

I'm Your Luna

Caliana's POV

Like the morning before, I woke up to the smell of citrus. I get out of bed and do my morning routine, I have nothing much to do so I am just indoors. I'm sitting on the sofa next to the window and reading a favorite book of mine, the stone bull. I smile as I read but my mind trails to the Alpha, why did he buy me if he hates me so much, and isn't it easy to reject me? Does he abhor me so much that he can't do that and chose to punish me?

Not wanting to think about the Alpha, I went to the shower. After the shower, I dried myself up and slipped into shorts, and wore a tank top since the weather is hot today. My stomach growled and I went downstairs to have my breakfast. As I descended the stairs, I came face to face with the brooding Alpha. My breath hitched as his gaze roamed over me. This was the first time he looked at me ever so gently and a flicker of desire appeared but it was gone just as fast as I saw it.

"Good morning, Alpha." I greeted timidly, casting my head down. He only nodded and moved past me but our arms somehow managed to touch and sparks ignited over my body, he startled too indicating he felt them. The raw desire to be with him overpowered me but I managed to control myself and quickly got away. Reaching the kitchen, I found a man I had never seen before. He was good-looking with black hair and brown eyes. He stood up and pushed his plate away,

"Luna!" He mused, approaching me as if we are friends. He was friendly despite his intimidating muscular body.

"Hi," I said, smiling at the gentleman.

"Hello, I'm Garret, a warrior, and the best chef," He said, I nodded and went to sit on the island. Garret went to the stove and started making me breakfast as he talked throughout. He was just praising himself for how good he is as a cook, he was making me smile and laugh with his jokes

"So, how old are you, Luna,"

"I'm twenty, and you?"

"Twenty-five," He answered. He put a plate full of sausages, eggs, and toast bread, there was so much food on the tray for me.

"I can't eat all this!" I chided and he laughed.

"Of course, you are a wolf,"

I dug in and he joined me in eating, he was eating more of the sausages while I loved the blueberry and toast bread. 1

"So Luna, have you been to see the pack already?" He asked and I shook my head. After breakfast, Garret wanted to take me around the pack and I agreed, he lived here but was away for a while to train warriors in another pack. He goes to his room and changes his clothes.

"Ready?" I nodded and entered his black truck in the passenger seat. He tells me more about the pack and how much they are a united front but he didn't have to remind me. This pack was the most powerful and ruthless for miles and the reputation of their Alpha makes it hard for anyone to even attack them.

The pack was absolutely beautiful and neat, there were patrols everywhere who were in uniforms and even a police post.

"Is that the pack house?" I ask, pointing at the huge mansion in the center.

"Yes," It was grand and upper class, it put my former pack house to shame. We went to the pack and surprisingly, everyone was very welcoming and respectful to me. A few girls immediately surround Garret, and he's smiling like he won a competition. I roll my eyes,

"Ladies, ladies, relax. Calm down and I'll be back. I'm just giving the Luna a tour,"

"Okay, Garret," They say in a chorus, blushing. It was like a fan club of his

"So you're like a big deal around here, huh,"

"Kinda, I'm a top fighter and I'm in a band. We are playing next week, you should come,"

"Really? Where?"

"Only the biggest local pub, yeah, we are a big deal around here," He chuckles. Garret continued to get me a tour of the packhouse and lastly, we reached the entertainment room.

"The pack house is lovely," I say.

"Oh, look who we have here," A sultry voice spoke from the doorway, and I spun around. I wasn't pleased to see the girl who was all over my mate at my introduction ceremony. I wanted to smack the smugness off her face.

"If it isn't the newly bought Luna," She teased and I scoffed, glaring at her.

"Is that her?" Another voice spoke, I didn't notice the two girls who were standing behind her, they both looked like bullies and sluts with the small outfits they wore.

"Yes, the one he chose officially over me, Martha," She spat.

"At least he still comes to you," She winked, and Candace faked a laugh. Does the Alpha not fuck her anymore. 1

"Hey listen, whore, how dare you steal her man," The poisonous voice spoke, trying to intimidate me but It wasn't going to happen.

"Her man, don't make me laugh ladies, first, Candace fucks anyone with power," Chuckles Garret.

"Well, this is none of your business, and we are talking to the whore boyfriend snatcher!" Martha shrieked, Garret approached her but I stopped him with my hand and took a step towards the three women, my eyes were glowing and they stepped back, I know the type of women they are, low-ranking Lycans who got recognition by fucking men of power. 1

"Listen to me, ladies whose names I barely remember, stay the fuck away from me, and don't try to intimidate because it's a losing battle. I AM YOUR Luna and any insult from you will result in punishment, am I clear?" I said slowly, they gasped and I grabbed their leader by her neck, squeezing her throat and her eyes bulged out. The cruel Alpha treats me like shit as it is and I refused to take any more from his sluts.

"I can't hear you," I ground out, gripping tightly, her friends are about to come at me but Garret reaches them in a flash, grabbing their arms. A few people were already starting to gather around and whisper. Candace was crying as she nodded vigorously, I released her and she fell to the ground, crying.

"The Alpha will hear of this," She sniffs. I moved past her and left the room. Members acknowledged me as I walked out and I smiled politely at them, even talking for a few seconds and greeting the kids. However, I was boiling in anger but I didn't show it. I was surprised when my eyes met Marcus but he only nodded at me and went his way with a few warriors