Chapter: 461

Punish Vivian 2

The feeling of suffocation made Vivian have the illusion of the God of Death reaching out his hand to her.

With her eyes wide open, she kept patting the water surface and whimpered for help.

Vivian didn't expect that Jessica would want to drown her. After all, she thought that Jessica didn't have the guts to do so.

In a society ruled by law, drowning a person would be punished by law. Even if her brother didn't like her, he would investigate the cause of her death.

Even if her father considered the interests of Ye family, he would not remain uninvolved in her death. Drowning her was challenging her father's authority.

If she died, it would do no good to both families.

Vivian maintained her astonishing sanity when she felt difficult to breathe, so she decided not to struggle anymore.

She didn't believe that Jessica would dare to drown her.

As expected, Yvonne's eyes narrowed and she lifted Vivian up from the water.

"Puff..." Vivian stood in the bathtub, gasping for air, and her whole body collapsed feebly.

Vivian smiled triumphantly.

'I'm right.

Jessica didn't dare to take my life.'

The smile at the corners of Vivian ll to the ground. She bent down to pick it up nervously, but Jake kicked the knife away.

"It's for Howard's sake that we didn't expose these things to the public. If you don't accept the punishment now, you will be disgraced." Jake turned around and warned her.

Although he was old, his eyes were still filled with the cruelty that he had when he was young, showing that he was not a man that people should provoke.

Julie was so frightened that she almost forgot to breathe. When Jake turned around and continued to walk forward, she said in a trembling voice, "Do you, do you have any evidence to prove that we did it?"

"If you want to lose your reputation and become a rat across the street, you can have a try."

Jake stopped. Julie was too scared to move or talk back.

Now without her husband's protection, she and her daughter were like two lonely boats floating on the sea. It was easy for anyone to smash the boats, not to mention Shi family.

She had to follow him obediently.

Before she entered the room, she heard the sound of glass breaking, followed by a scolding.

"Vivian, you can even spill a cup of tea. Why are you so useless?"

Punishing Vivian Part Three

The shards of the cup scattered at Vivian's feet. The tea splashed and stained her cheap slippers, and the back of her feet was scalded.

Vivian's hands trembled in the air, and her only uninjured finger was now scalded red.

Tears were rolling back and forth in her eyes. A sense of humiliation arose naturally, and hatred grew crazily in the bottom of her heart.

She had never worn such ugly and cheap shoes, and no one dared to let her serve tea or hot tea.

As expected, Jessica wanted to torture her and treated her as a maid.

But she was not a maid. She was the lady of the Ye family!

She was the eldest daughter of the Ye clan, Zoe Ye!

"What are you thinking about? Are you not convinced?" Seeing that she gritted her teeth and didn't dare to speak, Jessica felt funny.

"Do you still think you are the rich lady?" Jessica sneered, "Your father and brother have known what you have done. They are very angry. They didn't expect that there would be such a vicious person in Ye family. If you dare to hurt me here now, you will soon be expelled from Ye family. Do you believe it?"

Of course she believed that.

From the moment

mother had already taken her hand and left. As soon as she walked out of the door, she heard her mother talking endlessly.

"Did you just want to say that you were going to marry? Vivi, you are so silly. Mr. Shi's whereabouts are unknown now. Maybe he is dead. When they find him, he will be a corpse!

And now, the Time Group is under the management of James. As long as the news of Mr. Shi's death comes out, James will be the president of the Time Group. Even if you marry Mr. Shi, you will be nothing.

Let's hurry up and don't stay here any longer. I think the Stone Road is very frightening."

Vivian had been wondering what the housekeeper had said to Jessica so that Jessica would let her go easily, so she didn't hear what her mother had said.

However, these words were all heard by Jessica.

Sitting on the sofa, Jessica smiled and ordered, "Add this paragraph as well. Connect it naturally and send it out to the reliable media."

"Yes, I'll ask someone to do it right away." Yvonne left with all the recordings.

As soon as Vivian returned to her house, she heard the news that she had been scolded on the top search list.

Vivian picked up her phone and saw that there were many articles about her on the Internet. One of them was headlined:

Mr. Shi fell into the water and disappeared on the wedding day and Vivian immediately broke off the engagement. It seems that her love is a lie.

"How could this be?" With her eyes wide open, Vivian quickly clicked in and saw a pile of words.

She was not in the mood to read it word by word. She stared at the audio and clicked it.

She heard Jessica's voice.

"Don't call me Ms. Shi. It sounds so unfamiliar. You should continue to call me sister."

"Well, it's okay that you don't call me sister. We haven't known how John is yet and don't want to waste your time."

"Vivi, Vivi..."

"Mom?"

"Mom, I thought you abandoned me."

"How could I abandon you? You are my daughter."

"Wait a minute. Before you leave, I'll ask you something and you must tell me the truth."

"Just ask."

"Do you know that John's life is uncertain?"

"I know."

"Do you still want to marry him?"

"I... No."

"In that case, you

or more than 20 years, collapsed in an instant.

She didn't dare to turn on her phone. There were a large number of articles about her on the Internet and lots of netizens were discussing and abusing her.

Netizens left comments on her social account and even on the accounts of her good friends, which made their lives a mess.

Vivian knew that it was Jessica who did all these.

However, Vivian could do nothing.

Howard had no choice but to disassociate himself from Vivian in order to protect Ye Group.

When Howard returned home, he turned a blind eye to his daughter's silent protest and sighed, "Vivi, live somewhere else for a period of time and take good care of yourself. When the right time comes, I will take you back home."

Vivian thought, 'Right time?

When is the right time?'

Vivian sneered in her heart. She was sent out of the Ye family for recuperation seemingly, but in fact, she was expelled from her family.

Sure enough, in her father's eyes, she was just a pawn. If she was of no use, he would kick her away.

John Come

In just a week, Vivian's reputation was ruined.

She lived in an old city, a shabby building, as if it would collapse as long as the wind blew.

People here wore cheap clothes, spoke with guns and sticks, and their bodies were dirty with the smell of sweat. There were all kinds of people from different walks of life.

"What the hell is this place?" With a suitcase in her hand and high heels on the bumpy road, Vivian was splashed with water by the children who ran over.

This completely ignited the anger in her heart. She pointed at the child and cursed, "Ah! Kid, stop!"

The boy looked back at her and continued running.

Vivian was so angry that she stamped her feet. She wanted to catch up with the boy and beat him up. But after two steps, she tripped over the uneven road.

"Ah..." She screamed and fell to the ground.

The pain swept over her body instantly and attracted the attention of passers-by.

Raising her dirty face, Vivian glanced around and felt that everyone was laughing at her, just like those people on the Internet were insulting her.

"Girl, are you okay? Let me help you up."

"No need!" Vivian shouted wi

James?"

John turned around and looked at Noah, his eyes flickering. "Yes."

Back then, in order to show off in front of him, James immediately sent it to him when the movie came out.

He saved it after watching it.

At this time, Noah's phone rang. Vicente was looking for him.

"Send it to me later. I'm leaving now." Noah didn't answer the phone. He put the phone in his pocket and left the teahouse.

As soon as he arrived at the door of the cinema, he saw Nangong striding towards him and questioning, "Noah, where have you been?"

"Find a cinema."

"Why are you looking for a cinema?" Vicente looked him up and down and said, "You are leaving tomorrow. Don't play tricks on me."

"I'm leaving tomorrow, so I want to invite Nini to watch a movie." Noah turned around and walked inside.

"What movie?" Vicente followed him in.

"The cinema haven't shown the movie yet. Nini will like it." Noah took out his phone. At the same time, John had sent the movie to him.

Vicente was shorter than him, so she didn't notice anything unusual behind Noah. She just asked, "What movie on earth is it?"

"It's a movie played by James."

Watch A Movie

Vicente had heard of the name "James".

"Is it the childish and naive James mentioned by Nina?"

"Childish and naive?" Noah smiled, "Who had said that?"

"It's a comprehensive one from us." When Vicente heard Nina mention people and things in Lexingport City, she also was interested in it.

It was more interesting than her life.

"Is there anyone watching the movie he just plays?" Vicente was really suspicious.

Noah said, "It's a box office hit, and James has become a popular star. In the eyes of outsiders, James is just an idle young man. Once he is focused on his career, he will have a bright future."

Hearing this, Vicente was slightly shocked, followed by curiosity. "Then it's worth a look. I'll watch it with you."

"You want to watch with me?" Noah stopped.

He wanted to let Nina and Mr. Shi meet each other in the name of watching a movie.

If Vicente was there, it would be troublesome.

"Do you want to watch a movie with Nina alone?" Vicente smiled at Noah and said seriously, "Don't even think about it. She is my wife."

He found the cinema

e. Be careful not to be found."

At the same time, Vicente called her personal assistant when she went downstairs. "Demi, you should be responsible for the movie theater, especially the security. Don't let anything go wrong."

Since Nina was pregnant, she was surrounded by bodyguards wherever she went.

"It's just a movie. What else can happen?" Nina didn't care.

Vicente said seriously, "Just in case, Jett has been keeping an eye on your belly. I'm afraid that he will do harm to you and the baby. At that time, I'll be guiltier."

"Okay." Nina smiled and said to the baby in her belly, "Tomorrow I'll take you to see the movie played by James. He is very handsome and promising."

"He is twenty years older than your baby. And his baby has to call your child uncle or aunt in the future. This scene is..."

"Expected?" Nina suddenly burst into laughter.

"No, it's strange."

Jett received a call. A sinister smile gradually appeared on his face after he heard the news.

"They finally went out. Remember, don't hurt the adult, as long as the child is lost.

Two o'clock the next afternoon.

The three of them came to the cinema. Demi and the manager had been waiting for a long time, and there were some bodyguards in the cinema.

When the manager saw that Nina and Vicente were standing together, she almost cried out excitedly. She was afraid of disturbing the normal order, so she could only hold it in her heart and secretly took out her mobile phone to take photos.

After sending them to room 2, the manager immediately posted it online: Mr. and Mrs. Nangong watch a movie hand in hand, which makes me jealous!

Soon, the message was forwarded and commented.

Vicente helped Nina sit down. He sat on her left hand, and Noah sat on her right hand.

There were only the three of them in the huge movie hall.

There was an advertisement on the screen, which was in sync with other studios, but the movie here had been switched.

Noah sat in his seat and said, "I just saw someone taking pictures of you."

Nina said, "That female manager? I saw it." If I'm not wrong, she should be fan of Vicente and me. I guess she has posted it online."

"Your fan?" Noah asked in confusion.

Nina nodded, "Okay, take out your p was right in front of him.

It was not a dream.

Noah nodded at John and said to Nina, "Nini, here's the popcorn I ordered for you."

"Okay." Nina was fascinated by the scene and didn't care much about it.

When John walked towards, he felt as if he had missed a step every time he lifted his foot, as if he was afraid that this was just the longest and most real dream he had ever had.

And he was afraid that Nina would disappear in front of him.

With every step John took, he could feel his heart beating.

He didn't miss a step, and his heart was beating when he woke up. This feeling was very real, just like the person in front of him.

Nina didn't disappear.

At this moment, John stood at the feet of Noah, staring at the side face of Nina, forgetting what to do and what to say.

Seeing John standing still, Noah reminded, "Nini, popcorn."

Without turning her head, Nina reached out her hand and touched nothing. "Where is the popcorn?"

When she turned her head, a bucket of popcorn was handed to her hand. At the same time, she heard a voice that had rolled in her mind countless times.

"Here." John stared at Nina.

'Honey, I'm here.'

Eager To Hug Her

A hint of astonishment flashed across Nina's eyes.

This voice... This voice...

How was it possible?

Nina gradually sat up straight. She suspected that she had an illusion because of what Noah had just said.

"Where is the popcorn?" Nina tentatively asked, her amber eyes showing an expression of complication and flickering.

When John was about to say something, Vicente said something first. "Isn't the popcorn here?"

"Shut up!" Nina interrupted Vicente. Vicente was so frightened that his hand, which was reaching out to take the popcorn, trembled and quietly retracted.

Did Nina eat gunpowder?

Why did she suddenly become so fierce?

Vicente suddenly felt that someone was looking at him with hostility, which made him feel uncomfortable, so he followed that gaze.

It turned out to be a waiter serving popcorn.

"Put down the popcorn and get out." Vicente asked the waiter to leave in an angry tone, as if he wanted to find someone to vent the depression resulted from Nina's unfriendly attitude.

John didn't mind at all and put the popcorn in Nina's hand that had been frozen in the a ente wanted to throw the can away, but found that there was no dustbin, so he could only hold it in his hand.

The two of them continued to watch the remaining part of the movie.

John held Nina's hand and walked all the way to the corridor. It was time for the movie to be shown, and there was no one outside except the staff of the cinema.

He took her into the men's room and put a sign of "Under Repair" outside.

Nina was stunned. The prop was well prepared.

"Why the bathroom?" When Nina followed him in, she couldn't help but ask the question.

"I was in a hurry. I couldn't find a better place." Then he held her hand tightly, pulled her to a wall, let her stand against the wall, and leaned over.

He was tall and strong, which was known to Nina. But at this moment, he looked like an insurmountable wall, and his shadow projected, completely covering her.

The wall behind her was a little cold even though she wore thick clothes, but the wall in front of her was warm.

Her sparkling eyes seemed to invite him to do something.

"Oh..." John took off his mask and bent over to kiss her.

You Are Finally Back In My Arms

The man's kiss was dominant and gentle, as if to pour all his longing into this long kiss.

Nina smelled his unique scent, felt his hot breath, and heard a low gasp.

And all the cells in her body were responding to him.

In response to this man who only belonged to her.

The man's gentle face was very close to her, and she could see his tall nose, and his exceptionally long and slender eyelashes with his eyes closed, trembling slightly one by one.

He even kissed her with trembling lips.

Nina slowly closed her eyes, and her crystal clear tears rolled down, falling between the lips of them, with a faint salty taste.

The salty taste of tears in John's mouth was like gathering the longing and suffering for more than half a year, which made him feel bitter and aching.

He stopped kissing, slowly opened his eyes, held Nina's little face, gently kissed the tip of her delicate nose, kissed her closed eyes and her tearful eyelashes, and kissed her forehead.

John didn't say a word. When he closed his eyes again, two lines of tears fell.

at the repair sign and coughed.

He didn't want to disturb the two of them, but he was going back to Spring City and wanted to say goodbye to Nina.

"It's Noah." Nina recognized the voice, and said, "They have finished watching the movie. Let's go out," said Nina.

"Wait!" John pulled her back and said, "Don't go out until there are few people outside. Otherwise, someone will see you walk out from the men's room."

"You are so considerate. But who pulled me in just now?" Nina glared at him.

John chose to be silent.

When the next movie started, there was no one outside. The two of them came out one after another.

Noah stood in the corridor waiting for them.

"Noah, where is Vicente?" Nina glanced at the corridor and didn't see Vicente.

"I'm waiting for you outside. He said he wanted to see what popcorn kept you for so long." Noah glanced at Mr. Shi who was wearing a mask. Mr. Shi's eyes were not dejected, instead, full of life.

At this moment, John frowned slightly. It seemed that Vicente was deliberately targeting his little girl.

Nina pulled John's arm. "I want a box of sweet popcorn please."

"Okay, wait a minute." John answered and walked towards the place where the popcorn was sold.

Looking at his tall and straight back, Nina felt satisfied.

Seeing that she was so happy, Noah felt that he had finally done a good thing before he left C Island.

"Nini, I'm going to the airport." Noah reminded her, "You must take good care of yourself."

"Oh, you're leaving today. I almost forgot it." Nina glanced at him apologetically. Then she reached into her pocket to take out a small square box and handed it to him. "This is a gift for you."

"A gift for me?" Noah was overjoyed. He took it and opened it. There was a watch in it. "A watch?"

"It's not an ordinary watch." Nina said, "The watch is specially modified for you. It can be used as a computer, a camera, a U disk and so on. The manual is at the bottom of the box. You can take it back and study it.

Besides, it has a very powerful function. If you have the right, you can enter the information of everyone in our country. In this way, you can know the basic information of a person during investigation as long as you do a facial scan."

Nina was

She didn't have the habit of listening to music, but wore headphones. There should be no sound in the headphones since she could still hear him even though he asked in a low voice while the hall was so lively.

Noah could almost tell that there was something wrong with this woman.

"This popcorn is so sweet. I think Mimi will like it." Nina put some popcorn into her mouth as she spoke.

In order to make it easier for her to eat, John took the popcorn bucket from her hand. When he saw her chewing, he could hear the crisp sound.

"Your ladyship," the woman suddenly walked towards Nina. Seeing that John stared at her, she quickly changed her words. "Princess Nina, you'd better eat less popcorn."

"What?" Nina put some popcorn into her mouth. "Why?"

The woman said with concern, "The popcorn contains too much saturated fat, reverse fat, essence and dessert, which are not good for the growth and development of the fetus."

As soon as she finished speaking, Nina spit out the popcorn on the paper, wrapped it and threw it into the trash can.

John's face suddenly turned pale when he saw what Nina did, her figure and her round face.

"Are you pregnant?" he asked.

Chapter: 470

You Are Pregnant With Vicente s Child

Nina was stunned.

She was so busy with kissing and hugging that she forgot to tell him that she was pregnant.

But the bathroom of the cinema was not a place to tell him the truth. If someone happened to hear it, she would get Vicente in trouble.

Nina had planned to tell him the truth after discussing with Vicente, but she didn't expect that a passer-by would tell him in such a situation.

Noah, who was standing aside, knew that something was wrong, but he didn't know how to reconcile it.

Nina opened her mouth, but Noah suddenly gave her a look and looked at the waitress, indicating that there was something wrong with this person.

"I..." What Nina wanted to explain was stuck in her throat. She could only nod sulkily, "Yes."

"Yes, she has been pregnant for six months," The waitress explained with a smile.

Nina gritted her teeth and said, "You seem to know everything? And you know me well."

"What?" A hint of panic flashed through the waitress's eyes. She pretended to be calm and said, "Didn't Count Nangong announce this? Besides, I'm your fan, so I know it clearly."

"Go ahead with your work," said Nina expressionlessly.

"Okay." The waitr

"What happened?" The leading policeman rushed over, pointed at John, and said, "Did you cause trouble in the street?"

Noah immediately stood in front of John to block the policeman's finger in case Mr. Shi would cut off it on the spot.

It happened in Lexingport City before.

"Sorry, it's just a misunderstanding," Noah said politely.

"It's up to us whether we misunderstood you or not." The policeman turned around and knocked on the car window of Vicente.

Vicente slowly rolled down the window. She took a look at Noah, and then thought of Nina. For the sake of the two of them, she decided to let out of John.

"Nothing. I was just having fun with my friends."

Hearing this, the policemen left and dispersed the onlookers.

Noah nodded gratefully.

Vicente glanced around but didn't see Nina. She had to get off the car and asked, "Where is Nina?"

"Nini is sitting inside." Noah looked at the cinema.

"Then I'll pick her up." Even if Noah blocked John, Vicente was still afraid and walked around to the cinema.

She went to the cinema, but she couldn't find Nina everywhere.
