

Deep affection honey come back to me

Chapter: 811

Entering The Manor

After a moment's silence, Tim said, "No."

"Really?" As expected, Caroline was surprised. She saw through the rearview mirror that Tim nodded, then she guessed, "Do you really like Mimi so much? So you find a woman who looks like Mimi and be a substitute?"

That woman was indeed a substitute.

But what Caroline thought was different from his.

This substitute was not for him.

But it was good that Caroline misunderstood him.

"Yes," replied Tim, and then he asked, "Did Michelle go back to work?"

"Our studio is very kind. We don't go to work on weekends." Caroline looked sideways at him and continued to look straight ahead. "What's wrong? Shouldn't Mimi be in the hospital?"

Tim didn't reply.

On Monday, Leon sent Michelle to work in person. There was a pile of work during her leave. Michelle buried herself in the work for the whole morning, and finally handled the photos she had taken before.

At noon, someone specially sent lunch here. This time, Michelle did not hide anything and said that it was the love lunch of her boyfriend.

She had the habit of taking photos and texted Leon, "Thank you for your lunch". She showed wberry Mr. Leon planted, so they are only for you. All the strawberry we planted will be sent to the Shi family and your family."

Michelle had a swiftly indrawn breath, and her heart beat more clearly in her ears. It seemed that something was flowing into her heart, sweet and numb.

"Did Leon plant it himself?"

"Yes. Mr. Leon planted it himself." Tasha said, "In fact, the strawberry he planted didn't grow well at the beginning. Few of them could be alive, but Mr. Leon put a lot of thought in it, so the strawberry grew well after he tried several times.

Actually, I haven't tasted the strawberry he planted either. Mr. Leon tasted it himself. He said it was delicious." Tasha sounded a little regretful.

She really wanted to eat the strawberry planted by Leon himself. She wanted to see what the difference was with the strawberry planted by them.

However, Leon would rather throw away the strawberry than let anyone else have a taste except for Michelle.

Michelle didn't know how to express her feelings at the moment, but she was so moved that her eyes turned red.

It turned out that the strawberry she ate was planted by Leon.

Tasha took Michelle to the whole Strawberry Garden. In fact, the strawberry looked almost the same, but Michelle knew that some of them was planted for her by Leon, which was special.

Michelle took a picture of the strawberry field and sent it to Leon.

In the text.

"Thank you for your strawberry. I like you so much, Leon.

Leon, I miss you.

Leon, how about I cook a big meal for you? When you have time, we can go shopping together, then I will cook for you, the home cooking of Lexingport City."

As soon as the message was sent out, her phone rang.

Leon invited her for a voice call.

The sudden change of the screen and the sudden ringtone in the quiet startled Michelle, and her mobile phone almost fell to the ground.

Hearing the ring of the phone, Tasha turned around and saw the profile picture and the name on the screen. Immediately, she knew that it was a call from Leon. She said wisely, "I have something to deal with. You can wander around a little longer. If you have anything, come to me."

"Okay, thank you." Michelle smiled sheepishly and didn't answer the phone until she saw Tas e can go back to cook. Then we can have dinner early."

As the figure of Leon faded away, Michelle looked at his back and saw Tasha and Caroline not far away. She waved goodbye to the two of them.

Caroline picked up the camera and took pictures of them.

When they arrived at the market, Leon had become cheap labor. Like a commander, Michelle happily walked in front of Leon to pick and choose the food and pay for it.

At last, Leon's hands were full of shopping bags.

At this time, his phone vibrated in his pocket.

He didn't have time to answer the phone, so he could only let it ring. Three or four calls rang continuously, indicating that it was urgent and he must answer it.

"Michelle, answer the phone for me. It's in the pocket of my clothes. You can touch it with your hand."

"Okay." Michelle reached out her hand to take out his phone. It was a strange number and she asked him with her eyes if she could answer it.

Leon nodded. Michelle answered the phone, stood on tiptoe and held the phone near his ear.

"Mr. Leon, Valerie is missing," said the man on the other side of the phone.

You Can't See Your Ex girlfriend

Michelle couldn't hear what the person on the phone said. She could only tell that something was wrong from Leon's gloomy face, as if there was an emergency.

Leon pursed his lips into a straight line and slowly stood up straight

Valerie was missing.

In other words Did she run away?

His amber eyes narrowed slightly, and his deep eyes looked straight ahead without any focus.

He tightened his grip on the bag.

Michelle glanced at the screen of the phone and found that the call was over.

"Leon, is there something urgent to deal with? If you are in a hurry, you can go ahead with your work and I can cook for you some other day."

Her voice brought back Leon's thoughts. Leon smiled. "It's okay. It's more important to go home for dinner."

As for the matter of Valerie, he would send people to inquire about it.

After returning to the C Mansion, he could also go to ask Bryant about the situation in detail and figure out what was wrong with Valerie to escape.

If she escaped, she would be dead if she was caught.

The reason why he couldn't find her was that he wanted to give her freedom, so he couldn't make a big move. Now things were different.

Before Leon went to the next villa to look for Bryant, Brya ou are jealous, just say it. If I do something that makes you unhappy, you can tell me whatever you want to say to me."

His soft voice was like the warm spring water, which covered her skin neither cold nor hot, and wrapped her body like soft clouds.

Michelle felt that the recent days were so fantastic.

She really liked it.

"Okay, Leon." Michelle promised with a bright smile. This time, she really went to the kitchen to cook.

After talking with Bryant, Leon went straight to the kitchen and rolled up his sleeves, saying that he wanted to help.

In fact, he knew nothing but wanted to help.

At first, Michelle wanted to push him out, but finally at Leon's insistence, she failed and asked him to wash vegetables.

The busy figure in the kitchen changed from one person to two people.

"Leon, it feels so familiar when we cook together. I seem to have seen this kind of scene many times before." In fact, the only day they could really cook together was today, and of course, it was uncertain in the future.

So Leon asked in confusion, "Where did you see this before?"

"Well..." Michelle thought about it. "In my home, dad and mom often act like this."

But her father was more skilled at cooking than Leon.

Happiness

Leon kept her words in mind and worked hard to help her.

It took them two hours to cook six dishes. It was really a big meal.

It was already nine o'clock after dinner. Michelle still wanted to wash the dishes in the kitchen. Leon's house was cleaned by a nanny every day, so she didn't need to wash the dishes.

However, this was not the reason that Michelle gave up, but a call from Elaine.

"Michelle, something wrong on the way? Why don't you come home so late?"

Michelle's heart jolted and she thought it was bad.

She told her parents that she had come back from a business trip and would go home as usual tonight. However, three hours had passed since she got off work, and she was still in the C Mansion five kilometers away from her home.

"Oh, right now!" Michelle looked for her bag in a hurry, but Leon didn't know who was on the phone. Looking at her anxious face, he asked, "What's wrong?"

After hearing his words in the phone, Elaine asked, "Michelle, are you with your colleague? It sounds like a man."

The last sentence sounded like a whisper. Elaine seemed to turn around and say to others i ement and reached for the square box in her hand. "Notebook or tie?"

"Tie." Michelle untied the bowknot and opened the box. A tie appeared in front of her.

Leon took out the tie and handed it to Michelle. "Can you put it on me?"

"Yes." On the day she bought the tie, she searched online for a guide, hoping to help Leon wear it.

Unfortunately, her wish realized three years later.

But anyway, the tie that she hadn't sent out three years ago was finally given to Leon today. She had to personally tie it for him.

Michelle couldn't help trembling.

She was so nervous.

"Don't worry. I won't punish you if you can't tie it well." Leon held her hand, gently stroked it, and held her waist with the other hand, leading her forward.

Michelle strode forward, and the two bodies suddenly pressed together.

Leon was sitting on the chair, and Michelle was a head taller than him since she was standing in front of him.

He raised his head and kissed on Michelle's lips.

The door was half open, and the light reflected at the door, revealing a shadow with a disk in his hand.

Elaine saw them kissing.

Elaine's hand holding the fruit plate trembled two times, and she took half a step forward and back at a loss.

This was beyond her expectation.

If she knocked on the door and walked in, everyone would be embarrassed. Besides, she didn't know how to deal with her daughter and Leon's relationship.

She couldn't break up a couple, especially when it came to the happiness of her daughter.

But she didn't expect it was Leon.

How noble Leon was He was the prince of the C Island and would inherit the throne in the future.

His noble status that was respected by tens of thousands of people was unparalleled in their family.

Usually, Leon condescended to their family and Leon said that they were as close as families. It was because of Leon's modesty and politeness, but they always kept his identity in mind.

Elaine knew that her daughter had fallen in love with someone. At first, she thought that it was Tim who moved to the next room, but now it seemed that she had misunderstood.

On second thought, she thought of the fact that in the past three years, Leon had been providing strawberry constantly and giving gifts on festivals, but they had never seen him show up.

It was not until her

'No.'

'Please, Leon.'

'No.'

'Please, the words in the first two notebook are so ugly.'

Michelle looked at him coquettishly as if pleading.

Elaine felt she was ignored and speechless.

They even flirted with each other in front of her.

And it seemed that her daughter took the initiative to be clingy to him.

As a mother, Elaine was so anxious that she stood out to be the peacemaker. "How about giving them to me, so that you two don't have to compete."

Michelle was shocked and quickly let go of her hand.

She would rather give it to Leon than to her mother.

Leon would at most dislike her ugly writing, and she would be shier if her mother saw it.

Leon, who had got three notebook, smiled and returned with a gift box of tie in the other hand.

"Thank you, Michelle."

Michelle curled her lips but had to say with a smile, "You're welcome. Leon, are you going back? I'll see you off."

"Okay." Leon looked at her tenderly.

When the two were about to go out, Elaine stopped her daughter, "Michelle, wait. I have something to talk to you."

Michelle stopped and asked, "Mom, can you wait for a moment?"

"I'm in a hurry." The implication was that she couldn't wait.

When Leon went downstairs, Elaine held her daughter's hand and asked her about the business trip. Michelle said casually, "It's good. I'm not tired at all."

"That's good." Elaine looked around her daughter and came to a surprising conclusion. "Michelle, you seem to have gained some weight."

"What?" Michelle subconsciously touched her face and chin, as if it was a little fatter than before.

She was fattened by Leon and Nina.

She ate well in the hospital, and ate well and nutritiously in the North Yard. It was difficult for her not to be fat.

"Mom, do I have double chin? I won't look good if I have double chin."

"No." Elaine smiled and pinched Michelle's face, "By the way, Michelle, have you ever contacted with Crystal?"

Michelle shook her head, "I have a her WeChat account, but we haven't contacted each other for a long time. Crystal seldom updates her moments. She must be very busy."

Elaine answered with a sound thoughtfully.

"Mom, why do you suddenly ask about Crystal?" Michelle looked at her mother curiously. Crystal was the daughter of Baylor, who lived next door. The day she married into a rich family, the Zhang Family was really prosperous.

Moreover, Crystal and her husband loved each other very much. When

Leon said, "Michelle, I miss you so much."

His voice was as gentle as deep water, which made Michelle's heart ache. She also missed Leon very much.

"I miss you too." Michelle tried her best to keep calm. If one listened carefully, he would find that her voice was a little trembling.

A gentle smile came through the phone, and he said sadly, "Michelle, I'm sorry that I haven't had time to see you."

He was too busy.

As he was in the Lexington City far away from the C Island, it was more complicated to deal with official affairs and he almost couldn't stop working all the time.

He didn't even have a good sleep for several days.

Now that he was going back to the C Island next week, he had to reduce his work and put it aside.

"It doesn't matter." Michelle smiled sweetly.

Even she was not by his side, Leon could imagine what her look was when she smiled. It was as warm as a warm jacket in winter.

He felt much better. "Do you have any shooting task tomorrow?"

"No."

"Then you have one now." Leon's voice was accompanied by a smile, which was quite masculine, "Do you want me to be your model?"

Michelle's eyes lit up, "Yes!"

But tomorrow was Friday and Michelle had to go to work. How could she take photos of Leon?

Michelle was in a dilemma.

Leon knew what was weighing on her mind and comforted, "Don't worry. I'll find a way. Have a good meal and sleep after you go home. I'll come to you."

"Okay," said Michelle, relieved.

"Be careful on the road."

"Okay."

She hung up the phone with a smile and the car drove forward slowly.

Holding the phone in her hand, Michelle kept looking down at their chatting records. She didn't turn off the phone until the car stopped steadily and her mother's gentle call came to her ears.

"We're home, Michelle."

"Thank you, mom." Michelle bent over and hugged her mother. She rubbed face against her mother's affectionately and said, "If only I had a driving license. Then you don't need to pick me up. Mom, how about I get a driving license? I should be able to make it."

Many students got their driving licenses in the University. Perhaps it was because there was a discount for the students to get their driving licenses, and Michelle had been tempted by the discount, but in the end, she had been dreading it over the years.

She didn't know why sh ong with you recently? You seem to have a lot of things on your mind. I haven't asked you, because I want to wait for you to tell me when you can't hold it back anymore."

"Haven't you guessed it?" Elaine looked up at him and asked, "Who does your daughter like?"

Adams was slightly stunned and said, "I have probably guessed it."

"So?"

"I don't know." Adams who was good at solving problems suddenly didn't know how to deal with this matter.

They didn't want to destroy their daughter's happiness.

But they didn't know whether it was a good thing for Michelle to be with Leon.

When their daughter grew up, the two of them often wondered what kind of man their daughter would fall in love with. It didn't matter whether he was tall or short, fat or thin, handsome or ugly, or whether he came from a rich family.

The most important thing was that he was a sober man with a good character, and was good to their daughter.

These were their conditions.

Indeed, her daughter had found such type of man, and Leon had a lot of excellent conditions, as dazzling as the sun in the sky.

Only the moon could match him.

But their daughter was not the moon in the sky.

Tim Wants To Be Her Family

The He Family didn't have a rule that one couldn't speak while eating. Instead, they liked to chat while eating. Normally, the three of them would gather around the table to share what happened today, funny or embarrassing.

With the presence of Tim tonight, Elaine was as enthusiastic as ever. She put the whole dish of fried bacon with garlic in front of him, and smiled to let him eat as much as he liked.

"The New Year is coming. When are you going home, Tim? I haven't asked you where your hometown is."

"I'm alone. I don't have a family. I plan to live in the Lexingport City from now on." When Tim answered, he was very calm, like an outsider, telling others about his loneliness.

Elaine was stunned and smiled apologetically.

"I'm fine," replied Tim.

"If you don't mind, come to our house to celebrate the New Year." Elaine invited him sincerely and looked at her husband and daughter.

Adams said, "The more the merrier."

Of course, Michelle also welcomed him, "Okay, great."

When Michelle heard that Tim didn't have a family, she felt sad for a moment. She didn't know the feeling of not having a family, but she seemed to be able to ee days left." Michelle breathed a sigh of relief, and then her heart clenched again. She muttered, "Three days, so fast."

Leon sighed, 'Yes, so fast.'

Leon was reluctant to part with her.

The two of them chatted for a long time until Michelle fell asleep. Leon called her name in low voice at the other end of the phone to make sure that she was asleep but he didn't hang up.

"Good night, Michelle."

The next morning, when Michelle woke up, she found that the phone had not been hung up. She did not know if the person on the other side had woken up. She stretched out her hand to tidy her messy hairs a few times, and her mouth was close to the phone screen.

She gave a loud kiss.

After kissing, she found that the sound was a little loud. She quickly covered her mouth and whispered, "Good morning, Leon."

Leon lying in the quilt hadn't opened his eyes, but the corners of his mouth couldn't help smiling.

The phone was on the side of the pillow, and the rustling sound came into his ears. The look of Michelle when she got up in a hurry in the morning appeared in his mind.

If only he could see this scene when he opened his eyes.

"Mimi, you have an unscheduled shooting today."

As soon as Michelle sat down at her seat, she heard Caroline's voice behind her. She stood up and looked sideways, and asked in confusion, "Me?"

"Yes. It's you." Caroline shoved the camera into her arms and said, "Thank you. Go to Dream Manor. Someone has asked you to take photos there."

"Dream Manor?" It seemed that Michelle thought of something and asked bitterly, "Is it Leon?"

"Ah!" Caroline put her hands on Michelle's shoulders and praised her with a smile, "You're smart this time. Come on, turn around."

Caroline's two hands on Michelle's shoulders turned her body and pushed her out. Caroline pushed her away and said, "Enjoy yourself with Leon."

"What?" Michelle was at a loss. "But it's office time, not entertainment time."

Caroline said, "It's working time. Leon has paid."

And Leon was really generous.

It would be a waste if they didn't take it.

Michelle immediately stopped and turned around to look at the smiling Caroline. Michelle was still holding heavy equipment, like holding a baby.

In the Dream Manor.

Leon waited at the door. When he saw a pretty figure get out of the taxi, he quickly walked over and opened his coat to wrap the woman in his arms.

"Are you cold?"

The warm and familiar breath enveloped Michelle's whole body, and she seemed to fall into a warm quilt.

She raised her head and smiled, "It was a little cold when I got off the car. Now it's not cold. You are so warm."

"It's cold outside. Let's go inside." They walked into the manor hand in hand. The heating was on in the room. When they entered, Leon took off his coat.

Michelle only took off her scarf and hung it with Leon's coat. The small scarf leaned against the big coat.

She stared at them for a while.

"What's wrong?" Leon poured some hot water for her, "Drink some hot water first to warm up your body."

Michelle turned around and obediently took that cup of hot water.

"I'm done. Where should I put the glass... Hmm."

As soon as her lips left the warm water, they were covered by his soft and warm lips, and a big hand appeared on her waist.

Chapter: 820

Only For Her

"Mr. Leon, as you ordered..." As soon as Tasha came in, she saw Leon lean something against the wall. Oh, no, it was a person.

Because she saw the two legs entwining around Leon's waist.

Although she didn't see the woman's face clearly, she knew that it could only be Michelle who could make Leon, a righteous and virtuous man, do such a ridiculous thing.

Leon had planted tens of thousands of strawberries for Michelle because she took a fancy to strawberries.

Tasha feigned calmness and was about to leave, but she heard a shy and flustered shout from Michelle.

"Leon!"

Tasha closed her eyes, feeling a chill at her back.

She had interrupted Leon.

Leon let go of Michelle's trembling legs. As soon as her feet touched the ground, Michelle's legs became weak and she fell into his arms.

"It's okay." Leon comforted her in a low and sexy voice.

Michelle didn't have a thing for mansion voice, but now she felt that she was infatuated with his voice. She was so shy that she could only bury her face into Leon's arms. She secretly felt lucky that it was just a kiss, not like the last ti

, Leon said, "I remember your words. You said 'can we take some private photos?'"

"Yes, but it didn't mean that we took the photos together. It was me who took the photos for you." Michelle explained with a flushed face.

It was bold enough for her to take private photos for Leon. She didn't have the nerve to take photos together.

However, Leon didn't want to let her go. "Michelle, you have to keep your promise."

"Leon!" Michelle was shy and angry.

Leon smiled. "I'm here. What can I do for you? Do you want me to help you?"

He crinkled his lips into a smile brazenly.

It was the first time that Michelle had seen him so shameless. She was at a loss whether to cry or to laugh. She tugged at the hem of her clothes to prevent him from making a move.

"Leon, you said you wouldn't bully me."

"Really?" Leon recalled seriously. "I remember you asked whether I would bully you, and my answer is I don't know, but I didn't promise that I won't bully you."

Because there were many kinds of bullies.

He would only do this to her.

And it would be the same for the rest of their lives.
