly without paying attention to Amy. The damage was hardly noticeable and not worth the effort of getting repaired. After checking, he turned to Amy. "You rejected my money this morning so you could get back at me now. Well, I have to say you did planned all these." He stared scornfully at Amy.

Amy's anger burst once she heard him. She suffered the whole day, and was doing her best to be polite, but he wronged her and accused her of planning all these. "I planned this? How could I know you would drive this way? Do I even know you? Why would I plan this? You are so unbelievable!" Amy yelled and turned around. She just wanted to get out of here as soon as possible.

Why was the world punishing her? Hadn't she gone through enough? The driver was totally shocked when Amy scolded Richard without fear. In R city, everyone was afraid of Richard and no one ever dared to scold him.

Richard's face darkened. He had never been scolded like this in his life. He knew he should be angry but to his surprise, he didn't. Instead, he found her quite amusing. What was wrong with him?

He looked at her back and thought about the steamy night they spent last night. She was so passionate. But now she seemed furious. Alas, he missed her passion and her sexy body.

"Sir ...I think that woman..." The driver saw Richard's silence and tried to explain for Amy.

"Never mind. Let's go." Richard smiled. He wasn't in a bad mood anymore.

As Richard got in the car, he called his friend Kevin Smith and asked for his help to investigate Amy. He wanted to know more about her.

While Amy was wandering aimlessly and arrived at the hospital before she even realized it.

She was worried about her father. So she decided to see him and maybe got some sleep in the chair outside his room.

She peeked into his room, but her dad had fallen asleep already.

Her dad's illness cost a lot of money, and her family ran out of money for his medical bills. They couldn't do anything now but to pray for a miracle.

After seeing her dad, Amy sat in the chair outside of the room. It was summer, so she didn't need to worry about the cold. It didn't take long for her to fall asleep.

She wasn't asleep for long because a loud noise woke her. She opened her eyes and wasn't sure where she was for a moment until she saw the doctors rushing about.

What was going on? Why were they rushing about? Amy sat up and rubbed her eyes. It was still well before dawn. Maybe there was an emergency in the hospital, she thought.

But when she looked up, she gasped

Chapter 6 We need to talk

Amy looked up and found that the doctors were rushing into the ward where her father was in. What happened? She had a bad feeling and followed them immediately.

"Check his heart rate and send him to the emergency room. Now!" the doctor stared at Amy's father and ordered.

Amy pushed her way to the doctor and asked, "What's going on? Doctor? How is my dad?" Amy wanted to cry but she must hold back her tears right now.

"Leave the doctor alone. Can't you see we are busy now? Move away."

A nurse stopped Amy.

The doctors looked so serious and Amy stood aside, afraid to disturb them. They were using various medical instruments none of which looked familiar to Amy. She followed them to the emergency room and the door closed before her. She could do nothing but to wait outside, worried and frightened.

At this moment, a doctor walked out and patted her on her shoulder.

“How is my dad?” Amy asked hurriedly.

“Don’t worry for now.” he sighed, “So you are his daughter, right?” He opened the file in his hand and was reading the document.

“Yes I am.” Amy wiped her tears and answered.

“All right. I’m here to inform you that you must pay his medical bills right now. If not, we have to discharge him and stop all treatment right now. In this case, he may not survive next time.” the doctor put on a professional yet cold look.

Amy was penniless now. All her stuff was in the hotel where her heart was broken.

“How much should I pay?” She asked. Maybe she could borrow some money from Hannah.

“A hundred thousand now. But that is far from enough. The medicine used on him is necessary and expensive. Besides, his condition is not stable. I suggest he should have the heart transplant operation as soon as possible. This will also prevent him from suffering more pain.”

He sighed. It wasn’t the first time to send Amy’s dad to the emergency room. Who knew if he could survive next time? And the money, they should pay the bills now.

“I will figure it out soon.” Amy answered in a low voice. She had been informed of the urgent operation long ago. But she could not afford the operation. She even couldn’t pay one hundred thousand.

The doctor sighed at Amy and left quickly, leaving her worried about the expense.

What could she do now? Where could she get such a great amount of money? Maybe she could borrow one hundred thousand from Hannah. But how could she ever afford the operation? It might cost one million. Even if she sold her house, it was still not enough. Besides, the house was left by her mom so her dad wouldn't allow her to sell it anyway. After the Miller Group went bankrupt, all their properties were confiscated. Only one apartment under her mom's name was left for her aunt to live in. "Ah!" Amy shouted out and scratched her head hard. She was about to go crazy. Why did all bad things happen today? She was so worried that her head was aching like hell.

"Excuse me, Miss Miller." A gentle voice came to Amy suddenly. She looked up and saw a stranger. Was he calling her? She wondered. Then she looked around and found nobody else there. So he must have called her.

"Yes?" Amy stood up and answered in doubts.

Robin was wondering if Richard's taste in woman had changed. After all, Amy was wearing an improper dress with messy hair. Her eyes were red and her face was swollen. In short, she was far from a pretty and decent girl.

Did Richard really want to marry this girl? Though Robin had doubts in his mind, he was polite as always.

"Yes, Miss Miller. I think we need to talk

Robin's politeness didn't win Amy's affection for him.

Her life had changed dramatically overnight. Though she was strong and tough, she was hurt deeply and couldn't trust anyone right now.

"About what?" Amy asked with distrust.

“Miss Miller. You need a lot of money, right? For your father’s operation? And you were abandoned by your husband? Are you going to do nothing and let him enjoy his life? ”

Robin described Amy’s trouble and misery one by one.

“So what? Are you coming to laugh at me? ” She stared at Robin, wondering why he knew so much about her.

“Not at all. On the contrary, I’m here to help you. We can cooperate with each other. If you marry my master, all these problems will be solved instantly. ” Robin answered calmly.

He must be joking, right? She just got divorced and then a stranger came to propose her for his master? Why? What kind of weirdo would do such a thing? He didn’t have a better choice?

“Is your master disabled physically? ” Amy asked.

“No. He’s strong and healthy. ” Robin replied.

“Neither. My master is intelligent and healthy both physically and mentally. May I know why you asked these questions? ” Now Robin thought Amy was not only messy but also weird. She should feel so lucky that someone offered to pay the medical expense for her dad and accept it at once. But she kept asking weird questions.

Why would Richard choose her to be his wife? Robin felt sorry for his master in secret.

“Look at me. I’m so wretched right now. If he is healthy both mentally and physically, why will he want to marry me? What does he want from me? Never mind. Please tell your master that I don’t want to get married now. ” Then she left.

But Robin didn’t just leave as Amy walked to the ward. Richard ordered him that he had to make Amy accept his proposal. While Robin was not worried at all. He had confidence that Amy would accept the proposal in the end. After all, she needed money, a lot of money. When Amy walked into the ward, her father, Stephen Miller, was in stable condition. The doctors all left. Only a nurse was left here to watch him.

“Miss Miller! You are here! Your dad is much better now.” the nurse turned to Amy and comforted her.

“Yeah, I know. Just now, I was so scared. But he survived this time.” Amy walked to her father.

Stephen looked so pale in bed. He was just lying there so quietly. But for the sign showing his heartbeat on the device, he looked much more like dead.

“Miss Miller. The doctor just said you must pay the medical bill now. Or they will stop treating him...”

her voice became lower and lower.

Amy already knew this. If she couldn't pay the bill, her dad would be discharged later, which meant he was sentenced to death. Amy wanted to cry, but what was the point? She must stay strong and find a solution.

Her dad was all she got now. She couldn't let him leave her. What could she do now?

She was willing to do anything.

“Miss Miller, your father needs the surgery right now. I can see that he is in poor health, and you really should consider my suggestion.” Robin came into the ward quietly.

Amy looked at her father, and thought about what the nurse just said. Then she wiped her tears and made up her mind.

She turned to Robin. “Fine, I will marry him. I don't care whether your master is disable or ill and I will marry him. But I need one million right now. With this money, the doctor can perform the heart transplant operation on my dad! ” Amy had no options. She could only save her father by sacrificing herself.

“Okay, that is not a problem. I will transfer the money immediately. ” Robin felt relieved to see Amy accepted the deal. He took out his phone and transferred the money in a second.

“Alright, Miss Miller, it is all done. The money is transferred. In fact, I transferred another three hundred thousand. Now you can feel relieved. ” Robin put down the phone and said to Amy.

It felt so good to be rich. They could solve so many problems just with money. When the medical bill was paid, the doctors and nurses came to the ward again.

“We will use the best medicine on your dad. And we are looking for the suitable heart now. As soon as we get one, we will perform the operation at once, Miss Miller.” Amy recognized the doctor. He was urging her to pay the bill just now. But now he was so polite.

After receiving money, they became so kind, and even that doctor was more friendly than before.

“Alright. Everything is arranged properly. Now, please follow me, Miss Miller. ” Robin said to Amy very politely.

“OK! ” Before Amy left, she turned around and looked at her dad. She knew she would never regret her decision.

Seeing the luxurious Bentley car, Amy knew Robin’s master was really rich. But why would he choose her to be his wife? He must be either disabled or very ugly.

Robin took Amy to a villa in the suburb. When they arrived, he opened the car door and let Amy get off.

This villa was huge and grand. But thinking about the marriage, Amy just felt depressed.

When she went into the villa, she was deeply impressed by the expensive and furniture and decoration. Maybe Robin's master was more than rich. Amy thought to herself.

But she had no interest in this. She was eager to know how ugly her husband was.

"Miss Miller, please have a seat. I will get you the marriage contract."

Robin pointed to the sofa and asked the servant to serve some desserts and drink for her.

Then he went to the study and fetched the contract prepared in advance.

"Miss Miller, please take a look. If you have no problem, please sign it."

Robin handed the contract to her.

Amy took the contract and read it carefully.

There were not many terms in the contract. It stated that Amy married the master, and he would pay all medical expenses for Amy's father.

Besides, their marriage would last for two years. Two years later, they would get a divorce, and the master would compensate her with ten million.

But it was also stated specially that in these two years, they should live like a real couple.

Amy thought that this contract was very beneficial to her, especially the compensation of ten million.

The master was much more generous than the jerk, Matt. She had a conclusion. In these two years, she would live with a very ugly man. But then she would be free with a fortune.

"Well, Robin, your master is quite generous. Won't it be unfair to him?"

Amy held the contract and asked Robin.

Of course it was unfair to him! But Richard really wanted to get married soon due to the pressure from his family. Otherwise, there was no way for her to marry his master. But

Robin didn't say that out loud.

"Of course not. You will also sacrifice, right? Two years mean a lot for a young lady like you." Robin was being polite.

But Amy didn't think that way. The contract was so beneficial to her that she wanted to sign it at once.

But why would she be so lucky? Were they setting her up somewhere?

But why her? She got nothing to lose anyway. Well, maybe she had to have sex with that ugly man.

But as long as he paid the medical bill, she thought she could accept that.

The next moment, Amy signed this contract and gave it back to Robin.

"Miss Miller, I also brought all your stuff left in the hotel today. Please take a look and check if anything is lost. Besides, your room is the second one around the corner upstairs. It's prepared in advance." Robin gave Amy her bag.

Amy checked. Her cellphone, ID card and several hundred dollars, everything was here.

"Thanks. I got all my things here." Amy was very grateful.

At this moment, Amy suddenly remembered she didn't ask the important question

Amy was sitting on the sofa and waiting for Robin.

When he put the contract in the study, he came back to Amy. "Miss Miller, I will show you your room now."

"Good. By the way, what's the name of your master? He is going to be my husband. And I don't even know his name." Amy asked, following Robin.

Robin stopped so suddenly that Amy almost bumped into him.

"Ouch." Amy didn't expect Robin to stop.

"I am sorry. Miss Miller. To avoid all unnecessary trouble, you won't know our master's name in this two-year marriage. In this case, you two will not get attached emotionally after the divorce." Robin said to Amy.

Amy nodded and agreed. She thought that her husband was so thoughtful. Actually, she didn't want to know who he was, either. She didn't even want to see his face. If he was too ugly, she might regret.

Since Amy didn't have any objection, Robin didn't say anything, either. He showed Amy her room, and then he left.

The room was quite spacious with a huge round bed in the middle and some black and white decorations around. She guessed this was possibly a bedroom for a man. She was exhausted in these two days and lay on the bed immediately when she was left alone.

She took off her shoes and fell asleep without even noticing that she still wore the torn dress.

Amy slept very soundly. When she woke up, it was dark outside. She didn't want to get up, but she was so hungry. She hadn't eaten anything today.

So she had to get up and turned on the light. She was all alone in this room and it was so quiet. Amy looked at her phone and it was one a.m..

She came out and wanted to find something to eat in the kitchen. But it was very dark in the living room. She didn't know where to turn on the light and had to use the phone torch. She walked around and couldn't find the kitchen.

While she was looking, the light was on suddenly, which gave Amy a startle. She narrowed her eyes since the light was strong.

"Miss Miller, are you hungry?" Robin's voice came to her.

"Yes, I am a little hungry." Amy had to admit the fact.

"There are some cakes and milk. You can have some." Robin took some food out of the fridge and gave it to Amy.

Amy was very appreciative and had a bite right away.

“Well, Miss Miller. There are some clothes in your room. You can get changed. And also, Miss Miller, you had better take a shower before you sleep.” Robin recalled that she was lying on the bed asleep with the ragged dress when he went into her room to ask her for dinner. If the master saw this, he would definitely not be able to bear Amy! Amy flushed. Robin must think that she was messy. She lowered her head and nodded.

After Amy ate something, she went back to the bedroom and hurried to take a shower. It had been two days since her last shower. She was feeling a little ashamed of herself.

However just when she entered the bathroom, the bedroom door was open and a tall figure came in quietly

After Amy took a shower, she felt much more comfortable. But the next second, she realized that she had forgotten to bring her pajamas inside.

She thought that there was no one in the room, so she opened the door and came out naked. The pajamas must be in the wardrobe.

But just when she opened the wardrobe, the light was off. What happened? Was the power cut off?

It was too dark to see anything. So Amy just gave up finding the pajamas. She decided to have a good rest first and went to find a job tomorrow.

So she went to the bed and covered her naked body with the quilt.
Although it was dark, she still felt embarrassed being naked.
But something weird happened. There was someone else in bed!
She felt a strong hand on her body and the next moment, she was pulled on his chest.
“Who are you?” Amy was shocked and struggled.

“I am your husband, the one who paid the medical bill of your father.”
his voice came in the darkness.
Her husband? Amy stiffened and stopped struggling. Then she felt his hand was...caressing her boob.
He was quite satisfied with her boob. She looked so thin but her boob was chubby and soft. He continued outlining the curve.
“Well, my husband. We haven’t got our marriage license yet. Can you wait?” Amy asked carefully.
Richard fondled Amy’s body, which attracted him so much. They had sex the day before yesterday and he already became so obsessed with her body. He wanted her so badly now that he refused to wait for one more second.
Since he had such great fun having sex with her, he thought maybe he would marry her when his family were pushing him to get married. After all, he knew he took her virginity.
“No, I can’t. Everything is just perfect.” Richard said. Then he pressed her beneath him. He wanted her so badly. And he wanted her now.

Like the other night, they had wonderful sex again. But Amy was pretty exhausted. She fell asleep and didn’t know when Richard left. If her phone didn’t ring, she could sleep for another whole day.
It was Hannah. As soon as Amy picked up the phone, Hannah’s voice was so loud and harsh that it almost pierced Amy’s eardrum.

“Amy, you have an interview today. How can you be late for the interview of HD Group? Come here now!”

Yes! Amy suddenly remembered that she had an interview in HD Group. She needed a job desperately to pay for her father’s treatment before. So she applied for a job in HD Group, and got an interview today.

Amy got up quickly. There were various clothes inside the wardrobe. She picked up a white shirt and a black skirt. Then she hurried to wash her face and tied her long hair up into a ponytail.

When she came downstairs, Robin was waiting with the prepared breakfast. But Amy looked at the clock and knew it was too late to have breakfast.

“Robin, could you drive me to HD Group?” Amy asked urgently. What she said surprised Robin. Did she know that the master was the president of HD Group? But no way. According to his observation, she wasn’t that clever.

“Yes, but you need to have breakfast before leaving. The master said so.” Robin pointed at the food on the table.

Amy also wanted to sit down and took her time to have breakfast. But it was too late now. The interview was about to begin.

“I will take some to eat on the way. Robin, I am too late already. I am going to have an interview.”

Amy said anxiously.

HD Group was the best company in this city. And the welfare of employees was very good. So a lot of people would kill to join in HD Group.

“OK.” Robin nodded after seeing that Amy was so urgent. He thought it was good for Amy to work in the master’s company. Well, it was more reassuring for them if she didn’t work for other companies.

He looked at Amy and smiled pleasantly. Now that she cleaned herself and wore the proper clothes, he could see she was actually very beautiful!

Chapter 11 Her interview

When Amy arrived at HD Group, the interview had started already. Hannah was waiting for the interview as well. She would also like to start her career from HD Group. "Come on Amy. Come here." Hannah waited for Amy for a long time. Once she saw Amy stepped into the lobby, she kept waving to her. Amy saw Hannah and ran to her quickly. "Amy, how are you recently? Better? I planned to visit you but my mom asked me to stay at home and look after my little cousin. Finally, I have got a chance and come here today." Hannah was whispering. "I'm fine now. I have to pull myself together and make money to pay my dad's treatment." Amy took over her application form from Hannah.

"What's that on your neck, Amy?" Hannah saw the fresh love bite on her neck and asked her in a low voice.

What! Amy covered her neck at once. The sex was really wild last night. Should she tell Hannah that she was going to get married again? She was hesitating and finally, she decided not to tell her right now.

"Alas, I got allergy recently. Never mind. But thanks to you, I shall button my collar or it will be seen by the interviewer later." Amy buttoned her shirt instantly. Hannah didn't have doubts at all. The interviews were finished quite rapidly. Now it was Hannah's turn.

Richard was reading the contracts in his office when Robin made a call and told him that Amy had left home for the interview in HD Group.

Richard put aside the contract and came out of his office without knowing why. Then he saw Amy talking with another girl.

He had met Amy twice and thought that she looked quite ordinary and not pretty enough. Especially that night they first met, she looked horrible with the terrible makeup. But now she looked quite attractive and pretty, wearing a white shirt and a black skirt.

The girl in front of her had entered the room for the interview. While she was waiting there outside.

Richard had a feeling that he should take part in the interviews as the president.

Yes, he thought it was a brilliant idea and then he walked into the interview room.

While Amy was reciting her self-introduction. She felt a little bit nervous though she had prepared well enough and remembered everything very well. But it was HD Group! So many people wanted to work here! She must try her best to get the job.

Amy looked up from her resume and saw a tall man walking towards her.

Amy recognized Richard at once, the mean guy she met earlier. Did he come here for the interview, too? Wasn't he driving the luxurious car the day before yesterday? But how came he had to apply for a job here? His car should be borrowed from someone else. There were plenty of peacockish people like him. She looked down upon him in her mind secretly.

"Wow! What a handsome man! He's so tall and so hot! I want his phone number now!" Some girl behind Amy became excited when seeing Richard.

While Richard just walked into the room directly with a poker face. Amy thought that he must have connections so that he could jump the queue so arrogantly. She was supposed to be the next one! Now Amy had a worse impression on Richard.

Hannah came out of the interview room and rushed to hug Amy once they met.

“What’s the result? Did you pass the interview? Tell me!” Amy stared at Hannah and couldn’t wait to know the result.

“Not yet. The result hasn’t come out yet. I was so nervous that my legs went weak. Please support me for a while.” Hannah got sweaty palms due to anxiety. When she saw Richard entering the room, she went totally blank for one second.

“I’m better now. It’s your turn. Go ahead!” When Hannah calmed down, she asked Amy to get inside quickly.

Amy checked her appearance again then walked into the interview room confidently.

She greeted to the interviewers politely and realized that Richard was sitting beside them.

Holly shit! He worked for HD Group? He was an interviewer instead of an interviewee? And she even hit his car earlier! She was doomed today.

Amy felt anxious. How lucky those candidates interviewed before her! But she was so miserable to meet him just when it was her turn.

“So, are you Amy Miller?” A question came from a female interviewer and interrupted her thoughts.

“Yes, I am.” Amy nodded.

“All right. Your resume states that you can speak several languages very well, especially French and English. So please introduce yourself in French and English now.” she demanded Amy to start from her self-introduction.

Richard hadn’t looked at her since she came in. Amy hoped that he wouldn’t make things difficult for her. Anyway, she cleared her thoughts and decided to focus on the interview.

She introduced herself both in French and English fluently. Her oral language was greatly admired even by her teachers. Unsurprisingly, the interviewers showed satisfied looks and seemed impressed by her excellent oral French and English.

“Good. Your oral English and French are quite fluent. Now could you please talk about your opinion about HD Group?” The female interviewer asked another question.

Amy stated what she had prepared and finished it successfully in three minutes.

Then the interviewers turned to Richard and waited for his reply. They had interviewed a great number of employees every day. But Richard had never showed up even once. But today, he came and attended this interview from the beginning to the end. They believed they had better ask for his opinion.

“President, what do you think of her, Amy Miller?” One of the interviewers whispered to him.

“You can decide on your own. I just came here to have a look rather than interfering your decision.

Please go ahead. I’m leaving now.” He shook his head then left.

But when Amy saw Richard shaking his head, she believed that her interview failed.

She had prepared herself for the failure in advance. Though HD Group was her first choice, she could try other companies if this interview really failed.

“Thanks for coming, Miss Miller. We will inform you about the result later.” The interviewer told her.

“No problem. Thank you so much.” Amy left the room with her head held high. No matter what, she should behave with dignity.

“How’s it going, Amy? You are the best among us. I believe that you will pass the interview definitely.”

Hannah rushed to Amy with enthusiasm when Amy came out. She also handed the water she bought to Amy.

“I might have failed. Never mind. If they reject me, I will go for other corporations.” Amy felt hopeless when she saw Richard shaking his head.

“It doesn’t matter! You are so amazing! You deserve a better man and a better job. If HD Group rejects you, I won’t work for it, either.” Hannah held her hand and comforted her.

“Thank you so much, Hannah. You are so kind and nice to me.” Amy felt much better after hearing Hannah’s words.

But while they were walking out, Amy’s phone rang.

Chapter 13Her unknown husband

That was an unfamiliar number. But she chose to pick up the call.

“Excuse me, Miss Miller. This is Robin speaking. Please come back right now. The driver is waiting outside to pick you up.” Before Amy spoke, Robin had already hanged up.

“What happened, Amy? You don’t look very well. Is it about your dad...?” Hannah noticed her worry and she suddenly recalled Amy’s father was still in hospital. Oh, did anything happen to him?

“No. My dad’s fine. Sorry, I gotta go now.” Amy left in a hurry without explaining to Hannah. She walked over to the car parking outside the building. The driver opened the door for her and she got in instantly.

Then the car drove away quickly.

Hannah witnessed all this, astonished with her mouth wide open. How came Amy got in such a luxury car and even a driver opened the door for her? She could not believe what she saw, rubbing her eyes in bewilderment.

Amy saw Robin waiting outside of the entrance when she arrived at the villa. Robin rushed up to open the door for Amy.

“Miss Miller. Please follow me.” Robin guided Amy to the living room. “Mr. Robin, I just hurried back. Is there anything urgent?” Amy asked. “You could call me Robin, Miss Miller. I have something for you. Please sign this. Then we can get the marriage certificate done this afternoon.” Robin handed an application form to Amy as he said.

‘Isn’t it too fast? I just came to the villa. And now I am about to marry him right away?’ Amy felt quite uncomfortable with this.

“Miss Miller, you have signed the contract already. These are just the procedures. By the way, the earlier you get married, the earlier you can be free after two years.” Robin explained to her patiently.

That was right. How came she had never thought of this? Amy glanced at Robin gratefully.

However, when she found the blank of the name of the bridegroom, she paused for a while but signed it quickly. So long as she could save her dad, it didn’t matter what kind of person the bridegroom was.

Robin was satisfied to take the form carefully, for he completed the mission given by Richard.

Soon after, Amy felt hungry, her stomach growling. Because of Robin’s urgent call, she didn’t have lunch after the interview.

“Robin, May I ask if I can have lunch here?” Amy had intended to dine out with Hannah. But now her plan changed.

“Of course we do have.” Robin looked at Amy with a gentle smile. How could he let this beautiful woman suffer from hunger in such a large villa?

After lunch, Amy took a nap in the bedroom. When she woke up, she found something on the nightstand.

It was her divorce certificate with Matt. She picked it up with a bitter smile and went downstairs to Robin and asked, “Why is this on my nightstand?”

“Miss Miller, I got this while applying the marriage certificate for the master and you earlier today.

Now you are the hostess here, Madam. Congratulations! ” Robin bowed to her with respect.

Amy frowned as she thought of the cold Matt. But still, they had happy moments over the last three years. As she recalled all these, her heart ached.

Robin turned to her worried face, trying to cheer her up. “By the way, Madam, Mr. Miller is getting better now. We just wait for a compatible heart for his transplant. He will recover soon.”

Indeed, the good news eased Amy’s depression. She beamed in a much better mood now.

“What about my marriage certificate? ” Amy wanted to see what her husband looked like.

But it seemed she couldn’t.

At her words, Robin stopped her with a stern face. “Madam, I’m afraid you forget the terms of the contract?”

Amy felt hurt when she heard what Robin said, but she quickly adjusted herself.

‘It is good that I can’t see the marriage license. If I have feelings for him in these two years while he doesn't fall in love with me, that will be too embarrassing. So I’d better not see the certificate. We just need to have sex every day, and I can still do whatever I love in other time.’

“Robin, I need to go out tomorrow. ” Amy said to Robin.

“No problem. You can go anywhere you want, Madam. But since our location is a little distant from the downtown area. It will be difficult to take a taxi or take a bus. I will arrange a driver for you. Here is my phone number. When you want to go home, call me and I will ask the driver to pick you up. ”

Robin arranged everything very well, too well for Amy to pick a fight.

When Amy turned around and was ready to leave, Robin called her from behind, "Madam, how is your interview going today? Did you get the offer?"

"Alas, I guess that I can't get the job. So, I will continue looking for a new job tomorrow." She saw Richard shaking his head anyway. There was no chance for her to get that job!

"It's fine. You can take your time, Madam. We can totally support your life." Robin didn't understand.

Why did she still want to work since she already got a rich husband?

"Thanks, Robin. I shall go back to my room now. You can call me if necessary." then, she went upstairs.

She was in a very bad mood today.

She didn't think she could get the job. She was so unlucky to meet Richard there. After all, she really wanted to work in HD Group. But Richard seemed to be a manager and if he didn't like her, it was impossible for her to get the job.

What was worse, she got divorced! Well, since Matt was totally a jerk, she decided to just let him go and move on. But then she got remarried! She didn't even know who he was and what he looked like.

Oh gosh, she was wondering if she really made the right decision. Like other girls, she always dreamed to have a grand wedding and married her beloved one in a beautiful wedding gown. But now, it was just a dream.

Before she knew it, she fell asleep and was woken up by an urgent call.

Well, she didn't want to pick it up, but the phone kept ringing like hell. She had no choice and answered the phone reluctantly.

She took a look and it was an unknown number. A gentle voice was speaking from the phone.

"Hello. Is that Miss Miller?"

"Yes, it's me. Can I help you?" Hearing such a pleasant voice, Amy was less angry.

“Yes, Miss Miller. I’m from HD Group. Did you have an interview in our company this morning, right?”

“Yes, yes, I did. ” Amy nodded.

“I’m honored to inform you that we are glad to have you work with us in HD Group. You can come to our human resources department tomorrow. ” A piece of good news was fully conveyed.

“Really? ” Amy raised her voice and was totally woken up. She would work in HD Group!

“Y...yes, Miss Miller. It is true. ” She seemed to be startled by Amy as well.

“Fantastic! I will definitely be there tomorrow. Thank you very much. ”

Amy hung up the phone. She was so excited that she jumped on the bed. All the unhappy thoughts in her mind disappeared completely.

She was so overwhelmed by joy that she kept giggling for the rest of the day. While Robin stared at her with worried eyes. Was Amy going crazy? If she did, that would be bad news for his master.

Finally, he decided to ask her, “What happened? Madam, you look... weird...”

Amy smiled happily, “Robin! I did it! I got the offer and will come to HD Group to work tomorrow.”

So that was the reason. Robin wasn’t surprised at all. Instead, he smiled and said calmly, “That’s good for you, madam. I’m happy for you.”

That was more than good! That was extremely amazing! She got the job she wanted and she could make money to support her dad. She felt she had made great progress in her life.

She had a sweet dream that night and was laughing in her sleep, which surprised Richard when he came back and saw her sleeping in bed.

Today, he had a meeting until midnight. He planned to spend the night at the company as usual. But then he remembered that he was married and had a wife waiting for him at home.

With the moonlight from the window, Richard looked at Amy. She was a beautiful girl with fair skin and long eyelashes.

Enchanted by her charm, Richard lowered down his head and left a gentle kiss on Amy's face

Amy was sleeping soundly and felt someone was caressing her body and then she smelled the fragrance of cool mint from him.

The next second, her clothes was taken off by him easily and his hand was warm and lingering on her breast.

She wanted to struggle but then she remembered that they had already got married and he had the right to have sex with her.

He was kissing her neck and she couldn't help moaning, stroking his hair.

The light was off, so she couldn't see his face clearly but his hair was short and soft.

"You are... emmm...my husband. But why don't you show me your face?"

"I don't want to scare you. " Richard answered briefly and was focused on caressing her thigh.

He didn't know what was happening to him. Since he had sex with her the first time in his life, he was attracted to her. Even when he was working, he couldn't help missing Amy's body.

He was twenty-eight years old and Amy was his first woman. Come on, no one would ever believe that.

'He doesn't want to scare me, haha..' Amy laughed out.

While Richard was unhappy to hear Amy's laugh. Shouldn't she be focused on having sex like him? But why was she laughing?
"Why are you laughing? Focus!" he was busy having sex and she was laughing!
"You will never scare me even if you are very ugly. Some people may look handsome but are vicious inside. They are truly horrifying." Amy was talking about Matt, that bastard.
Matt had a handsome look but he was a true jerk.
Richard stopped kissing her and became a little disappointed. He knew Amy was comparing him with Matt. But seriously? How could that jerk ever compete with him? Besides, what were they doing now?
They were having sex, and she was still thinking about her ex. She must be joking, right?
Maybe he should work harder? Yes! He must prove to her he was better! So he started kissing her more passionately. His hand was caressing over her body and he found her ears were quite sensitive.
Good! That helped him make her come twice that night. Soon he heard her moaning and was satisfied with his efforts.

When she was so tired and fell asleep, Richard looked at her and believed he outdone Matt.
But then he had another thought. It was her fault to think about her ex when they were having sex.
But look at her, she was sleeping and had great time. He almost wanted to wake her up and kissed her all over. But considering she would get up early and work in HD Group tomorrow, he decided to spare her tonight.
On the next morning, Amy smelled the fragrance of flowers before she woke up. She took a deep breath, thinking that it must be a sunny day today.
When she got up and looked outside the window, wow, gosh! It was a field of pink roses beneath the window.

Her husband, the owner of this villa, was quite romantic. He had planted so many roses, but pink?

Really? That wouldn't be sissy?

Amy took another deep breath and cleaned herself very quickly. When she opened the wardrobe, Dior, Valentino and Burberry...wow, she was stunned. She wanted to keep low-key and picked up some less expensive clothes to wear.

Besides, she didn't want to owe her husband too much during the two-year marriage. She was afraid she couldn't pay off.

She chose a simple white dress in the end and turned to the dressing table. There were many cosmetics there, but Amy was not very good at wearing make-up. She didn't know what to do and just picked a lipstick. Good, she was satisfied with herself.

Then, she was ready to go out with her purse.

"Madam, the breakfast is ready. Please enjoy and later I will ask the driver to take you to work. By the way, when you get off work today, I will come and pick you up. The master said that although he couldn't give you a decent wedding, he still wanted to give you what you deserved, such as a diamond ring and jewelry." Robin was speaking like reciting lines.

"Don't bother. He already paid for my dad's treatment. I don't want to owe him too much." Amy declined directly.

Her quick decline surprised Robin and earned his respect. She looked like a good lady and why did her ex betray her in the first place?

Although Robin just knew Amy for several days, she left a very good impression on him. Now, he was thinking that his master was very lucky to have her.

Chapter 16A handsome president

When Amy arrived at HD Group again, she was so nervous. She had been dreaming of working here!

And now her dream came true! She cheered herself up and was determined to make her career from here.

“Amy, you are here!” Hannah just came here and ran to Amy once she found her.

They were both hired by HD Group. When Amy heard the news, she was relieved and happy to work with her best friend. Then they went to the Human Resources Department together. Amy was working at the Secretariat Department and Hannah the Design Department.

Although they were separated in different departments, luckily, these two departments were close to each other on the same floor.

When Amy came to the Secretariat Department, all people stopped working and looked at her.

“Are you Mrs. Jones?” Amy asked politely.

“You must be the new employee, Miss Miller, right? I am Mrs. Jones.”

Mrs. Jones shook hands with

Amy. She looked very nice, maybe in her thirties. She was not very beautiful but very elegant.

“Hello, Mrs. Jones. I’m Amy Miller. Nice to meet you. I will try my best to do my work.” Amy smiled.

“Good. Come with me. This is your seat.” Mrs. Jones pointed to a table and showed Amy.

This table was near a corner. If someone came here, he might just miss this place. But Amy liked it very much since it was near the window, too. Then Mrs. Jones introduced Amy to other colleagues. Later

Amy was a little thirsty and asked the woman sitting next to her. “Hi, can you please tell me where the tea room is?”

“Sure, go out and turn left. You will see it.” she answered enthusiastically.

“Well, thanks a lot.” Amy went out for the tea room.

But just when she came out with a cup of water, she bumped into someone. Oops, Amy was holding the cup and the water was poured half on his shirt. Amy wanted to apologize, but when she looked up and saw his face, she just wanted to pour the rest of the water right on his face. "Amy? What are you doing here, Amy? I told you we were over. Just give up!" It was Matt, her ex and that bastard! "What are you saying? I work here, OK? Stop flattering yourself." Amy didn't want to speak to him at all and was going to leave. But Matt grabbed her hand and stopped her. "You work here? Since when? I got it. You know I'm cooperating with HG Group so you choose to work here deliberately. You want to meet me, right? Stop that, Amy. I told you. Over is over." He grabbed Amy's arm tightly, forcing Amy to look at him. Amy struggled but failed. When did he become so confident? That idiot! Amy just threw the rest of water on his face.

He's Using This Secret Trick To Make Millions

"Ouch!" Matt never expected that and the water was dripping on his face. He shouted, "Amy, you bitch!" he reached out his hand and wanted to slap her hard. Amy was startled but not afraid. She hit Matt's crotch with her knee strongly. Matt was screaming in great pain while Amy was safe and sound. Because a man came and stopped Matt. "Amy, you slut. How dare you! Oh! It hurts. I will kill you." Matt's hand was caught by the strong man, and he covered his crotch with the other hand. "Be polite to my employees! Matt Wilson. You are the manager of Wilson Group. You should show some basic respect." The strong man said coldly. So this man protected her? Amy didn't see his face with his back to her but his voice was quite familiar. But now she was distracted by Matt and his twisted face in pain. That felt so good, she wanted to kick him once more!

“Mr. Carter, it was not my fault. It was this bitch. She kept following me everywhere. I have already divorced her and she even chased me to HD Group.” Matt wanted revenge badly. But when he recognized it was Richard Carter, he had to suppress his anger and explain patiently.

“I don’t care about your story. But in my company, none of these should happen here. I won’t allow you to hit my employee, either. Matt Wilson, you are not welcome in HD Group. As for our cooperation, I will directly talk to your father.” Richard didn’t want to look at him and left coldly at once.

Wow, so he was Mr. Carter, their president? And he was protecting her? It was a pity she didn’t see his face. She followed him and wanted to say thank-you face to face. But he just entered the elevator and left quickly. What a shame!

What could she do to repay his favor? Amy told herself she would try her best to do her work. He must be the best president in the world!

Later in the afternoon, while Amy was working, Mrs. Jones came to her and handed her a document.

“Amy, come and sign the contract. Then you will be an official employee in HD Group.” Mrs. Jones was holding the contract.

Amy was surprised to hear that. She was informed that she could sign the contract after one-month probation. But now she was official on her first day? But it should be great, right? She would be an official employee in HD Group from now on. Amy felt so lucky to hear this news.

She looked through the contract and checked the salary which she was concerned about most, and then she signed the contract without hesitation.

Amy was too pleased to notice that there was an extra line of words in the contract.

After signing, she handed it back to Mrs. Jones. Now she needed to get familiar with her work as quickly as possible in order to better serve HD Group

When it was time to get off work, all the employees went back home one after another. But Amy didn't leave. While she was still working, Hannah came and looked for her. She wanted to ask a question but didn't get the chance since there were too many people around.

"Amy, you are still working?" Hannah came to her.

"Yes, almost done." Actually, Amy had finished all work. But she didn't want other colleagues to find out that a luxurious car was waiting for her outside. However, she forgot about Hannah.

"Amy, you left in a hurry yesterday. But I still saw it. You was picked up in a luxurious car. Who was waiting for you? I thought you were divorced? Even though you didn't, Matt couldn't afford that expensive car, either." There were just them two in the office and Hannah asked Amy directly.

"Hannah, if I tell you I married again, will you believe me?" Amy was not going to lie to Hannah. It was just that even she herself couldn't accept the whole thing right now. She was afraid that Hannah couldn't understand, either.

"What?" See? Hannah was shocked and couldn't believe it.

"Amy, are you joking? You just got divorced and remarried this quickly? How? And why? Besides, who's your husband? Tell me everything!" Hannah stared at Amy, eager to know every detail.

"Well, I got married only because that man is willing to pay for my dad's medical treatment. You know that my dad is very sick, and we are in need of money. Anyway, I had no choice." When Amy thought about her dad heavily sick in hospital, she was heart-breaking. She blamed herself for having no money.

“Fine. Since he’s willing to pay for your dad’s medical treatment, he was actually not bad. Then who is he?” Hannah knew Amy’s dad would cost a great deal of money.

“I don’t know. I haven’t seen his face.” Amy lowered her head.

“What? You don’t know your husband is? And you haven’t seen his face?” Hannah was shocked. It was so unbelievable.

“No, I haven’t. He comes home only at night every day.” At this moment, Amy’s phone rang.

It was Robin. She picked it up and Robin said that he was waiting for her outside.

“Hannah, I don’t know how to explain because I can’t even convince myself of the whole marriage thing. But the butler is waiting to pick me up. I need to go home now.”

Amy took her purse and said good-bye to Hannah quickly.

Hannah was dumbfounded as she saw Amy leaving, wondering whether Amy was fortunate or not.

She tried to put herself into Amy’s shoes. A totally stranger came and had sex with her every night. No, no, no! She could never accept it.

When Robin saw Amy, he opened the door for her politely. When she was on her way, she found that they weren’t heading towards the villa but the downtown instead.

“Robin, what’s happening? Shouldn’t we go home?” Amy noticed they were driving into a underground parking lot in a huge super mall.

“Madam, as I mentioned this morning, the master said that although he couldn’t give you a wedding, you could still get what you deserved. So I’m taking you here to buy a diamond ring and some jewelry.

And also, the master asked someone else to buy all the clothes in the wardrobe for you. He doesn’t know whether you like them or not. You can also buy some new clothes you like by the way.” When Robin got off the car, he opened the door for Amy thoughtfully.

Amy realized that her husband was quite interesting. He knew he was ugly and didn't want to hold a wedding. But he was also very nice to her. He paid for her dad's medical treatment and he was so thoughtful about all details in her daily life. Amy did not refuse this time. Since he asked her to buy something, then she would. But she didn't plan to wear the diamond ring or the jewelry anyway. As for clothes, she wanted to buy some, too. Those in the wardrobe were too expensive. She wanted to buy some cheaper ones.

So she followed Robin into the super mall and they headed for the jewelry directly.

This was the best super mall in the city. When Amy's family were not broke, she used to go shopping here quite often. But at most time, she was buying clothes for Matt.

"Madam, at least you should choose a diamond ring for yourself. Master has already ordered other jewelries. Later they will show them to you. But master insists that you should choose the diamond ring yourself. And he will send them to you as a gift."

"I understand." Amy nodded.

The huge hall full of shining jewelry dazzled Amy.

The sales assistant served Amy passionately, and took out varieties of fancy diamond rings for her to choose.

But they were either too garish or too dazzling. Amy didn't like them at all.

In the end, she picked a very plain one, which was not eye-catching at all.

"I will take this one." Amy pointed at that plain diamond ring.

Robin took a look. It was too shabby. Other people would think that the Madam married a very poor man.

But the master had ordered before. As long as Amy liked it, nothing mattered.

Meanwhile, as Robin went to pay the bill, a voice sounded not far away. "Matt, I want a ring with a big diamond, so that I can be proud to show off to the family when we get married."

Gina looked at the shiny diamond rings, with her eyes wide open. "No problem. I will buy you a huge one." Matt nodded though he was in a bad mood today. Gina threatened him with the baby. So he had to meet her demand and pay for the ring.

It was dinner time and there were not so many people in the jewelry hall. As soon as they came in, Amy heard them talking.

She had met Matt twice today. What a bad day!

"Amy?" Gina also saw Amy at the first sight, while pulling Matt over closely.

Gina didn't see Robin, so she thought that Amy was buying herself a ring to ease her pain of divorce.

She couldn't wait to speak sarcastically, "Amy, why are you here buying a ring? You have divorced already. What a waste! Girls never buy a ring themselves. Men should buy it, right?"

Amy ignored her, sitting there and waiting for Robin, speechless.

"Amy, I won't forget what happened in the morning! I'll get even with you. How dare you come here to buy a diamond ring when your family has already been bankrupt? You still have money to buy a ring?" Matt scolded as he thought of the kick by Amy in the morning

When it was time to get off work, all the employees went back home one after another. But Amy didn't leave. While she was still working, Hannah came and looked for her. She wanted to ask a question but didn't get the chance since there were too many people around.

"Amy, you are still working?" Hannah came to her.

“Yes, almost done.” Actually, Amy had finished all work. But she didn’t want other colleagues to find out that a luxurious car was waiting for her outside. However, she forgot about Hannah.

“Amy, you left in a hurry yesterday. But I still saw it. You was picked up in a luxurious car. Who was waiting for you? I thought you were divorced? Even though you didn’t, Matt couldn’t afford that expensive car, either.” There were just them two in the office and Hannah asked Amy directly.

“Hannah, if I tell you I married again, will you believe me?” Amy was not going to lie to Hannah. It was just that even she herself couldn’t accept the whole thing right now. She was afraid that Hannah couldn’t understand, either.

“What?” See? Hannah was shocked and couldn’t believe it.

“Amy, are you joking? You just got divorced and remarried this quickly? How? And why? Besides, who’s your husband? Tell me everything!” Hannah stared at Amy, eager to know every detail.

“Well, I got married only because that man is willing to pay for my dad’s medical treatment. You know that my dad is very sick, and we are in need of money. Anyway, I had no choice.” When Amy thought about her dad heavily sick in hospital, she was heart-breaking. She blamed herself for having no money.

The sarcastic couple didn’t annoyed Amy. She just ignored them. But she couldn’t help regretting marrying him before. ‘Was I blind? How could I marry such a bastard?

Fortunately we’ve divorced;

otherwise, if we have a child, I would rather go to hell.’

“Amy, don’t be sad anymore.” Gina raised her voice to the sales assistant as she saw Amy’s shabby ring, “Oh, please show me all the beautiful diamond rings that you have in here. I want to pick the most beautiful one.”

Robin saw all this after coming back from the cashier. The calm Amy amazed him. She didn’t even bother with the sarcastic couple.

Robin kept watching what would happen.

At Gina’s words, the sales assistant took out all the huge diamond rings hurriedly.

At this moment, Amy stood up to wear a ring.

“Wait, Amy, just stay here to help me pick one. Which suits me best?”

Gina was still speaking sarcastically to Amy.

The hall manager said to Amy hastily, and asked someone to take out four new collections of diamond rings, shining bright.

Amy was stunned by these. She couldn’t afford any plain one, let alone these elaborate ones.

“Madam, what do you think of these? The master bought you all these as gifts. ” Robin stood behind

Amy and said with respect.

Hearing these, Gina and Matt were dumbfounded.

Gina stared at the fancy rings jealously. Matt angrily headed to Amy as if to drag her over. But Robin stopped him.

“Amy, you bitch cheated on me? With this old guy? How shameless! ”

Matt cursed Amy.

“Amy, you just divorced Matt, and couldn’t wait to hit on an old man. I never thought you could be such a slut. ” Gina scolded mockingly as she wanted to win a round against Amy. Since childhood, Amy was superior to her in many aspects. She swore to herself to take everything from Amy.

“Who the hell are you? How dare you talk to Madam like this? ” Robin rebuked, standing in front of Amy. Robin’s strong vibes froze Matt.

“Fine, as you said, you are just her ex-husband. So you are nothing to Madam. I warn you to behave yourselves and be kind to Madam. If you show disrespect to Madam, you will have to pay for this. ”

Robin exclaimed arrogantly with angry eyes.

“These must be fake rings. He’s just a liar! ” Gina didn’t care about what the servant said. All she wanted was to embarrass Amy.

“Fake? Gina, is there any stuff you wear real? Your nose? Your breasts? Let me tell you, Matt. Don't you feel gross sleeping with a pile of silica gel? ” Amy didn't intend to tell Matt that Gina had undergone breast and nose implants. But they asked for this. Gina felt a bit guilty as she recalled she even borrowed money from Amy for the hospital bill.

“What! Gina, you have to explain this to me now! ” As expected, Matt focused on Gina immediately.

Now, he didn't want to say anything to Amy, who married a rich guy. But Gina was still under his control. He gazed firmly at Gina's breast. At this moment, Gina panicked.

She didn't want to buy diamond rings anymore, only to leave with Matt hurriedly.

But Matt didn't want to leave, and he raged, “I don't want to leave now. Tell me the truth right here right now.”

“Matt, let's go home first. I will tell you everything then. Let's go. Our baby also wants us to go. ” Gina dragged Matt away, afraid to reveal her secret to anyone else.

At her mention of the baby, Matt had no choice but to leave with Gina. Seeing that those two people left, Amy was going to leave with Robin.

Amy was shocked, and she thought that Robin was acting with the manager in order to help her out.

“Was that acting?”

“No, it wasn't. The master had paid for all these for you as gifts, Madam. Aren't women always expecting gifts from men? No worry. Please take the gifts the master prepared for you. ” Robin couldn't read Amy quite well.

Amy was afraid that the jewelry would trouble her. If she accepted them, she might owe him a lot.

She hesitated. But the manager had packed it up for her.

“Excuse me, Madam. It’s all here. ” The manager served Amy as courteously and humbly as he could.

She was their VIP customer now.

Amy found no way to refuse. So she took them all.

“Madam, the Master also gave you 500thousands to buy some clothes.

You are supposed to run out of the money today. ” Robin performed another mission given by the Master.

Robin’s words froze Amy. Should she be happy? She didn’t know.

“Robin, your master is so weird. Jeez, he got something wrong in his mind?”

Meanwhile, Richard sneezed abruptly in his office. He glanced at the air-conditioner. It was not cold.

How came he sneezed?

He took out the marriage certificate from the drawer. He looked at the smiling girl on it. And he couldn’t help cracking a smile.

He had married to live up to his family’s expectation now. And he had more time to wait for her back.

Richard wanted to bring the marriage certificate back home so his family would not urge him to get married. Suddenly his phone rang. That was his mother.

“Richard. Will you come back home today? Your grandpa had emphasized again - if you don’t marry shortly, he doesn’t wanna live anymore. You know what you should tell him then. ” Richard’s mom said worriedly.

“No worry, Mom. I definitely won’t let him down. ” He answered confidently.

“That would be great. Mommy trusts you. ” Though she said so, she still felt worried.

After a while, Richard went home with the gifts he bought for his grandpa and mom.

When he was home, his grandpa John was waiting there already. John heard from Richard’s mom that Richard would give him a satisfactory answer. So he couldn’t wait to see what the answer was.

“Grandpa, it’s windy outside. Let’s get back inside together. ” Richard was passionate sensibly. Once he got off the car, he hurried to support John with his hands and asked the servant to bring the presents inside.

“You bad boy cannot get away with it no matter what gifts you prepare. I only want you to bring me a granddaughter-in-law. ” Richard’s grandpa totally ignored his move. “Don’t worry grandpa. Take it easy. Let’s talk about it back inside. ” Richard supported his grandpa to walk in.

When they walked in, he found the whole family already in there, including his two elder brothers and younger sister Hilary, who seldom came back.

Everyone was looking him over, silent.

“Just tell me your answer? ” John sat down and asked right away. Everyone gathered around immediately.

“Should we have dinner first? ” Richard asked his family to have the meal but nobody replied.

“We don’t want to eat anything until you give us a satisfactory result. ” Hilary copied her grandpa’s words.

Richard shot her a serious glance. Hilary made a face, speechless. Hilary could really read the family’s mind. If Richard could not show his resolution to marry, he won’t be let go easily today.

Richard took out the two marriage certificates from his bag calmly and handed to his grandpa.

Amy didn’t know when her husband came and slept with her and left. Amy had already fallen asleep at that time. Then when she woke up, she was told to fulfill her obligation.

Now she got up tiredly. It was her second working day in HD Group. She could not be late.

Dressed up in a new look with makeup, she was ready to start the day.

“Good morning, Madam. Breakfast is ready. Please enjoy it and then the driver will come pick you up. ”

Robin had already waited downstairs.

“Okay. Thank you. ” Amy walked downstairs. She wore a favorite pink T-shirt, jeans and sneakers, so youthful and casual like a high school student.

Chapter 20A visit to the hospital

“Excuse me, beautiful lady. Could you tell me where the washroom is? ” Outside the washroom, Amy met a very pretty girl. The girl looked at Amy with glittering eyes and ran over to chat up.

“The washroom is right behind you.” Amy answered.

“Oh, here I am. Why didn’t I see it just now? Thank you so much. Are you new here? May I know your name?” Hilary thought that Amy was much more beautiful than the photograph and became fond of Amy right away.

“Yeah I am new here. My name is Amy Miller. Madam, aren’t you going to the washroom?” Amy answered.

“Let me introduce myself. My name is Hilary Carter. From now on we are colleagues. Nice to meet you.” Hilary gave Amy her hand. Hilary was so friendly that Amy also gave her hand. They shook hands with each other.

“Miss Hilary, I gotta work now. Let’s talk next time.” Amy was new to the secretary department. Many team members distributed their works to her so she had to deal with endless issues every day.

“No problem. Take your time.” Hilary said goodbye to Amy with a smile, and found somewhere quiet to make a call.

“Mom! I have just met Amy! She is so nice. I like her.”

Amy was still working at the office while her colleagues had all gone home. She had too much work to do.

When she almost finished, she stretched in relief. Suddenly Robin called her.

Amy looked at her ringing phone reluctantly. Currently she totally lost her freedom. Robin drove her to and from the office every day.

She hadn’t visited her dad for long. So she pretty worried about his recent situation.

She told Robin she would be right there soon. Then she got her stuff and went downstairs.

“Robin. May I go to see my dad?” Amy asked.

“Of course. Would you like to go now, Madam?” Robin replied immediately.

“Yes. Let’s go now. I really miss my dad.” Robin’s quick response surprised Amy.

She found her husband was quite good, though they never met. Amy was looking to thank him.

When she arrived at her dad’s ward, she met Matt. But she didn’t want to see him at all.

Stephen had come to himself and looked better now. She didn’t know what Matt had told her dad.

After all, her dad was happy now.

Stephen had been hospitalized for half a year. But Matt had never visited him until today. Now, they had divorced. Why did he come? Amy looked at Matt with disdain.

“Amy. Why don’t you two come together?” Stephen asked. He didn’t know they had divorced.

“Dad, I just get off work.” Amy wouldn’t let her dad know their divorce now. Stephen had a heart disease. She wouldn’t take the risk to irritate him.

“Yes dad. I knocked off earlier and I came first.” He walked over to hold Amy’s hand.

Suddenly Amy trembled with disgust. She tried to throw him off but he held more tightly.

“You won’t put your father in danger again, will you?” Matt whispered.

Matt’s threat froze Amy. He went ahead with his scheme, putting his hand on her shoulder.

“Amy. I have told you I can support you. You don’t need to work so hard.” Matt said to Amy.

“I am getting older and older now. I cannot take good care of you for the rest of your life. Please cherish Matt and live a happy life together.” Stephen was delighted to see their good relationship.

Only Amy disgusted with Matt’s acting.

“By the way, dad, where is the corporate seal? I cannot find it anywhere.” Matt changed the topic suddenly.

“The seal is in ...” Stephen was about to tell him.

“Dad. You’ve talked too much today. It’s not good for your recovery. Let’s talk about it next time. ”

Amy interrupted him instantly.

She got rid of Matt’s hands and walked over to her father. When she handed him a glass of water, she noticed the rotten fruits brought by Matt on the table. She threw them away without hesitation.

However, an apple fell out and smashed someone’s head.

With the crash, Richard ached. Amy rushed over to apologize. But when she found that the man was Richard, she wanted to run away immediately.

“Don’t move! You hit my car last time. And now you hit me?” Richard said angrily.

Amy froze. She turned to his angry face with a gentle smile.

“What a coincidence. You look so handsome today.” Amy walked over to him and noticed the stain on Richard’s suit.

“Amy! You really had the gut to throw the fruits I bought for your dad.”

Matt raged after he saw Amy throw away the fruits. But now, he saw Amy talking with a handsome man, so close.

Richard ignored the flattering Matt. He still had something urgent to do so he let go of Amy and left, intending to give her a lesson after they went home in the evening.

Amy looked at Matt with disdain again. It turned out that Matt got ignored. What a shame!

Matt turned to Amy at this moment and suddenly realized that she was more mature and charming than before. She was no longer a childish little girl. Especially her breasts were much bigger than Gina's now. He spent the past years scheming the Miller Group without attention on Amy. Now she was like surrounded by a halo of goddess.

"Amy. If you don't like these fruits then tell me. I will buy you the favorite ones. You just did right. "

Matt's attitude changed entirely.

This sudden change made Amy sick. She stared at the weird Matt and swept his hands from her shoulder. Then she walked into her dad's ward directly.

Matt followed her to the ward. An indulged fragrance of Amy intoxicated him.

"Amy, you met a friend? " Stephen asked gently as he saw Amy's dark face.

"Nothing at all. I just found a rat. " Amy implied that the rat was Matt. Suddenly a doctor came in with a cold glance at Amy and Matt, and then checked up for Stephen.

'Are all the doctors this handsome? The nurses here are so lucky.'

Amy stared at the good-looking doctor with white skin, deep blue eyes and rosy lips. She even fantasized kissing him.

Amy's fixed eyes on the doctor irritated Matt. He thought he was attractive enough. But now, in front of Richard and this doctor, he felt so small.

"Dad, it's late. We are going. Let's see you next time. Call me anytime. I'll be there. " Matt wanted to leave with Amy.

"Let go of me! " When Matt tried to drag Amy over, she suddenly throw him off.

The doctor turned to Amy's disdainful face. His glance made Matt feel much more uncomfortable.

Matt tried again to pull Amy over.

Amy noticed Stephen's eyes. She was afraid that her dad would know their divorce. So she stopped resisting and left with Matt together.

When they got to the elevator, Amy tried to shake him off but failed again. He dragged her hand tightly and forced her against the door.

“How do you feel about messing around with an old man, Amy? If you don’t feel happy, you can choose to be my mistress. I’m really into your tasty boobs.” Matt whispered with ridicule.

“Matt. Don’t you feel ashamed? I won’t marry you again. I would rather be single for the rest of my life!” Amy scolded with averted eyes from the disgusting Matt.

“Will you? But I’m not ready to let go of you now. I never found that you are so beautiful.” Matt said flirtatiously and even stretched to caress Amy’s face.

Amy was too weak to dodge. Matt’s hand was approaching her face. She got ready to bite him if he really touched her.

Bang! Matt fell to the ground suddenly. Shocked, Amy was quickly dragged behind by someone

Contract Marriage With Mysterious President
Chapter 22Another encounter

Matt covered his face with hands. He had been so unlucky to have got hit since his divorce with Amy.

“Who the hell are you? You have the gut to beat me? Do you know who I am? I play the second fiddle in the Wilson Group!” Matt shouted and pointed to the doctor who beat him down.

“No matter who you are, it’s your fault to bully a lady.” The doctor said with contempt.

Amy just found that the doctor who did the check up for her dad just now had saved her.

Matt intended to fight with the doctor again. He stood up and pounced to him. The doctor swung slightly in front of him. Matt fled out again.

Amy could not see clearly what happened. The doctor looked like playing magic.

This time, Matt gave up the idea to battle with the doctor. He stood up in a hurry.

“Good for you, Amy. You always seduce men outside. Now you even look for someone to beat your ex-husband. And you bastard! You really have the nerve to hit the manager of Wilson Group. You will pay for this!” Matt ran away awkwardly.

“Thanks for saving me!” Amy expressed gratitude to the good-looking doctor.

The doctor turned to Amy silently.

“Only this?” He asked.

Amy was stunned. She guessed if he was asking for money as reward.

She took out the last three hundred dollars she had from her handbag.

“This is all I have.” She handed him the money.

The doctor could not help laughing out loud, which dazzled Amy in an instant. No woman could resist this smile.

“Amy. Have you forgotten who I am?” He held her shoulders and lowered his head.

Amy looked at him, confused. She tried to recall but didn’t remember anything. Was this a new way to hook up with a stranger?

The doctor laughed out again when he saw the confused Amy.

When he left long time ago, Amy and Hannah were only ten years old.

The two little girls both became elegant ladies now after ten years.

“I am Andy!” Andy Baker could only say out his name.

“You are Brother Andy? Unbelievable! You are so tall and handsome now!” Amy became excited and passionate when she realized the charming Andy in front of her.

Andy was Hannah’s cousin. She also heard from Hannah that her cousin had come back recently. But due to the endless troubles these days, she forgot it.

They three lived in the same district when they were kids. Andy was six years older than them. Amy and Hannah used to stick with him at that time.

“Jeez. You are also grown up and so charming!” Andy caressed her hair gently.

Richard just finished his work and happened to see this not far away. He hated to see what young couples do in public.

“Amy, don’t forget you are the employee of HD Group. Behave yourself!” Richard walked close to her and said.

Amy froze. She just talked with her friend in the hospital. She didn’t think she damaged the image of HD Group. And she didn’t think she was that influential.

“Mr. Richard. I am just chatting with my friend. I don’t think I will do harm to the company’s image.”

She stood out to protect Andy behind her.

Amy’s reaction irritated Richard. She even tried to protect the stranger.

She didn’t even know the man standing in front of her was her intimate husband.

‘Fine. Just signed a two-year contract. Just ignore it as long as it was not too outrageous.’

Richard stopped and walked away with a long face.

“Amy, glad to see you! Uncle Stephen is quite well now. Don’t worry. I heard from the man that you work in HD Group, do you?” Andy dragged her hands and sat together on the bench outside the ward.

“Yeah I work at HD Group now. Andy, you won’t leave this time, will you?” Amy was so thrilled to see Andy again, blushed with excitement.

Ring.

Amy’s phone rang. That was Robin.

Amy suddenly recalled Robin was waiting downstairs.

“I’m so sorry, Robin. I’m coming.” She apologized.

“It doesn’t matter. It’s time to go back home.” Robin answered steadily.

Amy hung off and apologized to Andy as well.

“Sorry, Andy, I gotta go now. Let’s meet next time.” She said unwillingly.

“No problem. See you soon.” Andy smiled. His gentle smile warmed

Amy. After saying goodbye to Stephen, Amy hurried downstairs to the parking lot.

“Madam, though you never meet master, you are married still. When you stay with someone else, please be careful and sensitive. ” Robin suggested.

Robin still felt happy to see the angry Richard, for his master started to care about Amy.

Amy was confused about Robin’s words. Why did Robin say this?

“What do you mean, Robin? ” She asked.

“You must be hungry, madam. The dinner is ready. Let’s go home now. ”

Robin didn’t answer her question.

On the way home, Amy intended to take a break in the car, but fell asleep and started dreaming.

With a familiar smell of someone, she slept soundly in the arms.

“Amy, submit this file to the president on the 30th floor. I got a stomach ache and gotta go to the washroom now. ” A secretary put down the file on Amy’s desk.

“No problem. I will help you to deliver it. ” Amy undertook this task. She was new here. She should do more than others.

Amy took the file and headed to the thirtieth floor without noticing others ’ gloating.

The door of the president’s office was left unlocked. So she entered directly.

“Come in, ” said someone inside.

She opened the door and met the man she was unwilling to see.

Chapter 23The mysterious president

Richard sat upright in the chair. He just woke up from a nap.

“What’s up? ” He asked as he saw the blank Amy at the door. She had flawless snow white skin, and even gave off a smell of rose.

“Eh, Eh, I am looking for the president, ” Amy stammered. She wanted to slap herself, for she didn’t have to panic. Richard was not a monster or Hannibal, why the hell was she so terrified? She was here for the president anyway, not looking for him.

“Whatever issues you have, just tell me. It is the same”. Richard stood up, walked towards her and studied her through with strong and solemn vibes.

“Okay, this is for the president, please hand it to him, and tell him it is from the secretary department.

I will go now.” She handed the file to Richard and was ready to leave, while he stopped her, putting one arm on the wall. She was suddenly surrounded by his strong arm.

“What, what are you doing? This is the president office!” She was startled and stammered.

She valued her job at HD group. If the president saw her messing around with a man in his office, her career was definitely over.

“No big deal. If the president comes in, I will let him go away.” He said jokingly.

“Let go of me! Let go of me! I am married, and please be polite. I am so sorry to have hit your car and your head by accident. But if I lose my job, I won’t afford to make up for your loss.” Amy pushed him aside immediately, so hard that he didn’t expect.

“Oh, so you know you are married, huh? But when you were in the hospital, you seemed an expert at flirting with men. Or you despise me because I am not as rich as him?”

He suddenly recalled her sunshine smile to Andy Baker. So he felt jealous.

“None of your business. I smile to whoever I want. Right, I will leave the file here. I have to go now.”

She glared at him, and then reached out to the door handle.

“Don’t you wait for the president to come back? You put the file here, but I did not notice. If it is lost, it is none of my business.” He stood there and said slowly.

She studied through Richard. Oh, this man was good-looking but annoying.

If the file was gone, she would be to blame. So she took back the file immediately.

“The president is not here, so I will come back later.” She did not want to spend one more second with this pervert.

“Oh, Mr. Carter, so sorry that I didn’t know there was a woman in the office. ” Kevin rushed in with a quick glance at Amy and Richard. Seeing this, Amy wanted to seize the chance to leave. ‘What a pervert he was. But what was he doing in the president office? And that guy called him so respectfully. Was he the manager or the president?’ OMG ...Amy thought, she’d better ask someone else for the surname of the president. She rushed downstairs in a hurry. “Mr. Carter? Mr. Carter? She’s gone. What are you still looking at? ” Kevin noticed Richard was still staring at the door. “Say it. What? ” Richard said with a dark face. “Oh, I remember this woman. Is she Amy? The one you wanted me to check out? Did you make her to work for you? You have forgotten Alison completely? ” Kevin asked. “Don’t you think you are asking too much? What else? Get out! ” Richard went back and sat in the chair. “I do have something to say. ” Kevin almost forgot what he was here for. So he bent down and whispered.

“Well. Ok. I got it. But next time, knock the door before you enter. ”

Richard said to Kevin.

He really almost kissed Amy just now. Luckily Kevin came in time; otherwise he might piss her off even more.

“Okay, I am leaving then. Take your time to savor what just happened. ”

When he arrived at the hall of HD group, he took out his phone and made a call.

At the same time, a strong man rushed in front of Kevin. Though Kevin was on the phone, he reacted fast and threw that man away. He had been a military guy for many years.

“Ah! Who? Who pushed me?” Hannah fell to the ground with a cup of hot coffee in her hand.

Kevin glanced at Hannah. She was stupid obviously. There was nobody in the hall, except their two.

But she was still looking for who had pushed her.

Kevin despised stupid women like this. He put his phone back to his pocket, and then walked to the door.

Suddenly, he noticed something getting close from behind. He dodged the flying coffee cup.

“Don’t move! You pushed me down to the ground and want to get away? How rude!” Hannah concluded as she noticed there were only two people in the hall.

What irritated her more was - he wanted to walk away as if nothing had happened.

Kevin turned around gently, walked back over to Hannah with pride, and took out a white handkerchief from his pocket.

Hannah’s clothes were stained with coffee, and she thought Kevin was coming to wipe it for her.

However, Kevin was just used the handkerchief to clean his hands, and he put the handkerchief back.

“If I don’t walk away, should I wait for you to buy me lunch, then leave?” he said to Hannah.

“You, you, you, you are a jerk.” Hannah was so angry that she took off one of her high heels and threw at him. Kevin caught it. She put off the other and smashed him, but he caught it again.

“What else are you going to throw at me? Clothes?” Kevin raised his brows.

Hannah was too angry to speak. ‘He is just a good-looking bastard.’

She clapped her hands, and then walked away proudly with bared feet.

When Hannah was gone, Kevin suddenly felt boring. This woman was so tough and interesting. But why did she leave? Shouldn’t she battle with him?

“Eh! Where are you going? Don’t you want your shoes back?” Kevin chased after Hannah.

Hannah turned around with a smile.

“Of course I have to leave. I was bite by a dog. Should I bite back?”

Chapter 24Her painful hand

Amy went back to the office in a hurry. She asked the pretty lady in a whisper when she just stepped in, "Excuse me, could you please tell me the name of our boss?" That pretty lady thought Amy was so weird. How came she didn't even know the boss's name? Amy awkwardly scratched her head. She paid attention to nothing but the salary on the job post. "Richard Carter, the boss's name is often seen on newspapers and magazines. How come you don't know?"

Amy was stunned. "So... the weirdo just now is the boss? Oh my god, I am dead, I am totally dead." She felt hard to breathe and stumbled back to her seat. She staring blankly at the files in front of her, "What am I going to do now that I have offended the president?" She needed this job indeed. "Amy Miller, why are you here? Boss is calling you to send him the files he told you before. " Jack said to Amy when seeing her in the office. Amy sat there with no response. Jack thought she didn't hear him, so he walked over to her and said, "Amy, boss is calling you."

"Well, I'm having a stomachache now, please, who can do me this favor? " Amy said, she just wanted to be saved.

"It's ok. No hurry. You can go after you handle it in the bathroom. Boss requests only you to do this job. " Jack was sweet to say this. Amy knew that the weirdo would take revenge against her. However, she remembered her dad told her to obey with less strength.

For the sake of this job, Amy decided to listen to him. Taking a deep breath, Amy faked a smile and went to the 30th floor.

She lightly knocked the door, but got no response. If there was no one inside, she could just put down the stuff and left. Then she pushed the door open. However, there seated the boss, looking at her.

Amy closed the door and went over to the boss with a smile.

“Mr. Carter, here are the documents you ask for. if there’s nothing for me to do, I will go and deal with my own stuff.” Amy said and placed the documents on the desk. But this time, Amy didn’t go out at once. Instead, she stood aside, waiting for the boss’s command.

When Richard took a look at the documents, Amy stepped closer in haste, “Mr. Carter, do you need some water?” Amy said and served him a glass of hot water. However, she was so nervous that she accidentally poured the water out right in her hand, swollen and red.

“I am so sorry, Mr. Carter.” Amy felt extremely ashamed.

Regardless of the pain, she pulled some tissue to wipe the water stains on the floor.

“Alright, alright, you don’t need to deal with it here, just go, you silly girl.” Mr. Carter saw her blistered hand. He pretended to be calm and tried not to show his care, and told her to leave as if there was nothing big deal.

Why Chrissy Metz Is So Much More Than A Number On A Scale

“Ok, I will leave now.” Amy felt like crying because of the pain and boss’s ignorance.

“Don’t forget to apply some medicine.” Mr. Carter finally said some nice words when Amy reached the door.

But Amy was so shamed that she wasn’t listening. With tears filled her eyes, Amy left somewhere quiet and dried her tears. She tried to put on a smile, hided her hand behind her back and went back to her seat.

“Amy, how do you feel? Did the boss give a hard time?” As Amy returned, everyone seemed to care about her.

“He’s nice.” Amy replied with a smile and sat down.

Everyone tipped each other a wink, thinking that Amy must have been criticized.

Everyone was shifting their attention from her to their own work. Her hands ached, more blistered.

Still, she had so much work to do. Her hands hurt so badly that she could only tap on the keyboard very slowly.

‘How silly! Why doesn’t she ask for leave and go to the doctor? Can’t she care about her hand?’

Richard thought with inexplicable anger.

Through the monitor he saw Amy crying somewhere with no one else.

Suddenly he felt a bit sorry and sad. When he saw those big blisters on her hand and her painful look, he could no longer stand it.

“Amy, someone is waiting for you downstairs, saying that your family asked you to go back.” Jack said.

Amy hid her painful hand before the chubby Alisa walked over to her.

Listening to what Alisa said,

Amy thought at once that it might be her father’s issue, so she ran downstairs, panting. Then she saw Robin waiting for her.

“Robin, is there something wrong about my father?” Amy asked nervously, grabbing Robin’s sleeves.

“No, no, it is just something you need to go home to deal with.” Robin saw the blisters on her hand,

So Amy got on the car, hiding her hand so Robin wouldn’t worry about it.

Having lived with Robin for days, she knew that he was a kind-hearted man, always ready to help her, so she didn’t want to worry him.

Arriving home, Robin took Amy to the garden. “The thing is, you see,

Madam, this is Master’s favorite flower. It is about to bloom, and Master cannot see light during the daytime. So please take some photos when it blooms, so that I can show them to him. ” Robin said as he pointed at the flower, which indeed had several buds.

“Well, but I have to go to work at daytime. I got no time to wait here for blooming. ” Hearing that her husband couldn’t see light but loved flowers, she felt a bit sorry.

“Don’t worry, I have requested a few days off for you. When you finish taking photos, you can go back to work. ” Robin said while giving her a camera.

“Days off just for a flower? Doesn’t it cost too much? ” Amy thought. But she said nothing. It would be a good thing if she could rest for some days. After all, she still felt in pain in her hand. It was just the matter of less salary this month. “It has just been a few days since I joined the company. Now I asked for leave. Talking about that fucking perverted president, oh my god, what will he do to me? Never mind. No big deal. At worst, I change a job then. Money is always there waiting for me. ” Amy thought.

Amy asked Robin for a book, and sat beside the flower, waiting. She didn’t know specifically what kind the flower was, but just looked at the pink buds on the verdant leaves. It is really interesting to observe a bud growing up and then blooming. She had never done this over her last 20more years.

“Madam, this is the medicine for you. I saw your hand at lunchtime. What happened? ” Robin said.

“I am fine. Thank you very much, Robin. ” Amy took the medicine and found it all in French. It mustn’t be bought from a common pharmacy.

Waiting in boredom, Amy fell asleep in the sofa. If it were not Hannah ’ call, she would have slept till late night.

“Amy, I met an asshole at the company. This fucking dickhead just pissed me off! I came to find you but they said you have already in a leave. What happened? Are you all right?” Hannah said, leaving Amy no time to answer.

“I...I don't know where to start. I won't be at work these days. I got some issues.” Amy didn't even know what to say to Hannah.

“Are you hiding something from me? Tell me so that I can help solve it.” Hannah actually felt that there was something wrong about Amy.

“I will tell you everything later at the right timing, not now.” Amy replied. She wanted to tell Hannah all, but she just felt she had no freedom like being caged.

“Ok, anytime, ok? Let's go to that lobster restaurant. I miss it so much!” Hannah tried to make her happier.

After hanging up, they both sighed.

Amy went to bed early after finishing dinner. She was not in a good mood, having no energy to do anything. Late night, with the cricket's song and the cool breeze, she was sleeping soundly.

Seeing her hand on her forehead, Richard took her hand down gently. The blisters had been broken, turning red with fluid.

Taking a small box out of his pocket, he put her hand on her leg, applied the salve carefully on her hand. The cold salve made Amy so comfortable that she made a sound, and then moved her leg onto Richard's.

“What a naughty girl.” Richard thought as he put her leg back onto the bed. However, feeling the heat on her leg, he couldn't help checking the temperature of her forehead. ‘No wonder she sleeps so soundly. She got a fever.’

Richard asked Robin to call the doctor.

“Cure her right away.” Richard said so anxiously that he didn't realize.

The doctor immediately got Amy injected, and was about to wipe Amy's body with some alcohol. "Let me do this. You go out." Richard stopped him. They took a look at Richard and then went out quietly.

Amy was in a severe fever. When Richard was wiping her body, she grabbed his hand and shouted "Dad".

When Amy woke up again, she felt soothed and refreshed. That was a good sleep last night. She felt less pain in her hand, which was dry and clean, nothing like the sticky look yesterday.

She got dressed, and pulled up the curtain. Sunshine was everywhere in her room.

In an instant, her stomach growled. She was hungry now.

"Morning, Robin." Amy greeted.

"Uh ...Good morning, Madam." Robin thought for a second and said. But it was 4 in the afternoon.

Early?

"I am so hungry. Anything to eat? Amy rubbed her belly.

"Sure, Madam. Please sit down and I will get you the food." Soon, Robin brought her the congee, and some vegetables. Amy had no appetite to eat them.

"I want some meat, Robin." She was not going to eat.

"No, you've been sick all night, the doctor said you could only eat plain food," Robin said.

Amy looked at Robin with a sad face. "Do I have a fever? Why don't I know anything? Who took care of me last night?" Amy thought to herself.

"You can only eat them." Robin showed no room for negotiation at all.

She unwillingly ate up the porridge, and found that it was late in the afternoon. "Shit, I have to wait until the flower blooms." She felt she must be dead again.

She rushed upstairs to grab her camera and then to the garden, happy to see that the bud was not yet bloomed.

"Madam, you don't need to be waiting here today. You can't be sick again, otherwise...?" Robin saw her dashing to garden and urged her to go back in the house. She could not fall ill again, otherwise

Master would be so mad at him.

Amy thought her husband was in good health even though he couldn't see light.

"Hmm, it's ok, it might take days to bloom. Health comes first, Madam."

Robin coughed. He didn't expect that Amy was unable to distinguish the difference between real flowers and fake ones.

"Robin, can I take a walk myself? You don't need to follow." Amy knew she took the money from Mr.

Carter's so she asked cautiously.

"Yes, you can. You can go anywhere you want. We pick you up because Master wants to protect you."

Robin thought his behavior might have made her misunderstand. She's the Master's wife, not a prisoner. They just wanted to guarantee her safety.

Hearing this, Amy somehow felt warm. She always thought Richard was ugly, fearing that she would keep away from him, so he assigned Robin to follow her closely.

So, he was actually worried about her. What a thoughtful man.

"Really, that would be so nice. I want to hang out by myself tonight. I will go back by taxi by 10:00pm." She was so excited right now.

"Ok, then we won't prepare for your dinner. Oh, please take this, Madam." Robin said with a black card in his hand.

"What is it?" Amy saw that it was a vip bankcard.

"That is the pocket money Master gave you, Madam. 100grand for a month. It's not that much.

Better not be upset now. As long as Master is happy, he will give you more."

"What? 100grand?" Amy was shocked.

"Master says if you don't take it, you are not allowed to go out." Robin added in a hurry as he saw the bank card almost fall down.

Amy was blank, only to put the card in her purse. She intended to meet Hannah and tell her everything “Puff!” At Amy’s words, Hannah was so shocked that she spurted out the beer from her mouth. Amy dodged quickly and didn’t get wet.

“So, you married? Really? You married a guy you didn’t even know? I thought you were just kidding that day! And, and you are living in his house? Where is his house? I’m going to meet him. No matter what he looks like, ugly or handsome, young or old, you have the right to know it!” Hannah didn’t understand how came Amy could do this. When they were in university, Amy was the prettiest girl of their faculty, but she was a bit conservative. Now, it seemed that she changed a lot.

“I don’t care what he looks like. The marriage only lasts for 2 years. He promises me that he will let me go after 2 years. I don’t know why he married me now and divorce me after two years. But I only know is that he will compensate me 10million dollars for the divorce.” Amy said calmly, taking a sip of beer.

Paying the hospital bill for her father was her top priority now. So she cared her father more than herself. As for herself, she slept with an unknown guy with an unclear mind on the wedding night. And her husband was kind of nice to her, offering her a villa and so much pocket money.

“What about your father? What if he finds out that you married an unknown guy after divorcing Matt? What will he think of it?”

Amy didn’t reply. She was eating some roast meat, recalling the moment her father was sent into the emergency room. Robin told her that they were waiting in list for a compatible heart. If her father could undergo a successful transplant, he would recover soon. So even though he knew the truth then, it wouldn't do harm to his health.

"My husband is finding a right heart for my dad. He will recover after the surgery. "

"Hey, Amy, Hannah. " A tall man was walking over to them when they were talking.

"Andy?"

"Andy? " Amy and Hannah saw him standing in front of them with a smile.

"May I sit here? " Andy said in a mild tone.

"Of course! Great! Our bill is on you now! " Hannah put her arm on Andy's shoulder casually. It seemed that the two were well acquainted with each other.

"Ok. It's on me. Help yourselves. " Andy was ready to pay the bill for them.

They enjoyed the meal and the talk for a long time.

"Jack, stop right here. " Richard asked his driver to stop as he saw a girl like his wife. So he wanted to confirm if that girl was his wife.

It was really her. She was sitting beside a man who appeared in the hospital before. She smiled happily, but never smiled to him like this. She got a fever last night but now she was drinking beer and eating barbecue. She didn't care about her health at all.

He didn't remember his wife had no idea about who her husband was.

He just felt angry and got off the car, approaching towards Amy with anger and sat down beside her.

The three were talking about childhood that moment. Suddenly Richard sat down beside Amy. The three stopped at once, looking at Richard, confused.

"Hello, Mr. Carter. " Hannah greeted him first.

"Uh-huh. " Richard replied coldly.

Then Andy greeted politely. But Amy was just staring at him, speechless.

Actually Amy was scared by his sudden presence. She asked for sick leave for some days but now she was enjoying her time with her friends here. She was a liar.

Richard didn't hear a word from Amy, so he grabbed her glass and said to them.

"Cheers." Then he drank a glass of beer in one gulp.

Hannah drank beer with fear. But Andy didn't join them; instead, he gave Richard a wry look.

"Mr. Carter, well, I was truly sick today. Hope you understand. I just went out for a break. I didn't tell a lie to you." Amy said genuinely after pausing for a while. She guessed the situation would be better if she told him the fact first.

"Well, did your hand get better?" Richard looked better after Amy talked to him. But he still looked unhappy.

"Yes, much better. Thank you. Well, Mr. Carter, I think you need a glass?" Amy was less nervous when she noticed his face.

"No, thanks. Just help yourselves. It's dangerous for a girl to get home too late at night. So, go home as early as you can." He just stayed for a short time and then left immediately.

All of them were shocked because of his words. He was one of the richest businessmen in R City. Why did he care about an employee that way?

"Amy, don't you think it's strange? Did he fall in love with you?" Hannah asked after thinking of many possibilities. This seemed to be the most possible one. If he didn't fall in love with her, he wouldn't appear here and drink beer with them. Most importantly, he wouldn't care about Amy's hand!

"Knock it off. He is the president of HD Group. How can he fall in love with me? It's impossible. Even if Miller Group didn't go bankrupt, he won't either. We are not in the same world." Amy said to Hannah, trying to stop her fantasy.

Hannah agreed with her. Numerous females wooed Richard. Though Amy was pretty, she might not get the chance.

Andy was listening to their conversation without interrupting. When he heard that Miller Group was bankrupt, he was surprised.

“Really? Miller Group was bankrupt? I heard Mr. Miller ran it very well, didn’t he?” Andy asked with puzzlement.

In an instant, Richard suddenly came back. He pulled Amy over as he said, “Well, Amy. I’ll drive you home. So where do you live?”

“No, no, thanks. I can go home by taxi. I live far away from here. Better not bother to do this for me. ”

Come on! It’s not easy for her to get the chance to meet Hannah. Did he do that for her just because she got a sore hand?”

“It won’t bother me. It’s on my way home. ” Richard just dragged her over and left. Amy was struggling but failed.

What happened just now? Hannah and Andy looked at them, confused. Did Amy ever offend him? Or why did Richard make things so difficult for Amy?

Amy was held by Richard to the car. She was desired to get rid of it but she could not do anything at that moment.

“Mr. Carter, I really don’t need you to drive me home. I can take a taxi. And I didn’t say goodbye to my friends. ” Amy’s patience nearly ran out.

“It’s reported that taxi accidents are increasingly happening. I worry about that. Where do you live? I can drive you home. And you can have two days off. ” Richard realized he was a bit too impulsive to control himself just now.

Also, Andy annoyed him. Andy was good-looking with beautiful eyes. He found that Andy looked at

Amy with soulful eyes. As a man, he understood what it meant e t am soe s rc a va tsu e —

For her, it was a good life. Though her husband wouldn't be with her all the time, he never betrayed her. That was enough.

"Madam, we have found a compatible heart for Mr. Miller. But no doctor in our country can do the operation. So Mr. Carter decided to send Mr. Miller abroad for the surgery. They have more advanced machines, which enable a successful transplant. What do you think, Madam?" Robin told her the good news at the table.

"You have found the heart? That's great! Then go abroad! When will you set off? I want to spend more time with my father." Amy was excited about the good news.

"Yes, of course. Mr. Carter says we should go as soon as possible. So we arrange the flight the day after tomorrow. Madam, you can visit Mr. Miller tomorrow." Robin said calmly.

Though Robin kept saying “Mr. Carter”, Amy didn’t mind and felt sweet at his name.

“Alright. I will spend time with my dad tomorrow. I need to ask Alisa for leave.” She never counted how many days she was off. She knew it was not good, but she had to do so.

“What? Amy, you will be off tomorrow again?” Alisa felt awkward, because Amy had only worked for 2 weeks but she had taken 5 days off till now! It was hard for her to accept this. She passed Amy to the HR colleagues, saying that she had no voice in that case.

Amy had to turn to the HR staff, but they couldn’t make the decision either. They asked Amy to reach out to the president directly.

Amy didn’t want to contact Richard, so she decided not to ask for leave. She would spend time with her father after work.

“Madam, did you ask for leave? I will ask the driver to send you there,” Robin asked Amy.

“No, my supervisor passed me to the HR and they told me to contact the boss. Come on! I just want to ask for leave. I don’t want to bother my boss. So I decided to visit my father after work. My father will go abroad the day after tomorrow anyway.” Amy told Robin what she experienced today.

“Why not call him? He may agree. Don’t you want to spend more time with Mr. Miller?” Robin tried to persuade her.

“No way! He is a freak! I don’t want to call him! Robin, you don’t even know he is just a jerk! Today I was bullied by my ex-husband. He didn’t help me but humiliated me! Robin, you see? Is there such a person like him in the world?” Thinking of Richard’s words today, Amy was so angry.

Robin agreed with Amy that she described him as a freak. Amy was so brave to say something he didn’t dare to say.

“Alright, Madam. You are leaving tomorrow afternoon. I will pick you up after you finish working and drive you to the hospital. Then you don't have to spend so much time on the way there." Robin couldn't do anything but do as Amy said.

"Okay." They got that in common.

"Why doesn't Amy call me till now?" Richard kept waiting for Amy's call. He couldn't wait anymore.

He did tell the HR that only he could approve Amy's request for leave.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Carter. I don't know why. I've told her that she must ask you if she wants to ask for leave." The HR answered nervously.

He recalled. He was sure that he had made it clear. But why didn't Amy call him? He had no idea.

Contract Marriage With Mysterious President

Chapter 30Don't love me

"Richard, your wife is pretty and easy-going. I like her." Hilary said to Richard at the table.

"Really? I want to meet her then. I want to know what my daughter-in-law looks like. But if Hilary agrees that the girl is pretty, then she must be." Cathy was interested in Richard's wife after hearing

Hilary's comment.

But Richard kept eating, speechless.

Cathy and Hilary didn't care. They started talking about how to encounter Amy.

"Don't go too far. She didn't know I am her husband." He reminded them, as they were so excited about their plan.

"Richard, why didn't you tell her the truth? What do you mean that?"

Cathy was unsatisfied with what he did. She didn't like Allison at all. But Richard just treated her as treasure.

"It's interesting, Mom. Just leave me alone. Don't you want me to marry?"

Now I'm married. Mind your

the most affectionate one, too. Allison left five years ago. But he never forgot her. If John didn't force, Richard must be single now.

"Cathy, now that he has been married, we shouldn't worry about it. But it doesn't make sense that you give your wife nothing. It's not the right way we handle things." "I didn't give her a wedding. I didn't let her meet you. But I gave her money, which she needed most. "

Richard didn't want to continue the conversation.

"So you can't tell her that I am her husband. Her husband is Mr. Carter. " Richard stopped saying any words. If the talk went on, they must mention Allison. They disliked her so much, but he didn't want them to hurt her.

After saying that, Richard stood up and left the table. He was unhappy. No one wanted to continue the talk. They knew that Allison was his soft spot.

Richard was sitting in his car. He checked his phone and confirmed that Amy didn't call him. So he called Robin.

Amy was so excited but nervous about the news that her father will accept an surgery abroad. She heard that the operation was at risk. She was afraid that her father would die from the operation.

"Amy, it's Andy. " At that moment, Amy received a call from Andy.

"Andy? Why do you call me? " She was surprised to receive his phone call. They didn't meet each other after their meal last time.

"I got your number from Hannah. You can keep my number. Your father will transfer to another hospital and get a surgery abroad. I heard that they found the right heart for your father, " Andy said.

"Yes, they found it. So my father need to undergo the surgery at soon as possible. " Amy answered.

"Well, yes. Will you come to the hospital tomorrow? We can meet and talk in detail. It's hard to make it clear on the phone. " Andy asked.

“Alright. I will come after work tomorrow. Then let’s talk about it.” Amy agreed. Actually, she trusted Andy and was willing to follow what he said. Andy was so nice to her, better than to Hannah. If he didn’t move abroad, they would have got married. Their parents always said jokingly that they should be a couple. But she met a bad guy after Andy left.

Amy was lying on her bed, recalling how she met Matt and fell in love with each other.

She used to be the prettiest girl at school. So many guys wooed her. But Amy was very proud and most importantly, she didn’t forget Andy.

Amy didn’t know how Matt saw her. She just remembered that a boy said hello to her every morning.

He didn’t say anything else.

The boy would send her home after school. He didn’t ask her to talk with him. He just followed her quietly.

She became Matt’s girlfriend by chance. That day she walked to the house that her parents rent for her near school. It took her nearly 20minutes to walk back home. One day, several rascals appeared and molested her on her way home.

At that moment, Matt rushed out and beat them. Though he got hit black and blue, he helped catch the rascals.

After leaving the hospital, he confessed his love to her. Amy thought he was a good guy, at least he did protect her, so she accepted.

They had been together for 3 years. He showed her great respect and didn’t do anything outrageous.

They were lovers but not very close. But Amy considered it acceptable because of lack of experience in love.

However, she never expected such a result.

Amy thought she was so stupid at that time. Gina always followed them when they hung out. But she never found anything!

Forget it! Stop thinking about it! Now she led a better life. She had a husband who cared about her.

Though the marriage just lasted for 2 years, she was happy with this. Suddenly she felt someone pressing on her. That was her husband. She felt so grateful that he saved her father.

She touched his face and felt his rough skin.

“Hey, I don’t know what you look like. But I really appreciate that you save my father and me.” She said to Richard.

“It’s alright. You spend your time with me for two years. So you deserve it.” Richard said calmly.

He was obsessed with the hot Amy. He knew it wasn’t good. Would he adapt to the new life without her after divorce one day? Could he get used to it?

As she heard his words, Amy’s heart ached. He cared about her just because she spent her time and had sex with him. He didn’t really love her.

“Don’t fall in love with me. The contract just lasts for 2 years. We will divorce then. If you fall in love with me, you will get hurt. Remember, we take what we need.” Richard said coldly.

Chapter 31A pleasant talk

Richard had already started the foreplay. Disillusioned, Amy was totally upset with an icy heart. It turned out that even such an ugly person despised her.

“What are you thinking about, Amy?” Richard found that Amy was not in the mood.

Amy didn’t respond, while Richard was gently caressing her body. He had already known how to turn her on. With his lips close to her ear, he was licking her earlobe softly.

With Richard kept going all out, Amy finally got aroused. They were quite enjoying it.

Richard slowly wiped her sweat off with a towel. He stood up and was about to leave, but suddenly she grabbed his hand.

“Honey, if I marry other people in the future, will you be sad?” Amy wanted to see if he was really that cold.

Taking a warm bath was supposed to be comfortable, but Amy felt very painful.

It turned out that the man who slept with her every day had no feelings for her. To Amy, all the love bites on her body now were so humiliating. But she found that she had already got used to his care.

This was not a good sign depending on somebody who didn't love her.

Amy let the water sprinkle on her face, trying to wash herself out. But no matter how hard she tried, she couldn't wash off the disgrace after having sex with a heartless man.

Since he had an aversion to her, why didn't he remind her not to get pregnant? Lately she had been so tied up that she almost forgot about contraception.

Amy counted the days and found she would get her period in a few days. She was hoping there was no surprise. If she had a baby, she would screw things up.

Amy divorced Matt and remarried Richard within only one month, but to Amy, it was like a century.

In the hospital.

“How's my father, Andy?” Amy asked as Andy had been waiting in the ward.

“Uncle Miller is good. Don't worry too much. He is very optimistic, and it's good for his recovery.

What's more, he asked me about the hospital bill yesterday. I told him it was donated by a volunteer.

We should align with this. Don't make him suspicious.” Andy pulled Amy aside.

“Okay. Thank you, Andy. ” Amy once told Andy not to tell her dad the truth about the money, but she didn't expect that he would keep her words in mind all the time.

“Well, I just want to let you know about this. Let’s go and meet Uncle Miller. ” Andy went to meet Stephen with Amy.

“Dad, you are leaving tomorrow. I’m so worried. How do you feel now? ” Amy went in and sat next to Stephen.

“I feel good, very good, thanks to that kind-hearted person. Amy, once you know who he is, you should pay it back. ” Actually, Stephen felt very strange, but he didn’t ask them about it.

Stephen didn’t believe there could be such a kind-hearted person paying so much money for his surgery and even getting the proper heart for him. He believed it was Andy who did it.

“I know, Dad. Don’t worry. You know I’m grateful. When I know who the person is, I will pay him back. ” Amy was harboring bitterness, but she pretended to be fine in front of her dad.

Amy brought her father his favorite cake, and they talked all day. Indeed, she could not bear to let her father go, but for his own good, he had to go.

And during their family time, Andy was accompanying them in the ward.

“Where is Matt? Doesn’t he know I’m leaving tomorrow? ” It was late in the evening, and Stephen found out that he hadn't seen Matt today.

“Well, Dad, Matt has been on a business trip and will be back in a few days. ” Amy said with wandering eyes.

“Oh, I see. Amy, you should go back early then. It’s not so safe for a girl to be on the way alone at midnight. ” Stephen felt so tired talking all day since he was still a cardiac patient. He wanted to get some rest.

“Uncle Miller, I can send Amy home.” Andy said to Stephen.

“Well, then, thank you, Andy. You haven’t changed a bit, still so considerate.” Stephen was so tired that he closed his eyes and fell asleep immediately.

“Amy, let’s go and bring you home.” Andy led Amy out of the ward.

If Richard was strong like a king, Andy would be a gentleman.

Andy had always been warm-hearted and gentle with a handsome face.

Amy remembered that when she was a child, she wooed Andy and kept asking him if he wanted to marry her.

After ten years, it had become impossible. She was a remarried woman.

If she got divorced again, she would feel so lost.

“Well, we’re just like a family, so don’t mention it.” Andy was still fond of Amy’s long soft hair as much as before.

After a pleasant talk, they walked down to Andy’s car. He opened the door for Amy and carefully tied the safety belt for her after she got in.

“Amy, I haven’t had dinner today. Would you like to dine out with me?”

Andy’s stomach was growling.

“What? Let’s go find a restaurant then. It’s so late. You must be starving.” Hearing that, Amy was very worried. Like what most doctors did while working, he was always too busy to eat.

“Well, I’ll take you to a restaurant I know. The food there is very delicious.” Seeing that Amy was still so concerned about him, Andy felt sweet in heart.

It was a plain, average-size restaurant, and it looked quiet from outside.

Andy parked the car and got into the restaurant with Amy. It turned out that there were so many people in here. If Andy hadn’t booked a table, they would have to dine elsewhere now.

The waiter led them to a VIP room and they got in.

Chapter 28 Whose baby?

In an instant, Amy was caught by a man and trapped in the president exclusive elevator. She didn't realize what had happened. Just then, she managed to wriggle free and slapped that man before she noticed his face.

"Mr. Car...Carter?" Amy said as she found out the man was Richard.

There was a very clear mark of her handprint on his white, stern face.

Richard turned his head up with pride. He didn't want to talk to the stubborn Amy right now.

Amy stood still in front of him with embarrassment. She didn't know what she should do. What she was thinking now was the slap she gave to Richard. She slapped the president of HD Group! What should she do now?

"Mr. Carter, I'm so...sor...sorry,." Amy stammered as she didn't know how to explain to him. She thought it was a pervert.

"Humph." Richard snorted.

Amy looked at his perfect chin and hot Adam's apple, so hot that she couldn't help drooling.

He was really handsome! But he was utterly unpredictable.

The elevator sent them to the 20th floor. Amy got out of it first. She was so nervous that she almost couldn't breathe.

She stood at the door of the elevator, taking a deep breath. When she arrived at the office floor, her colleagues were stunned out of the blue, looking at Amy and Richard, speechless. Then they slipped into the office immediately.

Amy followed them back to her seat. She started recalling the breathtaking morning. If these happened every day, she might not be able to stay for long.

Afterwards, she was busy working the entire morning. She got a lot of things to deal with, like taking office supplies for those in need, and making documents that others were unwilling to do with.

But she found it good to be busy, for she didn't have time to think too much.

"Amy, I bought you a cup of coffee. Just take it." Hannah said, standing quietly in a pathway Amy always went through.

"No, thanks! I gotta submit the documents immediately." Amy showed the documents in her hands.

But Hannah didn't care about what Amy said, grapping the documents from Amy and placed them on the desk. Then she handed the coffee to Amy.

"I am just coming to you in your office, but they looked so weird. What happened?" Hannah surmised Amy was not welcome by her colleagues.

"Well, this morning, Gina came here. And she pulled me, and I ..." Amy told Hannah what had happened this morning.

"That bitch! What did she want from you? She miscarried? You pushed her?" Hannah said with secret delight.

"No, I didn't push her. She fell down somewhat by herself. Then Matt appeared. And she was bleeding. I thought she might be abortive." said Amy as she was drinking the coffee. Suddenly she recalled the terrifying blood.

In fact, Gina cared about the baby a lot. Why did she fall down? Amy didn't push her and Gina didn't twist her ankle. How came?

Thinking of this, Amy found something tricky.

"Hannah, that's strange. I'm sure Gina fell down herself. Did she always want a baby? Why did she do that?"

"I have no idea. I think she might feel sorry for what she'd done to you? That's impossible. She's so shameless. Amy, is it possible that the baby she carried was not Matt's?" Hannah said.

Hearing this, they looked at each other with shock.

“You mean the baby didn’t belong to Matt? But how can we let him know about it? And how can we prove it?” Amy seemingly found a way to vent her hatred for Matt when she found that Matt might not be the baby’s father.

“Well, I don’t know. Andy was the only one that I know working in hospital. But I don’t think he will help us. Forget it. And you didn’t have a friend working in hospital, either. So, let it go.” Hannah sighed.

Richard wasn’t used to ensconcing himself to eavesdrop. But today he broke his rule. He eavesdropped their conversation without missing a single word. And after hearing their analysis, he thought the two ladies were quite sensitive.

Richard went back to his office, and called his assistant to deal with the issue in the way Amy and Hannah just talked about.

But Amy and Hannah would never imagine that someone just help them as they wished. They were just felt annoyed that they couldn’t do anything because they didn’t know anyone working in hospital.

They just lost a chance to give Gina a blow!

Amy told Robin not to pick her up after work. So she left the office on time and walked to the bus station.

On her way, she saw Matt standing beside his car on the road with an angry face.

At this moment, she wanted to turn around. But Matt rushed to her in a few seconds and pulled her over.

“What do you want to do?” Amy said, staring at him with an angry look.

“What do I want to do? I want to ask you the same question. We divorced already! You are so malicious that you aborted Gina! You killed our baby! And now you treat it for granted?” Matt said furiously as he heaved Amy.

“You lost your baby, you should stay in the hospital and take good care of Gina. Why do you ask me?”

Can I give you a baby as compensation? ” Amy tried to get rid of him. But no one helped her.

“Give me a baby as compensation? Very good idea! I didn’t have sex with you though we had engaged for 3 years. Now you want to give me a baby, so I will help you make it happen. ” Then he got even closer to her to kiss her.

Amy never thought that Matt was that shameless. She turned her head aside to refuse his kiss.

But Matt was so masculine. Amy couldn’t push him away and he nearly kissed her. Then Amy kicked him hard in the crotch.

But Matt seemed to have prepared for this, dragging her ankle with one hand.

“I like this post. ” Matt said in a lascivious tone. He pressed her hands on the car, and jumped her immediately.

Watching his lips approaching, Amy cried. If he dared to kiss her, she must bite him hard “Oh, Mr. Wilson. You are overhasty. Here is my place. And you did this to my staff? It sounds not good, isn’t it? Oh, there is a fairly good hotel nearby. Why not do it right there? ” Richard said to Matt in a calm tone.

Matt let go of Amy after hearing Richard’s words. Amy stood away from Matt immediately. Richard looked at them with disdain. She wanted to cry with grievance.

“Mr. Carter. It’s not what you think! ” Amy wanted to explain.

“I don’t care. Seemingly you lead a complicated life, for you hang out with different men all the time. ”

Richard said to her with irony.

Amy didn’t say anything. She didn’t want to argue with him. What’s more, why did she have to explain to him? He was just her boss.

So Amy turned around and walked to the bus station. She didn't want to listen to their blabbering.

"Mr. Carter. Is it possible that we keep on our cooperation? I wonder why you cancel our cooperation?" Matt said as if to flatter Richard.

Matt didn't care about Amy at all at that moment because the case was more important than her. He was in charge of the case. If HD Group decided not to cooperate with him anymore, he would be disgraced.

"Because ..." Richard pretended to think carefully.

Matt was waiting for his answer. He wondered why. If Richard was not satisfied with his work, he could try to make it perfect.

"Because I do what I wish." With the words, Richard left and got into the car.

"Hey, Mr. Carter! Mr. Carter! We can talk about it! Just talk more about it!" Matt ran after Richard's car. However, the car ran so fast that he couldn't catch up with it and nearly fell to the ground.

"Boom!" Matt gave a heavy punch on his car. He thought he had been unlucky these days. Everything went wrong after divorcing Amy.

Thinking of Gina, he immediately drove to the hospital after buying some food.

Amy rushed to the bus station. Luckily she didn't miss the bus. Then she got on immediately.

She thought there's something wrong with her these days. She offended the boss of HD Group right after entering the company. What's worse, she gave him a slap! She looked at her hands, murmuring. Why did you react so fast? How can you slap him when you didn't see his face clearly?

No wonder why he said to her in an ironic tone. And he even recommended a hotel to them. What a fucking good idea! Thinking of that, Amy stopped feeling regretful about the slap. It served him right!

Just then, Amy arrived home. She got off the bus and found Robin waiting for her at the station.

“Robin. ” Amy felt warm. It was so nice that someone was waiting for her at the station, so nice like her father.

“You’ve had a long day, Madam. Mr. Carter asked me to pick you up. He said the station is far away from home. So it was dangerous for you to go home alone. ” Robin said. Amy didn’t know what to say. Though her husband led a life in darkness. But he concerned her a lot. So she didn’t care about what he looked like, as long as he treated her well.

When she got home, the dinner was ready. What she needed to do was to wash her hands.

For her, it was a good life. Though her husband wouldn’t be with her all the time, he never betrayed her. That was enough.

“Madam, we have found a compatible heart for Mr. Miller. But no doctor in our country can do the operation. So Mr. Carter decided to send Mr. Miller abroad for the surgery. They have more advanced machines, which enable a successful transplant. What do you think, Madam? ” Robin told her the good news at the table.

“You have found the heart? That’s great! Then go abroad! When will you set off? I want to spend more time with my father. ” Amy was excited about the good news.

“Yes, of course. Mr. Carter says we should go as soon as possible. So we arrange the flight the day after tomorrow. Madam, you can visit Mr. Miller tomorrow. ” Robin said calmly.

Though Robin kept saying “Mr. Carter”, Amy didn’t mind and felt sweet at his name.

“Alright. I will spend time with my dad tomorrow. I need to ask Alisa for leave. ” She never counted how many days she was off. She knew it was not good, but she had to do so.

“What? Amy, you will be off tomorrow again?” Alisa felt awkward, because Amy had only worked for 2 weeks but she had taken 5 days off till now! It was hard for her to accept this. She passed Amy to the HR colleagues, saying that she had no voice in that case.

Amy had to turn to the HR staff, but they couldn't make the decision either. They asked Amy to reach out to the president directly. Amy didn't want to contact Richard, so she decided not to ask for leave. She would spend time with her father after work.

“Madam, did you ask for leave? I will ask the driver to send you there,” Robin asked Amy.

“No, my supervisor passed me to the HR and they told me to contact the boss. Come on! I just want to ask for leave. I don't want to bother my boss. So I decided to visit my father after work. My father will go abroad the day after tomorrow anyway.” Amy told Robin what she experienced today.

“Why not call him? He may agree. Don't you want to spend more time with Mr. Miller?” Robin tried to persuade her.

“No way! He is a freak! I don't want to call him! Robin, you don't even know he is just a jerk! Today I was bullied by my ex-husband. He didn't help me but humiliated me! Robin, you see? Is there such a person like him in the world?” Thinking of Richard's words today, Amy was so angry.

Robin agreed with Amy that she described him as a freak. Amy was so brave to say something he didn't dare to say.

“Alright, Madam. You are leaving tomorrow afternoon. I will pick you up after you finish working and drive you to the hospital. Then you don't have to spend so much time on the way there.” Robin couldn't do anything but do as Amy said.

“Okay.” They got that in common.

“Why doesn’t Amy call me till now?” Richard kept waiting for Amy’s call. He couldn’t wait anymore.

He did tell the HR that only he could approve Amy’s request for leave.

“I’m sorry, Mr. Carter. I don’t know why. I’ve told her that she must ask you if she wants to ask for leave.” The HR answered nervously.

He recalled. He was sure that he had made it clear. But why didn’t Amy call him? He had no idea

Chapter 30Don’t love me

“Richard, your wife is pretty and easy-going. I like her.” Hilary said to Richard at the table.

“Really? I want to meet her then. I want to know what my daughter-in-law looks like. But if Hilary agrees that the girl is pretty, then she must be.” Cathy was interested in Richard’s wife after hearing

Hilary’s comment.

But Richard kept eating, speechless.

Cathy and Hilary didn’t care. They started talking about how to encounter Amy.

“Don’t go too far. She didn’t know I am her husband.” He reminded them, as they were so excited about their plan.

“Richard, why didn’t you tell her the truth? What do you mean that?”

Cathy was unsatisfied with what he did. She didn’t like Allison at all. But Richard just treated her as treasure.

Now I’m married. Mind your own business please.” Richard put down the folk.

Grandpa John was looking at him. Richard was the smartest one among his grandchildren. And he was the most affectionate one, too. Allison left five years ago. But he never forgot her. If John didn’t force, Richard must be single now.

“Cathy, now that he has been married, we shouldn’t worry about it. But it doesn’t make sense that you give your wife nothing. It’s not the right way we handle things.”

Richard didn’t want to continue the conversation.

“So you can’t tell her that I am her husband. Her husband is Mr. Carter.”

Richard stopped saying any words. If the talk went on, they must mention Allison. They disliked her so much, but he didn’t want them to hurt her.

After saying that, Richard stood up and left the table. He was unhappy.

No one wanted to continue the talk. They knew that Allison was his soft spot.

Richard was sitting in his car. He checked his phone and confirmed that Amy didn’t call him. So he called Robin.

Amy was so excited but nervous about the news that her father will accept an surgery abroad. She heard that the operation was at risk. She was afraid that her father would die from the operation.

“Amy, it’s Andy.” At that moment, Amy received a call from Andy.

“Andy? Why do you call me?” She was surprised to receive his phone call. They didn’t meet each other
