

When Her “Death” Couldn’t Break Him Chapter 1253

Chapter 1253 Making It Public

Everyone asked in the comments section: Is this Jon’s mommy?

Elliot settled back in front of the screen and enunciated, “Hello, everyone. Today, I want to formally introduce my mommy and daddy to you all.”

The women who had always been particularly fond of Elliot were somewhat expectant.

Cecilia was pulled forward to greet everyone, “Hell, everyone. I am J—Jon’s mommy.”

The fans had all assumed that Elliot was Jonathan. The two were identical twins, and given their striking resemblance, no further explanation was offered to the fans.

Among the fans, some with sharp eyes instantly recognized Cecilia.

One wrote: Isn’t this Cecilia Smith, Nathaniel’s wife? No... It’s his ex—wife.

Huh? Is she Jon’s mother? However, Jon clearly doesn’t look mixed—race.

Wasn’t it said that Cecilia had a child with a foreigner? They don’t seem to resemble each other at all.

Everyone was feasting on the information of the prominent families that day. The fans in the live room were taken aback. They never expected that the person they’d been supporting all along was actually Cecilia’s son.

At that point, Elliot stepped in and said, “Everyone, you must help me clear this up. I am not the son of a foreigner. My mommy is Cecilia Smith, and my daddy is Nathaniel Rainsworth. Those online rumors claiming my mommy gave birth to me with a foreigner are all lies.”

Elliot spoke in a babyish yet fierce manner, which immediately attracted a horde of fans rushing to his defense.

As it turns out, our sweetie, Jon, has been falsely accused. How can there be such despicable people spreading rumors about someone else’s background?

So, Jon is the son of Cecilia and Nathaniel. No wonder he’s so handsome.

I think I’ve seen Cecilia on the screen before, but I didn’t pay much attention at the time. I never thought she would be Jon’s mother.

Jon, don’t be upset. We’re with you, and we’ll help you explain things.

Elliot's fanbase, made up of young ladies and older women, was not to be underestimated. Their influence was significant. In no time at all, the livestream announcing his parents' news had already become a trending topic.

The trending topic read: The rumor about Cecilia having a child with a foreigner is completely unfounded.

Upon clicking on the trending search, an explanation was provided. It stated that she had the child with Nathaniel.

Everyone soon realized that discerning the truth from falsehoods on the internet was no easy task adorable.

It seems we've all been used as pawns, leading to misunderstandings about Jon's mother. I want to apologize for that.

Exactly! Where are those who previously accused Cecilia of being overly fond of foreigners?

Speaking of which, if this matter is false, what about the other rumors circulated before?

The online community had begun to question the authenticity of the opinions circulating on the internet, no longer hurling mindless insults at Cecilia.

Those who had previously framed Cecilia and the streamers were all noted down by Jonathan. She then handed over the information to her underlings to deal with.

Before long, their accounts began to explode with activity, one after another shutting down or being deactivated.

One by one, they were filled with regret. Some clear-headed individuals on the internet began to notice that something was off. However, the majority still believed that there was something wrong with Cecilia.

It was then that Cecilia realized that Elliot was trying to help clear her name. She felt somewhat guilty, having let the children become embroiled in public controversy.

"Eli, thank you," Cecilia said.

Elliot shook his head. "Mommy, it's only right that we do this."

"Does Jon know about this too?" asked Cecilia.

Elliot nodded. "Yes, it was Jon who asked me to make it public."

Cecilia gently patted his head, holding him in her arms. “Thanks, Sweetie. However, in the future, let me handle these things on my own.”