

Read Chapter 269 of Coolest Girl in Town

Chapter 269 It's Easier for Women to Pursue Men, Coolest Girl in Town

Seeing this, Janice gritted her teeth in panic. In her mind, all she could think of was to not let Elise beat her. Because of that, she started to lose momentum and slipped twice in a row. "All the best, Elise! Come on, overtake her!" Addison shouted from below. As for Elise, she lifted her eyes to look at the upper left corner and reached out to grab the climbing hold before extending her left leg to step on the next foothold. She managed to find momentum and maintained her physical strength well. Soon, she overtook Janice and reached the top first. "Wow! You're amazing!"

After Elise reached the top, Janice finally climbed up. At that moment, Janice had lost the haughty attitude that she had before. Though Janice was reluctant to admit it, she said while staring at Elise, "I lost!" In response, Elise briefly acknowledged Janice. Right after, she noted, "I guess we won't have to compete in the last event, then." "I give up. Though I underestimated you this time, I won't give up. I'll definitely beat you one day!" "We'll see." Then, Elise paused. "But shouldn't you fulfill your promise now?" Janice felt a little embarrassed when Elise said so.

However, it was she herself who suggested the challenge. Hence, she had to accept the fact that she humiliated herself and that she was not as good as Elise. "I'm sorry, Elise. I apologize for my behavior from before." "It's alright. I accept your apology." Just then, Addison came over and glanced at Janice disdainfully before turning to face Elise. "You were amazing, Elise! Not only are you good, but you're also discreet. You're so much better than some people." Upon hearing this, Janice couldn't help but frown. Upset, she turned and left. Watching from behind, Addison couldn't help but stick her tongue out, whereupon Elise quickly pulled her over.

"Alright, we're done with today's training. Let's eat." Just as they were about to leave, Harry stopped them. "Elise, do you have a minute?" Seeing this, Addison said, "I'll get you something from the cafeteria." With that, she left. After Elise followed Harry to one corner of the field, he looked at her seriously and uttered, "I've been observing you for the past two days, and I realized that you have a pretty good foundation. Besides, you even defeated Janice, so you're obviously something. Are you interested in working at the Department of Homeland Security?"

"We need talents like you." The Department of Homeland Security? The Secret Service is a secure job. "You mean I can work at the Department of Homeland Security?" "It's completely possible if you pass their assessment. With your capability, I don't think there should be a problem," Harry explained hurriedly. I see. However, she was uninterested. "Sorry, I'm not interested, but thanks for the offer!" Hearing this, Harry was slightly disappointed.

"No problem. Just contact me anytime if you change your mind." "Sure. Thank you!" As soon as Elise returned to the dorm, Addison burst out, "What did Sergeant Miller want?" "Nothing much. He just wanted to chat," Elise explained. Hearing that, Addison snorted and said, "Sergeant Miller and Janice seem to know each other from before. Don't you think so?" "Oh? I wasn't paying attention." Elise stared at Addison curiously. Addison had a sharp eye indeed. "I think they knew each other, but that's not important. Anyway, you defeated Janice today, so she won't cause you any more trouble in the future. You're truly my idol, Elise. Not only are you good at studying, but you're also physically strong.

I have a lot to learn from you." Hearing this, Elise simply smiled and said nothing. Just then, her phone rang. It was Alexander. Half an hour later, she saw him standing at the side of the university's back street. So, she ran over to him. "I hope I didn't make you wait too long!" Gazing at her, he relaxed his brows and reached out to caress her head. "How was training? Did something happen?" She eyed him suspiciously. "How did you know something happened? You didn't plant a spy in here to pass you information, did you?" "What are you talking about?"

He neither admitted nor denied. Then, she told him, "Nothing much happened. I competed with a classmate and won." "Hmm, not bad! Well done!" He nodded approvingly. "Actually, training wasn't as difficult as I thought it would be. At least that's what I think." Just then, Elise saw Janice standing on the opposite side while checking Alexander out. Subconsciously, Elise stood in front of him to block her view. "I don't think we should stay here. Let's go somewhere else." Following her gaze, he understood why she was acting this way. With that, he put his arms around her and replied, "Sure!"

Then, he walked away with Elise. However, Janice had no intention of letting them go. In spite of her good grades, there are a lot of rumors saying that she's ugly. I can't believe she actually has a boyfriend who seems quite cute! Just as Janice was trying to take a good look at his face, Elise took him away. So, Janice caught up with them quickly and blocked Elise. "Don't be petty, Elise. Why won't you introduce your boyfriend to me?"

As Janice spoke, she lifted her eyes and glanced at Alexander. With just one look, she froze, and her mind went black for a few seconds before she regained her senses. At that moment, her heart couldn't stop pounding against her chest. "I don't think you and I are that close," Elise answered unhappily, obviously sensing Janice's strange attitude toward Alexander. "Who says we're not close? We're from the same class! Oh, right.

Are you from our school as well, cutie? Which year and course are you from? Can I get your number?" Janice ignored Elise and bombarded him with a series of questions. Initially, he had wanted to ignore Janice. However, his heart melted as soon as he saw the jealous look on Elise's puffed-up face, and the corner of his mouth tugged upward. Yet, Janice thought that he was smiling at her. "Hey, cutie.

Can you give me your number?" Alexander ignored Janice's question and gazed at Elise. Slowly, he answered, "You'll have to ask my girlfriend." When he called Elise his girlfriend, Janice froze as her dreams were shattered. But then, Janice thought to herself, She's so ugly that she doesn't deserve to be his girlfriend. He'll definitely be mine if I set my mind to it. After all, everyone knows that it's easier for women to pursue men.

Read Chapter 270 of Coolest Girl in Town

Chapter 270, Coolest Girl in Town

Angrily, Elise glared at Alexander and said, "You do what you want. You don't have to ask me." Realizing that Elise was really annoyed, he took her hand and comforted her. Then, he gave Janice a stern glance, looking completely different from when he spoke to Elise. "Sorry, but I'm taken. I'm not comfortable with giving you my number." As soon as Janice heard this, her face darkened. Yet, she didn't give up. "You guys don't seem like you've been dating for a long time; how deep are your feelings for each other? How can you be so sure that she's the one? You should open yourself up to different options to determine who's the best for you." "I don't need to. I'm positive that she's the one I'm looking for."

When he said so, Elise's face brightened up immediately. Right after, he continued, "You don't look like you're having trouble looking for a boyfriend, so why are you hitting on someone else's boyfriend? This could be some kind of disorder. You should see a doctor." At that moment, Janice was boiling with anger. Though he's good-looking, he has a sharp tongue. It's no wonder that he fell in love with someone ugly like Elise. "Hmph! You must be blind. I think you're the one who should see a doctor," she retorted rudely. Then, Elise defended him aggressively.

"You're either mentally retarded or have a personality problem. You can't stand seeing other people doing better than you, and you always like to take other people's things. Does it make you feel better taking other people's things, or do you think you deserve to get everything you want? You're delusional, you know?" With that, Elise ignored Janice and dragged Alexander away without looking back. As Janice watched the couple leave, she stomped her foot. "I'll beat you one day, Elise!" Alexander had a smile on his face all the while he and Elise were walking away.

He realized that she could be fiery and direct at times and was pretty good at telling people off. Just then, she stopped in her tracks and let go of his hand. "What's wrong? Are you in a bad mood?" He stared at her. Biting her lip, she shook her head and lifted her eyes to look at him. "Was I too mean? You won't hate me for being like that, will you?" "Why would you think that? Do I seem that shallow? You have to accept someone for who they are if you love them. Besides, I like how you became jealous earlier because I finally know that I matter to you," he said after noticing her becoming emotional.

Hearing this, she smiled. Then, she snorted in denial. "Who said I was jealous? I wasn't jealous." Just then, a warm kiss landed on her lips. She froze, yet the corner of her lips couldn't help but tug upward before she slowly closed her eyes. Moments later, he finally let her go. Hand in hand, they strolled through the campus trail. "Do you know which kind of relationships I used to admire the most?" Curious, he asked, "Which kind?" "I admire high school sweethearts who end up marrying each other. It's so pure and wonderful!" she replied. "What about us? Don't you like what we have?"

Looking at him, she answered, "Of course I do! It's just that I used to dream of marrying my high school sweetheart, but it's fine! After all, things don't always go as planned. Anyway, what we have is pretty great." With that, the two held hands and continued to walk. They looked like they were made for each other and seemed to be in a happy relationship from the back. The next day, Elise continued with her vigorous training. Fortunately, Janice never bothered Elise again ever since the other day and would make a detour every time she bumped into Elise.

Soon, the seven-day training ended. Though it wasn't obvious, Elise felt as if she had lost a lot of weight. Everyone was determined to focus on their studies after the training. Unlike high school, university life was less stressful, and there weren't any teachers that would urge them to study. It all depended on self motivation. After completing a calculus equation, she picked a book unrelated to what she was studying to read. When night fell, she packed her books and left the library. Just as she opened the door, she heard Ricky's voice. "What should we do?"

No one in our department studies this minority language. I'm so worried." Addison tried reading the densely packed words on the page. "I don't understand anything here. Arisian is just too unpopular." As Elise put down her bag, she questioned, "What are you guys talking about?" "Here, Ricky's new assignment. She needs to translate an Arisian article, but nobody in our year studies this language, so she's frustrated." Upon hearing this, Elise stopped what she was doing. "Arisian?" Ricky let out a sigh. Then, her eyes lit up. "Erudite Elise, do you know Arisian?"

At that moment, Elise had no choice but to say, "Let me take a look." Swiftly, Ricky handed Elise a stack of A4 papers. "Do you understand?" Though there was a hopeful look on Ricky's face, she understood that very few people knew Arisian. Taking the papers, Elise flipped through them. After taking a brief look, she lifted her eyes and glanced at Ricky before saying, "This seems pretty easy!" Hearing Elise's words, Ricky jumped and rushed forward to hug Elise. "Save my poor soul, please!" Ricky was hugging Elise so tightly that she almost ran out of breath.

"Alright. Let me go already. I'll give it a try." It was only then that Ricky let go of Elise and stared at her with a pleading look. Right after, Elise explained, "These two aren't difficult as they're just some basic vocabulary. The last one is a bit more challenging as they have technical terms. When do you need it? I'll try to translate it as soon as possible." Ricky was thrilled when she heard this. "That's awesome! I'm not in a hurry. I just need it by the end of this week. Thank you, Elise! You're an all-rounded genius!" "No problem! I'll have it translated soon."

Elise chuckled and shook her head. Then, Ricky let out a sigh of relief after solving this big problem. Meanwhile, Elise took a pen and started translating. This article isn't difficult compared to the commercial article that Alexander gave me. In less than two hours, she had finished translating the first article. Putting her pen away, Elise stretched her back. As for Addison, she was busy playing games on her phone, filling the dormitory with the sound of her game. When Elise came out of the shower, she heard Addison shriek. "Ah!" Frightened, Elise rushed over quickly and asked, "What happened, Addy?" "I won! I just won and scored a Pentakill! This is so cool!" Hearing this, Elise was speechless.

Then, she asked, "What are you playing? You seem so excited." Smiling cheekily, Addison told Elise, "League of Legends." Elise snorted. Then, Addison went on, "I haven't been playing very long, but I'm on level 30 already. I heard there's a big shot called Ellimane in this game. They're really smooth and skilled. I've watched videos of them playing. They're amazing!" Amused, Elise glanced at Addison and asked, "Do you like them so much?"

"I can't say that I like them, but they're really skilled at playing the game and always lead their teammates to victory. I'd win without any effort and level up really fast if I were part of their team," Addison answered honestly. As Addison spoke, she completely ignored the changes on Elise's face. Right after, Addison asked, "Do you play games?"

"I do, but I haven't played in a long time. I'll play with you next time." "Sure! Tell me when you're online! I'll talk to you later. My teammates are calling me. I'm going to play another two rounds, so you should sleep first." Seeing how engrossed Addison was with the game, Elise decided not to bother her anymore.