Chapter: 861

A Heart To Heart Talk Between Father And Daughter

Michelle finally couldn't keep it from her family that she had married Leon. No one had expected that a well-behaved girl would do something first and report afterwards. The family had been silent for a long time.

'How can Michelle be trifled with marriage?' Her grandparents were still a little old-fashioned. They thought what Michelle had done was almost the same as eloping, and anger was written on their faces.

Even her grand parents were still like this, let alone her parents who treated her as the apple of their eyes.

Adams, who had always been rational, also had a gloomy face at this moment, with a variety of feelings in his heart. Looking at his daughter who lowered her head and felt wronged, he could not bear to scold her.

He could only blame himself, "It's my fault."

"It's also my fault." Elaine echoed sadly, "It's our fault."

They blamed themselves instead of blaming Michelle, which made her felt sadder. With red eyes, she said, "Dad, mom, I'm sorry."

Since then, Elaine had never spoken to Michelle. She always had a sad face, looking out of the window blankly and sighing melancholy from time to time.

ied. Dad, I really like him, and he also likes me, and treats me very well." After Michelle finished her words, her father looked at her in disbelief for a while.

She knew why her father didn't believe that Leon was good to her, so she explained, "When I was with Leon, he always wanted to visit you, but I stopped him. I hope he could wait until our relationship was more stable. Later, I found that you and mom seemed to know our relationship, and you didn't support me, so I didn't dare to tell you either."

Adams snorted, "You don't dare to tell us. Doesn't Leon know what responsibility is as a man?"

Michelle pursed her lips and explained, "I begged him not to tell you. Later on, he returned to the C Island, so it was harder for him to make time to visit you. And about our marriage, I was afraid that he would abandon me, so... Only by forcing him to marry me can I feel safe. "

"So Leon doesn't want to marry you at all?" Adams was furious and slapped on the table.

Michelle was startled. She felt as if she had said something wrong. Not only did she not achieve the expected effect, but the result was the opposite, causing her father to be more dissatisfied with Leon.

Michelle immediately shook her head and denied what she had said before, "No, no! No, Dad, I said it wrong. I was Leon who proposed it, I didn't force him. He wanted to marry me, so he decided to register for marriage with me first, and as for the other procedures, he will... "

Before she could finish her sentence, Adams got angry again. "What! He deceived you to register for marriage! "

"No..."

"Yes, he did!" Adams glared at his daughter.

Michelle curled her lips in grievance, "... Dad, you were the most reasonable man in the past. "

'Reasonable?

My daughter register for marriage secretly. Who else could I reason with?'

No matter what Michelle said, Adams thought that it was Leon's fault, and not be reasonable at all, which made Michelle blame herself for being inarticulate. Her relationship with her parents hadn't been eased, and she even made Leon be hated by her parents.

She kept silent.

After calming down for a while, Michelle said slowly, "Dad, after Leon and I have registered for marriage, he planned to visit you as soon as possible, but he has been very busy recently and is busy visiting other countries on the plate, Gray couldn't help but sigh, "What a cute girl! How can she have such a good appetite and sleep?"

Seeing her sleeping so soundly, Gray felt sleepy too. 'One might be infected by yawning, is the same as feeling sleepy?'

Repulse Bay was located in another district, which was far from their studio. It would take more than an hour to get there, so Gray simply closed his eyes for rest.

He leaned his head against the back of the chair and fell asleep unconsciously.

The driver saw through the rearview mirror that the two people were asleep. He parked the car at the roadside, turned around and tried to wake them up, but failed.

Then he raised his voice again, but he still failed to wake them up. It seemed that they were in a deep sleep.

The driver took out his phone and dialed a number.

"Mr. Zheng, they are in a coma. I tried to wake them up several times, but they are still asleep."

"Drive the car to the designated place and someone will replace you. Don't look at what you shouldn't see or say what you shouldn't say."

"Mr. Zheng, don't worry. I know nothing." The driver hung up the phone with a smile.

The driver drove the car to a designated place, an extremely quiet intersection not far from Repulse Bay that camera couldn't monitor.

After turned off the engine, he got off the car and walked away without looking back.

After a while, three people approached the business car. They were Tim, Victor, and a girl who wore makeup and looked almost the same as Michelle, wearing a pink hoody.

Victor sat on the driver's seat.

The girl and Tim got into the back seat. Michelle and Gray were in a coma and couldn't perceive anything. Gray was casually lifted to lie on the long seat behind by Tim.

The girl sat in Gray's seat.

Tim carefully picked up Michelle and held her in his arms, with her head against his chest.

He was tall and strong, and the unconscious Michelle nestled in his arms like a child.

The girl next to him felt jealousy. She curled her lips and looked out of the window.

The girl's name was Paula Liang. After a period of training, she behaved like Michelle. When she curled her lips, she looked a little cute. Blinking her eyes and eyelashes, she looked very aggrieved.

Tim frowned, "Don't imitate her in front of her."

Paula Liang was stunned. When she turned her head to look at the disgusted expression on Tim's face, her eyes immediately turned red and burst into tears.

is Mimi? Where is she?'

A series of doubts appeared in his mind. Gray opened his mouth and wanted to speak, but found that his throat was dry. He struggled to stand up.

Suddenly, footsteps came from ahead, and then a beam of light shone on his face. It was the light from a flashlight, which made Gray close his eyes.

"Who is that?" He spoke with difficulty.

The light of the flashlight left his face, and the footsteps were getting closer and closer. Gray sat up and saw the person clearly in the light.

It was a dirty woman.

She tied her hair casually with a branch. Her black hair was dirty, as if she hadn't washed it for a long time.

She wore a black cotton coat, a pair of dirty broken high-heeled shoes.

Even if she was dirty, Gray could still see that she was a beautiful woman. But he didn't know why she had become like this, and her eyes were dim.

The flashlight not only made him see the woman's face, but also the environment he was in. It was a wet cave.

The woman went straight to him and asked in a condescending tone, "Who are you? Why are you kidnapped here? "

"Kidnapped?" Gray said in disbelief. His dry throat hurt. He endured the pain and asked, "What do you mean? I am kidnapped here? Where is it? Who are you? "

The woman said lightly, "Me? My name is Valerie Feng. "

Hearing the name of Valerie Feng, Gray immediately felt that she looked familiar. He asked in surprise, "Valerie Feng? Why are you here? Didn't you go abroad for further study? "

"Further study?" Valerie sneered.

Leon had found a good excuse for her. She would rather go for "further study". In that case, at least she could live a better life, and at least she knew that one day she would appear in the public again.

Staying here, all she had was only endless despair. Listening to the dull sound of waves and wind, smelling the disgusting smell of the sea. She didn't know when she would leave this damned place.

She might never be able to leave here, unless she died.

Every time she looked at the bottomless abyss, where was not sea but reefs instead, she would retreat timidly.

If she jumped down, she would be smashed to pieces and badly mutilated. She had an extreme fear of such death.

After staying in the cave for three months, Valerie's eyes had become lustreless, and she said in a low voice.

"I don't know where it is. I only know that this is an island. When the day breaks, you can see the sea at the entrance of the cave. On the endless sea, I didn't even see one ship in the past three Coming back to the He Family, Paula only sent a message to Michelle's parents, saying that she wanted to travel during her vacation.

When Elaine received the message, she was so angry that she couldn't even breathe smoothly. She thought that Michelle was declaring war with her and wouldn't go home until she recognized Leon as her son-in-law.

After comforting his wife, Adams called Michelle directly, but her phone was turned off. He was so angry that he could only contact her by voice call.

He was the peacemaker, 'Michelle, don't be so willful. Don't do such a thing to annoy your mother. If there is any problem, come back and discuss with us.'

Paula didn't know what happened between Michelle and her parents, so she didn't say anything. When she heard that Adams asked her to go home, she immediately refused, saying that she was just going out for a trip and asked them not to worry about her.

Too many things had happened recently, and Paula had tried her best to be cautious and avoided talking too much with Michelle's parents, so no one had noticed anything wrong.

As for the real Michelle, she was still in a coma because she had eaten too much food that contained knockout drops in the car.

There Were Many Signal Shields On The Island

"Why hasn't she woken up yet?" Standing beside the bed and looking at the person who had not woken up, Tim frowned. Michelle had been in a coma for a day.

Hearing the voice, Victor poked his head in from outside and said, "Mr. Shen, don't worry. The doctor said that she was fine and would wake up soon. Don't worry. You should think about how to deceive her when she wakes up."

He thought for a moment and said, "But it's easy to deceive her."

In the light, Michelle frowned slightly, as if her dream was disturbed.

"Shut up!" After taking a cold glance at Victor, Tim saw that Michelle frowned and then turned over to sleep. She looked very cute. His eyebrows gradually softened and he whispered, "Hush, don't wake her up."

'He asked me when she would wake up, but now he orders me not to wake her up.

Mr. Shen is really a capricious man.'

Victor was speechless, "..."

Then Tim turned around and went out. Victor followed him and closed the door quietly.

Victor dared not to speak in a normal voice until the door was closed, "Mr. Shen, is she asleep?"

"Yes." Tim nodded, thinking of Michelle sleeping soundly, he c d the signal. It was already dawn.

'No matter how weak the signal is on an island, it's impossible that there is no signal at all. It is as if a signal shield has been installed like what my high school did during exams.

It's so strange.

Both the housekeeper and the island are strange.'

Michelle felt something was wrong, but she couldn't tell what it was. The reason why the Zheng Group asked her to shoot the advertisement was because of Huan. 'The housekeeper mentioned Huan before, so many things make sense.

But I still feel a little strange.

I have to ask Huan and Gray for confirmation.

But there is no signal. What should I do?'

Michelle was anxious. She looked at the sea horizon, sitting on a reef and waiting for the sunrise.

Before the sun rose, Michelle saw a black object buried in the sand under the dim light of the dawn.

She jumped down and dug it out. It was a device she was very familiar with when she was at school, the signal shield.

She dug out the signal shield. Seeing that, the two maids' faces turned pale. They looked at each other in panic, and one of them quietly left to report.

No one expected the secret to be found by Michelle on the first day. Hearing that Michelle dug out the signal shield on the beach, Tim flew into a rage. The servants lowered their heads in silence.

The servant who came to report was kicked heavily and fell to the ground. Then she immediately got up and stood up with her head down, trembling.

The housekeeper who allowed Michelle to go to the seaside was also punished.

Michelle came back with a signal shield and wanted to figure out why it was placed on the beach. When she stepped into the hall, she saw the housekeeper standing up from the ground, trembling, bending down and apologizing.

In the middle of the hall stood a tall man in loose pajamas. He frowned and glanced at the servants with a fierce look.

It turned out that Mr. Shen they were talking about was Tim. Michelle was stunned.

After Tim expressed his love to Michelle on New Year's Eve, he disappeared. He has actually come to the island for a vacation. Besides, he was a friend of Huan's father. No wonder Huan could enjoy preferential treatment in the Silverhall Nightclub, and there were bodyguards following her to ensure her safety.

However, when she saw Tim again, she felt awkward and didn't know how to greet him.

Seeing that Michelle had come back, Tim restrained the anger on his face and said, "Get out of here."

When she looked at Rita again, Rita said with a smile, "Nothing serious. It's just a scald. I will apply some medicine. But I can't continue to be your assistant. I'm going home. It's a blessing in disguise. I can go home for Lantern Festival."

But her smile seemed a little bitter.

Michelle didn't know what had happened to her recently. She was always suspicious. She felt that Rita seemed to be very unhappy.

Of course, she didn't ask more. Instead, she envied her for going home for Lantern Festival.

After the two of them went far away, Rita said in disgust, "It's so annoying. I just splashed water on her hand by accident. She was not seriously hurt. She's fine. Why did Mr. Shen punish me with boiling water? It hurts! "

"Come on, let me blow it for you. It won't hurt anymore." Fred held Rita's hand and pretended blow it for her.

Rita withdrew her hand and scolded, "What are you doing? Don't flirt with me. If you have the ability, beg Mr. Shen to let me stay, then you can do whatever you want. I can get ten thousand dollars a day for acting here. "

"It's just tens of thousands? If you are willing to... " Fred reached out and rubbed her buttocks, smiling obscenely. "I'll give you money too."

Rita sneered and winked at Fred the next second.

Rita supported her head with one hand and smiled at him. "Don't forget to give me the money."

"Don't worry. I will." Fred laughed, "I made you comfortable, but I still have to pay you."

"What? Didn't you feel comfortable? " Rita asked with a smile.

Fred bent down and kissed her on the lips. He said, "Take the money and leave as soon as possible. Don't tell anyone about the matter on the island. If anyone knows it, no matter whether it has anything to do with you or not, Mr. Shen will blame your family."

"Don't worry. I understand." Rita smiled, "What is Mr. Shen doing here? Was it the fun of a young couple? But I don't think Michelle likes him at all. "

Fred's face immediately darkened. He pinched her chin and warned, "Don't ask what you shouldn't ask. Otherwise, if you are punished one day, don't blame me for not reminding you."

His strength was so strong that Rita felt a pain and was about to cry.

Seeing her pitiful look, Fred let go of her.

Rita said discontentedly, "I just asked casually."

w her, she recognized the old woman with neat silver hair. She looked kind and elegant, and her eyes and movements were full of nobility.

Leon was stunned. Even Barbie was impressed by the old man.

Grandma looked at Leon but didn't say anything. Since Vicente didn't hear any sound, he tilted his head and was about to ask why Leon didn't go in, but when he saw the expression of Michelle's grandma, all the words he wanted to ask were stuck in his throat.

Her eyes widened as if she was frightened by something.

"Mom? Who is it?" Elaine didn't hear anything from the door, so she wiped her hands with apron and walked out of the kitchen.

Grandma turned around and said, "It's Leon."

Hearing his name, Leon was stunned. Michelle's grandmother knew who he was, which meant that Michelle had mentioned him to her family.

'What did she say about my relationship to her? Boyfriend? Or husband?'

Not knowing why, Leon was a little flustered, especially when she saw Elaine coming out. After Elaine heard his name, her face immediately darkened.

Before he could say anything, the door was slammed shut.

Leon was shut out.

The door was tightly closed. It was the first time that he had been shut out of the He Family. Because of this, he was almost sure that his parents-in-law had known that he and Michelle had gotten the marriage certificate.

In the face of the doubts of Vicente and Barbie, he coughed awkwardly. The next second, he looked calm as if nothing had happened, saying, "It doesn't matter."

Barbie frowned slightly. "This is not the way to entertain guests."

Leon said, "It's normal for my parents-in-law to be angry. I took their precious daughter away."

"Parents-in-law?" Vicente didn't know that and Leon and Michelle had gotten the marriage certificate.

Barbie didn't know it either. She looked at Leon with a complicated expression in her eyes, thinking that Leon really loved that girl.

That girl was lucky.

"Yes." A smile appeared on the corner of Leon's mouth. He didn't intend to hide the fact that Michelle was already his wife from anyone. He couldn't help but announce to the whole world that Michelle was his woman. "We've got the marriage certificate" still felt uncomfortable when he recalled the past.

After the death of Mona Nangong's father, Mona Nangong and her mother had a hard time. In order to keep the position of the count, Mona Nangong had no choice but to disguise as a man.

Vicente continued, "My mother told me that Mona Nangong took my father as the successor of the family. She has been raising him since he was a child. When she died, my father had a quarrel with my grandfather, and then they broke up. Since there was something wrong with my mother's head, she didn't tell me what they had quarreled about in the end."

Outside the window, the wind was whistling, and every word of Vicente was imprinted in Leon's heart, especially in his last sentence. Why did they quarrel?

It was said that Mona Nangong had a good relationship with her elder brothers.

Was there anything wrong with Mona Nangong's death?

Leon couldn't help but think about it. He took out his phone and sent a message to Wynn, asking him to investigate what had happened that year. Maybe they could find out something.

The Lantern Festival was also the birthday of Van and Don. Although there was no big birthday party, all the members of Shi family were present at that time. Noah and Henry were present, and Gia's family of three also came.

Adrian came here with his sister, Evelyn. Ford always followed them closely, so he came with them.

Jason also came to congratulate with his wife and daughter. Bryant's family of four also came. All the people were acquaintances the Shi family. There were at least twenty to thirty people, which was particularly lively.

Van and Don also invited two good friends from the kindergarten, Strong and Little Tail. It was the first time for the two children to see a luxurious castle, and their eyes lit up.

As long as Strong found something surprising, he immediately called "boss". It was the first time that Little Tail had seen such a scene. She timidly followed behind Strong.

had many wishes.

She hoped that Albert and his wife could come back. She had always made this wish, but it had never been realized. Later, she changed her wish. She then made wish on hoping Albert and his wife could also be together in the next life.

She hoped that her mother could love her. She hoped every time her mother came to see her was because she missed her but not for money.

She hoped that her younger brother could grow up happily. Although her father and her younger brother's father was not the same one, she also liked him. However, it seemed that her younger brother did not like her and always bullied her with her mother.

Her biggest wish was that Ford could always be with her.

Thinking of this, Evelyn looked at the place where Ford was standing and smiled.

Ford always stood where she could see him at a glance.

When Chester noticed that Evelyn was looking at somewhere, he followed her gaze and inadvertently caught a glimpse of her smile, which was as gentle as the snow mountain turning into water in spring.

He thought, 'I didn't expect that she would smile.'

While the kids were sitting at the table and eating cakes, suddenly Strong stood up and wiped the cream on the noses of Van and Don with his fingers. He smiled and said, "Boss, boss, happy birthday! Grandma once told me that we should put some cake on the birthday persons. "

The cream on the tips of their noses was a little cool, and they could smelled the sweet cream.

Don rolled his eyes and hooked his finger at Strong, "Come here."

Strong stepped forward with a smile, "Boss, what do you want to do?"

Don grabbed a handful of cake with one hand and held Strong's head with the other hand. He put the cream and cake on Strong's face.

Strong was dumbfounded

Only two rolling eyes on his round face could be seen.

There was a moment of silence around, and immediately burst into laughter, including adults and children.

Strong pouted and shouted, "Ah! Ah! Ah! Boss, you are bullying me! I will beat you! "

He grabbed the cake and aimed at Don.

Don was quick to react and avoided being attacked again and again.

Seeing that, the other children immediately joined in the game.

"What?" James was astonished, "Mimi isn't at home."

Leon turned to look at him and asked, "She is not at home?"

"No. You don't know?" James said in confusion, "I thought you colluded with each other. It turns out that it was Mimi's own idea. I told her that her method was not good. It would only irritate her parents."

Leon frowned and asked, "What method?"

"Mimi went on a trip and forced her parents to agree with your relationship. She won't come back until her parents agree." James continued, "I didn't expect Mimi to do such a thing. Maybe only you will do so, uncle. But you're not stupid. This counterproductive method definitely can't be used. Mimi must be out of her mind."

All of a sudden, he felt sorry for his uncle. Maybe Michelle's parents hated him so much that his uncle misled their daughter.

Leon suddenly stood up and James asked, "Uncle, what are you doing?"

"Go find her." After saying that, Leon left without looking back.

He found out the hotel check-in records of Michelle in the neighboring city tonight, so he drove there immediately to look for her.
