

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 581

Be My Bride When You Grew Up

Ms. Sheng was Henry's biological mother, an orphan without parents. She grew up in a welfare house.

At the age of eighteen, she accidentally lost her virginity to the drunk Howard. When she knew that she was pregnant, she had wanted to have an abortion, but she couldn't bear to lose the child. In the end, she gave birth to the baby and raised him up alone.

Ms. Sheng had never remarried. She was afraid that her son would suffer if she married a bad man.

It was not until Henry grew up and had his own thoughts and ability to live on himself that Ms. Sheng wanted to find a husband.

Henry was a filial son. He handed over most of the money he earned to his mother and left little free money for himself. Ms. Sheng always wanted to travel around the world. Henry helped her get her passport and she began to fly around.

Less than 1/10 of the world tour, she was trapped by a handsome and charming foreign man of the same age.

However, he didn't stop her traveling, but accompanied her to travel around and experience the local customs in all the places around the world.

The foreign man's name was Tod Allen, a construction designer with a small fortune. He had no interest in the relationship between men and women before he met Ms. She emly, "Brother."

Don grinned fawningly, "Hee hee, I just want to ask why I can't. Then how to call him brother? "

"You can marry my sister." Henry said jokingly. He liked to joke with children most, and he was also looking forward to the answer of Mr. Shi's youngest son.

Don was confused, "What is marry? Brother, what is marry? "

"Let her be your bride." Van said, "Just like dad and mom, mom is dad's bride, and dad is mom's groom."

"Okay!" Don was suddenly enlightened and nodded like a chick pecking rice.

Henry smiled and continued to tease him, "What do you think?"

The others all looked over, wondering what interesting answer Don could give, including his biological mother.

Nina stared at her youngest son who pretended to be thoughtful and touched his chin with one hand.

"Have you made up your mind?" Nina asked with a smile.

"Yes, I've made up my mind." Don loosened his chin and said innocently, "Okay, Cherry will be my bride when she grows up."

Everyone was stunned. They smiled the next second and didn't take the child's words seriously. They just thought that child's words were very interesting.

Cherry looked at everyone in a daze, but kept the words that he asked her to be the bride in her mind.

After leaving the airport, the three members of Nina's family watched Henry's family leave.

After the car went far, Nina took the mask from her bag and put it on. Her sunglasses were on her nose, and she was fully armed, only showing a smooth forehead.

"Mom, why are you wearing a mask? I want to wear one too. " Don shook his mother's arm and asked.

Nina reached out to stop a taxi and answered her younger son's question, "Because we have to take a taxi now."

A taxi stopped steadily in front of them, and Van obediently reached out to open the door. His small body did not have the same strength as an adult. He could not open with one hand, so he used two hands to open the door smoothly.

Nina didn't reach out her hand to help, but stared at her elder son. When Van used two hands instead of one, Nina raised her eyebrows and smiled gently.

"Mom, the door is open." Van stood aside like a little gentleman, waiting for his brother and mother to sit in.

Don crawled in with his short legs and asked in confusion, "Mom, why do you wear a mask in a taxi?"

"Go back and ask your father." After replying, Nina reached out and rubbed Van's little head, "My good son, you go in first and sit next to your brother."

Van crawled into the car obediently, and then Nina got into the car, closed the door and told the driver an address.

"Sir, J Entertainmen them after pressing the button, "Which floor are you going to? Let me help you. "

"The 12th floor." Van raised his head and found that the button of the 12th floor was already on.

This office building only had 12 floors. On the top floor were the office of James and the senior meeting room.

The assistant smiled and said, "What a coincidence! We..."

"Shut up!" Linda said impatiently. The assistant immediately shut up and the smile on her face disappeared as if she had seen a ghost.

"Give me water." Linda said arrogantly.

The assistant quickly took out a thermos cup from her bag, opened the lid and handed it to her. "You are on your period these two days. This is brown sugar water I made for you, and it's a little..."

Linda glanced at her and reached out her hand to take it. The assistant felt her anger through her sunglasses, so she didn't dare to say the rest words.

But when Linda was about to drink it, the assistant reached out in a panic and tried to stop her. The last word stuck in her throat jumped out.

"Hot!"

"Ah..."

It was too late for the assistant to finish her words. Because of the scald, Linda threw the thermos cup away.

Don quickly took his brother to a corner, and the hot brown sugar water spilled all over the ground. Some drops jumped to the ankles of the two brothers, leaving several bean sized red marks.

Van And Don Were Scalded

Both of the brothers could bear the pain. But Van would not cry out for pain. He would only frown sadly.

Don was the opposite. If he felt pain, he would say, "Brother, my feet are scalded. It hurts."

He bent down to check. Only one of his feet were scalded, but both of his brother's feet were scalded.

Don was furious. He pulled his brother behind him to protect him, with one hand on his waist and the other pointing at Linda.

"Your water scalded our feet. Apologize!"

Linda was scolding the female assistant, who kept her head down and apologized, while the tears fell into the brown sugar water in the elevator which was almost diluted.

Hearing the child's loud reproach and seeing him pointing at her nose, Linda stopped scolding. With a livid face, she took off her sunglasses and slapped the back of Don's hand.

His white and tender hand suddenly turned red.

"Haven't your mother taught you not to point at others while talking? You have no family education. " Linda smiled arrogantly and coldly, "Do you know who I am? How dare you ask me to apologize? Ask her. It was her who scalded you. "

"Ding!" The elevator reached the 12th floor.

The elevator door opened and Linda walked out in high heels without any guilt on her teeth and endured it.

The female assistant helped Linda into the office, and Justin hurried to see the two children.

"Young masters, are you all right?"

Don lifted his pants up, revealing half of his shins, and pouted angrily. "It was scalded. My brother's was even worse. The ugly woman just scalded us, but she didn't apologize and didn't send us to the hospital."

Justin frowned. The two young masters were the apple of the eyes of the whole Shi family. This was a big matter.

"I'll call the doctor right away." Justin quickly took out his phone and made a phone call, asking, "Did anyone else see it?"

Van pointed at the elevator and said, "There is a monitor."

Justin paused shortly. Then the phone was picked up. "Ask the doctor to come to the CEO's office of J Entertainment Company. Two kids were scalded. Young masters, you go to find Mr. Shi first. I'll get the surveillance video and the doctor will be here soon. "

"Thank you." Van pulled his angry brother and walked towards James' office.

The more Don thought about it, the angrier he became. He clenched his fists and snuffed out like a steamer. "I will definitely avenge for you!"

"I will avenge for you, too." Van said seriously, clenching his fists.

He Was Bragging

play_arrow

James had been a cynical man since he was a child. He didn't like urban elites in suits.

Unless it was a formal occasion, he would like to wear his own private clothes instead of wearing a suit and a tie.

At that time, he picked up Uncle John in a suit just to make Uncle John look at him with new eyes. He wanted Uncle John to be happy with tears with the feeling of a child growing up.

Later, he seldom wore formal clothes. Therefore, some people secretly mocked him for being frivolous in his youth and ignoring others. They said that he was difficult to achieve something big and that he was spending some money to experience life just because his family was rich.

James wanted to run an entertainment company not for fun, but for his own career. He was stubborn by nature and didn't let Shi family pay a penny.

All the young masters in Lexingport City thought that the young master of Shi family was crazy. Only Emma and friends like Harrison were helping him.

Later, J Entertainment Company was listed in only three years, which made those people shut up their mouths. James was the only young master in Lexingport City who had a place in Lexingport City without the h good, I won't get a beautiful wife."

"....." James was stunned and smiled. "Who told you that you can't get a beautiful wife if you don't look good?"

"Grandma said so." Don said innocently, "My grandmother said that only, only... I can't remember, you can ask my brother. Daddy and mommy are both good-looking, so they are together."

James laughed. "You're right. Uncle John and Aunt Nina admired each other's appearance in the beginning. But, Van, what did your grandma say? "

"Grandma said that only excellent people will be with excellent people." Van looked up and said.

James put Don down, pinched the faces of the two and said, "Your grandmother is completely right. For example, your sister-in-law thinks I'm handsome and excellent, so she pestered me and insisted on marrying me.

Well, it's all my fault. I'm so outstanding. You may not know that it was your sister-in-law who chased me." James was so happy that he forgot that there was still outsiders.

Not only the outsiders, but also the insider had arrived at the door. Emma was looking at him leisurely.

Justin pursed his lips and wanted to laugh, but he didn't dare to.

This man was bragging again.

Seeing that he still had the tendency to talk big, Justin hurriedly reminded him, "Mr. James."

When James turned around, he saw Emma, who was smiling faintly, as if she was going to move a stool and watch a play.

James felt embarrassed. The smile on his face cracked, and James fluttered his eyelashes for two times. When his eyes passed the shoulders of the two people and saw the doctor following them, he changed the topic and said, "The doctor is here. Check her knees."

When James turned his head to look at Linda, she had already stood up. Her face was pale and blue, as if she had suffered a huge blow.

Her eyes were dull.

The assistant next to her had a complicated look in her eyes. She opened her mouth slightly and was still in shock.

'Are the two kids Mr. James's brothers?

Biological brother?

They must be. They look like similar.

They were so intimate just now.

Then...' The assistant turned her head and looked at Linda. 'Will Linda be doomed?

Everyone knew that Shi family was protecting their own family. She might not only be unable to get a role, but also be banned by Mr. Mr. James.'

The assistant turned her head slowly and bit her lips to prevent herself from laughing.

After taking a look at the dull Linda, Justin fina

was stunned for a moment. "Yes, sir."

"Hold on!" Emma stopped Justin.

For a moment, the pale Linda seemed to be injected with fresh air and revived, looking at Director Emma expectantly.

'It was said that Director Emma was a well-educated and reasonable woman. She would definitely not allow her family to bully me.'

"Honey, don't mess around with the kids." Emma said gently.

Every time James heard his wife call him honey, his heart softened and he complained in a low voice, "Don't you want to revenge?"

Emma smiled at James, turned around and ordered Justin, "Cut the video out, blur Van and Don, and hand the video to the reporters."

"Yes, madam." Justin thought this was a reasonable way, so he immediately did it.

The fresh air of Linda was sucked out and she passed out immediately.

The assistant said slowly, "It doesn't matter. She often goes to KTV to sing recently. She has stayed up late for too long and is a little sleepy. Mr. James, Director Emma, I'll carry her back first."

Everyone was speechless.

'Oh my God! The popularity of Linda is too bad, why did Sheila recommend Linda?

Linda called Sheila Miss. Sheila. It sounds that the relationship between them is not so good as to recommend her.'

James thought to himself.

The scalds of Van and Don were smeared with plaster to prevent them from being rubbed away. Since they couldn't be held by James and Emma, they had to walk hand in hand.

The two kids were holding hands in the middle, and the two adults were on both sides. As soon as they walked out of the office, the whole path was occupied.

"Van, Don, what do you want to eat?" Emma asked them softly.

"Fish. I want to eat fish. It's my elder brother's favorite." Don said without hesitation.

Then James waved his arm like a child and asked, "Your elder brother likes fish, what do you like to eat?"

"My younger brother likes meat. As long as it's delicious meat, he likes it. But Mommy said that he should learn to eat vegetables." Van rushed to answer.

James smiled, 'The two brothers are on good terms.'

"No, I won't. It's not yummy. It's not yummy at all." Don said.

When James thought of the vegetable dishes in the C Island, it was really hard to explain. There was no taste at all.

"The vegetables dished in the Lexington City are different. You'll know when you eat them. We'll order all kinds of fish and meat later." When the elevator door opened, James let the two kids in first.

"I have to feed you to be a fat boy, and you couldn't find a wife."
uced.

"The third floor is a place to rest. People from the law office can live there. Do you want to go upstairs and have a look?" Charlie asked.

"No, thanks." The smile on Nina's face became deeper and deeper. It seemed that Charlie had everything ready. "We should recruit employees next. It may take some time to recruit employees."

The two turned around and went downstairs.

Charlie followed her and said, "My lady, I have recruited almost all of them. I recruited a group of people according to your requirements. But in the end, you have to personally interview who will stay."

"Charlie, you are too..." Nina couldn't find any word to describe it all of a sudden. She was surprised for a while until Charlie handed her a folder.

"Here are the background information of one hundred candidates. I have made a thorough investigation. My lady, you just need to screen."

"One hundred?" Nina opened the file and found a thick pile of information about candidates. "We just need seven or eight candidates. We don't need that much. But, we haven't registered in our law office. I wanted to register before recruiting."

Charlie smiled kindly, "My lady, it has been registered."

"What?" Nina was shocked again, and her eyelids suddenly twitched.

Nina was stunned, and so was Charlie.

"Miss," said Charlie hesitantly, "Didn't you ask Mr. Shi to register it?"

Nina immediately denied, "I didn't. Didn't I tell you to avoid him? "

"I did." Charlie explained, "Mr. Shi suddenly found me. I was beating around the bush with him, but he took out your plan and design drawing..."

Nina was speechless.

It occurred to her that John had seen the plan and the design drawing in Vicente's study.

It turned out that she was not the only one who had the ability to remember things with just one glance. John also had this ability, and he was even better than her.

John was born to be like this. She was blessed in misfortune after she was born.

So why did she sneak around for two years?

"What else did he do?" Nina asked.

Charlie pointed at the books on the wall and said, "There are over ten thousand books. Half of them were found by Mr. Shi's people. There are also some precious books with only one copy existing. It took Mr. Shi a lot of effort to find them.

And there is a gym and a swimming pool behind." Charlie went out from the back door of the first floor with Nina.

The huge swimming pool appeared in front of her. The clear water rippled slightly, and the sunlight shone on it as if gold was sprinkled.

She could see the fitness room ed it earlier, so she didn't hide inside at all.

Instead, she hid herself under his desk. The footsteps were getting closer and closer. It seemed that he was coming.

A pair of shining leather shoes appeared in front of Nina. John pulled out the chair and suddenly saw a person squatting under the table. He had an impulse to throw the chair over.

It seemed that someone was going to assassinate him!

Seeing the familiar face and shallow smile, he loosened his grip on the chair and squinted at the gift box.

Wasn't she in the box?

Nina seemed to understand his doubts and blinked her eyes for two times to answer his question. Yes, she was not in the box.

Looking at the woman he missed so much, John really wanted to get her out of under the table and hold her in his arms.

But his reason stopped him. He must punish her for sneaking back without telling him.

"Since you want to squat, you can squat a little longer." John pulled out the chair and sat down. One of his legs stretched over, right next to Nina.

Nina said nothing, nor was she angry. After a while, she put her hand on his leg.

All of a sudden, John's body went numb. He looked down and saw a pair of amber eyes smiling slyly.

"You taught me one thing on the lunar July 7th on C Island. I'm here to hand in my homework."

Adrian recently found out a secret thing, which might have something to do with Vivian. Thinking that Mr. Shi was adopting a long-term plan, this thing should be able to provide some information to Mr. Shi. So he came to Time Group.

He came to the door of the office and saw that the door was open slightly. He pushed the door open and went in before Amy stopped him.

"Hey, what's this? Why is there such a big gift box here?" Adrian was attracted by the gift box in front of him and said lightly.

He looked around the gift box and touched it gently, but found nothing.

Adrian didn't notice that John was different from usual. After looking at the gift box, he walked towards him.

At this moment, Nina was busy handing in her homework under his desk.

"Stay away from me!" John's breath was paused. He clenched his fists and heavily placed them on the table. A muffled sound came from the table.

Adrian was shocked and his heart almost jumped out of his chest.

Who pissed Mr. Shi off?

Why was he so angry all of a sudden?

Was he going to punch people?

Who was he going to punch?

Adrian looked around and found that there were only two of them in the office. It was impossible for Mr. Shi to hit himself, wasn't he?

Then it could only be him!

How did he offend Mr. Shi again?

Ad

er's hands or hug her.

It seemed that these were all his father's.

He comforted him, "Dad is worried that we will take mom away from him, because we are handsome. He is afraid that mom will like us and won't like him."

"Really? Are we more handsome than dad? Isn't dad the most handsome man in the world? " Suddenly, Don didn't feel wronged and began to ask one hundred thousand questions.

Van said seriously, "Dad used to be the most handsome man in the world. But not after we were born."

Don tilted his head and said, "Are we the most handsome men in the world? Are we more handsome than dad? "

"We are." Van nodded and promised.

Don squinted, "Wow, daddy is so pitiful. He is not the most handsome man in the world anymore."

John, who used to be the most handsome man in the world was speechless.

Was he pitiful?

Nina felt that the strength of John's hand increased a little. She wanted to laugh and said, "The most handsome man in the world, our sons are going to usurp the throne. You are no longer the most handsome man in the world. What do you think?"

John snorted. Nina thought he didn't care. But the next second, he said with disdain, "Their words don't count."

His tone was arrogant.

Nina was speechless.

It turned out that he was still the same. So narcissistic.

The family sat at the table for dinner. Jessica was living in the family area of a university in Northwestern University with Jason, and he didn't come back until the Spring Festival.

Chester was studying in the B City and Dora was living in the University. They didn't know that Nina and others were back, so they didn't go home for dinner.

Although all the family members hadn't arrived yet, there was no lack of fun. Everyone wanted to take Van over because of his obedient and handsome appearance. They wanted to know how much knowledge he had in his mind, just like a small encyclopedia.

Don had a sweet mouth, and greeted them in sweet tone and they were so happy. He was naughty and talkative, and always made people laugh happily. Even Sam, who had been keeping his dignity in front of the children, laughed happily.

The dining table was full of joy.

It was still early after dinner. Sam, sitting in a wheelchair, was going out for a walk with his two grandchildren, watching the two brothers chasing after each other.

The bright light of the road shone on Sam's wrinkled face. His eyes were peaceful and serene.

ee clearly. I was afraid that I would be dazzled, so I waited outside the bar for a long time and saw her carrying a box into the car." Adrian promised.

"Got it." John already knew what to do.

After hanging up the phone, John sat back to his seat. James asked first, "Why do you look so pale? What did Mr. Adrian say?"

"James..."

"Wait a minute, Uncle John. Don't call my name directly. I'll be panic if you call my name. I feel that something big is going to happen." James sat upright and stopped smiling cheekily.

John looked at him silently for a few seconds.

James was even more flustered. His heart was beating fast. "Uncle John, did I do something wrong to you or do illegal things as rape, robbery and gambling? Why are you looking at me like this?"

When his Adam's apple bobbed, James swallowed and said aggrievedly, "No, I didn't. I've always been a good citizen who abides by the law. I've never done such things as rape, robbery and gambling. That's even more impossible. My wife is in charge of me."

"Not you." John looked away and asked calmly, "What's the relationship between Sheila and Linda?"

Chapter: 590

Superman Daddy Carried One On His Back And The Other In His Arms

The topic was changed back. It took James a while to react.

"Friends. They maybe be friends."

"Maybe?" John frowned.

"In fact, I don't know. Sheila is very busy this year and seldom gather with us. Linda said that they knew each other in KTV, and that's right. We used to like singing and dancing." James said.

'Since they knew each other in KTV, the matter of Linda must have something to do with Sheila.'

John was lost in thought.

'I had placed his spies around Vivian for two years, but they had only collected a little useful evidence. The evidence alone is not enough to bring her to justice.

Noah and I had been playing tricks on her for two years. Finally, Vivian took the bait. As long as they made a deal, Vivian would be completely convicted.

Vivian took the bait, but the time and place of the deal hadn't been decided by Vivian yet. This is a variable, so we don't dare to act rashly.'

John and Noah guessed that the place of the transaction would be under the jurisdiction of Tim. Although Tim was not involved in this kind of thing, his entertainment center's confidential work and security facilities be happy.

The two brothers were playing and joking in the bathtub, causing water to splash in all directions. It was not until then that John pulled a chair and sat in front of them that they restrained themselves a little.

Van and Don called together, "Daddy..."

"Did you get burned today?" The expression on John's face was too serious, and the two brothers immediately behaved themselves well.

As his elder brother, Van stood out and apologized, "I didn't protect my brother well. He was scalded. I'm sorry."

"No, no." Don shook his head and said nervously, "I'm his elder brother. I said I would protect my brother. It's my fault. I'm sorry, Daddy."

A four year old child was not as agile as an adult in speaking. He stammered when he spoke nervously. His childish voice made people's ears tremble. Anyone who saw the two brothers bowed their heads and apologized would be melted.

John didn't blame them. Realizing that he was too serious, he softened his tone and said, "You don't have to apologize to me. It's not your fault. Do you remember what I had told you?"

The two brothers said in one voice, "Yes."
