

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 601

Master Tim s Longing For Love

The BL Alley was the place where Tim escaped from the chase. At that time, he was dying and thought his life was about to end.

'I was still alive. A smart woman saved my life, misled away the enemies sent by my superiors, and came back to stop the bleeding for me.

But unfortunately, I was so exhausted that I couldn't lift my eyelids. I vaguely saw a figure, and smelled the faint milk fragrance from the woman. Perhaps it was because I was too hungry at that time, and it smelled more like a cream cake.

When I woke up again, I was already lying on the bed. Vivian brought me a bowl of chicken soup, which was cold and sour. It was obvious that she was a rich lady from a rich family at the first glance, who didn't do dirty housework.'

Tim often went to the BL Alley because he had spent the most stable half a year in his life there.

'In the past, I had lived a life of risking life, not to mention shooting. I had to be nervous even when I was sleeping at night. I had to be on guard against the surroundings all the time.

I had planned to live a peaceful life in the second half of my life after recuperating in the BL Alley for half a year. Now I had come to this step in return for Vivian.

In fact, at the beginni

d her for you right away."

"Cut the crap. Can it be the same? The girl saved my life. Hurry up." urged Tim, having made up his mind to do so.

"Master Tim! Master Tim, you really can't do this. It's too rash for you to say that she is your savior based on her smell. What if she isn't?" At the thought of the consequences of this action, Victor's face turned livid with anger. He advised Tim earnestly.

Tim raised his leg and wanted to give Victor a kick. Noticing Victor's fearless look, Tim didn't kick him again. Instead, he cursed, "Fuck! Why are you talking so much nonsense? Don't you want to work for me anymore?"

"No." Victor was very hesitant.

Tim stretched out his hands, pointed at the door and scolded Victor fiercely, "Get out if you don't want to go. There are many people working for me."

Victor ground his teeth, turned around and went out. After a pause at the door, he said, "Master Tim, have you thought it over? If you make this deal with Mr. Shi, our loss..."

"Damn it! Hurry up!" said Tim angrily.

Tim picked up a pillow on the sofa and threw it at Victor. Victor was frightened to run away, hiding and smoking several times.

Victor threw the cigarette butt away and went to the Time Group.

The Deal Between Two Gentlemen

There were two more photo frames on the office desk of John. One had a family photo of the four of them, and the other had more than one two-inch red photos of him and Nina.

That day, Caroline took many pictures of the interaction between the two people. None of them was abandoned. He not only gave the negatives to John, but also developed all the photos and put them in the frame.

John deliberately placed them on the upper right corner. When he looked up, he could see them and reach out his hand to touch them.

Every time John raised his head and saw their photos, he would be in a good mood. At first, he was awkward seeing the grin on his face, but now he was used to it.

Even if he wasn't looking at Nina, he would occasionally smile at people, which often frightened people who came to the office to panic.

Mr. Shi was scarier when he smiled.

Amy had always been calm, because she knew the reason. But Mr. Shi was often unusual. To be honest, her heart was not very good.

Now she saw Mr. Shi take a glance at the photo and smile again.

"Mr. Shi, Victor, the assistant of Tim, wants to see you. He said that he wants to see a white paper, and the shadow of the pen covered a few crooked words. His handwriting was like dog digging. John looked at it and frowned.

His son's handwriting was even better than this.

Victor also knew that his handwriting was so ugly. He hadn't graduated from primary school, so it was good enough for him to write it.

"Mr. Shi, you understand my handwriting, don't you? I'm leaving now. Don't forget to pick up Master Tim on the wedding day. " Victor waved his hand and went out. Before he left, he whistled at Amy for flirting and made an appointment for fighting with her.

Amy didn't want to talk to him and didn't even look at him.

John picked up the note and called Noah. "At four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Silverhall Nightclub's underground warehouse. There are two ways out. One on West Forest Street, and the other on South Road. Block both and don't let her escape."

"Okay, I'll inform the police to arrange it in advance. She should call us to go and make a deal tomorrow afternoon."

Then, Noah hung up the phone and called Mr. Shen directly.

They had planned for so long and it would finally come to an end.

Vivian Was Arrested

Early in the morning, the makeup artist spent the whole morning on Noah's face. Noah's firm face was wrinkled, and there were age spots on his dark yellow skin.

The handsome man, who was thirty years old, had become a smuggling man of old age. His eyes were full of evilness, just like the hatred and rebellion of the world in the eyes of the criminals he had arrested, and both his eyes and behavior were lifelike.

Noah's voice was thick and hoarse, so he had never opened his mouth, and someone spoke for him.

Director Shen had already sent people to ambush at the intersection of the South Road and the West Forest Street close to the Silverhall Nightclub. Everything was going on in order.

At two o'clock in the afternoon, Noah's subordinates received a phone call. They said that they would drive according to the route she gave them with money, but the specific location was not revealed. They only said that someone would naturally take them to the trading place at that time.

Vivian was a cautious person. She had installed many cameras on the route she had given them. The car had almost circled around half of the Lexingport City. After confirming that there was no car to follow and be monitored, she asked them to go to the Silverhall Nightclub.

Two hours later, it was exactly four o'clock. The Silverhall Nightclub was closed in the daytime, but there were walked to Noah's side and saw him taking off his hat.

The thing on Noah's face was troublesome and couldn't be removed in short time.

Noah straightened up and said, "Go to the South Road"

At the intersection of the South Road, as expected, Vivian was arrested, but she was still shouting and screaming. She cried bitterly and cried for her injustice. She was handcuffed and didn't forget to call a lawyer.

She didn't stop talking until she saw "Master Yuan" coming over with a man in police uniform. Her eyes were as wide as bells.

"You, you..." Vivian didn't expect that Master Yuan would cooperate with the police to betray her. Her face turned pale and anger was about to spurt out of her eyes.

But then Vivian heard a more shocking voice, "Captain Ye."

The police next to her all called Master Yuan "Captain Ye". Hearing that, Vivian's breath stopped for a moment and said in disbelief, "My elder brother?"

Noah gave Vivian a deep look and said, "Confess your crime."

As soon as the voice fell down, Vivian was completely sure that the Master Yuan in front of her was her elder brother, Noah. 'Is everything in the past three years a trap?'

Vivian couldn't believe it. She pointed at Noah's nose and scolded, "You're not Noah. Noah has been in the Spring City for more than three years."

Noah didn't want to talk to Vivian anymore. "Take her away."

Arrest Her With Several Crimes At The Same Time

At the police station of the Lexingport City.

Vivian's eyes were dull. 'I still couldn't figure out what is wrong and why the police caught me so easily.

It is so easy as if everyone around me was betraying me, and everyone had set a trap for me, waiting for me to jump into it obediently.

Not to mention that my elder brother is Master Yuan, but that the escape road could not be known by anyone. Why was the police waiting there?

Unless....

No, it's impossible! It's impossible! It couldn't be Tim.

If I was betrayed by Tim, half of his property would be sealed up by the police. The loss is not as simple as several million.

Tim is a selfish man and he wouldn't push himself into the trouble.

But I couldn't think of anyone else.'

Sitting in the interrogation room, Vivian kept rubbing her hands, and her palms were sweating.

Someone pushed the door open, while Noah and the others were observing outside. Hearing the noise, Vivian looked up like a frightened bird and argued subconsciously, "Miss, I think you have misunderstood. I'm not smuggling. I know nothing..."

"All right." It was a valiant policewoman who was in charge of interrogation. She pulled out a chair and sat down. "I'm not a member of the drug enforcement team, nor the criminal investigation team. I'm from the economic inves

After Vivian calmed down, she covered her face with her hands and looked at him, not hiding the hatred in her eyes. She sneered again, "So you have already known where he is locked up."

At the same time, Henry came and helped his skinny father, Howard, who had been locked in the dark basement for more than four years. His face was as pale as a skeleton as if he could float away as the wind blew.

Even though Howard had changed into well cut clothes and his body was unable to support himself at all, he exerted all his strength and slapped Vivian to the ground.

"Unfilial daughter!" Howard roared in a trembling voice, almost out of breath.

Lying on the ground, Vivian suddenly laughed crazily. She slowly turned around and looked at them, smiling all the time, tears streaming down.

"Am I an unfilial daughter? How about your sons?" Vivian kept laughing and pointing at Noah and Henry, "Your two good sons have already known that you are locked in the basement of Ye family's mansion, but they haven't saved you. Ha-ah..."

Noah and Henry frowned and didn't say anything, which made Vivian laugh more wantonly.

"The reason why they didn't save you is that they wanted to punish me for all the crimes today, so that I can never get out of prison. Ha-ah... You are such a loser. No one really loves you!"

Vivian And Her Mother Asked For Help

play\_arrow

Vivian laughed wildly, miserable and bitter, tears pouring out, like endless hatred in her eyes, wandering on the three of Howard and his sons.

At last, she fixed her eyes on Howard.

'What I hated the most is this man. He made my mother pregnant with me without my consent, and after I was born, he disregarded me and my mother, making my mother suffer the name of mistress, and I was going to be cursed by an illegitimate daughter.

He took me to the Ye family, but didn't treat me sincerely. He just wanted to train me into a tool to get close to the powerful men.

He didn't train me well. He gave the Ye Group to my elder brother and then to my second elder brother, but he was unwilling to give it to me. He just wanted to give some money to me and send me away, as if I was a beggar.'

Vivian stopped laughing and pounded her chest, "Dad, do you know? I really wanted to treat you well and treated you as a good father. But how did you treat me? You abandoned me!"

Vivian recalled the day when she was going to marry Mr. Shi. Tears welled up in her eyes again. Her daughter was sentenced to death in prison, and the other was that Noah's mother came to ask for my life.'

"Noah is also here." The corners of Julie's mouth twitched.

Noah didn't say anything. He just invited Julie to sit down and said slowly.

The more Noah said so, the more restrained Julie was.

"Are you wanting to talk about Vivian?" Henry pointed out Julie's intention.

Julie was only surprised for a moment. Then she stood up and looked at him almost pleadingly. "Henry, I won't beat around the bush. I beg you to save Vivian. She is your sister after all.

You have the same pitiful childhood with her. You have no father love since childhood. It was your mother who brought you up. Please save her. I know you must have a way to save her. She just did something wrong for a moment, and she will change. She has always been a good child who can correct her mistakes. Henry, please save her, save your sister."

Speaking of emotional points, Julie's eyes were filled with tears. She was also a poor parent. Anyone who saw it would feel uncomfortable.

Threatening Others In Front Of Policeman

play\_arrow

It was always others who spoke in a low voice in front of Julie. Now she spoke in a low voice in front of the younger generation, especially the two brothers that she and her daughter regarded as thorn in the flesh.

The two sides had been in a stalemate because of the fight for property. Now, in order to save her daughter, Julie put down her dignity and pleaded. The great maternal love was indeed touching.

But what she said just now was too shameless.

Although Henry looked like a bookish man who was easy to be softhearted, he always contradicted Adrian at night. 'How could others think that I was easy to be bullied?'

"Mrs. Julie, I don't agree with what you just said." Henry pushed his glasses as usual, which made him look shrewd.

"Imprisoning her biological father, smuggling and drug trafficking, embezzling public funds and making false accounts, no matter what, it doesn't look like something that can be done in a short stupid time. She had done for three or four years. I think Vivian is very sober and knows what she is doing all the time."

Julie didn't know what to say for a moment. Embarrassed, she didn't know her social rank. You two can't be together for the rest of your lives."

Noah's pupils shrank and his heart sank. He thought of Albert.

'Forcing him to die is something that that that pervert woman could do. It was she who ruthlessly tortured her son Albert at that time, otherwise how could he develop a dark personality/

When Albert was with me and my aunt, he was a cute and pitiful boy.'

Seeing that Henry was about to give in, Noah put his hand on Henry's shoulder to stop Henry from trying to help Julie and her daughter bend the law.

Henry's heart missed a beat. He looked up at his brother's calm eyes. He felt a little flustered and guilty. 'I really wanted to give in to promise this just now.'

Henry kept silent. Noah pulled Henry behind him and stood out to block the sight of the two.

'As his elder brother, I should protect my brother well.'

"Ms. Julie, since Vivian has broken the law, she should be punished. It's settled. No one can change the situation. You threatened him in front of a policeman. I don't know if you are smart or stupid. It's illegal to threaten others."

Noah said in a sonorous voice.

A Tragic Ending

Only then did Julie realize that Noah was a policeman. There was a trace of regret in her eyes. 'How could I just ignore Noah? He was here.'

Although Julie was regretful, she still didn't want to give up.

"I was just discussing something with Henry. Don't sling mud at me. Henry didn't oppose." Julie didn't dare to look into Noah's eyes when she said this.

'In the Ye family, I was not only afraid of my husband, but also Noah. Perhaps it was because of the nightmares recently that I became more and more guilty and didn't dare to have any conflict with Noah.'

Noah, on the other hand, Noah captured Julie's uneasiness. A vague sense flashed through his eyes. He still stood in front of Henry and didn't allow him to speak.

"Mrs. Julie, I'm Henry's elder brother. You can discuss with me about anything that you wanted to discuss with him. But don't worry. I won't agree with what you want him to do. Before that, I want to discuss one more thing with you."

Julie was nervous. 'Noah is going to fight against me.

When did they get along so well? They are not born by one mother. So what if they were born by a mother? There are many brothers who fought for family property and hurt each other.'

"Henry is pened to have something to talk to us, so I brought him here."

John nodded and looked at Julie. His deep and mellow voice sounded unhurriedly.

"You don't have to Noah and others for help. I've asked someone to take care of Vivian."

Hearing her daughter's name, Julie regained her composure. She raised her head and looked at the domineering eyes like an emperor coming in person. With her lips trembling, she said, "Mr. Shi, is that true?"

Julie's face turned a little red and said happily, "Vivi's love for you for so many years is not in vain. Mr. Shi, you..."

"I brought her a wheelchair." John interrupted Julie. Before she could ask, John continued, "Didn't she want my father to sit on a wheelchair for the rest of his life? I'll give her one too."

"Mr. Shi, when did you break her leg?" Adrian said excitedly.

"Last night."

John's words gave a heavy blow to Julie, as if what she thought was the dawn, but in fact, it was just the light shining on the dagger. Finally, her face turned pale and she fainted directly.

Before Julie lost her consciousness, she only felt that the nightmares she had recently were true.

'Noah's mother asked for my life, and my daughter's leg was broken in prison.'

Will Ye Family Have No Descendants

play\_arrow

Henry sent Julie to the hospital and arranged her to be in the same ward with his father. The two of them could take care of each other.

Knowing that Julie had done a lot of evil things, the two brothers, Noah and Henry, still chose to let her live the rest of her life in peace and accompany their father. This was the last filial piety to their father, and also to make themselves feel at ease.

Neither of the two brothers could be with their father. When Noah lost his mother when he was a child, he only got close to his aunt, Kristina, and had long been alienated from his father.

Noah didn't want to go back to Ye family before, but he thought the Lexingport City was his origin and he should stay in the Lexingport City.

Now for some reason, he suddenly wanted to stay in the Spring City for the rest of his life.

The Spring City was a good place for him. Standing on the reef, he could look into the distance.

Let alone Henry. He had been living with his mother since childhood. Even if he went back to Ye family, he didn't have much affection for his father.

Especially today when Henry heard his brother mention the cause of his mother's death, He was still nervous. Henry finally understood why Ms. Sheng secretly took him away. She didn't even want to mention his identity, so that he wouldn't think about a s not until then that Adrian realized that Noah would understand it well. So he answered perfunctorily, "Nothing. It doesn't matter."

Noah smiled.

However, Adrian's explanation happened to be heard by Henry, who just came back. As soon as he opened the door, he heard someone reverse the order.

Then Henry opened the door and came in. He looked at Adrian sitting on the sofa with a faint smile. Adrian felt guilty before Henry said anything.

"Well, you're back. I'll go to help Ms. Sheng. You can have a chat with your brother, chat with him, and have some peaches or something like that. Sweet, delicious." Adrian stood up in a hurry, put down the peach and left.

Henry looked at Adrian's unsteady steps and smiled in a low voice. Adrian almost sprained his ankle when he smiled.

Noah was speechless. Noah took another bite of the peach silently, 'It seemed that I had accidentally pried into the privacy of the two of them.'

When Henry sat next to him, Noah somehow approached him and asked, "Henry, how did you judge whether you fell in love with a man or not?"

Henry was stunned before he sat down. He turned his head mechanically, with a vague sense of foreboding in his eyes.

Henry was speechless for a moment. 'Oh my God?

Isn't it possible that Ye family will have no descendants in our generation?'

Brother Seemed To Be Bent

The hot pot was still boiling, and the rising thin mist mixed with fragrance spread everywhere.

Henry's heart was as anxious as the soup in the pot. He picked up a peach and sat down. He took a bite and chewed it for more than 10 times before slowly suppressing his woolgathering.

He must have thought too much. His brother must be straight from all aspects.

"Brother, why do you suddenly ask men and men..." Henry didn't make it very clear, as long as he understood what he meant.

Looking at Henry's inquisitive eyes, Noah was stunned. He suddenly stopped chewing the peach and realized what he had asked was blamed.

Noah quickly looked away and pretended to be calm, "I just want to know."

"Okay." Squinting his eyes, Henry didn't completely believe what he said. He wanted to sound it out, "Brother, are you not interested in women?"

Noah knew what he was trying to sound out. He thought for a while and said frankly, "I don't know. I have never met a woman who makes me fall in love with again."

The woman who once made him fall in love with had already been married and had children. And he seemed to have let go of this memory and trea u misunderstand him? Didn't brother like sister in law before? "

"There are two kinds of gay, inborn and acquired. The two of us are probably inborn, but brother is obviously not. He is affected by the environment where he grows up." Henry had mixed feelings and even couldn't accept it.

Seeing her son's reaction, Ms. Sheng said helplessly, "Now you understand how I felt when you came out of the closet?"

Yes, he did. He really did.

He was nervous, terrified, and uneasy. He couldn't accept it. He even blamed himself for the misleading. He was more worried and afraid that the road was full of thorns.

This world was not tolerant to homosexuality, let alone endless opposition and criticism. Verbal attack was an invisible blade, and it was really killing in the invisible.

"Ms. Sheng, what should we do?" Henry could only turn to his omnipotent mother for help.

However, Ms. Sheng's tender sight swept over the two of them.

It was a waste of time to ask her.

If there were a solution, his son would be holding a delicate girl now.

Henry and Adrian looked at each other speechlessly.

It seemed that this question was in vain.

The sound of water continued. Ms. Sheng patted her son on the shoulder and comforted him, "If that's the case, learn from me, try to accept and bless him."

"Mom... Maybe I misunderstood it. I'll ask him again when I get a chance. Alas, is the Ye family really going to have no descendants?" With a bitter look on his face, Henry still didn't believe it.

"No. There is surrogacy." Anyway, Ms. Sheng had seen through it for a long time. 'Nothing is more important than the happiness of the children. The key point is that since things had come to this, we could not change and try to accept it.

It is just a matter of having more sons. Now I like Adrian very much.'

Adrian echoed with a smile, "Ms. Sheng is right. Don't worry."

The two of them were able to see through it, so Henry had no choice but to smile. He turned off the tap, and the sound of water stopped. Then he heard the joyful sound of Nina in the living room.

"Hotpot? I haven't had hot pot for a long time."

"Do you like hotpot? Tell the kitchen if you want to eat at home." John walked behind her and said.

Nina nodded and Ms. Sheng walked over with a smile. "Nin didn't beat fast. "But, Noah, Vicente has been too busy recently. He might not be able to come on my wedding say. He asked me to tell you."

A touch of disappointment flashed through Noah's clear eyes, but he calmed down in the blink of an eye. He replied gently, "What a pity that he can't see your wedding with Mr. Shi, but he probably doesn't want to see it either. He can't stand you two shameless people."

Nina was speechless. Nina smiled, "Even if he can't stand it, I want him to see it personally."

Noah smiled, "It's a good idea to send the wedding video to him."

"Ah, yes." Nina nodded. 'Actually, I don't need to send the video. Vicente is the bridesmaid.'

As a good observer, John had already sensed some clues from the words of the two.

"Your brother is not the same as you," he said to Henry softly, trying to take advantage of the other people's conversation.

"What? How do you know?" Henry's eyes lit up and replied in a low voice.

"Don't you believe me? Get him drunk first." said John, raised his eyebrows.

Henry came to his senses. 'He intended to tell let my brother tell us the truth after drinking.'
