

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 391

Wait For John To Take The Initiative

Julie was in the house of the Ye family.

Julie sat on the balcony to have afternoon tea. She had just read the top search news.

The news of Nina's drowning was still eye-catching.

Julie didn't care about the comments below the hot search. She only cared when John would fulfill his promise to marry her daughter.

She called Vivian and asked her to come back early from the Ye Group to discuss something important.

Vivian studied hard while working in the Ye Group. She was polite to everyone around her and earned a good reputation. Even Henry had praised her many times in front of Adrian.

"Boss, I want to ask for a leave and go home." Vivian was now Henry's assistant. She never sought any personal privileges. She did everything before getting Henry's approval.

Henry didn't have such a high request for her, so he nodded and let her go back.

As soon as she walked out of the office, she met Adrian.

"Mr. Song, are you waiting for boss again?" It was not the first time for Vivian to see Adrian waiting for Henry to get off work. Adrian did it almost every day. She patted Vivian on the shoulder and said, "Go and inquire about what has happened. He seldom comes back. Something must have happened."

What Julie thought was true.

Noah applied to leave Lexington City to work in Spring City.

Knowing the news, Julie and Vivian were both happy and worried. They were worried because Noah was still the biggest shareholder of the Ye Group even though he went to Spring City.

However, after Noah left, they could do whatever they wanted and Noah would be unable to do anything about it.

From this point of view, Noah's leaving was a good thing for Julie and Vivian.

At present, what they worried about most was whether John would find out what they had done.

Julie and Vivian did guess that Amy and Lena were investigating secretly, but they didn't guess that some other people who were good at investigating were also working for John secretly.

Richard stayed with John. In addition to helping John deal with the company's affairs, he was also responsible for training John's fighting skills.

John also had a plan.

Chapter: 392

The Castle In The Mountain

play_arrow

stop

The sea of C Island was deep and cyan. The island, which covered an area of only one hundred and sixty thousand square kilometers, stood in the boundless sea. The waters and skies merged in one colour.

Nina was in a coma because of the rain of Spring City. She woke up many times in a daze. She only saw the figures shaking in front of her eyes and falling into a coma again.

When Nina was completely awake, she was already in the bedroom of Scher Mountain. The huge crystal light was on, and the breeze from the balcony brought the unique smell of C Island.

Nina glanced around the room. The decorations in the bedroom were the same as when she left two years ago, and there was no change.

"What happened?" Nina opened her mouth and whispered, "Why am I home?"

Nina suspected that she was dreaming, so she turned over and ran to the balcony. She looked at the direction of the land of C Island, and many distinctive buildings were reflected in her eyes.

She looked down and saw a mirage on the cyan sea. It was Scher Mountain.

At this time, Nina was in the castle of Scher Mountain, where the royal family of Scher Mountain was a little dejected.

The ring, the phone, the pendant, the watch that Nina clenched tightly in her hand... Anything related to that place was confiscated by Queen Anne.

"Rebecca, have you seen my ring?" Nina pointed at her finger where her ring should be on to Rebecca and said, "It's the wedding ring that my husband proposed to me."

Although Nina was angry that John had lied to her, the ring was a token of the two of them. She couldn't lose it anyway.

She couldn't lose anything that John had given her.

"My little princess," Rebecca's voice suddenly became serious, "You are not married yet. How can you have a proposal ring and a husband? As the princess of C Island, you should know what to say and do. "

The panic on Nina's face gradually became serious. She stopped searching and looked at Rebecca with burning eyes.

"What do you mean?" Nina's voice was as cold as the ice in winter.

Rebecca looked at the cold eyes of Nina in a neither humble nor pushy way and emphasized again, "Little princess, you are not married, nor do you have a wedding ring or husband. Please be careful about what you say and do."

Chapter: 393

Supervision

play_arrow

stop

The day when Nina quietly left C Island, she knew clearly that her mother would catch her back sooner or later. Therefore, when she woke up and found that it was not a dream to live on Scher Mountain, Nina behaved very calm.

Nina also knew that the moment her mother saw her, her mother would investigate what had happened in the past two years of her. She couldn't hide the marriage with John from her mother.

Therefore, she admitted frankly that she was married, and when it came to John, she called him "husband" as usual.

But she didn't expect that Rebecca would directly say that she was not married.

Rebecca must have been instructed by her mother to say so, which meant that her mother did not admit John's identity.

"I'm married. I not only have a wedding ring, but also a husband." Nina announced loudly, "John is my husband, my only husband in my life."

Rebecca had watched Nina grow up. She knew that Nina was as cold as Queen Anne and would never give any unnecessary explanation.

What Nina said surprised her. The little princess had changed a lot.

Rebecca felt surprised and worry at the same time. Since the little princess could say such firm words, it could be seen that the status of John in t and saw her daughter standing at the door when she woke up.

"Nina," Anne said with a joyful face. She quickened her pace and hugged her daughter, who was about the same height as her. With red eyes, Anne said, "You're finally awake. My little princess is finally awake. You've made me so worried."

Nina had little communication with her parents. When she was suddenly held in her mother's arms, she was still a little uncomfortable. Her body was slightly stiff, but she felt warm.

This was her childhood's greed, and she did not expect to realize it until now.

"Mother," Nina gradually relaxed the tensed cells all over her body. "I'm awake. Don't worry, mother."

"It's good that you are awake." Anne took her daughter into the room and sat on the sofa to ask if her daughter was feeling well.

Facing her mother's questions, Nina answered them seriously at first, but later she just responded simply.

Anne noticed that there was something wrong with Nina's expression. "Nina, do you have something on your mind?"

"Yes." Nina said frankly, "Mother, I want to take back my ring, cell phone and watch. I want to contact my husband and my friend."

Anne let go of her daughter's hand and Anne's face changed.

Chapter: 394

I Would Rather Give Up My Identity As A Princess

play_arrow

stop

The mother and daughter looked into each other's eyes, not giving in.

The room was so quiet that people could hear the sea breeze. Anne looked serious and Nina looked indifferent. They were in a stalemate for a moment.

"Nina, I've handled everything for you. Don't worry." Anne had always been strict as Nina's mother, and even a comforting word from her was stiff.

However, Nina could be persuaded by reason but not be cowed by force.

"You mean I'm dead? The way you deal with it is to fake the death certificate of me, cancel my household registration and say that I'm dead." For the first time in Nina's life, she hated her mother.

Since Nina was a child, she didn't have her mother's company, Nina had been restricted by various rules and learned different skills. At that time, she only complained in her heart, and gradually became numb.

She could let it go, but she couldn't let John go.

Everyone she met in Lexingport City brought her different emotional experience. She had her own home and friends. She became to have flesh and blood, crying, laughing, and playing cute...

"Nina, I did all this for your own good." Seeing the hatred in her daughter's eyes, Anne's heart suddenly twitched and her voice softened.

When her daughter ran away from home, sh could change his clothes.

If Anne played the role of strict mother at home, then Bruce was a kind father.

At the age of forty-seven, Bruce was handsome and strong. Except for a little fat, he had no shortcomings and didn't even have wrinkled when he smiled.

"Nina, my dear daughter, you're finally back. How have you been doing outside these two years? Are you happy?" Bruce didn't know that Nina was married outside, nor did he know how his daughter came back. He just thought that his daughter was tired of the life outside and came back by herself.

When he heard the news that Nina ran away from home, he was scolded by his wife secretly because he thought what Nina did was not wrong and liked him when he was young.

But when he saw that his daughter's expression was much better than two years ago, Bruce felt comforted.

She looked like a normal girl now.

However, this smile was like a forced smile after eating something bitter.

"Yes, I'm very happy in the past two years."

"Then why do you look unhappy?" Compared with his wife's communication with his daughter, Bruce had more communication with his daughter. The two of them had a close parent-child relationship.

Nina opened her innocent eyes and lowered her face. "I can't contact my friends."

Chapter: 395

Get Father s Support

play_arrow

stop

"Friends? My daughter has friends?" Said Bruce with a bright smile.

The smile on her father's face calmed Nina down a lot. She nodded and said, "Her name is Michelle, just like the rabbit my brother gave me when I was a child, and Noah, he is a very righteous person. James and Emma have just been engaged, and I don't know where they are playing, and..."

After a pause, Nina decided to confess to her father, "I'm married."

Bruce was speechless... Bruce was stunned for a while. He had never encountered any big waves in his life, but this was beyond his endurance.

His own daughter got married?

But he didn't know.

"Where did this pig come from? Why is he so arrogant?" With indignation, Bruce stood up and rolled up his sleeves.

"Father, calm down and pay attention to your image management." Nina quickly reached out and grabbed her father, who was about to explode. She was too familiar with this state, and her brother had said something similar.

Bruce was so angry, "Did your mother know about it? You just said that you couldn't contact your friends. Is it because your mother didn e was stunned and didn't react until his daughter leaned over.

"What did you call me?" With a trembling voice, Bruce slowly raised his hand to touch his daughter's back, which was so thin that he felt sorry for her.

It was not until Nina called father that her body was truly relaxed. She hugged her father and said, "Father, thank you. Thank you for not scolding me like my mother did when you heard the news of my marriage, and denying the marriage I chose. "

Tears welled up in Bruce's eyes.

Her daughter had grown up and knew that her father needed care.

It had been more than 20 years. It was not easy to hear his daughter call him father.

"Don't mind what your mother said. It's your freedom to choose a marriage. I will support you." Bruce's heart was completely captured by his daughter's coquetry.

With her father's support, Nina no longer felt helpless.

"Father, you won't let me marry Vicente, will you?" In fact, Nina had always known about it, but she didn't want to mention it.

Now with her father's support, she had to solve the political marriage as soon as possible.

Chapter: 396

A Quarrel Between Husband And Wife

play_arrow

stop

The next day.

There was a large-scale war on Scher Mountain.

The war was so large that all the people in the castle lowered their heads, not daring to breathe heavily. Everyone talked and did things with all their heart.

Bruce and Anne had a dispute.

"Anyway, we can't force our daughter to marry into Nangong family. She doesn't like Vicente." Said Bruce firmly, turning his back to his wife.

He couldn't speak loudly in front of his wife.

Anne sneered and sat elegantly on the sofa. She picked up a cup of coffee and sipped it. "What's the point of saying that now? Who made the marriage in person? Who picked Vicente as our son-in-law? Now you are blaming me instead. "

Bruce felt guilty, "Then I regret it now. I don't want my daughter to marry Vicente. I take back what I said before."

"Regret?" Anne raised her head to look at her husband, who still had his back to her, and shook her head. "Others may take back their words, but only you can't. Why didn't you think about your daughter's feelings when you talked about the marriage with Vicente?"

"I..." Bruce was rendered speechless. He turned around and looked at the woman who was sitting on the sofa and drinking coffee an't deprive their brotherhood, can you? And the phone... "

"She can't have her phone." Anne said worriedly, "She can't contact the people in Lexingport City anymore. I'm afraid that John will come to make trouble."

Bruce was helpless, 'Can I finish my words?'

"Nina just wants the mobile phone's pendant, not the mobile phone."

"No phone?" Anne stared at her husband suspiciously, "Are you going to help her secretly contact John?"

Hearing this, Bruce's heart skipped a beat?

"No." Bruce shook his head and denied.

Anne continued to stare at him, "You'd better not. John doesn't deserve our daughter. Don't make a match between them, or we will live separately. "

"Please don't," said Bruce timidly, "I promise I won't make a match between them. Is that Okay?"

"That's good." Anne finally smiled with satisfaction. "For your sake, I'll send the watch and the mobile phone's pendant to Nina."

"Thank you, honey." With a smile, Bruce went to bring them to his daughter in person.

After the man left, Anne ordered that no one whose surname was Shi was allowed to enter or leave C Island.

This order undoubtedly gave a fatal blow to Lexingport City's seafood restaurant.

Chapter: 397

I Want Nini

play_arrow

stop

Everyone in Lexingport City knew that John's wife died recently.

The staff of Time Group were even more trembling, afraid that they would be unlucky.

None of them dared to talk about Nina's death. They made a detour when they saw John. They knew that they must work hard and that the proposals must be flawless.

Since Nina drowned, John had become more silent and unpredictable than before.

He didn't smile at all, like a walking corpse.

He worked crazily, constantly broadening the company's business field and marching into different industries. He won one project after another at an astonishing speed.

Some might think that John wanted to paralyze himself with work, but no one could get in touch with him after four o'clock in the afternoon.

From four o'clock in the afternoon to eight o'clock in the evening, John wasn't working. He had two other important things to do.

Psychological consulting and fighting training.

It seemed that he had become a machine in his own mind, but he didn't feel tired. He just felt that he was too weak, but haste didn't bring success.

He waited every day and lived a suffering life.

He was waiting to be strong enough to bring Nina back from her parents on C Island.

Therefore he must satisfaction and said, "You lied to me. You're not beautiful."

After she finished speaking, she ran towards John.

"John, stop!" Michelle roared angrily, startling the people passing by. They all looked at this little girl in horror.

It shocked everyone that she dared to shout at John.

The receptionist immediately came up to stop her and dragged her out.

Although Michelle was small in size, she had a strong explosive force. She stepped on the receptionist's foot and rushed towards John.

John looked back.

Seeing that it was Michelle, he stopped. He knew that she had been looking for him recently.

The moment Michelle saw John, all the bitterness and pain in her heart surged out, as if she had found a way to vent her feelings.

"John, return my dear Nini to me. Didn't you say that you would protect her well?"

John stood still, allowing Michelle to use all her strength to kick him, but John wasn't hurt at all.

Compared with Nina, Michelle's kicks and beats were just a scratch.

"You said you would protect Nini, but you didn't protect her well. You couldn't protect her and her favorite restaurant.

Do you want to forget her and start a new marriage after you close Seafood Restaurant? You want to marry Vivian."

Chapter: 398

Become Thinner

play_arrow

stop

Michelle's last sentence surprised John. 'Why does she connect these two things?'

"What do you know?" Then he narrowed his eagle-like sharp eyes.

John's cold tone stopped Michelle from kicking him. She was timid and then became brave to look into his eyes and saw a murderous look.

Nina once told Michelle that one would become angry when other's words about his or her bad thoughts were true.

Michelle was so angry that her face turned pale. She pointed at John and cursed, "Just as the netizens say, you'll really marry your childhood sweetheart. Nini must be killed by you two!

You're a bad guy, a scum, a heartbreaker! Shit!" Since the news that Nina drowned was confirmed, Michelle was like a crazy wild dog, completely irrational.

Hearing Michelle's words, John remained calm and indifferent, but there was deep pain in his eyes.

Except for Nina, no one dared to irritate John.

The people passing by were frightened by Michelle's scolding and kept away from her.

th his eyes closed and didn't feel any pain, even though James didn't apply the medicine gently.

When James was wiping the last bruise on John's legs, James' eyes suddenly turned red. "Uncle John, do you know you've lost weight? You're so thin. I'm sure that Aunt Nina will feel uncomfortable when you hug her. She doesn't like this."

When James mentioned Nina, John's eyelashes trembled.

On Scher Mountain, Bruce took the watch and the pendant to meet Nina.

He felt guilty and said, "I can only take back these two things. The ring is still kept by your mother."

"Thank you, Dad." Holding the watch and the pendant in her hands, Nina finally revealed a smile which hadn't been seen for a long time.

She felt happy that she could get back the watch and the pendant.

As for the ring, she thought she could take it back slowly.

At present, the happiest thing for Nina was that she could get the watch. When everyone fell asleep at night, she could secretly contact John.

Chapter: 399

Appear In John s Dream

play_arrow

stop

At night.

Nina was sitting in front of the dressing mirror and carefully applying skin care products. Rebecca stood beside her and watched her every move.

"Rebecca, I want to sleep." Nina stood up and walked to the bed, yawning. She indeed looked like very sleepy.

Rebecca knew that pregnant women tended to feel sleepy, so she didn't think too much about why the little princess went to bed so early tonight.

She waved her hand to let the others go out. After Nina lied in the quilt, Rebecca personally put down the gauze curtain for her. "Good night, little princess."

"Good night, Rebecca." Nina slowly closed her eyes and breathed evenly.

Rebecca turned off the light and left.

A bright moon was hanging at the place where the sea and the sky met. The blue sky was full of shiny stars, constantly blinking at the sea.

The sparkling sea gently rippled a castle, and some of the rooms in the castle still had yellow light in it.

When all the lights in the room went out, it was late at night.

A light blue light suddenly came out of the dark room, which was as ethereal as smoke and couldn't be captured.

The light blue light came out of the little face on the screen, his fingers trembling uncontrollably. He opened his slightly dry lips, but even without the movement of Nina to keep quiet, he could not speak.

Thousands of words were stuck in his throat. He couldn't make any sound and didn't know what to say.

Following the instructions of Nina, he opened the chatting interface and realized that the room was dark and she couldn't see anything.

John turned on the light, and Nina immediately saw his appearance.

He frowned and looked tired. His handsome face was thinner and more angular, and even the collarbone on his shoulder and neck was more obvious.

It was only a week. How could he be so thin?

And the shirt he was wearing and the wall behind him...

"Are you not in North Yard? Where are you?" Nina sent him the message quickly, "Why don't you go home and have a rest? Why don't you eat and sleep well? Why are you so thin? "

In the video, John sat still without any movement, and only his deep black eyes became moist at one point one.

"I miss you." John opened his mouth and didn't make a sound.

'Little girl, I miss you so much.

I really miss you very, very much...'

Chapter: 400

Mother I Beg You

Nina could read John's lips.

She opened her mouth but couldn't say anything. Hot tears fell down along her cheeks.

The light blue light shone on the girl's silent crying face, which broke the man's heart.

The worry that he hadn't seen her for a few days, the anxiety that he couldn't get in touch with, and the thought hidden in the bottom of his heart were rolling in the man's tears.

Then John said softly, "Don't cry."

Nina bit her lips tightly. When she loosened her grip, her lips were completely red, and crystal tears were stained on them. Her pitiful look made John wanted to fly to her side right now.

John sent a message to her, "Don't cry. I'm flustered when you cry."

Staring at the words full of missing and tension, Nina finally couldn't hold back the grievance she had endured for several days.

"Waah...Waah..." Nina's mouth twitched and she accidentally cried out. She nervously raised her hand to cover her mouth, sobbing, and her tears were like a lake that had a levee failure, constantly surging out.

John was flustered, he reached out but couldn't hold her.

His fingers only touched the cold screen.

"Don't cry, don't cry." The only thing John could do was to repeat this sentence. His voice was low and weak. "Wait for me."

'Wai

o angry that she ordered the bodyguards outside the door to come in. "Go and grab the watch from the little princess."

The two bodyguards approached Nina and politely said, "Little princess, please hand over your watch."

"No way." Nina raised her chin, not afraid of their fierce looks at all.

"I'm sorry, your highness." After saying that, the bodyguards went straight to grab it.

Nina was agile and dodged several times in a row. And because she was a princess, the two bodyguards didn't dare to be serious, fearing that they would hurt the little princess and get into trouble.

Seeing that the bodyguard was at a disadvantage, Anne said abruptly, "Grab it. I'll take the responsibility if anything happens."

With the queen's words, one of the bodyguards quickly approached Nina, quickly grabbed her arm and pressed it back. Nina bowed and took a deep breath.

It hurt...

"My little princess, please forgive me." Another bodyguard reached out to take the watch held in Nina's hand.

Nina squeezed so hard that her whole palm was sweating.

The bodyguards could only break her fingers one by one. Seeing that the watch was about to be taken away, Nina chose to lower her head and beg.

"No, mother, No. I beg you. Please don't take it away. I beg you."