

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 421

Wedding Day Was The New Year s Eve

His words were like a tossed stone that raised a thousand ripples.

People who knew the truth of this matter were erratic. They wanted to say something but stopped on a second thought. People at the table suddenly became quiet.

"Uncle John, are you so happy because of Dora so you said something wrong?" James smiled perfunctorily.

"Are you, Uncle John?" Emma echoed. Neither she nor James knew what had happened, but she didn't fake a smile. Instead, she looked at Uncle John to judge whether he was telling the truth.

Dora said timidly, "Uncle John..."

John glanced at the crowd and said, "I am going to marry Vivian."

John wouldn't make the same mistake for two times. If he made the second mistake, it was not a mistake, but his choice.

Grandpa's face was getting darkened.

"I don't agree."

"I'm here to tell you and I don't need your permission. The wedding date is set on January 23rd, the day before New Year's Eve." John's voice was as calm as a pool of stagnant water.

It was this pool of stagnant water that made everyone unhappy.

Then James stood up and scolded, "Uncle John, you wife has just passed away for half a year. And one spoke for Jessica. Everyone continued to eat. In the end, grandpa felt sorry for his daughter and gave her an out, but his tone was not very kind.

"Eat more and talk less."

"Dad, I... I see." Jessica's face darkened. She leaned forward a little to pick up her favorite food. The necklace on her neck shook slightly, flashed a red light, and disappeared in less than a second.

Chester who sat opposite noticed the necklace and narrowed his eyes. He was mature at such a young age.

"Aunt, do you like this necklace very much? I haven't seen you take it off."

Very few people in the family were willing to talk to her voluntarily. When Jessica heard her little nephew call her, the haze on her face disappeared and she said gently, "Yes, I like it very much. It's the only one in the world."

Jessica reached out her hand to touch the necklace. Every time she wore it, it would always make many ladies jealous. After all, it was unique in the world. Even the rich people couldn't customize the same necklace.

Vivi was so awesome. She could even find a designer to design and customize it for her.

"Who gave it to you?" Chester asked abruptly.

Suspicion

Everyone was curious why Chester suddenly paid attention to the necklace around Jessica's neck. It was not strange for a woman to wear a valuable necklace.

In particular, Jessica always liked to show off, so it was not strange for her to wear it often.

As long as she got other people's attention, she would be in a good mood. She gently twirled the necklace with her fingers. She felt that this necklace could bring her good luck and liked it more.

She opened her mouth and wanted to answer that it was a gift from Vivian, but before she could say anything, Dora said, "Aunt doesn't need others to buy her necklaces. She can afford them."

As a member of the Shi family, Jessica could indeed afford all kinds of precious necklaces, but she couldn't afford to buy the unique design. A necklace with such a design was either sold at an astronomical price or specially customized.

Jessica had been raised up in a rich family. She didn't need to develop personal relationship with anyone to live a rich and free life. She didn't have much friends and most of them were women from the powerful and rich familie ot." Sam felt depressed.

Jake comforted, "I've also informed the media. Without young master's admission, no media will dare to report their marriage."

"Okay." Hearing this, Sam felt a little relieved. His eyes became a little wet. "I'm worried that he decides to marry Vivian for the sake of me. In the whole family, only James has the same blood type as mine. Since James didn't donate the blood, then it's someone else.

If it's really because of me, I'll be sorry for John and Nina for the rest of my life." Sam began to blame himself.

In fact, he knew that he had something to do with it even without investigation and confirmation.

Sam was not the only one who was depressed. Vivian, who had been eavesdropping on the Shi family's conversation through the necklace, was also depressed.

She had known that someone began to suspect the necklace.

What's more, she had known that Sam and many of other members of the Shi family were not willing to attend her wedding.

If none of the members of the Shi family showed up at the wedding, Vivian would be quite embarrassed in front of the media.

I Can Finally Marry John

"Vivi, Vivi..."

Hearing her mother's cheerful voice before seeing her mother, Vivian turned off her computer and took off her headphones.

With a squeak, Julie pushed the door open and came in. She looked around the room and walked towards her daughter with a smile. She held her daughter's hand and sat down.

"Just now, Mr. John's assistant came to deliver a message that the wedding will be held on January 23rd. It's the afternoon before the new year's eve. I've asked someone to have a fortunetelling about it. It's a good day to get married."

"My dear daughter, your dream finally comes true." Julie held Vivian in her arms, patted Vivian on the back and said, "Mom's blood is finally not in vain. If you marry John, my status in Ye family will be higher. We two can live a rich life forever."

'Yes, I'm going to marry John.

Even if Shi family didn't like me, I will be Brother John's wife in the future. I will live in North Yard with John, and I won't live on Stone Road.

What am I worried about here?'

"Yes, I'm finally going to marry John. Mom, I'm finally able to marry the person I lov

it. Henry is now my brother, the second son of Ye family, not anyone else."

"Okay, I know." Julie waved her hand. She had to compromise for the future of her and her daughter.

"Let's go out first."

The mother and daughter walked out of the bedroom. There was a small living room outside. Vivian went to open the door herself. "Henry, come in, please."

"Thank you." Henry was still in his suit. His hair was meticulously combed, and there was a kind smile on his face, but Vivian couldn't feel his kind.

Sitting on the sofa, Henry went straight to the point. "Mr. John contacted me and said that the wedding would be held in The Mist Water Park. He wanted to know what you think."

"The Mist Water Park?" Vivian was stunned.

Julie looked at her daughter and asked in confusion, "What's wrong with the mist park The Mist Water Park? I think The Mist Water Park is good. The river there is warm in winter and cold in summer. The river is steaming in this season, as beautiful as the mist. "

"But..." Vivian wanted to say something but stopped on a second thought.

'But John is afraid of water.'

A Long Delay May Cause Trouble

"But what? Is there anything wrong with The Mist Water Park?" A sharp light flashed across Henry's eyes, so fast that no one could notice it.

Vivian pursed her lips and hesitated whether she should tell them that John was afraid of water.

But when she thought of how she had deceived Nina into jumping into the sea and then felt disheartened in Spring City, she didn't dare to expose John's fear of water, for fear that the secret would be exposed one day.

"No, no problem. Since it's the place chosen by John, we can hold it in The Mist Water Park." Vivian smiled thoughtfully and gently.

As usual, Henry wanted to lift his glasses, only to find that his glasses was left behind in Adrian's house.

His hand paused. Thinking of the scene that Adrian took off his glasses every time, he smiled.

"Henry?" Vivian frowned and called Henry's soul back.

"What? Well, let's hold my wedding at The Mist Water Park. Next, you need to confirm the guest list. Mr. John will personally send the invitation, and choose a media you trust to be present, and... "

"Wait!" Julie interrupted him, "Are we going to confirm the guest list now? Besides, we should let Mr. John and Vivi discuss it tog may cause trouble. "

The cold wind howled outside the window, squeezing in through the crack of the window one by one, and pouring into the mind of Vivian along with the words "a long delay may cause trouble" of Henry.

"A long delay may cause trouble..." Vivian became clear in an instant. She knew which was more important.

She smiled and said, "The wedding is a form. It doesn't matter if there are many people. I really like John and want to be with him and take care of him all my life.

Since it's not appropriate for John to invite guests, we can also invite less people my side. Later, I will give you the list and the media we want to invite. "

As long as the media she trusted was there, no matter whether the wedding was hot or not, as long as it was written according to her requirements, she was not afraid that no one knew how grand her wedding with John would be.

"Okay, next weekend..."

Before Henry finished his words, someone's exclusive ringtone rang.

"Wait a minute. I have to answer the phone." Henry took out his phone and answered the phone.

Vivian took a glance at the caller ID and saw it was... The whole world.

When did Henry have a girlfriend?

Found Out The Secret Of Henry

Standing by the window, Henry asked in a low voice, "When did you change the call ID?"

"I changed it secretly when you were asleep." At this moment, Adrian was leaning against the sofa, playing with Henry's glasses without degree with one hand and the other hand was holding his phone, "Have you finished your work? Do you need your glasses or not? "

"Yes. I'll be back in half an hour."

"Okay, I'll pick you up with your glasses. I'll let you feel the happiness of taking off your glasses tonight." Adrian put on his glasses, jumped up from the sofa, grabbed a black coat and walked out.

Even through the phone, Henry could think of his unruly snicker. He raised his clenched hand slightly to his lips and scolded in a low voice, "Be serious."

"I'm very serious. You misunderstood me."

"Bye."

After hanging up the phone, Henry's WeChat dialogue box popped up, "I am going to pick up my boyfriend." Henry couldn't help smiling. His eyes were attracted by the three words "the whole world". He stared at the screen and smiled silently for "Adrian?" Vivian said in surprise.

They were far away from each other. The sound of the engine of the car was heard, and Vivian's voice couldn't be heard by Henry and Adrian.

Adrian was wearing a pair of slippers. He put his arm around Henry's shoulder and asked, "Why do you wear so little? Are you cold?" He rubbed Henry's shoulder to warm Henry up.

"It's a little cold outside. It's not cold after getting on the car." Henry noticed Adrian's shoes and asked, "Why did you wear slippers?"

"It's warm, and I'm afraid you'll wait too long." Adrian opened the door for Henry and sat on the passenger seat.

There was nothing unusual about these two people's actions. To Vivian's surprise, how could their relationship be so good?

Adrian came out to pick Henry up in slippers?

Just as Vivian was surprised at the deep relationship between them, she saw an unimaginable scene through the window of her life.

Henry kissed Adrian's...

John Won't Come To Choose The Wedding Dress

Snow was falling in the night.

Like feathers, the snow fell gently on the roof of the car and then floated past the window, dancing in the pale yellow light.

The snow was getting heavier and heavier, covering the car windows like a waterfall. Vivian could only see the figures vaguely. After the engine sound, the car left.

The road was dark.

Vivian didn't recover from the shock until the snow on her shoulder melted and fell on her neck.

Coincidentally, Julie came over with an umbrella. "Vivi, Vivi?"

"Mom?" Vivian turned around and saw her mother. She walked towards her mother and stood under the umbrella.

Vivian's hands and cheeks were frozen red and she spoke with a hot breath, "Why are you here?"

"Why did you come out in a hurry without telling me what happened? I'm worried about you, so I come out. It's snowing again. Without an umbrella, you will get sick because of walking in the snow."

Julie leaned the umbrella a little towards her daughter and continued to nag, "You're going to get married and can't get sick now. There's nothing more important than your m in Lexington City was particularly cold this year.

As scheduled, Vivian went to the headquarters of FG Clothing Store on Saturday.

She arrived ten minutes earlier.

"Miss Ye, you are here." It was Lisa who was responsible for receiving Vivian. She led Vivian to a seat in the shop politely and made her a cup of coffee.

The heating was on in the shop. After sitting down, Vivian took off her light tan overcoat. Inside the overcoat, there was a well-fitting milky white sweater dress.

She was wearing a pair of warm tights, the colour of which was close to the colour of her skin, and a pair of shiny black boots.

Vivian handed the overcoat to Lisa and said with a smile, "Thank you."

"This is what I should do. Miss Ye, wait a moment. I'll ask someone to take the wedding dress down from the second floor."

"Wait a minute." said Vivian, whose hand was holding the cup and trembling. She was a little nervous and a little shy. "I want to wait for John."

Lisa, who had just reached the stairway, stopped and turned around. "Miss ye, Mr. Shi is busy today and he won't come."

Gorgeous Wedding Gown Shinning More Brightly Than Starry River

Vivian had been looking forward to today, the wedding, and being together with John and making plans about the future with him.

However, Vivian's first dream was disillusioned.

She hadn't seen John for half a year.

Why couldn't he come here all of a sudden?

Vivian's hand was shaking because of nervousness. Now that her expectation failed, she was greatly shocked and accidentally knocked over the cup in her hand.

With a bang, Vivian couldn't dodge. The brown coffee splashed on the hem of her dress and the back of her shoes, making a large area dirty.

"Ah!" Vivian screamed and stood up in panic.

Lisa quickly gave her the tissue, bent down and wiped the hemline of her dress. "Miss Ye, are you hurt?"

Vivian's white wool dress was stained with brown coffee, which couldn't be wiped away at all. The large stain on it was very annoying to her.

At first, John didn't come here because of something, and then her dress suffered. Vivian suddenly felt an uncontrollable rage.

Why was everything not smooth?

Vivian clenched her fists and gritted her teeth, trying not to get angry. Lisa wiped her dress with tissues. The m was still shining, but not as obvious as in the darkness.

But it was also beautiful enough with the lights on.

The fabrics and fine gauze used in wedding dresses are valuable at first glance, especially the layers of gauze on the outside - they are exceptionally light.

As long as someone passed by, the hemline of the dress would shake slightly. If one looked carefully, he would find that there were fireflies embroidered with silver threads hidden in the hemline, partly hidden and partly visible.

Vivian was about to reach out her hand to touch the dress, but Lisa reached out her hand and spun the woman who was lowering her waist ninety degrees to face Vivian. Then Lisa also bent down and said, "Miss Ye, I'm sorry. It's our fault. We took the wrong wedding dress."

"What?" Vivian's hand froze in the air, as if a bolt from the blue hit her head.

"Miss Ye, I'm really sorry. We took the wrong wedding dress. It's not yours." Lisa lowered her head. No one could see her expression.

Lisa just felt a little tired. Only Mr. John could come up with such a mean idea.

"The wedding dress is not mine?" Vivian was dumbfounded.

The Wedding Dress Reflected John's Missing

Lisa kept bending over and said, "Miss Ye, I'm really sorry. It's our fault that we took the wrong wedding dress. Your wedding dress is still on the second floor. I'll ask them to bring the wedding dress for you right away."

After saying that, Lisa elbowed the saleswoman who was also bending over and asked her to go upstairs and bring the wedding dresses.

The saleswoman immediately pulled the salesman's arm and went upstairs together.

Lisa slowly stood up and found that Vivian was still looking at Starry River behind her. There was a strong obsession in Vivian's eyes, looking like she wanted to take it as her own immediately.

"Whose wedding dress is it?" Just now, Vivian had been focusing on the shining starry river in front of her, so she didn't hear clearly what the saleswoman had said in a low voice.

Even though the light was on, Vivian was still attracted by the wedding dress in front of her. She walked towards it step by step and asked, "Who designed this wedding dress? Do you have a name card? Is it too late for me to ask him to design a wedding dress for me?"

"Miss Ye, you may be disappointed. The designer

y. When she saw the meaningful look in Lisa's eyes, she was suddenly stunned. "Nina?"

"You mean Nina?" When Vivian saw Starry River, she was fascinated and directly ignored Nina, who was deemed dead. When she thought of Nina, she suddenly trembled.

Lisa smiled and didn't answer, which meant she acquiesced.

The disdainful sneer on Vivian's face froze. She pointed at Starry River and said, "The wedding dress belongs to Nina? Even Nina..."

"Miss Ye, your wedding dress is here. Please have a look." Lisa raised her voice and interrupted Vivian. Lisa stepped forward and stood in the middle of the clothes rack.

"Uncover this, so Miss Ye could pick."

With Lisa's order, each of the two men stood in front of the dust cover and put one hand on the zipper of the dust cover and pulled it down at the same time skillfully.

They acted in unison as if they had practiced it for countless times. When the zipper was zipped down, the dust cover fell to the ground, and the four wedding dresses were hung there in disorder.

Vivian felt nothing but darkness.

The two men were in black, and the wedding dresses were also black.

Chapter: 429

Black Wedding Dress

play_arrow

"Miss Vivian, this is your wedding dress. Please choose one." Lisa stood beside the floor hanger which was taller than her and kept smiling.

In Vivian's eyes, such a smile was just a mockery.

"A black wedding dress?" Vivian angrily pointed at the row of black in front of her.

At the same time, she found that Lisa's business wear was also black, except for the white shirt inside.

The two men beside Lisa were also in black.

It seemed that Vivian was attending a funeral.

She was going to get married, not to be a widow.

At first, Starry River didn't design for her, then Lisa respectfully called Nina John's wife who was no longer existed, and finally gave her a black wedding dress.

Vivian couldn't stand it anymore. She glared at the three of them and asked, "What do you mean? Who's wearing a black wedding dress?"

Her tone was full of anger and accusation, as if she was going to tear up everyone present in the next second.

There were a man and a woman on the second floor, one in a black suit and the other in a black dress. They were sitting at the table near the entrance of the stairs and playing with their mobile phones with their heads down.

One of them had connected the phone t

omething else."

"Miss Vivian, do you want to try this one first?"

"Or do you want to try the one in my hand first?"

The two men who had been lowering their hat finally spoke. One was on the left and the other was on the right of Vivian.

The two men's voices were very different. The first man's voice was full of energy and his tone was brisk. He was a middle-aged man with a happy family.

The second man's voice sounded a little tired. He was a young white-collar worker who worked overtime and went on a business trip all year round.

Vivian didn't feel anything wrong. She habitually stretched out her right hand first. When she turned around, the young man raised the brim of his hat so that Vivian could see his face clearly.

"You..." Vivian's eyes widened. Her hand stopped in midair and her fingertip trembled.

She withdrew her hand in panic and looked away to hide her panic. She turned to the other side and said, "I... I'll try this first."

The middle-aged man also raised the brim of his hat and said with a smile, "Here you are, Miss Vivian."

Vivian raised her head and saw the man's face clearly. She stepped back several steps as if she had seen a ghost.

How could it be them?

Chapter: 430

Was It Really A Coincidence

Lisa seemed to have foreseen what would happen, so she stepped forward and steadied Vivian when she saw Vivian step back in panic.

"Miss Ye, are you okay?"

As soon as Lisa approached Vivian, she heard Vivian's rapid breath. Vivian's undulating chest showed how scared she was at the moment.

As for what Vivian was afraid of, Lisa didn't know. Lisa just followed Mr. John's instructions step by step.

"No, I'm fine." With the help of Lisa, Vivian regained her balance. She endured the pain from her ankle and said, "Lisa, my ankle seems to have sprained. Help me to sit down first."

Lisa carefully helped Vivian to sit down.

The two men were confused. Why did Miss Ye look like as if she had seen ghosts when she saw them?

"Do we look scary?" The young man turned to the middle-aged man and touched his own face.

The middle-aged man smiled kindly. "You're a handsome young man. How can you scare people? Maybe it was my fat face that scared her."

The two men didn't talk loudly, but they were not far away from the others. Vivian rubbed her ankle absent mindedly, and her eyes occasionally floated to the two men standing there.

Lisa applied medicine on Vivian's now.

When Nina was here, Vivian could only call him Mr. John. Now she could finally call him Brother John in front of him.

Just like in the past, everyone said that they were peas and carrots and it was also an enviable honor to call him Brother John.

Vivian finally got what belonged to her.

"Brother John, what do you think of my wedding dress?" Vivian turned around in front of him naturally.

John stared at her for a full second and asked, "Are you cold?"

Vivian was stunned. 'Is Brother John caring about me?

"No, I'm not cold." She was flattered.

"The heating is on in the shop, so it's not cold." Lisa said, "But The Mist Water Park is an open-air place. This wedding dress is the thinnest and it will be very cold to wear."

"Are you afraid of the cold?" John lowered his head to drink coffee and didn't look up at her.

"I'm afraid." Vivian lowered her head shyly and thought, 'Brother John, you really care about me!'

"Wear the dress on January 23." John decided the thinnest black wedding dress in a calm voice.

Vivian opened her mouth slightly, " It will be cold."

"Okay." John took a sip of his coffee and said casually, "I'm not cold."
